ITALIANS OBSERVE FEAST

CELEBRATION IN HONOR OF OUR LADY OF MT. CARMEL.

Two Days' Programme Being Carried Out—Services in Church.

With a solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at St. Mary's R. C. Church this afternoon at 5:30 the two days' celebration of the "Feast of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel" will begin, and the Italians of this city will carry out a programme of festivity. The day is observed throughout the world by the Italians, especially in Naples. To these people it is one of the most important of all the church holidays.

A parade was held this noon about the principal streets of the town when many of the Italians attired in gay colors followed a band of musicians playing religious music. This evening from 8 to 11 a concert will be rendered on James E. Martine's Common on Park avenue. Speeches will be made at that time.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock another street parade will be held and at 10:30 a solemn high mass will take place at St. Mary's R. C. Church. The church will be decorated in honor of the feast day. At 11 o'clock tomorrow night fireworks on Martine's Common will be the drawing card. A concert will also be held tomorrow evening.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. is selling silver leaf lard for 10 cents a pound. Try it.

—A delegation of eight members of the old Criterion Club is to spend this evening at Riverside Park.

—George Sebring, of Staten Island, has received a permit from Building Inspector T. O. Doane to move his frame dwelling at 1404 West Front street from the front to the rear of the lot.

—Rev. Father Egan, of St. Mary's R. C. Church, has arranged to give his choir an outing at Asbury Park, Wednesday, August 26. Usually a euchre or reception is given by the rector, but this year he has decided to take them to the seaside resort for an outing.

PRESENTATION OF TROPHY

THE DAILY PRESS CUP AWARDED TO BASKET BALL WINNERS.

Y. M. C. A. Team of Amateur League Receives Prize Offered by This Newspaper.

The Daily Press cup offered to the winner of the City Basket Ball League games last winter has been presented to Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood, of the Y. M. C. A. His team has been declared the winner of the contest.

The cup is a large one standing nearly twelve inches from the base. It is of silver, gold lined, and suitably engraved. The trophy will remain the property of the association permanently.

In the league games the Y. M. C. A. won four of the contests. They were interesting contests as the teams made great efforts to gain the trophy. The other teams in the league were the Reform Club, the I. C. T. Club and the Hope Y. M. A. The Reform Club made a good showing and the Hope Y. M. A. also did good work. The I. C. T. Club played all but one game and lost that by default to the Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. team was composed of these members:

To Attend Reception.

Many members of St. Mary's choir will go to Cranford this evening to attend the reception which is to be given them by Rev. Father Westman. Dancing will be enjoyed in the hall at Roselle, the trip between Cranford and Roselle being made by trolley. The members of the choir will leave this city on the 7:15 car at the Watchung avenue terminus.

The Night Was Dark.

The electric lights in that section of the town bounded by Carlton avenue, Kensington avenue, Franklin place and Watchung avenue were plunged in darkness last night through the breaking of an electric light wire. A telephone call was sent in over the new Gamewell system to police headquarters and the company was notified by Sergeant Frederickson.

Resents Attack.

Editor, The Daily Press:—

Inasmuch as I am directly responsible for the recent controversy over the matter of sewerage emptying into the brook, I desire to say I cannot believe that the sentiment of the North Plainfield Board of Health was errorless in the recent attack on Mr. Saunders, or the manner in which it was planned and carried out. The whole affair is so well understood that were it not for the resulting lowering of the dignity of the Board it would be ridiculous.

A citizen who makes an honest complaint, or even a citizen of the Board itself should not be open to an attack of this character, and the fact that the newspapers were informed of the Board's action before any communication was received by Mr. Saunders speaks for itself. I believe, with others, that Mr. Saunders has a just claim, for at least an apology from the Board and I would suggest that any citizen who doubts the animosity or injustice of the attack, make a personal examination of the grounds as I have done. I am awaiting my turn but aside from the fact that during this hot weather my cows spend a considerable proportion of their time in the brook, I have everything pretty well "cooked up."

The Amendments.

Editor, The Daily Press:—

In a few months the citizens of New Jersey will be called upon to vote on the question of amending the State Constitution. There has really been no effort to enlighten the voters on the merits of the proposed amendments. This much, however, is known, that the schemers have devised a method whereby they hope to carry the measure. Ordinarily the voter would presume that drawing a line through the ballot would be a vote against the measure, but not so with this, to thus erase only loses a vote to the voter. Such a course is enough to condemn the whole scheme. I believe the judiciary of New Jersey is about the best paid of all in the United States, but with the passage of these amendments, even greater emoluments would come to its judiciary. Our constitution may need some revision and amendment, but I do not believe it will be bettered through the proposed amendments.

The Trenton True American is doing a great service to the people through its exposure of the plan. Though this should not be a partisan question, let the Democratic press through the State make this matter plain to the voters and urge the people to kill the measures.

ITALIANS OBSERVE R. C. CHURCH FEAST

Socioto Operaria D. I. M. S. Princessa Elena Holding an Elaborate Celebration.

TWO DAYS' PROGRAMME

CHURCH SERVICES AND BAND CONCERTS FEATURES OF THE AFFAIR.

Gala Time on Martine's Common—New York Band Renders Selections—S. Valard in Charge—Other Details.

Members of the Societo Operaia, D. I. M. S. Princessa Elena, an Italian benevolent organization of this city, are celebrating the Feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel with pomp.

Services held in St. Mary's Church commenced at 5:30 yesterday afternoon. Rev. Father Egan, assisted by Father Delanhanty officiated at the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The church was decorated with silk and bunting streamers bearing mottoes in Italian. Last evening a band concert was held on Martine's Common in Park avenue. The music was rendered by Mascagnia's Band, of New York, composed of tweny-five pieces. Some of the selections rendered were by Verdi and other Italian masters.

At the church this morning a solemn high mass was celebrated, the large edifice being well filled with Italians from this city and from nearby places. A parade was held this morning at 9.

At the Common this evening music and fireworks will be features. The programme for the pyrotechnic display is an elaborate one. No expense has been spared and the set pieces and other fireworks will be especially fine. A representative of Pain's company, of New York, will be the master of ceremonies.

Following the celebration last evening the Italians gathered at the houses of the local members in Watchung avenue and East Front street and enjoyed a feast to which the visiting delegations from Elizabeth, New Brunswick and other places were invited. The arrangements are in charge of the members of the Italian organization of which Salvino Valard is chairman.

PARTY TO FRIENDS.

Entertainment at Misses Cranell's Home in East Sixth Street An Enjoyable Affair.

The Misses Cranell, of East Sixth street, entertained a number of friends at their home last night. During the evening organ selections were rendered by Munro Squier and recitations were given by H. C. Brose. A vocal quartette composed of Arthur Caleen, "Bert" Banks, Munro Squier and Fred Winn, won favor. Refreshments were served at a late hour, dancing also being enjoyed.

There were twenty-five guests present, among them being the Misses Edith and "Flossie" Demarest, Mary and May Drake, Mabel Mary and "Febee" Cranell, Sarah Stites, Wm. Mehl, Arthur Caleen, Munro Squier, Fred Winn, "Bert" Banks, Henry Brose and Edward Coechline.

SWACKHAMER'S VERSION.

Reference to Peach Crop May be Blind for Political "Plum Tree."

Assemblyman Swackhamer, of Somerset, reports that after talking with many of the prominent farmers of Hunterdon County, where he has been on a visit, he has discovered that the peach crop is a failure. There is nothing startling about that, but perhaps Mr. Swackhamer is using this ordinary bit of news to conceal just what he found out about the political crop. That is something that he and Senator Gebhardt are more interested in just at present than peaches. — Newark Evening News.

John Carney, Fun Maker.

"Jack" Carney will take part in an entertainment at Perth Amboy, tomorrow evening, using some of his latest Dutch selections. "The tale of a love that was lost," in dialect, from The Daily Press, will be among his recitations.

Police on Lark.

The Elizabeth, N. J. policemen are enjoying an excursion to Stemmet's Whitestone Park, Long Island today.

—"Rockdale" printed on a block of butter stands for the acme of the butter making business. Nauman Brothers have that kind of butter which they are selling at reduced prices. See ad on the fifth page of this paper.

IMPROVING SERVICE.

Railroad Officials to Visit Asbury Park to Ascertain Method of Relief.

Officials of the New Jersey Central will soon visit Asbury Park for the purpose of seeing for themselves how the Central's service to the famous summer resort may be improved. The visit will also be in the nature of ascertaining how the freight service can be bettered. W. G. Besler, vice president and general manager, and T. B. Koons, freight traffic manager, both of Plainfield, and several other officials will spend the day at the Park and they will dine at the Hotel Brunswick as the guests of the city officials of Asbury Park.

WOMEN IN A RUNAWAY

ACCIDENT CAUSES MUCH EXCITEMENT BUT LITTLE DAMAGE.

Miss Hazel Gardner Exhibits Rare Presence of Mind—Damage to Rig Slight.

A black mare, reeking with sweat, attached to a light road wagon with broken shafts and flapping harness, caused great excitement on East Fifth street yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. In the wagon was Miss Hazel Gardner, of Fanwood, and her mother. The wild run started just above Scott's Press Works by the breakage of the surcingle which caused the shafts to rise over the horse's head and the body of the wagon to strike and drive it into flight.

Mrs. Gardner, who is a well known horsewoman of Fanwood, was driving at the time, and showed excellent nerve and grit by keeping the frightened animal in a clear course. The horse was swerved onto the sidewalk at Franklin place, alarmed by a passing trolley, but Mrs. Gardner again pulled it into the road at Washington street after a perilous block.

At the corner of Watchung avenue, the horse swung into a delivery wagon of Neuman Brothers, which was tied at the curb, and swinging this around upset the women almost on the sidewalk.

By rare good fortune neither of the occupants of the wagon was injured, though Mrs. Gardner's wrists were badly strained by controlling the animal.

The horse was uninjured except for a badly cut leg. The cross bar and shafts of the rig were broken and after a brief rest in the grocery store, the women returned home in another rig.

SENTENCE DAY.

Disposition of Cases in the Court of Special Sessions at Elizabeth.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 16—In the court of special sessions yesterday, Pasqual Patsenostra, charged with assault and battery on a fellow-countryman by striking him on the head with a hatchet, pleaded guilty. Sentence was deferred one week in order to give the prosecutor an opportunity to learn more regarding the assault.

Harry O'Brien, 14 years old, who was, some time ago, placed in the care of the probation officer, his offense having been that of stealing lead pipe, was sentenced to the Reform School, he having been turned over to the court by the probation officer as incorrigible.

John O'Skinner, aged 15 years, pleaded guilty to the larceny of a number of glasses on the Polishers and Buffers' excursion boat, was sentenced to the Reform School.

Stillman Robbed.

Arthur Stillman, of this city, was robbed Monday night of a dollar watch, while going through the patch of woods in North avenue, near Garwood. He came to the dark spot some one called to him, asking if he had a match. He stopped and was handling the fellow a match when he caught his watch chain and jerked the watch out of his pocket and ran. Stillman did not attempt to follow.

Park Golf Club Meeting.

The Board of Governors of the Park Golf Club met Tuesday evening and aside from the fact that a dozen members were elected to the active class, nothing of importance was done. Considerable interest is manifested in golf this season and the club is in a prosperous condition.

Boys Off for Camp.

The 7:25 train this morning bore away about thirty members of the Boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. They left for Wawaywanda, where they will spend a few weeks in camp. They were accompanied by Secretary Kenneth Robbie and Physical Director C. Er A. Heywood.

THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION TO MEET

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall to Take Active Part in the Proceedings.

OCEAN GROVE THE PLACE

THE PROGRAMME FOR THE OCCASION ANNOUNCED IN DETAIL.

Plainfield Woman to Make the Response to the Address of Welcome and to be a Presiding Officer.

A series of summer meetings will be held by the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association at Ocean Grove on Monday and Tuesday. They will be in charge of the president of the association, Mrs. Minola Graham Sexton, of Orange. The music will be in charge of the musical director of the camp meeting, Tali Esen Morgan.

The evening meetings will be held in the Auditorium and the morning and afternoon meetings in the Thornley Chapel. This is the second held in connection with the camp meeting. Last year the addresses were fine and the audiences large and enthusiastic. Suffragists from all over the State are expected to attend.

The Queen will be the headquarters, and it will give special rates to those attending the meetings of the association. Mrs. Catt, the president of the National association, will not be present, as she and her husband are abroad. Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, who is vice president of the N. A. W. S. A., will deliver the chief address. The first meeting on Monday evening at 8 o'clock will be opened with prayer, followed by an address of welcome by Bishop J. N. Fitz Gerald. Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city, honorary president of the N. J. W. S. A., will give the response. Mrs. Hall will preside at this session. There will be an address by Miss Harriet May Mills, of Syracuse, the State organizer of the N. Y. W. S. A., one of the best-known of the younger speakers on woman suffrage. Miss Mills has never been heard in New Jersey before.

The rest of the programme is as follows:

Tuesday morning, 10 a. m.—Work conference for members of the suffrage association, conducted by Mrs. Sexton and Dr. Hussey.

Tuesday afternoon, 3:30 p. m.—"Laws Pertaining to Women and Children," by Mrs. Lucretia L. Blackenburg, president of the Pennsylvania W. S. A.; music; "The Judgment of Minerva," a woman suffrage farce, read by the author, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall; question box, conducted by Rev. Anna H. Shaw.

Tuesday, 8 p. m., in Auditorium—Addresses by Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, Miss Harriet May Mills and others.

MODEL LODGE ROOM.

Masonic Hall Association Carrying Out Elaborate Plans in Babcock Building.

The Masonic Hall Association has placed an order with Midmer, the Brooklyn organ manufacturer, for an organ to cost $1,500. It will be placed in the association's room in the Babcock building. A representative from the organ works was in Plainfield this week looking after the preliminary details. An order has also been placed for additional furniture for the lodge room, this improvement being estimated at $3,000. The formal opening will take place in September. This room will be used by the two blue lodges, the chapter and the commandery.

No Laughing Matter.

The Newark Evening News says: "The Trenton Elks have discarded their mosquito badges and have substituted dinner plate designs to wear on their breasts at the National convention of the order in Baltimore. The Jersey mosquito is no joke this year, and doesn't need advertising."

Change in Programme.

Wm. Murray will be unable to appear at the band concert in the City Park, this evening, and Benjamin LaVere has secured Wm. Redmond, tenor, of New York, to take his place. He will sing the same selections assigned to Mr. Murray.

MRS. LINCOLN GILES' PRINCELY ALLOWANCE

Her Husband Has Given Her Five Cents Spending Money During Married Life.

HAS THREE CHILDREN

FAMILY WAS EVICTED FROM HOUSE ON CHURCH STREET.

Household Goods Decorate the Sidewalks—Giles Has Paid no Rent for Months—Employed by Groceryman.

Five cents isn't ordinarily considered a large sum of money, but that is the sum total of the amount which Mrs. Lincoln S. Giles says she has received from her husband during their several years of married life.

Mr. Giles and his family are in a very bad way, so far as money matters are concerned. Several days ago, following a suit in Justice Hand's court, Constable Gjettlesen served dispossess papers on Mr. Giles, and as the latter refused to remove his household goods from the rooms which he rented at 115 Church street, the constable was obliged to move them out himself. Mrs. Giles pleaded that they might be placed on the back stoop of the house instead of on the sidewalk, and this was done with the understanding that they should be disposed of elsewhere within three days.

Mr. Giles took no action towards this end, however, and in consequence Constable Gjettlesen transferred the property this morning to the front sidewalk which they are still ornamenting at the present time. Mrs. Giles has gone to her mother's to live.

Giles is employed at Love's grocery store where he earns, it is said $11 a week. He has paid no rent for several months. His landlady, Mrs. Amelia Smith, was as lenient as possible with him, but her tenant refused to make good his repeated assurances of payment, and she was finally forced to resort to legal measures to get the family to move out. The court also was lenient, but kindness proved of no avail.

The family have been living in wretchedness for some time owing to the lack of providence of the bread winner. Their household effects, as they appear this morning on the sidewalk, consist of a few articles of furniture badly in need of repair and a small amount of linen badly in need of a washwoman's attention. There are no beds in the collection, and Mrs. Giles and her family of three children, the oldest a son of about twelve, have been obliged to sleep upon the floor.

BIG DEMAND FOR TELEPHONES

ANOTHER NEW SWITCH BOARD TO MEET DEMANDS OF SERVICE.

Sixty-one New Subscribers in Last Two Months—Other Improvements.

In order to meet the requirements of rapidly increasing business in this city the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company is planning to install a new section of the switch board at the local telephone exchange. This addition will mean the accommodation for a hundred new telephones. In the last two months the telephone company has installed sixty-one new instruments in the city and has opened telephone communication with Alton, N. J.

The plans are to install the new section so that still better service can be given. The number of telephones in this city is about four hundred in excess of those in New Brunswick, a city of about the same size. A year ago a new switch board was installed which was thought at the time would be large enough to meet the requirements of the town for at least three years to come.

Services Over John Dentz.

The funeral services of John Dentz will be held from his late residence, 80 Summit avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Relatives and friends and members of Watchung Court, No. 3871, I. O. F., and members of the Mason's Union are respectfully invited. The interment will be in North Plainfield Cemetery.

Mr. Andrews to Preside.

F. H. Andrews, of Central avenue, will preside at the conference of young men to be held at Lake George this summer under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

BANQUET TO FOLLOW CORNERSTONE LAYING

United States Senator John Kean to Preside at Feast to Follow Ceremony.

INVITATIONS LIMITED

GRAND LODGE OF FREE MASONS TO RECEIVE ESCORT.

Cornerstone for Court House Now En Route—Ceremony to Take Place on the Afternoon of July 30.

Director J. Frank Hubbard and Freeholders Farrell, King, Brucklacher, Adams and McCandless, composing the special committee of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders appointed to arrange for the laying of the court house corner stone announce that the cornerstone is on its way from New Hampshire, and will arrive in a few days. It will be taken at once to the site of the new building, and placed in position preliminary to the ceremonies.

On the morning of July 30 the Grand Lodge of Free Masons will be escorted from the Kean building to the court house by the various lodges of Elizabeth and vicinity. The choice of a band has not yet been agreed upon.

United States Senator John Kean has been invited to preside at the banquet which is to held at the conclusion of the cornerstone exercises in the assembly room of Jacob's Theatre.

The number of invitations will necessarily be limited. These will be extended to members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, mayors of the various municipalities of Union County, judges of the courts, county officials, chairmen of the various township boards, officers of the Grand Lodge of Free Masons, and representatives of the newspapers throughout the county.

No organizations will be invited, but invitations will be forwarded to Colonel Collins, representing the militia; Dr. Shearer, representing the public schools, and Chief Engineer Gerstung of the fire department of Elizabeth.

In all, about one hundred guests will be present, and brief addresses are expected from Senator Kean and others.

MARRIED IN RECTORY.

George Reid, Formerly of This City, Now the Husband of Miss Elsie Kline.

George Reid, formerly of this city, and a cousin to Miss Margaret Kennedy, of the borough, was married yesterday afternoon to Miss Elsie Kline, of Cranford. The ceremony was performed by Father Westman at the rectory. Mr. and Mrs. John Banner, of Cranford, cousins of the bride, were the attendants. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Reid went to Washington. Upon their return they will live at Cranford.

Germans to Dance.

At a recent meeting of the Gesang and Turn Verein the singing section decided to accept the invitation extended to them by the Singing Society Aurora, of New Brunswick, to attend the latter's celebration of the anniversary of their organization. The celebration will be held on the evening of August 3 when representatives of nearly all the German societies in this part of the State will be present.

Lends Books.

Andrew J. Gavett has very kindly placed at the disposal of the public his bound set of the Engineer News, volumes 7-35 both inclusive. These volumes may be seen at his office at 151 North avenue. As the Public Library owns from volumes 35 through date, the public now has access to all but the first six volumes of this valuable series.

German Lutheran Picnic.

The members of the German Lutheran Church are enjoying their annual picnic today in the Watchung mountains. About fifty are in the party. The day will be spent in playing games and enjoying collation.

Bradley Beach May be Disposed Of by Its Owner and Then Improvements Will Come.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 16 — On the authority of Dr. C. A. Kramer, of Newark, president of the Bradley Beach Improvement Association, it is said that negotiations are under way for that borough to purchase its beach front from the owner, James A. Bradley.

In area Bradley Beach is exactly the size of Asbury Park and the beach front is the same length. It is hinted that next week the Improvement Association will meet and take steps to provide the borough with a town hall.

AUTOMOBILE ABLAZE IN STREET

FIRE DEPARTMENT RUSHES TO SCENE OF ACCIDENT.

Street Sprinkling Cart Put Out the Fire—The Loss on Machine Was Trifling.

A steam automobile caught fire in front of the Park Avenue Hotel yesterday afternoon through the carelessness of its owner, and although an alarm was turned in from box 26 at the corner of Park avenue and Eighth street, the blaze was extinguished by a street sprinkler before the department apparatus arrived.

The machine belonged to F. L. Curtis, who, with his son and wife, were touring from New York to Delaware. They stopped at the Park Avenue Hotel for dinner.

One of John Keeley's men, who was passing with a sprinkling cart, backed the sprinkler up to the auto and turned on the water. The fire on the outside was extinguished but inside in the neighborhood of the gasolene tank the flames were roaring. The fire department hove in sight at this juncture and the sprinkling cart man drove on up the street leaving the battle to the firemen. A single extinguisher put out the flames. The damage amounted to about $25.

ANOTHER TROPHY.

Kuser Cup to be Contested for at the State Rifle Association Contests.

A handsome silver cup, the gift of Col. A. R. Kuser, who is himself recognized as a crack shot, will be presented to the New Jersey Rifle Association, to be competed for during the fall matches on the Sea Girt ranges.

The match will be open, not only to members of the army, navy and national guards, but to all civilians, and the conditions are five shots to be fired at a disappearing target within a period of thirty seconds, the five highest scores of each individual to count. The marksmen will be permitted to use any style of gun that has a three pound pull or over.

THE HORSE WEARIED.

Washingtonville Swain Made a Call Altogether Too Extended So the Beast Thought.

A youth from Washingtonville visited a young woman on West Front street last evening and tied his horse in front of the house. At midnight the horse became tired of standing and gnawed the tie rope in two and ran away. At Sixth street and Putnam avenue the horse was captured and turned over to George Cole for safe keeping. In the mean time the young man missed his horse and carriage and notified the police of this city. He recovered his property later.

BOY MISSING.

Young George Kreitling Has Not Been Seen Since Drawing His Wages at Local Shop.

George Kreitling, a sixteen-year-old boy, employed at the Pond Machine Tool Company, drew his pay last Saturday, and left for parts unknown. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since. He lives on West Front street. It is thought that he may have gone to Philadelphia.

This is the second time young Kreitling has run away from home. About a year ago, he left home without informing anyone, only to return after an absence of a few weeks.

Cut by Glass.

Otto Moore, of West Third street, fell at his home yesterday and severely cut his right forearm with glass. He was taken to the hospital, where proper treatment was given. The lad, who is ten years old, returned home this morning.

AUTOMOBILISTS HURLED THROUGH THE AIR

Fred Nelson and Nathan Titsworth Have Exciting Experience in the Country.

AUTO CRASHES IN TREE

F. L. C. MARTIN TAKES INJURED MEN HOME IN HIS AUTO.

Nelson Was Knocked Unconscious—Titsworth Injured in Leg and Back—Nelson Lost His Grip on the Machine.

Hurled through the air as from a catapult was the experience of Fred Nelson, proprietor of Nelson's Hotel in the Notch and Nathan Titsworth, now of Bound Brook but formerly of this city, yesterday afternoon when their automobile started to climb a tree at the Landing bridge, near New Brunswick.

The men were on their way from this city to the races at the New Brunswick Driving Park. Near the Raritan Landing bridge there is a deep declivity and down this the machine sped. Approaching the bottom the controller handle slipped from Nelson's hand and the auto, a large and heavy one, struck the base of a tree with terrific force.

Both men shot high into the air. Nelson, the least injured of the two, struck a wire fence which broke his fall although he was rendered unconscious. Titsworth, who was injured about the leg and back, was thrown the greater distance and struck against a low embankment. He was unable to use his left leg and was bruised about the body.

When the accident happened F. L. C. Martin was in the vicinity. He took the injured men in his machine and brought them back to Bound Brook where he left Titsworth at his hotel and brought Nelson to this city. The machine is not badly damaged. A chauffeur brought it back to Plainfield.

READY SETTLES CLAIM.

Injured Man Receives $2,200 From Lehigh Valley Railroad Company as Compensation.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has settled with Michael Ready, of South Plainfield for $2,200, that being the amount demanded for injuries sustained at a railroad crossing near Dunellen on Hallowe'en night in October last. The settlement was made through Codington & Swackhamer.

Ready started to drive across the tracks and was half way over when a train was seen approaching. He whipped up his horse and as he did so the gateman let down the gates, closing him in before the onrushing train. His horse, becoming frightened wheeled suddenly and threw him down an embankment, thus saving his life but injuring his back.

NEW GUNS FOR GUARD.

Krag Jergenson Rifles to be Furnished Jersey Troops.

The heads of the National Guard of New Jersey have received word from Washington that the State's requisition for 5,000 Krag Jergenson rifles, which are to be furnished the State militia by the federal government under the Dick army bill, will probably be shipped here this week.

The guns will be shipped in large oak cases and will be consigned to the State arsenal from where they will be distributed to the various national guard companies in this State.

The guns are of the latest model and capable of shooting 2,000 yards.

Important Witness Absent.

The contract case of Rosina Jahn against Ira Horton in Justice Von-Minden's court at New Market was brought up yesterday for a jury trial. The non-appearance of an important witness necessitated an adjournment until September 15. F. J. Blatz conducted the plaintiff's case, and S. S. Swackhamer the defendant's.

Patrol Wagon Ordered.

The Police Board from the Common Council has placed an order for a police patrol wagon with Fitzgibbons & Crisp, of Trenton. It is expected that the wagon will be received in Plainfield about the first of August.

Clerks' Outing.

The Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association and its friends will go to Riverside Park this evening on the annual excursion. The trip will be made by trolley, starting from the Watchung avenue station.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFIELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

John T. Boroughs, of Alfred, N. Y., is visiting friends on Manning avenue.

Miss Mabel Symons, of East Third street, has returned from a visit with friends at Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. John Anguerbauer, of East Third street, are visiting friends on Watchung mountains.

Miss Eleanor Perkins, of Sandford avenue, has gone to the Delaware Water Gap for the summer.

Robert E. Suffern, of Sycamore avenue, has gone to the Adirondacks to spend a few weeks' vacation.

James F. Haberle, of New Brunswick, was in this city yesterday and visited friends at the Fire Headquarters.

John Reitzel and Mrs. Lizzie Lunn, of Maspeth, L. I., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Anguerbauer, of East Third street.

Peter H. LaTourette, of Somerset street, has returned from a trip to Liberty Corner and other places in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Barnaby, formerly of Plainfield avenue, are booked among the guests at the Octagon Hotel, Seabright.

Mrs. David S. Beede, of Greenwich, Conn., will come to Plainfield this week to visit her brother, W. D. Williams, of East Front street.

Miss Marion Rocap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rocap, of West Front street, is registered among the guests at the Clifton House, Patchogue, L. I.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Henry Shott, of Rahway, has taken a position at the Pederick-Ayer Company's plant.

Joseph Bolby, formerly of the Rushmore Dynamo Company's plant, returned home from a visit with friends at Glen Gardner.

The block cutting department of Edward Love's Wall Paper plant, which is located on North avenue, has closed down temporarily.

William Eskasen quit work at the Rushmore Dynamo Company's plant and has taken a position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

John Martin, foreman of the erecting department at the Pederick-Ayer Company's plant, has resigned his position to take effect Monday. Mr. Martin will leave Monday for Chicago, where he will take a position with his father, who is superintendent of a large plant in that city. Mr. Martin's father was formerly superintendent of the Pederick-Ayer Company's plant.

It is reported from Philadelphia that the strike of textile workers has been further broken, and 200 dyers employed at John and James Dobson's carpet mill, Falls of Schuykill, accepted the compromise proposition made by the firm. Fifty dyers returned to work yesterday and the remainder will report for duty today. The firm offered them $12 for a sixty-hour week, which was accepted.

The State Barbers' Association, a recently formed organization, held their first meeting at Newark, Sunday. There were about twenty journeymen present. The barbers of the State have felt for some time that they must have some protection and this must be secured by proper legislation, and the State association was organized for this purpose. At the meeting Sunday complaints from the northern part of the State were heard, showing that cities in that section are being run by school barbers, who learn their trade in a few months. Last year a barbers' license law was introduced into the Legislature, but died in the hands of the House Committee.

While returning to work on his bicycle one afternoon last week, John Entwistle, of the Potter Press Company's plant, was startled by the sudden appearance of a large animal running in front of his wheel. At first Mr. Entwistle thought it was a young fox, and after keeping at his front wheel for a few minutes, the beast suddenly darted into the field near Rockview Heights. Intending to find out what it was, and using his bicycle as a hunting dog, Entwistle went racing through the fields to run down the beast. He finally succeeded in doing so, and sprinting from his wheel he kicked the animal a terrific blow on the head rendering it unconscious. Entwistle took his prize to the shop, which it was pronounced by a dozen shopmates to be a groundhog. Mr. Entwistle intends having the creature stuffed.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

For anything in the toy line go to A. M. Harper's store in Park avenue. His doll's hospital is a perfect wonderment to both young and old.

C. M. Nagle, of West Front street, has a special preparation that is warranted to be sure death to mosquitoes. Remember that when the birds renew their attentions.

You can save money by trading at the Boston Cloak and Fur Store in West Front street, where you will find a large stock of women's suits, separate skirts, waists, appropriate to the season.

Putnam & DeGraw, the dry goods merchants, are offering an attractive line of seasonable goods, both for men and women. The goods at this store are known for quality and the reasonable prices.

Every ounce of meat sold by Fred Endress, of West Front street, as well as every fish he sells undergoes the most careful scrutiny before it is allowed to go out of the store. It is this care that makes and keeps customers.

Repairs to a watch or a broken stick pin, a chatelaine or watch fob can be made at reasonable rates at L. Moraller & Sons before the vacation trip is taken. While you are away have Moraller & Sons take care of your clocks.

While there is no time like the present, you should also remember that Chas. E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, keeps the correct time, the kind it is safe to go by. He also keeps a superior stock of jewelry, silverware and diamonds.

It is difficult to see how some men can enjoy a poor cigar when a good cigar can be bought for the same money. M. C. Dobbins, of Park avenue, makes the best cigars and when one buys one of his Yarra brand he is getting the best.

The wisdom of trading with S. Scheuer & Company, dealers in groceries and meats, is shown by the steadily increasing patronage at this store. All goods are of the best, as represented and the prices will always appeal to your means.

Notwithstanding that Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, has been devoting much time of late to the extermination of mosquitoes, it should not be forgotten that he keeps one of the best drug stores in the State and his soda is par excellent.

It is the general hope of everyone in Plainfield that the mosquito plague is over, but in case any of these pesky things return in large numbers, you can find relief by purchasing L. W. Randolph's mosquito banisher. It is a sure cure and will give you lots of comfort.

Fish are scarce and the supply is growing smaller every day. But yoon can't phase Jerry Foss, the fish market man of Park avenue, no matter how few the fish may be. He is always ready to supply his customers with fish fresh daily at the lowest possible prices.

Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, July 19, 1903. Round trip adults $1.50, children, 75c., from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switchback you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful little cascades, caverns and like attractions. 7 15 4 c

THE POPE YET LIVES

His Holiness Still Clings to Life, but Grows Weaker.

CONDITION IS NOT MUCH WORSE

A Slight Amount of Nourishment Was Taken, but He Continued Restless and Unable to Lie Easily In Bed.

ROME, July 16.—Dr. Mazzoni in reply to the question "Can the pope recover?" gave out the following signed statement:

Dr. Mazzoni in reply to the question "Can the pope recover?" gave out the following signed statement:

"At the present moment the disease of his holiness has lost its character of absolute gravity which it had at its acute period. It might be considered to have entered the period of a possible solution.

"During the night the pope had several hours' rest. His pulsation is 82, respiration 30, temperature 36.2 centigrade. There has been no noticeable change in the general condition of the august patient."

One of the doctors in attendance on the pontiff gave a graphic but horrible word picture of Pope Leo as he appears now. That smile which lighted up the pontiff's face even in extreme age has disappeared probably forever. The skin is drawn tightly over the bony framework of his face, leaving the once bright eyes staring dimly from the deeply sunken sockets. A grayish pallor overspreads his countenance, but the most noticeable ravage wrought by his present disease is the dropping of the lower jaw, which has made the pope's features take on the fixed rigidity of death.

Throughout the day the precincts of the Vatican were comparatively quiet, and the immediate vicinity of the sick room showed none of the evidences of agitation and alarm so apparent in the past. In marked contrast to previous days, the patient was kept in almost absolute seclusion, only one person besides the physicians in immediate attendance gaining admission. This one was Mgr. Pifferi, the pope's confessor. Others came to the antechamber, including Cardinals Satolli and Serafino Vannutelli, but they did not press for admission to the sick room, being aware of the doctors' earnest wish to afford the august patient every opportunity of avoiding exertion and mental effort.

The pope took a slight amount of nourishment, but he was quite restless, shifting uneasily on his bed and complaining of being unable to secure an easy position. Later he became drowsy and had some sleep. The assembling of the doctors two hours before the usual time was not due to any alarming turn in the pope's condition, but through the wish to thoroughly go over every detail of the situation. The moderate tone of the bulletin which followed the visit gave an assurance that the patient's condition was practically unchanged, while the expression that the depression of his strength had not increased afforded a slight note of relief.

His holiness has complained of a slight uneasiness at the chest, but that he has not yet completely given up hope was indicated by his remark that he expected this oppression of his chest to pass off in a few days. During the day the pope drank a few drops of the healing waters from the shrine at Lourdes, several bottles of which were sent to the Vatican by the French bishop in whose see Lourdes is situated. A local paper bravely announced that from the moment Pope Leo swallowed the water an improvement in his condition became apparent.

The doctors are well nigh exhausted with their unceasing cares. Dr. Lapponi, in particular, spends his entire nights as well as days in the sick room.

An important case now before the British consular court in Rome requires the presence of Dr. Lapponi, but this is impossible because of the pope's condition and also because the Vatican affords extra territorial privileges to all within its precincts.

The total number of dispatches inquiring about the pope's health received at the Vatican has reached 26,000, including some lengthy cables from half round the world. The total cost of these telegrams is estimated at $36,000. This enormous deluge taxes to the utmost the resources of the Vatican administration. A large force of priests and seminarians is temporarily aiding the officials in making responses, which bear the signature of Cardinal Rampolla.

Found Guilty of Bribery.

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—The jury in the case of Julius Lehmann, former member of the house of delegates, charged with bribery in connection with the passage of the city lighting bill, returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty. His punishment was fixed at seven years in the penitentiary, the longest term yet inflicted in any of the boodle cases. The sentence is also the maximum punishment under the law. It took the jury just seven minutes in which to reach its verdict.

Convicted of Bigamy.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 16.—George Gardner of North River was convicted of bigamy at Lake George. The defendant is an uneducated woodsman. Four years ago he separated from wife No. 1, and both signed a bill of separation. Last summer he was married to wife No. 2 by a justice of the peace at Wevertown.

Boy Dead—Lockjaw.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., July 11.—John Wolfe, aged nine years, died in this city from lockjaw, the result of a Fourth of July accident.

RACE AT OYSTER BAY

President Witnesses Contest of Naval Yachtsmen.

IN ROOSEVELT CHILDREN'S BOATS.

Enlisted Sailors of the Sylph Are Told That the Country Expects Them to Be Its Defense.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 16.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt, together with Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw and a large party of relatives and friends, were enthusiastically interested witnesses of a boat race on Oyster bay. The contestants were four crews of three men each selected from the enlisted men of the naval yacht Sylph. All were trained oarsmen and, spurred by the knowledge that the eyes of the president were upon them, every one of the twelve brawny sailor men worked in the race as if his life depended upon his efforts.

The race was the idea of the Roosevelt children. It appealed strongly to the president. Through Lieutenant Preston, commander of the Sylph, the arrangements were perfected. The enlisted men on the Sylph and the children, whose race it was to be, entered with enthusiasm into all the details.

As the Sylph has no boats suitable for racing the children tendered the sailors the use of their boats, four beautiful, pair oared cedar skiffs.

The president added a substantial zest to the contest by offering a prize of $35, $25 of which should go to the winning crew and $10 to the second crew.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt and Secretary Shaw, accompanied by seventeen Roosevelt children, including the president's six children, embarked in launches at the J. West Roosevelt pier and were taken to the Sylph. Scarcely had the party boarded the yacht when the contesting crews, attired in white rowing shirts and trousers, tumbled into their boats.

At the crack of a pistol fired by Theodore the oars struck the water as one, and the boats were off. For a hundred yards it was a pretty even race, but No. 1 gradually drew ahead and never afterward was in danger.

President Roosevelt stood in the extreme bow of the Sylph and intently watched every yard of the race through glasses. Beside him were his son Kermit and his nephew, Philip Roosevelt, who acted as judges of the finish. As the Kullman crew, the winners, swept across the finish line by ten lengths from the Snyder crew Kermit's pistol cracked, announcing the finish of the contest. The time was a fraction less than ten minutes for the mile and a quarter.

President Roosevelt greeted the members of the crews cordially as they went aboard the Sylph, shaking hands and saying a kindly word to each one. Then he presented the prizes to the cockswains of the winning and second crews. Soon afterward the president and his party left the Sylph for Sagamore Hill.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt dined on board the Sylph as the guests of the enlisted men. The invitation to the dinner was extended to them through the vessel's commander, Lieutenant Preston. After the dinner the president delivered a brief talk to the men.

He desired them to realize fully, he said, that as Theodore Roosevelt and as president of the United States he had a warm personal interest in them and in all the enlisted men in the navy. The welfare of the enlisted men in both the navy and army was one of the safeguards of the country. He urged them to be efficient and faithful in the performance of their duties and zealous in their work of preparation for a time which might come unexpectedly when their services would mean the life of the nation. In that supreme moment, when all were thoroughly prepared, when by faithful attention to duty in hours of peace the work of warfare had been discounted, he had no fear that the navy of the United States—the enlisted men of the navy—would not add new luster to the American flag.

More Fourth of July Lockjaw.

UTICA, N. Y., July 16.—Mrs. Archie Switzer, whose husband is a brakeman on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad, died at Carthage from tetanus, resulting from a Fourth of July accident. She was handling a 32 caliber revolver which was loaded with blank cartridges and which she accidentally discharged. Andy, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Young of North Hammond, St. Lawrence county, is dead as a result of a wound made by a blank cartridge fired from a toy pistol, lockjaw developing.

Paid $480 For Day's Fishing.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 16.—A fish warden of the Pennsylvania department of fisheries in Center county caught John Kosick and J. L. Millard fishing for trout. They resisted the efforts to examine their baskets, and the officer was compelled to use force. Twenty-eight trout under six inches in length were found in their possession. They pleaded guilty to violating the fish law and paid $280 for the short trout and $100 each for resisting the officer, making a total of $480.

Sylvester's Sentence Affirmed.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 15.—The supreme court affirmed the decision of the circuit court in the case of the State versus William Sylvester, and unless the pardoning board intervenes he will hang. Sylvester was convicted of the murder of Edward Burton, master mechanic of the Seaboard Air Line shops at Fernandina, who had discharged him.

A MOST COMFORTABLE PLACE TO SHOP.

The blazing sun has no terror for those who do their shopping here. Even on these hot, sweltering days you'll find this the coolest and most comfortable place in town—cooler in fact than many homes.

Our grand court, nearly two hundred feet long, is open clear to the roof, giving perfect ventilation to all floors. The broad, spacious aisles afford plenty of elbow room—no jostling or crowding, even on the busiest days.

A superior stock of merchandise, bright, new and up-to-date. Prompt and attentive salespeople to anticipate your every want. These and our policy of honest values at profit-sharing prices are but a few of the many attractions which make this a most profitable as well as comfortable place to shop.

THE LIBERAL manner in which the public are purchasing, during the day time, presents a strong argument in favor of early closing—and we wish to thank our many friends for their generous patronage and hearty support.

Shamrock III. Leads Old Boat.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A fair sky and a splendid racing breeze of fifteen knots greeted the two Shamrocks when they left Sandy Hook for another trial off the lightship. Sir Thomas had hoped to give the boats a race over a thirty mile course, but his advisers, including Sailmaker George Ratsey, who was on board the Erin, were not satisfied with the set of Shamrock III.'s new mainsail, so that part of the trial was devoted to jockeying about the Erin off Scotland lightship to stretch the new boat's mainsail. After that Shamrock III. led the old boat a reach from the Scotland to the Sandy Hook lightship and back, eight miles, and beat her about a minute and a half. Just before she reached Scotland lightship returning a mast head runner block on Shamrock III. gave way, but no other damage resulted. Sir Thomas came up to New York on the Erin to attend a dinner given by the New York Yacht club to him and Designer Fife.

Nameoki at Brighton.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The Atlantic Selling stakes for two-year-olds, the feature of an ordinary card at Brighton Beach, was won by the favorite, Nameoki, with Bob Murphy second and Midshipman third. Only a fair field of selling platers started for this race. Bob Murphy cut out the running to the stretch, where Gannon brought Nameoki up and won easily by a length. The steeplechase over the short course went to Valdez, played down from 10 to 1 to 7 to 2. Fox Hunter, the favorite, was second. Davy, the rider of Howard Gratz, who fell, was hurt and later removed to the hospital.

Canada's Cup Challenger.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 16.—The Canada cup challenger, the Irondequoit, has been overhauled in Charlotte harbor and is now in complete readiness for her first trial race. The race will be over a triangular course of eighteen miles, with the Cinderella, a fifty-two foot cutter, as a competitor. One purpose of the trial races aside from the tuning up and sail stretching the new boat will receive will be the selection of the four amateur members of the Irondequoit's crew.

Peter Paul Wins at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Peter Paul, R. Bradley's gelding, was much the best of the two-year-old field at Washington park. He conceded a lot of weight to his field and, well ridden by Dominick, he went to the front easily in the stretch and won from Memories and Nannie Hodge. W. Waldo was announced as the rider of Peter Paul, but Dominick was substituted.

Epworth League Convention.

DETROIT, Mich., July 16.—The sixth international convention of the Epworth league was opened here today. Hundreds of delegates have arrived on every train from all parts of the United States and Canada. The convention was opened with simultaneous meetings in Tent Ontario, which has a seating capacity of 5,000; the Central M. E. church and the Detroit Opera House. All three auditoriums are gay with Epworth league banners and bunting.

Elevator Falls Eight Stories.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16. — The parting of a cable caused a large elevator in the new Hotel Stratford, in course of construction at Broad and Walnut streets, to fall from the eighth to the first floor. Upon the lift at the time it took its flight were five workmen and a heavy load of building material. Martin Quinn, one of the men injured, is dead, and George Cavanaugh so badly injured that he cannot recover.

GREAT STRIKE ENDS

Bridgeport Trolley Men's Union Declares Fight Off.

ENDED FOR BENEFIT OF WORKERS

Many Desertions From the Union Ranks Made It Apparent That the Cause Was Lost and to Go On Would Cause Hardship.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 16.—Frank Wood of the Bridgeport Trolley Men's union has officially declared the strike of the employees of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company off, which was inaugurated two months ago. The strikers are given the privilege by the union of applying individually for work at the offices of the company.

In declaring the end of the strike President Wood takes occasion to announce that the forty-five men who voted to return to work and who did so are expelled from the union with a fifty dollar fine. He further states that measures will be taken which will prevent their employment anywhere in this country where there is a labor union in force.

The official announcement that the strike was at an end was made principally for the benefit of the working people and members of labor unions in the city. It was realized that with the many desertions from the union ranks the cause was a lost one and to continue the fight further would be a hardship on the people who have sympathized with the strikers. They are therefore allowed to patronize the cars going to and from work and for business purposes without antagonizing the union, but it is expressly stated in the statement that the Connecticut Railway and Lighting company and its pleasure resort, Pine Rock park, remain on the unfair list.

The trolley company has refused to take back a number of strikers, and it is hardly probable that President Wood and the men who have stood by him will become applicants for their old positions.

Sheriff Hawley compiled his expense account in connection with the strike in this city. In the aggregate it amounts to about $7,000.

Wishes to Suppress Suicide News.

CLEVELAND, O., July 16.—Coroner Burke says that he will make an attempt to suppress details in the cases of suicides. "The publication of suicide stories under glaring headlines, giving every detail of the crime," said Coroner Burke, "is most harmful to the public at large and is the direct cause of so many suicides. I have noticed that when a suicide by carbolic acid is printed a number of suicides immediately follow, all taking their lives in the same manner. The same may be said of a suicide by shooting or any of the other ways that are more commonly employed."

Opium In the Philippines.

MANILA, July 16.—The Philippine commission has tabled both the opium bills. The first bill provides for the creation of an opium monopoly in the archipelago and its sale to the highest bidder. The second is a substitute bill, introduced by the commission, making the importation of opium unlawful except by pharmacists and permitting the disposal of the drug on a physician's certificate. A special commission was appointed to visit the oriental countries and investigate the regulations regarding the disposal of opium. Afterward all the records will be sent to Washington.

Locomotor Ataxia Caused Suicide.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., July 16.—The body of Albert J. Fox, who had been missing since Tuesday, has been found near Forestville. Three bullet wounds were over the heart, and an empty revolver was by the body. A man searching for a strayed cow found the body in a dense coppice. His mother, alarmed by his absence, opened his trunk and found a note bidding her goodby. Fox in the note said he was going to kill himself because locomotor ataxia had attacked him. He was twenty-two years old.

Secret Inquest on Trolley Victim.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., July 16.—The inquest in the trolley wreck near Olcott last week, in which a man was killed and many seriously injured, was resumed here. Coroner Mayne and District Attorney Stockwell insisted upon it being secret. A local newspaper man and some Buffalo reporters attempted to enter the room, declaring it was a public session, and Mr. Stockwell forcibly ejected them. The local reporter was thrown to the floor.

Clemens Yost Not a Forger.

BOSTON, July 16.—Chief Justice Brown of the municipal court has dismissed the charge of forgery against Clemens Yost, who was arrested charged with forging the name of W. M. Smith on a railroad ticket with intent to deceive a railroad corporation. The court was convinced that there was nothing to bear out the charge of forgery against Yost, as it was shown that he had a power of attorney to sign Smith's name.

Arrested Emperor's Godson.

VIENNA, July 16.—Freiherr Francis Joseph von Lerchenfeld was arrested on a charge of fraud. The incident has created a painful impression in society, as Lerchenfeld is a godson of the Austrian emperor, who on frequent occasions has paid his debts. He was also connected with the royal house of Bavaria and was a brilliant hussar officer.

Plainfield, N. J., July 16, 1903.

"Confidence and enthusiasm are necessary to the advertiser who seeks success."

A young man in Pittsburg won his bride at a fire. Now what did you say about her being his "flame?"

One of the street sprinkling carts was brought into play yesterday to put out a blaze in Park avenue, the fire department arriving when the flames were subdued. "Doane's remedy" was outdone by the "Keeley cure."

Why not name the Somerset County jail the Hotel Freedom? Is Judge Schenck going to allow that jail delivery to pass by unnoticed? One can readily understand why North Plainfielders dislike being residents of Somerset County when matters are permitted to go as they are at present.

We cannot agree with Rev. Dr. Thomas O'Hanlon who declares that "The United States Constitution is godless," insofar as the mere expression goes. It is a Godly document. What the reverend man no doubt deplores is that no reference to God is made in that cherished instrument. On that score we can fully agree with him.

When you are at the band concert this evening bear in mind that while the entertainment is free to you some one else is paying for it. Then just think how much pleasanter it would seem if you were a stockholder in this charity. If you do this, you'll be sure to loosen your purse strings. Bandmaster Ben LaVere doesn't care how large your donation may be.

If the report be true that fruit dealers in North Plainfield are violating the liquor laws no time should be lost in bringing the offenders to justice. It is claimed that these dealers who keep their stores open on Sunday are the guilty parties. Legitimate trading on Sunday is bad enough, but when these Italians break the law of the State selling liquor without a license, and on God's day too, severe punishment should be given them. It is the duty of the Councilmen having any material knowledge on the subject to lay it at once before the court.

James Pitzer, a bachelor farmer down in Virginia, has evidently tired of having an alarm clock instead of a wife wake him in the mornings. At any rate he has determined to try his luck at the marriage lottery. The Virginian caused it to be known that he would wed the first woman he caught picking blackberries in his garden. Thirteen coy maiden—all maidens are coy—were discovered in the garden industriously at work at the same time. Probably if James had advertised for one that knew how to keep house he would not have been in such a dilema.

Unfortunately little attention has been paid to the forthcoming special election, which has been provided for the purpose of allowing the voters to express their wishes regarding the proposed constitutional amendments. The provisions of these suggested amendments effect the judiciary solely and this is probably the reason that the general public has paid little heed to them. In fact the press has been unusually silent regarding the matter. The Trenton True American had some fault to find. That newspaper makes objection particularly to the arrangement by which the voter is to make known his views. This has brought one beneficial result at least. The press has been quickened to explain the proposed amendments, which is one of the functions of a public medium.

Under the provisions of these amendments the Governor will have the power to appoint the vice chancellors, with the advice and consent of the Senate. At present this right is exerted by the chancellor. A separate court of errors and appeals, consisting of a chief and four associate judges is to be constituted. At present the court of errors and appeals is composed of a chancellor, a chief judge and eight associate judges as well as six special judges. Under present conditions the vice chancellors are merely advisory masters. Appeals are now taken from the Supreme Court to the Court of Errors and Appeals, but the Supreme Court judges are also members of the higher court in addition to six special judges and the chancellor. As to this particular phase of the proposed change the New Jersey Law Journal says:

"The division of our system of jurisprudence into two separate and distinct branches, law and equity, a feature borrowed from England and long ago abolished in that country, is to be accentuated by making the chancery a bench of judges in place of, as now, a single officer, to hear and determine questions of equity, assisted by advisory officers called vice-chancellors."

Some critics believe that the whole proposition had better be deferred until such time as the judicial system of New Jersey is more in harmony with modern jurisprudence and this appears to be the opinion of the Law Journal. Objection is also made to the additional expensive such a change would involve. The Newark Advertiser declares that "The change is designed to simplify and expedite litigation as the judges will have to sit in but one court instead of shifting from one to another."

It is the duty of every voter to seriously consider the proposed amendments and then to vote as his conscience and judgment direct. Party politics should play no part in arriving at a decision. Questions affecting the judiciary have nothing in common with party lines.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss Stran, of Hill & Shupp's dry goods store, has returned from her vacation.

—A crosswalk has been laid on East Front street opposite the entrance to Woodhull & Martin's new building.

—Miss Margaret Kennedy, of Boehm's dry goods store, will spend her vacation in August at Lake Hopatcong, with her cousin.

—Miss Margaret Whalen, Miss Kizzie DeMott and Miss Cecelia Kelly are among the saleswomen at Boehm's dry goods store who will take their vacations during the first two weeks in August.

—Under the direction of James F. Arnold, chairman of the street committee of the North Plainfield Common Council, the finishing touches to the laying of the storm sewer on Jackson avenue is under way. The work of macadamizing the upper end of Duer street is going ahead in a satisfactory manner.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are pleased to announce that beginning on Wednesday, July 15, Madame P. Berry, an expert corsetiere, will demonstrate the popular "Invisible Lacing" Corset at our store. Every lady who desires perfection of style combined with solid comfort is cordially invited to call and examine these goods. Some of the special features are:—

No lacing inside to hurt, annoy or touch the wearer. No lacing to show through the lightest fabric of a lady's dress. Every corset laced before leaving the factory. Silk lacings used, and guaranteed not to break. No eyelets to rust or corrode, thus preventing the spoiling of undergarments or ruin of fine lingere. Your special attention is called to these goods, and we ask you to verify our statements by wearing one yourself.

We are headquarters for everything pertaining to canning and preserving. Buying this line of goods direct from the manufacturer, in carload lots, enable us to give you the very lowest prices.

Carter's Glass Butter Jars

will keep butter fresh any length of time. If you use them your butter will never get strong. Being air-tight they will not acquire any bad taste from vegetables, etc., in the refrigerator. This jar is the only thing known that will retain the flavor of butter in warm weather.

They are sold exclusively in this city by us.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

A large stage load of young people from this place enjoyed a stage ride last evening. They returned late after a most enjoyable time was spent in riding about the country. A stop was made at Westfield.

A great deal of interest is being excited by the ball game between Dunellen and Clinton Avenue next Saturday. Clinton Avenue has been playing good ball and the contest promises to be exciting.

A number of interesting sets of tennis were played last evening between members of the tennis club. The play was excellent and very exciting.

A large number from this place went on an excursion in connection with some Plainfield churches today. The destination was Asbury Park.

Eugene Morrison, formerly a superintendent in the Levering & Garrigues shop, has been visiting his family on Madison avenue.

James Craig and Howard Craig spent yesterday at Perth Amboy fishing and as usual had a large catch.

Miss Lingo, of Philadelphia, is stopping for a few days with Miss Grace Wilcox, of Prospect avenue.

Mrs. Edwin Craig is entertaining her sister, Miss Margaret Wilcox, of Somerville, for a few days.

Mrs. Wilson Fredericks is entertaining her sister from Somerville.

William Bird, of Plainfield, spent yesterday afternoon in town.

NEW MARKET.

An enjoyable meeting of the Friendship Circle was held yesterday afternoon at the pretty home of Mrs. Wm. V. Dunham. A large number were present and the time was spent playing croquet and other games. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

A large crowd of Sunday-school scholars and their friends made the excursion to Glen Island yesterday in expectation of a pleasant time.

"Al" Squiers will again do the twirling for the Y. M. A. on Saturday and victory looks like a sure thing.

The brass band will hold practice this evening.

Ogden Meeker visited in Plainfield yesterday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

It is doubtful if "Chick" Crusius will be able to play with the locals in the game at Westfield on Saturday. "Chick" is still confined to the house under a doctor's care and it may be several weeks before he will be able to don a uniform again. His snappy work at short will be missed by the locals as Manager Johnston will have a hard time finding one who can cover the ground "Chick" does.

Two houses on Mountain avenue were entered by burglars sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning. From the looks of the lower rooms in the houses the burglars has made a systematic hunt for valuables but nothing has been missed by the owners yet.

The High School ball team, which has just closed its season, played 14 games with some of the best school teams through this section; 7 games were won and 7 lost. This is not a bad record for the first season the team has been organized.

Owing to the annoyanece of mosquiotes and bugs at the evening services held at the Baptist Church, the trustees have purchased screens for the windows. This will make it much more comfortable for those who attend the meetings.

The weekly meetings of the teachers of the Baptist Sunday-school have been discontinued until September. The Sunday-school lesson will be taught at the Friday evening prayer meetings instead.

Some one has put Adolph Fleisher's barber pole in mourning, trimming it a dead black. Mr. Fleisher is looking for the parties and promises to make it warm for them if he lands them.

The members of the Epworth League, of the Methodist Church, enjoyed an outing at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp Monday night.

The local Italian residents are taking an active part in the Italian celebration being held today in Plainfield.

The bands concert tonight at Plainfield will be the attraction for many of the residents of the village.

Manager Johnston, of the locals, has closed Saturday, the 25th, with the St. Mary's, of Plainfield.

The Township Committee met in the town rooms Tuesday night. Routine business was transacted.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr., have been entertaining relatives from Brooklyn for a few days.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., hold their weekly meeting in the Library rooms tonight.

John H. Becker and staff were at Westfield last evening and installed officers in the lodge of I. O. O. F. there. Tomorrow evening he will be in Perth Amboy where he will also install officers.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss May Hughes, of Hill & Shupp's dry goods store, will take her vacation the second and third week in August.

—Great care should be exercised in selecting fruits for canning. They should not be over ripe but should be sweet, juicy and solid. Neuman Brothers have the right kind at right prices.

—Miss Johnson, of Hill & Shupp's store, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation. Miss Guinee, of the same store, will go on her vacation next week, returning the last of the first week in August.

W. C. Buell, of Atlantic City, son of the late Charles E. Buell, is the guest of Charles M. Dolliver, of Fairview avenue.

COUNTY COMMITTEE DOINGS

NEWS FROM THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE REPUBLICAN CAMP.

Chairman Hamilton Kean Has Something to Say Regarding Delegate Lists—Baseball Game.

Chairman Hamilton Fish Kean announces that the city clerks of Elizabeth, Plainfield and Rahway are the only officials who have complied with the requirements of the new law as to furnishing to him lists of the number of delegates to which each voting district is entitled.

Acting State Chairman Stokes has informed the committee that he had recommended the appointment of C. Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, to the Governor, as successor of William C. Carr on the County Board of Election.

William H. Donaldson, Linden, has been elected a member of the committee to succeed Charles I. Brown, who has moved out of the county.

Chairman Kean has requested all to send the names for the Board of Registry and Election to him by mail.

James Smylie Tucker, member from the Ninth ward, Elizabeth, announces that a big game of baseball between Republicans and Democrats is expected to take place Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, on the Y. M. C. A. Walnut street grounds, and he invites the committee to come out and see the political athletes.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed Church will hold a regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Becker, of Rock avenue, this afternoon.

During August Rev. Dr. George William Knox, of the Union Theological Seminary, will have charge of the services in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church.

The Park Avenue Baptist Church will have charge of the meeting at Netherwood Fresh Air Camp tomorrow evening. The members will leave the North avenue trolley station at 7:30.

Rev. F. E. Taylor, of Brooklyn, the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon is a favorite platform man for men's meetings. Miss M. H. Cornwell has been engaged as the soloist.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of East Orange, who has been occupying the First Baptist Church pulpit several times of late, is considered one of the most able divines in the denomination. His ability to explain the Scriptures and his simplicity in style has attracted much attention. It is possible that he may preach at the First Baptist Church during September.

OFF FOR SHORE.

Episcopalians and Presbyterians Are Spending Day at Asbury Park.

Twenty coaches, fourteen in the first section and six in the second, were required to take the members of the Crescent Avenue Church Sunday-school, Bethel Chapel and all of the local Episcopal Church Sunday-schools to Asbury Park this morning. The weather was extremely favorable for a fine day at the shore and the people turned out in large numbers. It is estimated that about 900 people went on the excursion.

The start was made from the North Avenue Station under favorable circumstances, no one intending to go being left behind. Returning tonight the excursionists will leave Asbury Park at 6:30 o'clock, arriving home a little after 8 o'clock.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 19—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Religion between Sundays.—Acts 2, 42-47.

The Sabbath day is the day specially set apart by God for religious worship and service, but it does not follow from that that it is the only day upon which we are to be religious. Every day of the week is the Lord's day, and there is no day upon which we are not to love and serve Him. These facts are recognized by all people, and yet when it comes to actual practice many seem to think that religion is only for the Sabbath, that it is to be put on and put off with clothes that are worn upon that day, and that between Sundays we can follow our own plans and devices.

But Sunday religion only is not the kind that is taught in the word of God. There it is plainly taught that we are to serve the Lord daily. The sacrifices of the Old Testament were offered daily, although they were doubled in number upon the Sabbath. Christ taught His disciples to pray daily for their daily bread, "Give us this day our daily bread." The Bereans "searched the Scriptures daily" and were commended for so doing. "These were more noble than those in Thessalonica in that they received the word with all readiness of mind and searched the Scriptures daily whether these things were so." And Luke, the sacred historian, gives us in the topical reference a beautiful description of the religious faith and activity of the early Christians between Sundays.

In this description we can learn many things that should characterize our lives as Christian upon the days of the week:

1. Religious faith should be exercised between Sundays. "They continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine." It is not only necessary to believe in God on the Sabbath when listening to His word in the sanctuary or reading it in the home, but also when amid the duties and cares of everyday life during the week. The test of faith comes oftener between Sundays than upon the Sabbath, and at such times it should be steadfast.

2. Religious fellowship should be exercised between Sundays. The early Christians continued steadfast in the apostles' fellowship as well as doctrine. They broke bread "from house to house." We should not only know each other upon the Sabbath day, but upon Monday or any other day of the week. It is a low standard of Christian fellowship that only recognizes a brother in Christ in the church upon the Sabbath day and refuses or neglects this recognition during the week.

3. Religious worship should be exercised between Sundays. The early Christians spent much time on week days in worshiping God. Praise and prayer were their daily devotions. "They continued daily with one accord in the temple and, breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart, praising God." God should be worshiped during the week. Praise and prayer should ascend to Him daily from the home, and if we cannot go every day to His temple we should at least set aside the time of the midweek service held in almost every church for public worship.

4. Religious work should be exercised between Sundays. They assisted each other. "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need." The community of goods proved impracticable, but the principle was sound. Christian people should be interested in each other's daily welfare and should lend a helping hand "to all men, as every man hath need." They also worked for the salvation of the souls of the unsaved. "The Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved," but this is always done as a result of Christian effort. We should have a daily interest in the salvation of the souls of men.

And what was the result of this carrying religion into the days of the week? (1) They had "favor with all the people!" A religion that is put on and off with the Sabbath has little favor among men, but a religion that manifests itself at all times, that is practical and helpful, that is visible daily in the home, in society and in the business pursuits of life will always find favor with men and influence them for good. (2) They found favor with God. God blessed them by giving them souls for their hire. Finding favor with the people and having the daily blessing of God, it is little wonder that these early Christians "did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart, praising God." A religion that is consistent will always bring joy and gladness. Let us therefore serve the Lord at all times, and His favor and blessing will be constantly upon us.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 19, "Strong Men and Strong Women the Nation's Hope." Text, Ex. xviii, 12; Deut. xvi, 18; Eph. vi, 10-18.

"Be strong in the Lord."

There is no premium in this world on weakness. Even though the battle may not always be to the strong, as the Bible declares it is not, it is not weakness which gives the victory. The helpless may appeal to our sympathy and draw out the traits of tenderness and compassion, but the hard, stern work of the world demands strength, endurance and courage. Timidity may not be a crime, but it may at times bring as serious disaster as treachery. There arise occasions when heroic endurance of suffering, privation and hard toil is needful. Cold, fatigue, hunger and long continued labor must be endured times beyond number by the workers in a hundred different fields of effort. Heat, exhaustion, strain of muscle, brain and soul are the purchase price of many of the luxuries and even ordinary comforts of everyday life in civilized lands.

In affairs of the nation heroic endeavor is in constant demand. Alertness, integrity, ability to discern the right and equitable measures in legislation are needed in all our assemblies. The power to say no or yes and stick to it when right demands sometimes requires a soul and body of great strength. The pressure brought to bear on one in official position is unrealized and unrealizable by those who have not felt its touch. It takes strong men and women of moral fiber and keen sense to stand against it.

The rush and high speed of much of the work of the present time require strong muscles and nerves to avoid collapse. The strain which a slight increase in the speed of a railway train puts on track and rolling stock is often serious. The same is true of men. A man who can endure certain work breaks completely under a slight increase. Nerves and muscles are overtaxed. Under certain responsibilities men will pass years of faithful service and then "go all to pieces" under a new or unusual charge. Influences to which one has become accustomed make slight impression, but an unusual offer, solicitation or bribe may overthrow in an instant all the defenses and ruin the work of a lifetime.

The hope of the nation, of all nations, lies in manhood and womanhood strong in reverence for God and right, strong of intellect, body and soul.

High and Worthy Ends.

These high and precious and holy gifts of God should be used for an end correspondingly high and worthy and holy. Such a high and worthy end is not difficult to find or to realize. It is not necessary to go out of our way in quest of something remarkable, unfamiliar or extravagant. This high and worthy end is secured in the lives of thousands of men and women who are engaged in the plainest and most ordinary routine of duties, duties of the home, duties of the farm, duties of the workshop or duties of the schoolroom. The only indispensable condition for attaining to such an end is that of having a spirit of genuine love to God and love to man, a spirit of consecration, obedience and unselfish service—in one word, the spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ. Such a spirit when properly possessed and applied will certainly elevate our lives to that which is truly high and direct them to that which is noble and worthy. And the end, the result of such a life, will be the manifestation and enjoyment of the glory of God, the establishment of His kingdom, the triumph of the true and right and good and the salvation and spiritual welfare of souls.—Christian Intelligencer.

Burdens to Bear.

Life brings only burdens to all humanity. It is not only the Christians who must suffer. As a matter of fact, there are many burdens and griefs which press more lightly upon Christians than upon those who do not know Christ. The Christian bears but a part of the load which others must needs bear alone. With Christ for a yokefellow the heaviest part of the burden is borne by His strength, and only so much of it falls upon us as we are able to bear. Those who have never taken Christ's yoke upon them must bear the burden alone, and we may well marvel that any human strength is sufficient to bear some of the ills which life binds upon us.—Christian Work.

New Theories.

A mere theory of life, that remains but a theory, is about as useful to a man as a gilt edged menu is to a starving sailor on a raft in midocean. It is irritating, but not stimulating. No rule for higher living will help a man in the slightest until he reach out and appropriate it for himself, until he make it practical in his daily life, until that seed of theory in his mind blossom into a thousand flowers of thought and word and act.—William George Jordan.

Inspiration of Hope.

Life needs the inspiration of hope. Amidst business perplexities and family cares and church responsibilities we would sink down in despair did not the future hold out cheering and beckoning prospects.—Presbyterian.

Our Burden Bearer.

The little sharp vexations
And the briers that catch and fret,
Why not take all to the Helper
Who has never failed us yet?
Tell Him about the heartache,
And tell Him the longings too;
Tell Him the baffled purpose
When we scarce know what to do.
Then, leaving all our weakness
With the One divinely strong,
Forget that we bore the burden
And carry away the song.
—Phillips Brooks.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

THE NEW WOMAN

Her Fads and Foibles

MANY women, like Peter Ibbetson, "dream true." More than would own to it have visions more or less prophetic. It is certainly now a time when the human nervous system is developing so that it will be able to catch far finer sounds, far more delicate sight impressions, than the average civilized person is at present able to do. This power is a low one which animals and to some extent primitive man retain. Women have with their keen nerves the frequent gift of clairaudience and clairvoyance. Several ladies I know receive positive intelligence and inspiration from sources imperceptible to the common outward senses. Sometimes impressions come as astral pictures—again as soundless voices. There is nothing supernatural about it; only a more finely attuned nerve system that catches impressions unperceived before. The real help of these impressions is not, however, the vulgar one of aiding us to gain our coarse and crude material aims, like getting rich or winning a husband. One who depends on the vision for things like this will be led astray by her own foolish auto suggestion. The real help is spiritual and mental. For this vision can be trusted every time. A few mornings ago one of the women I mentioned waked from a sound, sweet sleep and at the moment of doing so perceived some words. To save her life she could not distinguish whether she herself said them or whether something said them to her. It was probably what is called her subconscious mind that spoke the words. They seemed to come as the close of an oration or message of some kind; but whatever the source they lingered with her all through the day and many days after that like a sweet perfume. The words were: "Be strong, be true, be steadfast." A cumulative emphasis was laid on each adjective, and steadfast came last, as though to be steadfast was the summing up of it all. Perhaps it is.

A little girl named Violet, eleven years old, thought to surprise her mother by some fine needlework she had learned from a small schoolmate. She had done some very delicate hemstitching, I think they call it; at least it was that kind where you draw threads out of a thing at the bottom of a hem and then further make holes in it by means of a thread and needle so that a line around the hem will tear and wear out sooner than the rest of the article. I suppose that is what it is done for. This little girl took the utmost pains with a specimen of the time and labor wasting work, then carried it to her mother, expecting high praise. But her mother said: "Violet, throw away that stuff, and never do you touch any of it again. I won't have you ruining your eyesight in that way." Sensible mother! Fortunate Violet to have such a mother!

"The world is for woman also."

I wonder why American college girls do not take to special scientific study. They have more opportunity and greater advantages than any other women, yet so far they seem content with achieving a high standing in scholarship, the mere committing to memory what other people learned before them without making original research for themselves. That is what the true lover of science does in any department. It is not to the credit of American women that the greatest mathematician of their sex, Mary Somerville, was British; that the woman chemist who has shown herself to possess one of the great brains of her century, Mme. Curie, is a Polish woman resident in Paris. What are our women students about in the United States?

Learn to sink your own uneasy, vainglorious little personality in the One Life; then you can be happy.

Gourley, M. P., of Nova Scotia, in the Canadian parliament squeals defiance at the American eagle, says, so it is reported, that he detests the very existence of the United States and says further his loyalist ancestors would rise from their graves should he speak a good word for the Union. There, there, Gourley, M. P.! Don't be too hard on us. Think how a merciful Providence raised up the United States on purpose to keep the British aristocracy out of the poorhouse! Think how it would have to come down and work for its living if Yankee girls did not buy its young fellows for husbands!

Woman's sphere is this whole universe.

A girl of sixteen ran away with a widower of eighty and married him. She took a ladder and entered his house at night through a second story window and brought him out to a carriage she had in waiting. His family claim the girl Lochinvar kidnaped him. Just as though he was not old enough to know his own mind!

If you would have a rare, sure quality of fascination cultivate a sweet, clear, flexible speaking voice. Throw the sound of it distinctly from your lips out, open your lips in front more than we Americans are in the habit of doing, and thus enunciate clearly. There is marvelous music in a woman's clear, sweet voice, and such a voice is more needed in talking than even in singing.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

"By the gods of war!" he cried. "I never saw that scoundrel before, but if it isn't that renegade Red Fox—Why, here Field! Take my glass and look. You were with the commissioner's escort last year at the Black Hills council. You must have seen him and heard him speak. Isn't this Red Fox himself?"

And to Ray's surprise the young officer's eyes were averted, his face pale and troubled, and the answer was a mere mumble—"I didn't meet Fox—there, captain."

He never seemed to see the glass held out to him until Ray almost thrust it into his hand and then persisted with his inquiry.

"Look at him anyhow. You may have seen him somewhere. Isn't that Red Fox?"

And now Ray was gazing straight at Field's half hidden face. Field, the soul of frankness hitherto, the lad who was never known to flinch from the eyes of any man, but to answer such challenge with his own—brave, fearless, sometimes even defiant. Now he kept the big binocular fixed on the distant hostile array, but his face was white, his hand unsteady and his answer, when it came, was in a voice that Ray heard in mingled pain and wonderment. Could it be that the lad was unnerved by the sight? In any event, he seemed utterly unlike himself.

"I cannot say, sir. It was dark—or night at all events—the only time I ever heard him."

CHAPTER XII.

What action had been resolved upon, and prompt action, was now apparent. Stabber, fighting chief though he had been in the past, had had his reason for opposing the plans of this new and vehement leader; but public sentiment, stirred by vehement oratory, had overruled him, and he had bolted the field convention in a fury. Lame Wolf, a younger chief than Stabber, had yet more power among the Ogallalas, being Red Cloud's favorite nephew, and among the Indians, at least, his acknowledged representative. Whenever called to account, however, for that nephew's deeds, the wary old statesman promptly disavowed them. It was in search of Lame Wolf, reasoned Ray, that Stabber had sped away, possibly hoping to induce him to call off his followers. It was probably the deeper strategy of Stabber to oppose no obstacle to Ray's advance until the little troop was beyond the Elk Tooth ridge, where, on utterly shelterless ground, the Indian would have every advantage. He knew Ray of old; knew well that, left to himself, the captain would push on in the effort to rescue the stage people, and he and his command might practically be at the mercy of the Sioux, if only the Sioux would listen and be patient. Stabber knew that to attack the troopers now entrenching at the cottonwoods meant a desperate fight in which the Indians, even if ultimately triumphant, must lose many a valued brave, and that is not the thoroughbred Indian's view of good generalship. Stabber was old, wily and wise. The new chief, whoever he might be, seemed possessed of a mad lust for instant battle, coupled with a possible fear that, unless the golden moment were seized, Ray might be reinforced, and could then defy them all. Indeed there were veteran campaigners among the troopers who noted how often the tall red chief pointed in sweeping gesture back to Moccasin Ridge—troopers who, even at the distance caught and interpreted a few of his words. "That's it, sir," said Winsor, confidently to Ray. "He says 'more soldiers coming,' and—I believe he knows."

At all events he had so convinced his fellows, and, even before Stabber reached the middle tooth—where sat a little knot of mounted Indians, signaling, apparently, to others still some distance to the north—with a chorus of exultant yells, the long, gaudy, glittering line of braves suddenly scattered, and, lashing away to right and left, dozens of them darted at top speed to join those already disposed about that big circle, while others still, the main body, probably 70 strong, after some barbaric show of circus evolutions about their leader, once more reined up for final injunctions from his lips. Then, with a magnificent gesture of the hand, he waved them on, and, accompanied by only two young riders, rode swiftly away to a little swell of the prairie just out of range of the carbines, and there took his station to supervise the attack.

"Damn him!" growled old Winsor. "He's no charger like Crazy Horse. He's a Sitting Bull breed of general—like some we had in Virginia," he added, between his set teeth, but Ray heard and grinned in silent appreciation. "Set your sights and give 'em their first volley as they reach that scorched line," he called to the men along the northward front, and pointed to a stretch of prairie where the dry grass had lately been burned away. "Five hundred yards will do it. Then aim low when they rush closer in."

"Look at the middle tooth, captain," came the sudden hail from his left. "Mirror flashes! See!" It was from that point, and fire and vim had returned to his voice and color to his face. He was pointing eagerly toward the highest of the knobs, where, all on a sudden, dazzling little beams of light shot forth toward the Indians in the lowlands, tipping the war bonnet and lance of many a brave with dancing fire. Whatever their purport, the signals seemed ignored by the Sioux, for presently two came sweeping down the long slope, straight for the point where sat Red Fox, as for want of other name, we must for the present call him—who, for his part, shading his eyes with his hand, sat gazing toward the westward side of his warrior circle, evidently awaiting some demonstration there before giving signal for action elsewhere. Obedient to his first instructions, the main body had spread out in long, irregular skirmish rank, their mettlesome ponies capering and dancing in their eagerness. Chanting in chorus some shrill, weird song, the line was now slowly, steadily advancing, still too far away to warrant the wasting of a shot, yet unmistakably seeking to close as much as possible before bursting in with the final charge.

SO SOOTHING.

Its Influence Has Been Felt by So Many Plainfield Readers.

The soothing influence of relief.

After suffering from itching Piles, From Eczema, or any itchiness of the skin,

Makes one feel grateful to the remedy.

Doan's Ointment has soothed hundreds.

Here's what one Plainfield citizen says:

Mr. A. H. Woodruff, of Vailsburg, N. J., says: "For the benefit of those similarly afflicted as I was with hemorrhoids or piles I want every reader of this paper to know that I suffered with attacks of this tormenting nuisance for over fifteen years. During that time I spent a lot of money trying 'sure cures' and exhausted all my knowledge about salves and ointments, and also the advice of my friends. One day while reading an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills I concluded to make one more effort and I commenced the treatment. Greatly to my suprise the area of itching gradually contracted until it completely dried up. What is of considerable more importance to me, there is no indication of a recurrence."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had here in Plainfield. Drop into L. W. Randolph's drug store and ask what his customers report. Doan's Ointment for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

MIQUELON WILL PROTEST.

French Government Orders Monks and Nuns Out of St. Pierre.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 16.—Word has been received here that the recent enactments of the French government against religious orders are being felt in St. Pierre, Miquelon, and the Christian Brothers and the nuns resident there have received orders to leave their establishments by the last of July.

The religious emblems were also removed from the convent, but there was such a vigorous protest from the people that they had to be replaced. The people of St. Pierre, it is said, will resist the deportation of the monks and nuns, and it is feared that there will be trouble.

There appears to be no prospect of refloating the Monterey, wrecked near St. Pierre, Miquelon, though it is likely that her general cargo and the 1,200 cattle on board will be partly saved. The steamers Magnific, Glencoe and Argyle are coming from St. John's to assist in the salving operations. The ship lies several miles from St. Pierre, and the only communication with her is by tug.

BROKE HER WALKING BEAM.

Thousand Island Steamer Has Accident, but No Loss of Life.

CLAYTON, N. Y., July 16.—The steamer St. Lawrence of the Thousand Island Steamboat company broke her walking beam while running at full speed in midchannel and before the engine could be stopped smashed her cylinders and pounded to pieces much of her valuable machinery.

To the terrified passengers the first crash of the machinery suggested a boiler explosion, and in the excitement several women attempted to jump overboard. Michael Dietso, assistant engineer of the boat, was the hero of the occasion. Standing in the engine room doorway when the first crash came, he jumped amid flying pieces of steel and broken machinery to the throttle to stop the pounding engine.

The boats were lowered for the safety of the passengers, but were not needed, the vessel being directed to the shore, where she was moored. The St. Lawrence is one of the largest and finest boats of the Thousand Island fleet. The accident was caused by a flaw in the walking beam not revealed by inspection.

WILLIAM WARD IS DEAD.

Heart Trouble Caused by Worry Over Bank Case.

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., July 16.—William Ward, deputy coroner of Marin county, who embalmed the body of the late Colonel W. J. Best after the latter's sudden death at the home of Dr. John Woods last April, is dead. He was discovered by Night Watchman O'Brien, who observed him leaning against the doorway of his office at the undertaking parlors of Coroner Sawyer, evidently in distress. Ward asked O'Brien to get a doctor and take him home. Dr. W. F. Jones was summoned, and Ward was taken home, where he died.

An autopsy will be held, though the death of Ward is generally attributed to heart trouble. It is known that he worried constantly over the developments in the Best case since the allegations that the New Jersey capitalist was murdered were first published.

Argentine Soldier Visitors.

WEST POINT, N. Y., July 16.—Ten officers and thirty cadets from the Military academy of the Argentine Republic have arrived here. The latter are the guests of the West Point cadets in their summer camp. A grand review and a hop in the evening have been arranged in honor of the visitors.

SPORTING NEWS.

STOLEN BASES.

A midsummer night's festival will be held under the auspices of the St. Mary baseball team on its grounds on Thursday evening, July 23. Eugene O'Reilly will furnish music.

Several changes have been made on the St. Mary's baseball team. Ramsey, of High Bridge, will be seen on the diamond and Harteman, formerly identified with the Knickerbocker A. C., of New York, will play center field in place of O'Keefe.

A special meeting of the members of the Orange Field Club football team has been called for Wednesday, July 22, at 8 o'clock at the home of H. C. Smith, of Westervelt avenue. Matters of importance will be brought up and it is urged that all the members attend.

Healey, of Fordham College, will play second base for St. Mary's team on Saturday and Hartman, formerly of the Knickerbocker A. C., will play center field. Manager Owens has succeeded in getting Ramsey, the crack High Bridge pitcher for Saturday. As the team at High Bridge does not play on that day he is able to come to Plainfield.

Manager John Owens, of St. Mary's baseball team, has arranged to play Scotch Plains at the latter place on Saturday, July 25 and on the same day Alis will play Hope Y. M. A., on Crescent Oval. On Saturday, August , St. Mary's will play Hope Y. M. A., on the grounds of the former and Alis will play the Aeolians at Garwood. The St. Mary's management has also arranged to play a game with Westfield at Westfield in the afternoon of Labor Day.

On account of the expense attached to giving the public first-class baseball, the prices for admission to the game between Alis and St. Mary's on Crescent Oval on Saturday will be 15 cents admission, 25 cents to the field seats and 35 cents to grandstand seats. It is argued that if people from this city will go to Westfield and pay these prices they should surely be willing to pay them at home, where just as good ball is played.

These changes in the prices of admission to grounds and seats in the grandstand will apply to all games played by Alis, Hope Y. M. A., and St. Mary's teams.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

In riding from Plainfield to Newark by trolley recently, an observer noted that on several streets of the latter city where repairs were going on the sign "steam roler working" was prominent. The members of the Newark street department evidently need to brush up on their orthography.

The Sabbath Recorder gives an account of the ninetieth anniversary of Rev. Halsey H. Baker, of East Fifth street, which was quietly observed on Fourth of July, a unique feature being a service arranged by Rev. George B. Shaw and held at the Seventh-Day Baptist Church. On the previous Saturday, Pastor Shaw had held a "children's service," and in view of Mr. Baker's birthday celebration he decided to arrange for an "old people's meeting." Accordingly he had asked seven old people of the denomination to write letters to be read at this meeting.

These all responded and six letters from the ministers were read. Letters were also read from these aged constituent members of the Plainfield church: Mrs. Mary Ann Rogers, Horseheads, N. Y.; Mrs. C. M. Randolph, New York City; and Thomas S. Alberti, New Brunswick. Pastor Shaw gave a short talk on the text "Honor thy father and thy mother," after which he read the letters received according to the request made. Each letter referred in a praiseworthy spirit to the long and useful life of Mr. Baker and wishing him continued life, health and happiness.

The great horned owl captured and killed by small boys Sunday afternoon, as stated in Monday's Daily Press, and taken to Frank Hedden's stables preparatory to being stuffed, had a varied history in captivity previous to its final departure from this life. It was first deprived of its freedom by Freeholder Codington, of Mt. Bethel, who caught it several months ago, only to release it within a few days. It was recaptured shortly after by the small sons of Morris C. VanArsdale, of Norwood avenue, who kept it for a pet. The wise one required lots of care, however, and constant supplies of fresh meat, and, besides that, was none too gentle when friendly advances were made by its captors. Consequently, the bird was released last Saturday, and allowed once more to hoot beneath the stars unhampered by its accustomed prison bars.

Its liberty was short-lived, however, for on Sunday last a number of small boys found it along Green brook, near Hyde's mill, and stoned it to death. The bird is now in the possession of James Welsh, of Madison avenue. It is a rare specimen of the great horned owl, seldom seen in this vicinity. It measures four feet, four inches from tip to tip.

PLAINFIELD HORSEMEN WITNESS GOOD RACES

Local Steeds Not Among the Winners in Any of the Events.

A BIG CROWD ATTENDS

SIR AUTHUR, FONDA AND BOB DOUGLASS THE WINNERS.

Three Straight Heats Won by Fonda and Sir Arthur—Dan P. Breaks His Harness—The Horses Drawn.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 16—The races held yesterday under the auspices of the Raritan Driving Association, attracted a large crowd, although the weather was a trifle cold. Prominent Plainfielders present were J. Wesley Johnson, Newton B. Smalley, J. H. Greene, A. I. Smalley, Thomas Brantingham, David Smalley, Wm. VanSickel, L. D. Wood and Wm. Coulter.

In all there were four races, the first being 2:18 class, trot or pace, for a purse of $150. This was won by A I. Case's "Sir Arthur," in three straight heats. The time was 2:20, 2:21 and 2:19¼.

The second race was the 2:24 class, trot or pace, for a purse of $150, and was won in three straight heats by E. O. Pitman's "Fonda," the time being 2:25, 2:26 and 2:26¼. "Dan P," entered in this race, broke his harness and sulky by stumbling and could not finish.

J. Phalen's "Bob Douglas," won the third race, 2:30 pace, for a purse of $150. The time was 2:25½, 2:25¼ and 2:28¼. The last race, 2:35 trot, was also for a purse of $150, and was won by F. Pope's "American Boy." A number of horses were drawn in the last heat of this race, not being money winners.

THE CASES IN POLICE COURT

HIS HONOR METES OUT PUNISHMENT TO THE OFFENDERS.

Judge Delivers Lecture to Men Who Spend Money on Liquor Instead of Supporting Family.

Two drunks, one unlicensed peddler, a young negro who struck a white woman, a man who was too harsh in his treatment of his horse, and a big boy who struck a smaller boy because the latter was teasing him, made a busy hour and a half in City Judge Runyon's court this morning.

William Connett, colored, was one of a gang of boys who were bothering Mrs. Farmbarm, of West Front street. Mrs. Farmbarm threw water on Connett and the latter struck Mrs. Farmbarm in the face. He is three dollars poorer this morning as a result.

Raffi Tozzi, about eighteen years old, struck a small boy by the name of O'Brien yesterday, on Grant avenue. It developed that the O'Brien boy had been making life miserable for Tozzi by his teasing and the Judge saw some excuse in the act. Both were warned to cease from troubling and Tozzi was released on suspended sentence.

For being helplessly drunk, Edward M. Bartle was given free lodging at the city jail last night. He was a first offender and His Honor decided to suspend sentence.

John Remplies became hopelessly jagged yesterday on thirty cents. John has been up twice before for the same offense and the Judge told him what he thought of his conduct in most frank and outspoken terms. Remplies has a family and needs all of his earnings for their support. For this reason sentence was suspended.

Harry Flusher was fined $3 for peddling without a license. The Judge read James Mundy a lecture for reckless driving and abusing his horse, but let him off on suspended sentence.

Bicyclist Run Down.

Charles E. Utter, of 678 West Fourth street, was riding his wheel this morning on his way to work at the Potter Press Works where he is employed as machinist, when he was run down by a wagon on West Fourth street, his wheel smashed and himself considerably bruised. One of the delivery wagons of W. W. Warnock, the baker, driven by Augustus Rose, of Manning avenue, North Plainfield, was the other party in the collision. It is said that Rose was careless in his driving and also that Utter was riding on the wrong side of the road. The wheel is a complete wreck.

Joseph Cree, formerly of this city, left today for South Bend, Ind.

YACHT RENDEZVOUS.

New York Yacht Club Boats Will Assemble For Annual Run.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The rendezvous of the New York Yacht club in anticipation of the annual cruise will take place today at Glen Cove, and this year the customary runs of the fleet will be enlivened and made more interesting by the three cup defenders, Columbia, Constitution and Reliance. As a climax to the cruise there will occur a steam yacht race for a cup presented by Mr. James Gorden Bennett and named after his new yacht, the Lysistrata.

The United States government has placed at the disposal of the regatta committee for this special event a torpedo boat destroyer with a contract speed of twenty-eight knots an hour, so that it is likely that the committee will be able, perhaps at some personal inconvenience, to witness the entire race, which will be over a triangular course of sixty miles from start to finish.

STATUE OF WASHINGTON.

British Subjects Will Honor the American Hero.

LONDON, July 16.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Pilgrims' club a committee was appointed to give effect to the recent suggestion to erect a statue to George Washington in London. It was decided that the subscriptions should be entirely confined to British subjects. Archdeacon Sinclair in submitting the plan to the society said:

"Englishmen have at last fully recognized the great qualities of Washington. I feel assured that nothing will be more popular in this country than such a tribute to that great man of English birth who has done so much for the world's history, not only for the young nation across the sea, but for Great Britain as well."

Archdeacon Sinclair announced that he was authorized to offer a place for the statue in St. Paul's cathedral.

KENTUCKY REPUBLICANS.

Indorse Roosevelt For Candidacy In 1904.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 16.—Spectacular in the extreme was the opening session of the Kentucky Republican state convention at the Auditorium, and the situation is full of possibilities for more interesting events.

The two salient features of the session were, first, an indorsement of President Roosevelt's candidacy in 1904; second, almost a stampede to former Governor William O. Bradley, who is not an announced candidate for governor. The indorsement of President Roosevelt's candidacy in 1904 upset the calculations of several shrewd leaders who, it is charged, were figuring on ignoring that point.

DEATH OF MRS. JAMES G. BLAINE.

Widow of Great Statesman Expires In Augusta, Me.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 16. — Mrs. James G. Blaine died at the Blaine homestead here.

Mrs. Blaine was seventy-six years of age. During the past week she failed rapidly. Her condition was due to a general breakdown of the system.

Mrs. Blaine was a native of Augusta, her maiden name being Harriet Stanwood. Her long life here during Mr. Blaine's notable career made her one of the most prominent women of the city. She leaves one son, James G. Blaine, and two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Beale and Mrs. Walter Damrosch of New York.

Negro Kills Negro.

HARRISBURG, July 16.—George Moton, colored, a contractor, shot Ephraim Matthews, colored, in a street affray in Steelton, and the latter died two hours afterward. Matthews had been drinking and is said to have threatened several colored men. Moton stood the threats and abuse for some time and then drew his revolver and fired three times at Matthews, one shot taking effect and passing through Matthews' heart. Mrs. Caroline Stephenson, a sister of Matthews, learning that her brother was shot, secured a revolver and fired at Moton. The bullet passed between Moton and Chief of Police Gore, who was arresting him. The woman was then taken into custody.

To Pardon Hiram P. Gerald.

BOSTON, July 16.—The pardon committee of the executive council gave a hearing on a petition for the pardon of Hiram P. Gerald of Brookfield, who is now serving a seven to ten years sentence in state prison for the embezzlement from the Brookfield Savings bank, of which he was cashier. His sentence would expire under the minimum class next month, but if released under the undeterminate sentence act he would have to report monthly to the prison commissioners for three years. A pardon would obviate this proceeding.

Workmen Wanted to Help Him.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 16.—The Rev. Robert A. The workmen said they were willing to lose a day's work if their presence at the special meeting of the presbytery would help him in any way. Mr. Elwood told the men that he did not believe that their presence could help him.

LAWMAKERS AT ENCAMPMENT

GUESTS OF GOVERNOR MURPHY AT SEA GIRT TODAY.

Political Gossip to be Threshed Out by Politicians While Viewing Soldiery.

The Jersey lawmakers, including Assemblyman Newcorn, of this city, are the guests of Governor Murphy at Sea Girt encampment today. The gathering includes a number of other politicians.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Record says "the gathering will, perhaps, develop a lot of things over which there is now a deal of anxiety. It is not unreasonable to presume, that some of the booms for bigger things, than legislative places will be on exhibition in all their vigor and promise. Perhaps it may be possible to learn from the assembled political wisdom of the whole State who is likely to be the Democratic candidate for Governor, who for United States Senator and whether the Republicans are anywhere near certainty as to their own selections.

"It may be that Senator John Kean will be able to show the full power and strength of his boom for re-election, and that the friends of former Senator James Smith will be able to say whether he is to have the Legislature in such shape for his election when the time shall have arrived. Perhaps it may be possible for former Senator Edward Casper Stokes to tell how many delegates North Jersey will turn over to him for the nomination for Governor, and whether he is very fond of former First Assistant Postmaster-General William M. Johnson, the idol of Bergen County.

"Unfortunately, Secretary of State Dickinson is switching from sight to sight in the wild and woolly west, and State Assessor David Baird has gone to gay Paree, so that the gathering is deprived of much eclat and considerable information."

BEN LA VERE'S BAND GIVES SECOND CONCERT

REDMOND APPLAUDED

CORNET SOLOS BY A. C. SWEET A PROMINENT FEATURE.

Among the Popular Numbers Were Salambo, Sultan of Sulu and the Voice of the Hudson—Complete Programme.

Another big crowd was present last evening at the second in the series of band concerts at the City Park. The evening was ideal and the music by LaVere's band was as popular as ever. The programme was arranged with good taste and every number was executed with a lot of swing and vigor.

The feature of the concert was the singing of William Redmond in two popular selections enthusiastically encored. Mr. Redmond's voice was clear and expressive, and he struck every note with strength and certainty, indicative of an unusual natural talent perfected by professional training.

Mr. Sweet rendered his difficult cornet solo with appreciation of an artist and his work deserved all the applause it received. The volume of sound and clearness of tone which characterized his work showed him the perfect master of his instrument.

The programme follows:

March, "Yale College Life," Reed; overture, "Poet and Peasant," Suppe; concert waltz, "Soul of the Rose," Frantzen; cornet solo, "Inflamatus from Stabat Mater," Rossini, Albert C. Sweet; medley, "The Voice of the Hudson," Dresser; vocal solo, (a) "The Boys are Coming Home Today," Dresser; (b) "Dear Old Girl," Morse, William Redmond; descriptive piece, "Monkey Shines on the Mobile Levee," Anstead; intermezzo, "Salambo," Morse; selection, Sultan of Sulu," Ade; finale, "Fly Musette from the Mocking Bird," Solane.

ASBURY'S BEACH REGULATIONS.

Many of Founder Bradley's Rules Are to be Reinforced.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, July 17—It has been found necessary by the Public Ground Commission to reinforce many of the restrictions in vogue when Founder Bradley controlled the ocean front. No smoking will hereafter be permitted on the upper decks of the pavilions and only in places set apart on the lower decks. Newsboys will not be allowed to shout their wares on the boardwalk Sundays. Hereafter all business on the boardwalk must cease promptly at noon Sundays. This includes all the refreshment, cigar and soda water stands. There will be no more Sunday yachting, although the morning fishing trip will not be interfered with, provided the anglers get back before the noon hour.

Policemen have received instructions to clear the boardwalk at 11 o'clock every night. Those found on the promenade after that hour will be subject to arrest.

ELSTON M. FRENCH'S NEW WOODLAND PARK

Plans to Turn Tract of Land Into One of the Beauty Spots of Plainfield.

BUILDING RESTRICTIONS

IS BOUNDED BY WOODLAND, HILLSIDE, EVERGREEN AND MARTINE AVES.

The Improvements Now Well Under Way—One Hundred Men Employed at Present — Broad Streets and Sidewalks.

Another section of the city is being graded and laid out for a residential park, which, if it is carried out according to the expectations of those interested in the project will be, when completed, one of the beauty spots of the town. The deed for the property has been received by Elston M. French and already men are at work laying out the grounds.

Woodland Park is the name of the new section bounded by Woodland, Hillside, Evergreen and Martine avenues. Seventy five lots will be laid out in that part of the city and each will have a frontage of over a hundred feet. The lots will be sold with the understanding that the building to be erected thereon will not cost less than $7,000.

Mr. French has had men at work all this week laying out, grading and macadamizing the streets. There are about 100 men employed on the grounds at present and one of the lots has been purchased by a New Yorker who has already started the erection of a dwelling. Three others, it is said, will be started this summer.

Shade trees will be planted long the sidewalks of the newly laid out streets. Mr. French will bear the expense of grading in the new park but the city has agreed to put in order Putnam avenue which is the main street leading to the new tract. The streets will be broad as will also be the sidewalks.

SHERIFF SELLS LAND.

Tracts on West Front Street and on Richmond Street Go to Satisfy Judgments.

Sheriff B. Frank Coriell has sold two local properties, one of which is in the matter of the Citizens' Mutual Bank and Building Society, against James Trimmer. The property disposed of is located on West Front street. It was purchased by Elizabeth M. Updike, the price paid being $735.

The other sale is a piece of property on Richmond street, held by the trustees of the Filmore Avenue Colored Baptist Church. The complainant was the National Building Loan and Provident Association. The property was bought in by the complainant, the purchase price being $1,200.

DIRECTORS RESENT SCORING.

Children's Home Society Officials Didn't Know Cards Were Issued.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 17—The publication of the interview with Superintendent Seymour Stone, of the State Board of Guardians, regarding the cards issued by the New Jersey Children's Home Society asking persons who know any homeless children or of any person who is willing to adopt a child or give them good homes to communicate with the society, has been the cause of much perturbation among the members of the Board of Directors of the society yesterday.

Several of the directors say they did not know the cards had been issued, as the matter had not been brought before them. They were highly indignant, however, about the scoring of the society by Superintendent Stone.

BIG BATTLESHIP NAMED FOR STATE

It Is Planned to Launch the New Jersey Early in January.

HEAVIEST IN ITS CLASS

PLATES WEIGHING EIGHT MILLION POUNDS NECESSARY FOR HULL.

Vessel Being Built at Quincy Point, Boston Harbor—Four Hundred and Thirty-Five Feet Long and Seventy-Six Feet Wide.

At the head of her class in point of progress toward completion—and her class will be the heaviest our navy has ever had—is the battleship New Jersey, which, with her twin sister, the Rhode Island, lies under the big shiphouse of the Fore River Ship and Engine Company's Works at Quincy Point, Boston harbor. Her construction was authorized by Congress June 7, 1901, and the contract for building her was awarded February 15, 1902.

The keel of the New Jersey was laid April 2, 1902, but the preliminary work had been started months before—the drawing of plans, assembling of materials, and making of mould patterns and templates, as the life size wooden patterns of the steel plates and frames are called. A vast amount of material goes into such a huge structure; for example, 6,000 steel plates, weighing 8,000,000 pounds, are necessary for the hull, besides 2,250,000 pounds of angles and other shapes—beams and the like; 800,000 pounds of nickel steel are required for the armor to cover the half-inch steel that forms the ship's "skin," and hundreds of thousands of rivets are used to fasten all the parts together.

By the original contract thirty-six months were allowed to complete the vessel, but this time has been extended on account of the several changes recently ordered by the Government for the purpose of strengthening our warships against such accidents as befell the Maine a while ago. In all probability, however, the New Jersey will be ready to launch early in January. She will then be about half completed, but the work of putting in her machinery and the rest of her equipment will be very rapid, and inside the year 1904 she will probably be ready for turning over to Uncle Sam.

The New Jersey is 435 feet long from the tip of her powerful ram-bow to the smoothly turned counter, whereon will be the name of the State she will honor; her width is 76 feet 2½ inches, and her mean draft 23 feet 9 inches. Complete in all respects, her displacement will be 14,948 tons, or generally speaking, 15,000 tons. Though the hull is built of half-inch steel, which is the hardest and surest projectile-resistant, will extend from stem to stern, 8 feet wide and 11 inches thick at the top, reduced to 9 inches in thickness some distance below the waterline.

It is presumed that the citizens of the State from which the big battleship takes her name, will follow the custom of presenting to her something that will be a memorial of the commonwealth. Former Secretary of the Navy, John D. Long, was consulted recently as to what form a memorial should take. He replied:

"I trust New Jersey will give something else than a silver service, which is of no use, is obliged to be kept locked away, is never seen by the men and is never used. A figure on deck, that all can see, like the figure of Victory on the Massachusetts is the serviceable sort of a gift."

POLITICAL GAME.

One Unlike the General Run to be Played Today.

The McKinley Club-Elizabeth Democratic Club baseball game takes place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on the Walnut street grounds of the Young Men's Christian Association in Elizabeth.

After the game the Democratic athletes will be the guests of the McKinley nine at the McKinley Club shore dinner.

NEWSPAPER VENDORS' FRACAS

UNION NEWS AGENT AND TOM CARTY IN LITTLE WAR.

The Mix-Up Was Stopped by the Police—The Court Warns Trueman.

J. Frank Trueman, who is in charge of the Union News stand at the railroad station, had a "run in" with Thomas Carty, proprietor of a rival stand, this morning. Trueman claimed that Carty was encroaching upon his territory and threw his papers into the street. Carty naturally resented the action and a slight mix-up followed which was not allowed to reach serious dimensions before the police interfered.

In the city court this morning, Judge Runyon decided that Carty had the right to sell papers in the locality objected to, investigation proving that he had been granted permission by the city authorities. Trueman was cautioned against interfering with Carty in a like manner in the future.

LAWMAKERS VISIT SEA GIRT

UNION COUNTY'S DELEGATION AMONG THE THRONG OF OFFICIALS.

Politics More Attractive Than the Needs of Camp—Distinguished Men There.

State Senator Joseph S. Cross, of Elizabeth, Assemblyman William Newcorn, of this city and Assemblyman Coyne, of Elizabeth, composed Union County's delegation of lawmakers at Sea Girt yesterday. Governor Murphy acted as host and among the prominent guests were United States Senators Kean and Dryden, Congressman Wiley and Gardner, State officials and the members of the Legislature. The purpose of the reception was to demonstrate to the lawmakers that more ground is required by the National Guard at Sea Girt.

Three companies participated in a review by the Governor and Legislators.

Naturally, in the intervals between the time of arrival and the hour for luncheon the lawmakers indulged in political talk, and there were frequent and significant allusions to the next Republican candidate for Governor, the South Jerseymen being especially insistent in their claims for that honor, with Chancery Clerk Edward C. Stokes as the first choice. Mr. Sokes smilingly accepted the greeting of "Governor," and said nothing to discourage his friends in their predictions that he will be the next occupant of the "Little White House."

While the lawmakers were at lunch they amused themselves by frequent reference to Mr. Avis as the next Speaker and to Assemblyman Elvins, of Atlantic, as Mr. Boyd's successor in the position of leader.

DINNER TO OFFICIALS.

Mr. Besler and Mr. Koons at Affair Tendered at Asbury Park.

Vice President and General Manager W. G. Besler and General Traffic Manager T. B. Koons, both of this city, were among the guests of Acting Mayor Keater and Henry Steinbach, of the Board of Trade, who gave a dinner to the New Jersey Central Railroad officials last night at the Brunswick Hotel, Asbury Park. The purpose of the visit to Asbury Park was to look after the interests of the road.

Gyp is Dead.

Gyp, a small dog belonging to George Voehl, is no more. It has gone to the place where all good doggies go. Its life was lost while guarding its master's property and sorrow weighs heavily on the heart of its owner today. Repairs are being made to a barn belonging to Mr. Voehl and the carpenters were busy yesterday afternoon raising the floor of the structure while Gyp, was occupying itself in catching rats. Just as the fifteenth rat left for a happier hunting ground Gyp cut her rear left leg by a piece of glass. An artery was severed and before a veterinary could arrive the animal had breathed her last and was winging its way toward dog heaven.

The Barons' Picnic.

The plumbers of this city will hold their annual picnic in the Watchung mountains this evening. Visiting delegates will be present from Elizabeth, Bound Brook and possibly New Brunswick.

—Repairs are being made to the stalls in the old Gazelle Engine house on West Second street. Other improvements will be made to the place.

CONSUMPTIVES' HOME WORK NOW HELD UP

Hoped to Commence Construction of State's Institution at Glen Gardner Soon.

THE TOTAL COST, $400,000

BUILDING TO BE APPROXIMATELY 800 FEET ABOVE SEA LEVEL.

The Preserve Surrounding Home Filled With Thousands of Pine Trees—A Railroad Station to be Erected.

New Jersey's proposed home for poor consumptives, in which they can be given special treatment, aimed at their cure under skillful treatment and proper environment, has been progressing with some speed now, but it is hardly likely that work upon the buildings can be started for some time. The ground at Glen Gardner, Hunterdon County, secured after a long search for a suitable site, has been placed in readiness for the actual work of construction, which has been delayed by the necessarily tedious detail of drawing plans and working out the intricacies of ventilation, lighting, heating and drainage.

All work must now stop for it has been discovered that the Legislature did not pass the measure for the distribution of funds. After the measnre was introduced into the Assembly it was referred to a committee and from that time lost sight of. No work can be done until the next Legislature makes an appropriation.

In an interview at the Sea Girt camp, where he is passing the time, the Governor said yesterday that plans had been drawn drawn for the proposed buildings and had been approved except for some minor details by the commission whom he appointed.

The State Legislature was supposed to have made an appropriation of $300,000 for the proposed hospital, the idea being to erect a building to which the curable consumptive poor could be taken for treatment. The understanding that $100,000 more would be appropriated for completion of the building and the construction of an easy road through the grounds was made known at the time of the supposed appropriation by the Legislature.

The commission immediately went to work at the task of selecting a suitable site for the building, and after looking at sites in Monmouth and Sussex Counties, decided on the one at Glen Gardner, which overlooks the Delaware river. The site is a tract of 600 acres, and the building will be built upon a high bluff directly on the river and at the highest point of the preserve, about 800 feet above the sea level. There is an admirable view from the spot, it being doubtful if a more beautiful and at the same time healthy place, is to be found in the State. The air is very pure, and the preserve is covered with thousands of pine trees.

The place is easily accessible, being on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. A station will be erected by the railroad company and an easy road will be built by the State from this station to the hospital over which the invalids can be taken in easy carriages very comfortably.

TO BUILD HOME.

An Asylum for Disabled Soldiers and Sailors to be Erected.

The board of managers of the New Jersey home for disabled soldiers, sailors or mariners and their wives at Vineland has awarded the contract for building an addition to the home to W. E. Turner, of Vineland, for $22,213, that being the lowest bid submitted to the Board.

Turner is a member of the Board of Freeholders of Cumberland County and captain in the National Guard. The State appropriation for the addition is $25,000.

Leaders Meet.

MISS JOHNSTONE MARRIED IN NEWARK

Former Plainfield Girl Wed to Peter M. Johnson in Grace Church.

PLAINFIELDERS THERE

A WEDDING SUPPER FOLLOWS THE CEREMONY.

Off on Their Honeymoon—Couple to Reside in Newark on Their Return—The Presents Received by the Bride.

A Newark marriage of interest to Plainfielders took place yesterday, the contracting parties being Peter M. Johnson and Nancy Matilda Johnstone, of Newark. The bride formerly lived at 131 East Second street, this city. The groom is the brother of Mrs. Sergeant, of 131 East Second street.

The ceremony was performed in the Grace Episcopal Church of Newark, the rector, Rev. Cornelius Abbott, officiating. Niels Johnson, brother of the groom, was the best man. The bride was gowned in white organdie trimmed with silk applique lace and carrying a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Nellie Lamberson, of Carney, the maid-of-honor, was dressed in pink with pink carnations.

The bride received many beautiful gifts. The groom's present to the bride was a white, silk ivory fan, beautifully painted by hand. The groom presented his best man with a handsome fob engraved with his initials. A white satin belt with a silver buckle was the bride's gift to her maid-of-honor.

A wedding supper was served at the groom's home on Summit avenue, Newark. The church and house were prettily decorated in green and white. Following a wedding trip to Saratoga, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in Newark. A number of guests were present from this city.

The case on contract between A. M. Griffen and Fred Wyckoff, will be heard tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Justice Smalley's court.

ITALIAN CELEBRATION BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Feast of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Receives Due Recognition.

FIREWORKS AND MUSIC

STREET PARADE A FEATURE OF THE EXTENDED DEMONSTRATION.

Thirty-Five Set Pieces in Fire-Works Display—Affair Held on Martine's Common—Big Crowd Present.

The festivities held in this city during the past two days by the members of the Societa Operia D. I. M. S. Princessa Elena, in honor of the Feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, came to a close last evening with music and fireworks. It was the first time such a celebration had been held here and the novelty attracted many citizens to Martine Common on Park avenue. It is estimated that there was at least five thousand people on the grounds last evening.

A parade was held about the streets of the business section of the town early in the evening and as the marchers made their way up Park avenue to the grounds five hundred people dropped in behind the band. At Eighth street there was a stampede from the public concert in the City Park and by the time the Italians reached their grounds the number reached nearer two thousand. As the evening progressed the number increased until the common was crowded.

A large grandstand, seating about three hundred people, was erected and outlined with small lanterns of different colors. The band stand, facing the seats, was also outlined in colored lamps, giving the common an attractive appearance.

The fireworks were the feature of the evening. Thirty-five set pieces were in charge of a representative of Paine's Fireworks Company of New York. They were elaborate and some of them extremely pretty. One portrayed an alter in many colored lights and on the bottom were the letters in fire "V. M. D. C." which, being translated, means the Virgin of Mount Carmel.

The arrangements were in charge of Salvino Valard, the organizer of the Italian society in this city.

CLERKS' OUTING.

Association Holds Second Annual Excursion to Riverside Park.

Nearly two hundred members of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association and their friends journeyed to Riverside Park, last evening, where a pleasant time was had. It was the second annual excursion of the association to that park. Two trolley cars were required to take the party from Plainfield to the Park, and a jolly crowd it was. At the popular resort the young folks enjoyed the vaudeville entertainment provided by the management, after which dancing was the feature until 11 o'clock. It was midnight when the party reached Plainfield.

THOSE WHO COME AND GO

NOTES CONCERNING PLAINFELDERS AND THEIR MANY GUESTS.

Some of Those That Go to Make Up the Day's Budget of Arrivals and Departures.

E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, is spending the season at Norfolk, Conn.

Miss Adelia Phelps, of this city, left today for a ten days' stay at the shore.

Miss Belle Acken, of Liberty Corner, is spending a couple of weeks with friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Woolley, of West Front street, have returned from a pleasant week's visit in the country.

Prof. Phelps, principal of the Plainfield Business College and Mrs. Phelps have just returned from Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dufford, of Somerset place, have returned from a visit with relatives at Middle Valley, Hunterdon County.

Mrs. Henry VanMiddleswotrh, of West Front street, is anticipating a visit with relatives at Pluckemin within a short time.

Mrs. Mathewson, wife of Christie Mathewson, the well-known pitcher for the New York National League Club, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. P. B. Cregar, of Grant avenue. On Wednesday when her husband pitched the fourteen inning game against Pittsburg, Mrs. Mathewson received the returns from the game by innings after the ninth, by telephone from the Smoky City.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

After being out on strike since April 1, members of the Orange Plumbers' Union returned to work this morning in many of the shops. All of the men would have returned but for the fact that in some of the shops non-union mechanics were employed.

Striking carpenters and joiner, at the New Jersey Dry Dock at Elizabeth, who have been out a month for a demand of five cents an hour increase, have declared the strike off and returned to work yesterday. They went back on the old scale of wages—$2.75 and $3.25 per day.

The first break in the strike of the textile workers of Philadelphia occurred today, when 75 weavers returned to work at the mills of F. A. Bachman & Company, who operate two of the largest plants in that section. At the Folwell mill 674 hands are said to have reported for duty today.

Grover Marsh, of Plainfield avenue, received a bad scare while at work at the Pederick-Ayer Company's plant yesterday. Young Marsh was operating a drill-press when the backgears suddenly fell into the main driving gear, tearing out all the teeth and sending them in all directions. The machine was put out of commission.

Both manufacturers and employes at Philadelphia yesterday emphasized their determination not to give way in the textile strike. Over fifty mill owners in the ingrain carpet trade met at the Manufacturers' Club and voted not to grant any concessions to the strikers, while the executive committee of the Central Textile Union adopted resolutions aimed against employes who have given up the fight for fifty-five hours and returned to work, and also voted to continue the strike all summer, if necessary.

Dominick Muldowney, of the Potter Press Company's plant, narrowly escaped breaking his neck at the works yesterday morning. Young Muldowney was at the top of a twelve-foot ladder putting on a main belt when the ladder slipped and he came crashing down on the head of Superintendent William Mosher, who was working at his desk. After striking the superintendent he was hurled against an iron railing, bruising himself about the body. It was feared at first that the lad's neck was broken, but a close examination showed that he was more frightened than hurt. In falling, young Muldowney tried to hold himself up by catching the moving pulley. Had he succeeded in this attempt he would have been whirled to death. Aside from a severe shaking up Mr. Mosher was uninjured.

The Foundation of Health.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

This is the proper time for preserving fruits and vegetables. The best fruit jars and jelly glasses, stone pots and jar rubbers are for sale by J. W. Gavett, of West Front street.

If quality is to be the chief requisite in the goods you buy, there is one place in the city where you are sure to find it and that is at Peck's store. The prices will suit you and you will be a satisfied customer.

Old Mother Hubbard went to the cubbard to get the poor dog a bone. And when she got there, the cubbard was bare, so she sent in an order for bread to W. W. Warnock's bakery, West Front street, and lived happily ever afterwards.

G. H. Kenyon is so thoroughly posted on the subject of pianos that he is able to give his patrons the very best for the least money. If you are interested in pianos Mr. Kenyon will be pleased to explain his easy payment plan, whereby you can own a piano.

"There was a man in our town,
And he was wondrous wise."

He went fishing, and bought his tackle of Harry Dreier, of West Front street. Special tackle for weak fish, Imperial bicycles and baseball goods are among the good things in sporting goods at Dreier's.

Before going down town to buy groceries fruits and vegetables stop at Fred B. Firstbrook's store on Liberty street and see the display of fruits and vegetables there. On his shelves he has a fine line of staple and fancy groceries. His coffee is the delight of lovers of the beverage.

Every housekeeper likes to have the washing come home at the end of the week free from tears. It is folly to expect to have it come home that way if it is sent to the average laundry but G. Meissner, of Watchung avenue, does all his work by hand and that it why the clothes sent there return in good order.

The July clearing sale at Woodhull & Martin's store is now attracting a host of shoppers, special bargains being offered in refrigerators, porch rockers, blue flame oil stoves, bamboo porch screens, hammocks, lawn mowers, etc. There is no better time to purchase these things than now. The demonstration of a well-known ice cream freezer at this store has been a great success. For several days there will be a demonstration of a certain well-known make of corset and those interested are cordially invited to see it.

PERSONAL.

Frank Wikoff, of this city, has gone to Philadelphia, where he will engage in business.

C. W. McGee, of Willow avenue, returned last night from a trip to Spring Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. William H. Murray, of Watchung avenue, left town today on their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Day and daughter, Miss Maizie Day, of Madison avenue, are at Northampton, Mass.

Winfield Coddingtton, formerly of Plainfield but now of Newark, has been visiting Plainfield friends for a short time.

Miss Georgia Eick, of East Third street, has recovered from a recent illness that detained her at home for several days.

James and Robert Donelson, of Pawtucket, R. I., are visiting their brother, William Donelson, of Watchung avenue.

Malcolm Mackenzie, of Watchung avenue, returned to town Wednesday from Glen Summit, Pa., where he has been staying at the Glen Summit House.

The Misses Lacey and their brother, Alfred Lacey, of East Seventh street, start today on their vacation. They will probably spend a portion of it at Delaware Water Gap.

Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, July 19, 1903. Round trip adults $1.50, children, 75c., from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switchback you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful little cascades, caverns and like attractions. 7 15 4 c

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. LEO SLOWLY SINKING

Greatly Disturbed by Difficulty of Breathing.

AMERICAN PROTESTANTS' PRAYERS

Another Operation Has Been Deferred on Account of the Extreme Weakness of the Aged Pontiff.

ROME, July 17.—The pope is being greatly disturbed by a difficulty of breathing and restlessness. Dr. Lapponi again had recourse, with beneficial effect, to an injection of caffeine, which had not been used for some days because of the pope's dislike to it.

The doctors, after a careful examination of the patient, have decided to postpone another operation, as the pleuratic liquid is apparently stationary. His general condition is unchanged.

A telegram was forwarded to Cardinal Rampolla informing him that on Sunday prayers were offered in Protestant churches in the United States for the recovery of Pope Leo. The cardinal has replied through the following letter from the secretaryship of state of his holiness:

"The communication forwarded by you has been most gratifying to the cardinal secretary of state, my master. His eminence hopes that the holy father's health will allow him when the opportune moment comes to inform his holiness of the contents of the telegram.

"The very great desire always felt by his holiness for the reunion of the dissident churches will certainly render this demonstration of the interest of the American Protestant churches most acceptable."

The pope was much pleased when Cardinal Rampolla informed him of the universal manifestation of sympathy toward him, coming from all, even from non-Catholics.

The tenacity of Pope Leo is most admirable, not only in his organism, but even in his feeling. The best example thereof is perhaps the continual proofs of confidence that his holiness bestows on Cardinal Rampolla, who after faithfully serving the pope for sixteen years is now being made the object of most bitter attacks, especially during the last period, because of the Francophile attitude of the papacy.

The pontiff seems to have had an intuition that while he lies with one foot in the grave Cardinal Rampolla's adversaries are beginning to take advantage of his tottering power to pull down the idol which until yesterday they worshiped, so his holiness leaves nothing unattempted to show the world up to the last moment how much he trusts his secretary of state.

No one was admitted to the sick room except the cardinal secretary of state, who was only allowed in on the repeated request of Pope Leo, who said to him that he desired to confirm and extend the power his eminence already exercises because of his position and authorized him to take measures which in ordinary times would necessitate the direct intervention of the pontiff in recognition of his personal devotion to the pontiff and the services he had rendered to the church.

It being the day of the Carmelite Madonna his holiness repeated prayers to the Madonna.

He spoke with such fervor that his valet, Centra, hurried from an adjoining room. Pope Leo, hearing Centra's voice, said:

"Oh, Pio, your task is nearly done. This is the fete of the Carmelite Madonna."

With the same idea in mind the pope asked for one of his private secretaries, Mgr. Marzolini, to have him say mass in the chapel next to his bedroom, with the door between the two apartments open.

Because of the festival of the Carmelite Madonna and Pope Leo's particular devotion to this Madonna special prayers in behalf of the pontiff were offered in all the churches after the celebration of mass.

Gibbons En Route to Paris.

HAVRE, July 17.—The French line steamer La Touraine, from New York, has arrived here with Cardinal Gibbons on board. He will take a short rest here and proceed to Paris, where he will remain pending the news from Rome.

China Will Open Several Ports.

LONDON, July 17.—The announcement that the state department at Washington has received assurances from the Chinese government that it will shortly open several ports to the world's trade and from the Russian government that it will not oppose such opening has been received with interest in official circles in London. Foreign Secretary Lord Lansdowne was not at the foreign office at the late hour that the dispatch was received here. Other officials expressed satisfaction with the news.

Visited His Sweetheart and Died.

KINGSTON, N. Y., July 17.—James Jones, a young man of Rifton, met a tragic death at the home of his sweetheart here. He had been overcome by the heat last week, and as soon as he was strong enough to walk he called on her. Becoming ill, he tried to walk home, but his strength failed him, and he was carried into the house, where he expired within a few hours.

Queen Jumped Out of Auto.

ROME, July 17.—A slight accident to an automobile in which the king and queen of Italy were driving took place in the royal park of Racconigi, near Turin. It was during a trial of a new motor car. When the steering apparatus went wrong the queen jumped out and in doing so turned her ankle.

FERRARA A TRAITOR

President Castro Unwilling to Exercise Mercy.

TROOPS WILL STARVE OUT THE CITY

The Attack by Venezuelan Forces on Ciudad Bolivar Has Been Deferred at the Request of American Consul.

SOLEDAD, Venezuela, July 17.—The attack on Ciudad Bolivar by the Venezuelan government troops, which appeared imminent, has been deferred at the request of United States Consul Henderson, Herr Brokmen, the German consul, and the bishop, who transmitted to President Castro, through General Gomez, the commander in chief of the government forces, a long telegram asking him to be magnanimous and to show mercy to all if the revolutionists surrender.

Telegrams exchanged between the rebel leader General Rolando and President Castro with respect to a conditional capitulation of the insurgent forces were as follows. General Rolando's dispatch said:

"I desire to avoid shedding blood which must prove sterile in view of the exceptional circumstances in which the revolution is placed. After having agitated the public for upward of two years it seems that you have an opportunity of terminating the long struggle by the exercise of a little patriotism by guaranteeing the personal liberty of General Ferrara, who, according to Vice President Gomez, is the only obstacle, and authorizing the latter to accept a formal treaty instead of an unconditional surrender as he desires, which is also another obstacle.

"The foregoing suggestion does not in any way involve a manifestation of weakness either on the part of the self denying and heroic army I have the honor to command or on my part, for if, unfortunately, we are not able to arrive at an honorable settlement my army will know how to do its duty."

General Castro replied as follows:

"I have received your telegram. If you were really an honorable and patriotic man you would not have entered into this revolution of a most unjustifiable and criminal nature, not only because of its entire lack of motive, but because of the connivance it has had with the enemies of the country, or, which is the same thing, with foreigners.

"It seems to me to ask, under these circumstances, that the double traitor Ferrara be included in the exercise of mercy is the height of iniquity. Speaking to you in sincere language, so that you may realize for all time that I prefer the triumph of the ideas and principles of justice at all cost, guarantees cannot be granted to Ferrara by one who upholds above all else truth, right, justice and equity.

"Referring to the last paragraph of your telegram regarding the fulfillment of your duty, it is neither for me nor for you to judge who have done their duty. That remains to posterity and history."

President Castro has ordered General Gomez not to open fire if he is not attacked, but to simply besiege the city. The revolutionists, having no provisions, cannot resist more than ten days.

Aged Couple Fatally Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—Robert Woods, aged eighty years, and Elizabeth, his wife, were fatally burned in their home. They are now in a hospital, and the physicians say their recovery is impossible. William F. Buck, their son-in-law, was painfully burned while trying to rescue the old couple. Mr. Buck's wife and their five small children were with difficulty saved from injury by the firemen. A lighted match held by Woods ignited some clothing in a closet, which caused the fire. The flames set fire to his clothing and communicated to those of his aged wife, who went to his assistance. Buck succeeded in extinguishing the flames which enveloped the old couple, and, with the aid of the firemen, his own family reached the street in safety.

Underwood Got Tar and Feathers.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 17.—The citizens of Peruville, a village ten miles from here, administered a coat of tar and feathers to Theodore Underwood, who a year ago was tried in Ithaca for the murder of J. F. Teeter. It is reported that Underwood drove his wife and three children from home three days ago, and they have since lived with neighbors. It is said Mrs. Underwood attempted to return to her home, but was again driven away. A crowd assembled, lighted a bonfire in the road, heated a pot of tar and sent a posse for the offender. According to the report, he was stripped, smeared with tar and feathers and sent home.

Two Indictments Against Negro.

FREEHOLD, N. J., July 17.—The Monmouth county grand jury returned two indictments against Thomas Thomas, alias Drum, a negro who broke into the house of Mayor O. E. Davis of Red Bank and after collecting a quantity of jewelry attempted to assault Miss Grace Davis, the mayor's daughter. Thomas was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for Monday.

"Sam" Pasco Pleaded Guilty.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 17.—Alvin alias "Sam" Pasco of Thurman pleaded guilty to setting fire to the Adirondack woodlands. Sentence was deferred. Susan Harmon of North River, charged with contracting a bigamous marriage with George Gardner, the North River woodsman, who was found guilty of bigamy, was also convicted.

Orpheum the Winner.

ST. LOUIS, July 17.—Orpheum, at 6 to 1, won the Midsummer stakes at a mile and seventy yards at Delmar park. Orpheum went to the front quickly after the break and led the field by from three to seven lengths into the stretch. Here Jordan, the favorite, tried to overtake Orpheum, but was himself beaten for second place by Pirateer, who was coming fast. In the sixth Miss Mae Day galloped away from the field, winning by fifteen lengths, only a second short of the track record for a mile and a sixteenth.

English Lad Won Stakes.

CHICAGO, July 17.—English Lad at 5 to 1 won the Hyde Park stakes for two-year-olds at Washington park by a head from Auditor. A head back of Auditor was Flo Bob, the favorite. Flo Bob was sold prior to the race for $13,000. The Hyde Park, which was at six furlongs, brought all the star two-year-olds of the west to the post with the exception of Peter Paul. Thirteen faced the starter. Flo Bob was always favorite at 5 to 2, with English Lad quoted at 5 to 1 and Ort Wells at 4 to 1.

Hurstbourne Won at Brighton.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Hurstbourne, with Odom in the saddle, won the Test handicap at Brighton Beach. The son of Indio had to be much the best of his field to win. He was shut off twice on the back stretch and had to come all around his field in the stretch. Astarita and King Pepper were the pace makers until well into the stretch, where Odom brought Hurstbourne up on the outside and won driving by one length from King Pepper, who in turn was a head in front of Astarita. Four favorites won.

Favorite Won 2:20 Trot.

DETROIT, Mich., July 17.—Fine weather and a fast track brought out a big crowd to attend the races of the Windsor Driving park. The feature of the day was the 2:20 trot, in which Cole Direct, the favorite, won.

Harvard Defeats Princeton.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 17.—The feature of the matches in the New York state championship tennis tournament here was the defeat of Neely of Princeton by Leonard of Harvard in a fiercely contested three set match.

The Wrecked Monterey.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 17.—The salvage work on the wrecked steamer Monterey continues. The steamer Argyle is on the scene assisting, and the steamers Virginia and Glencoe, in addition to the Petrel, are expected to soon arrive. The Monterey is laboring heavily on account of the high sea. Miquelon island affords ample accommodation for the cattle, but the latter will require to be conveyed to St. Pierre for transfer to another steamer owing to there being no harbor at Miquelon. The harbor at St. Pierre, moreover, is so shallow that large steamers are forced to anchor in the outer roadstead, so that the transfer of the cattle will be a difficult and costly task.

Young Women's Conference.

SILVER BAY, N. Y., July 17.—Rev. Dr. W. F. McDowell of New York city made the opening address at the session of the young women's conference on the subject "Phases and Forms of Work Lying Within Our Borders." The vesper service was addressed by Mrs. Nettie Dunn Clark, from India. Her subject was "The Claims of the Women of India." Mrs. T. S. Gladding of Montclair addressed the meeting on the subject "Christ Calls to Men."

REPLY FROM RUSSIA

The Jewish Petition Will Not Be Received.

THIS WILL LIKELY END THE MATTER

Russian Diplomats Regard the Kishineff Massacre as an Internal Affair and Will Have No Interference From Outside.

WASHINGTON, July 17. — It has been learned that the state department has received a reply from Russia stating that it neither would receive nor consider the matter of the Jewish petition on the subject of the Kishineff incident. This information came in the form of a cablegram from Mr. Riddle, the American charge at St. Petersburg to whom was committed the delicate task of inquiring of the Russian government as to its attitude with respect to the presentation of the petition.

It is believed that this will end the matter and that no further steps will be taken by this government to bring the views of the petitioners to the attention of Russia, although as yet no consideration has been given by the president to the course to be pursued in the light of Russia's response to our inquiry.

The reply that Russia would make to all suggestions on the subject of the Kishineff massacre was forecasted some weeks ago in an authorized statement when the public was definitely informed that Russia regarded the affair as an internal matter as to which she in the exercise of her own sovereignty must refuse to receive suggestions from any other government or outside source.

NEW FINANCIAL LAWS.

President Roosevelt Deeply Interested In Remedial Legislation.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 17.—President Roosevelt is deeply interested in proposed financial legislation. As a student of affairs he has noted for a long time the necessity of financial legislation of a remedial character, and he expressed to Senator Lodge of Massachusetts his desire that early action upon the subject should be taken by congress along the lines of his recent messages and speeches. Indeed, it can be said he hopes action will be initiated at the extra session of congress which he will call on Monday, Nov. 9.

Senator Lodge passed the day with the president at Sagamore Hill. He is a member of the Alaskan boundary commission, which is to begin its sessions in London early in September. Before sailing for England he came to Oyster Bay to consider with the president among other things the work of the commission.

Senator Lodge gave out a statemen concerning his conference with th president. In this statement the president's hopes regarding the financial legislation are reflected.

"We discussed," said Senator Lodge, "a variety of topics, including the work of the Alaskan boundary commission, which is to begin in London early in September.

"Yes," the senator continued in response to an inquiry whether he had discussed with President Roosevelt the proposed extra session of congress, "we considered it at some length.

"You know, of course, that an extra session is to be called to meet on Monday, Nov. 9, immediately following the fall elections. The session will be called primarily for the purpose of enacting legislation approving the Cuban treaty which was ratified by the senate last spring. The president hopes, however, as I do, that we shall be able to take up for early consideration financial legislation along the lines of his messages and speeches since he became president. In this legislation the president takes the deepest interest."

"Did you discuss with the president any specific financial measure?"

"No, not at all. No specific bill was under consideration. The preparation of a measure of that kind is the work of congress itself. It was understood when the senate adjourned last spring that the committee on finance would prepare a remedial financial measure during the recess. The committee now is engaged on that work. I assume that the house committee on banking and currency also will take up the subject, but I am not informed whether it is the intent of that committee to begin the consideration of the subject before the extra session shall convene.

"As I noted, the president is deeply interested in this proposed legislation, and it is his hope and desire that early action may be taken by congress to remedy existing financial conditions."

Auto Wreck Almost Caused Death.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 17.—Frederick Nelson of New Market, a brother of Mrs. Charles Fair, who was killed in an automobile accident in France, had a narrow escape from a similar death. Nelson and a friend, Nat Titsworth, were returning from the seashore in an automobile when near this city the brakes refused to work, and the machine rushed down hill and dashed into a tree, badly bruising and stunning both men and wrecking the automobile.

Telegraphers Get Increase.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 17.—After a protracted conference between General Superintendent Canfield of the Ontario and Western railroad and the central committee of the telegraphers held here the company has granted the men a schedule of increased wages, together with a new system of working rules to govern the employment and promotion of the men. T. M. Pierson of St. Louis, vice president of the National Order of Railroad Telegraphers was present at the conference.

"Business wisdom begins and ends in knowing when and where and what to advertise."

That we have over 1,000 telephones in the city is but one point in the brief on Progressive Plainfield.

Have we no poet to sing the song of General Miles' ninety miles equestrian feat? Oh, for an Alfie Austen!

It is not to be presumed that the lawmakers gained any knowledge from the soldiery at Sea Girt for use in the coming campaign.

James E. Martine will evidently nod his approval at the suggestion to lay the corner stone of the new court house with a silver trowel.

If people keep up offering trophies for marksmanship we suppose that a bill will be introduced in the Legislature soon to erect a trophy museum.

A Newark woman hid her savings in a blanket and now the money is missing. Someone evidently had more faith in the value of money than she did in banks.

The Newark Evening News publishes an article on the "Ethics of lying." Wonder what knowledge the editor had of the writer's ability to discuss the subject.

While other politicians are enjoying their vacation, Assemblyman Swackhamer is not asleep even if he is accredited to Somerset County. The tall, lanky Democratic orator is spending his time amongst the farmers. Just watch the rural county delegations at the next Democratic gubernatorial convention.

It now turns out that Governor Murphy has been building castles in the air. One of his pet schemes has been to erect a consumptives' home in Glen Gardner and with that end in view a measure was introduced in the Legislature. Lately ground was broken and the plans for the structure submitted to a commission. At this late hour the Governor finds that the bill died in committee and that the supposed appropriation was never made. While this condition will warrant a laugh on Mr. Murphy, at the same time it presents a serious aspect. It is indeed strange that the chief executive should have forgotten all about the measure.

It will be ninety-one years ago tomorrow since the Constitution escaped from a British fleet. It was considered a great stunt at the time. There was no question then whether it would follow or lead the flag. It couldn't escape it. Everything followed the flag, in those days even the Supreme Court. Now these doctors of the law in dealing out legal prescriptions don't seem to care a picayune about the musty old document. They tag it on to the flag in the Philippines and make it stay away from Hawaii. But it's too warm to be thinking about the constitution these days. The weather prophet says it's going to be warmer today, but there's satisfaction in knowing that it will remain clear.

One Claim Less.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

A large number of the Italian residents, as well as many others from this place, attended the Italian celebration in Plainfield yesterday. An especially large number were present at the excitement on Martine Common last evening.

The great demand for houses in the borough is shown by the fact that several houses not yet finished have already been rented. In some cases the date for occupancy has even been fixed.

Mrs. L. L. Block is recovering from the effect of a badly cut finger sustained while cutting meat in her husband's butcher-shop. The member was almost severed.

The train which, for some time has been running between St. George and this place, for the convenience of passengers going west, has been discontinued.

Miss Marjorie Burke, who is recovering from the effects of a sprained knee, is entertaining the Misses Eleanor and Susan Weart, of Hopewell.

A crowd of young people from here went to the old Faulkner place near New Market, on Wednesday evening and enjoyed a dance and general good time.

Walter Craig and Maxwell Brakeley leave tomorrow for Asbury Park where they will spend their vacation.

The Thomas house on the corner of Dunellen avenue and Washington avenue has been sold to Mrs. S. C. Fisher.

Daniel Richardson, formerly of the borough, has won a clerkship in the postoffice department at Washington.

Baseball tomorrow at the Madison avenue grounds at 3:30. Dunellen vs. Clinton Avenue.

Mrs. George W. Churchill is entertaining a cousin from out-of-town.

Mrs. William H. Cole is recovering from a severe illness at her home.

Mrs. Isabel Carpenter is spending a few weeks in Williamsport, Pa.

Dr. P. W. Brakeley is spending today in Easton, Pa.

NEW MARKET.

The baseball game between the Y. M. A. and the O. F. C., of Plainfield, will be called tomorrow at 3:30 on Nelson field.

Mrs. Abram G. Nelson has been entertaining Mrs. Leonard, of Cadwell, this week.

Mrs. J. Y. Rupell have returned home after a visit with out-of-town friends.

Miss Marguerite Wotten is spending a few days in Atlantic City.

The band practiced last evening.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The gutters on Park avenue will have to be scraped and then well rolled before they are in good condition. The water company simply ran a roller over the loose dirt and stones, leaving a ridge between the roadbed and edge of the gutter which blocks the water every time there is a rain.

"Chick" Crusius, short stop on the ball team, is reported as improving from his recent illness, but it is doubtful if he will be able to play with the team Saturday afternoon. His loss will be felt by the boys as his snappy playing seems to put ginger into the game.

A large delegation of the local rooters will go with the ball team to Westfield tomorrow afternoon. If the boys will only hit the ball and get an even thing on umpires decisions they should win out.

Miss Susie L. Parse and niece, Miss Evelyn Buckley, are spending July and August with Miss Evelyn's grandmother, Mrs. Francis Wright at Holland, Mass., among the Berkshire Hills.

Manager Johnston, of the ball team, may give Skeggs, a one armed outfielder from Brooklyn, a chance to cover right field in the game at Westfield tomorrow.

The grand union excursion to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove of the Sunday-schools of the village and Westfield will be held Tuesday, August 4.

The residents in town are beginning to oil up their trusty guns so as to be ready for the amateur burglars should they decide to make another visit to town.

Georgie Merrett, of Newark, is spending several weeks with his grandmother, Mrs. Ann Dobbins, of Front street.

A large number from the village enjoyed the LaVere Band Concert last night at Plainfield.

John Rickerson, of Bartle avenue, was the guest, Thursday night, of Plainfield friends.

The weekly prayer meetings of the Methodist and Baptist Churches will be held tonight.

Mrs. Wm. S. Terry, of Plainfield, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. James Buckley.

George Baldwin is covering first base for the Hope Y. M. A. team, of Plainfield.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met last night and transacted routine business.

George Ball, of Front street, is in Somerville today on business.

Fred Johanson visited friends in Plainfield last night.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Rufus Delafield, whose farm is located just out of the village, is carrying on the poultry industry on a large scale. The houses which he has erected and others which he has planned to build are models in every way, being made of best material and well adapted to the business. One of these is a large incubator building, which a number of others are for the shelter of the young poultry. The owner has about 2,000 chickens and 1,000 ducks and is preparing room for a much larger stock in the future. Mr. Delafield and his family are residing for the summer in Plainfield and drives over to the farm every day. This is undoubtedly one of the largest poultry interests in the State. Its owner has invested a large sum in the business and in general improvements to the farm.

The Patriotic Order Sons of America met last night in regular weekly session for the transaction of business and the installation of officers. Officers of the State camp were present.

Miss Marjorie Voorhees, of Asbury Park, is visiting her grandparents, accompanied by her friend, Miss Helen Grávatt.

Joel Manning is gathering a fine crop of hay which does not appear to have been injured by the drought.

Miss Laura Manning has returned home from an extended visit in Scranton.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

An important meeting of the I. C. T. Club will take place this evening, and all members are earnestly requested to be present.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, meets tonight. It is expected that one candidate will be received into the lodge over the back of the goat.

The Chief's degree will be worked this evening at Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M. A social time will be a feature of the evening after the ceremony.

John Becker and staff, of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will go to Rahway this evening ro install officers. The trip to Perth Amboy has been set for next Friday evening.

The annual report made by the secretary of the Knights of Columbus shows the total membership for the year to be 88,993, of whom 84,586 were insured members. There was a total net gain during the year of 10,2507 members. The number of councils at the end of the year was 687, while on May 1, 1903, the number was 726. The death rate for each 1,000 members, computed on the average membership of 1902, was 7.21.

A Surgical Operation

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. For Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

SHAMROCK III. SAILS FAST.

Beats Old Challenger Six Minutes In Forty Mile Race.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin left her anchorage off Thirty-fifth street, North river, at 8:30 a. m. for Sandy Hook to take the Shamrocks out for another spin. A ten knot westerly wind and clear skies gave promise of fine racing.

After a forty mile leeward and windward race off Sandy Hook lightship Shamrock III. led her trial horse to the finish line by 6m. 30s. and won by only fifteen seconds less.

Both Shamrocks under their own sail met the Erin at the point of the Hook and passed out through the channel toward the lightship.

Passing out through the channel, the new challenger ran away from the older one slightly until Shamrock I., getting her club topsail aloft first, almost overtook the leader. The wind was west-northwest and blowing at eight knots, with strong puffs.

The wind was west-northwest about seven knots. The Shamrick III. then began to outfoot the old boat, and for the remainder of the run of four miles off to Sandy Hook lightship the cup hunter beat the other boat about a minute to a mile. Their time at the lightship was: Shamrock III., 11:00:45; Shamrock I., 11:05:00.

Sir Thomas Lipton decided to send the boats off for a forty mile race, a run ten miles to leeward and a beat back to the lightship. The first leg of the course was east-southeast. The Shamrocks tipped across the starting line side by side and broke out their spinnakers as they got away. The official time of the start was: Shamrock III., 11:20:18; Shamrock I., 11:20:33.

The Shamrock III. gained nearly a minute over the old boat in the first half hour's running.

The Shamrock III. gained slowly, running off to where the Cruizer was anchored for the mark. The yachts turned around as follows: Shamrock III., 12:34:05; Shamrock I., 12:36:14.

Allowing for Shamrock III.'s lead at the start, she had beaten the other boat 1m. 54s. The boats began to beat back to the lightship.

In the thrash to windward Shamrock III. gained more rapidly, and in forty-five minutes had doubled her lead over the older boat.

Both boats almost fetched the lightship in two long legs. Nearing the starting line, Shamrock III. was half a mile ahead and gaining.

The new boat's superior speed was more manifest as soon as she flattened in her sheets for the thrash to windward. She pointed no higher than the other, for Captain Bevis was nipping Shamrock I., but the new boat footed much faster. In two long legs and a few short hitches they fetched the lightship, and when they turned it for the second run offshore Shamrock III. had established a lead of 5m. 45s. At that rate she would have won by more than eleven minutes.

But for a fluke in the second run to leeward by which the old boat gained an advantage the new boat's victory would have been nearly doubled.

The race was reported from Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin by the Deforest wireless system.

TRADE IN NORTH CHINA.

American Manufacturers Must Be Alive to Retain Business.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The completion of the Siberian railway has brought a new factor in the great cotton goods trade of north China, and American manufacturers must be alive to the situation and adjust their business arrangements to meet these new conditions if they wish to hold their trade.

A volunteer fleet heavily subsidized by the Russian government is bringing Russian goods to north China at very low freight rates, and these goods are being entered at Port Arthur and Dalny without paying any customs duties. Besides the port charges for ships are nominal, and there are no pilot charges.

American goods go first to Shanghai, where customs duties and port charges, storage and handling are paid, and are then reshipped to Newchwang, where freight, pilotage, port and handling charges are again paid. The Russian fleet consists of fourteen steamers, with a total tonnage of 38,481 tons.

The great market for cotton goods in Manchuria is attracting the earnest attention of Russian manufacturers at Moscow. They are seeking to capture a good share of the $12,180,000 worth of cotton goods trade that annually comes through that port and are offering most tempting inducements to merchants to go to Moscow to purchase their supplies.

Robbery and Arson.

NEW ORLEANS, July 17.—An unusually bold crime of robbery and arson has occurred here. Alfred Hunter, British subject, who owned a barroom and restaurant, was summoned to his door. When he opened it three men confronted him. One of them shoved a pistol in his face, and the three pushed their way into the saloon. The robbers took all the money Hunter could find for them. Then they threw him on a bed, tied him to the posts and, knotting an undershirt, gagged him. Having secured him, the robbers went into the barroom and set it on fire. Hunter's screams for help brought assistance, and he was got from the wilding in safety.

Snow in New York State.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 17.—An inch of snow fell at Campbell mountain, near Pennsville, and a heavy hailstorm has been reported near Rockland.

Belknap Nominated For Governor.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 17.—Colonel Morris B. Belknap was unanimously nominated for governor by the Kentucky Republican convention.

THE SULTAN'S LETTER.

Unique Epistle to President Roosevelt From Morocco.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The following letter from the sultan of Morocco has been presented to President Roosevelt:

"To the Honored President of the Great American Nation—May God keep him in peaceful preservation, in the name of God, the merciful and everlasting; life and strength are the outcome of God's great love. From the servant of his great and mighty God, the great and powerful vanquisher, the faithful, the son of the faithful, may God encircle him with the splendor of his greatness, keep him victorious and extend unto him greatness. To the great, loving and exalted in his position of splendor and glory, first amongst the great and noble, the president of the great American nation, the mirror of its greatness, possessor of its highest position, Theodore Roosevelt.

"After saluting and thanking the great and Almighty God, unique and unequaled in greatness and fullness and honor, and after showering upon thee and upon thy great and exalted position all that which may be due to thee in unspoken words, we may state that there came before our noble presence your wise messenger, James W. Langerman, the chevalier, who came unto us to have us appoint one who may represent us in the dedication and opening of the exposition which your great government graciously purposed and consented to open in the coming year 1904 if it pleases the mighty God. He has tendered unto us what you have privileged him to speak before us and of the love which you bear toward us and toward our esteemed government and of your sincere desire to renew the bonds of friendship and to extend mutual communications. We welcomed him with exultation and received him unto our gracious presence and looked after him with the interest due to the explanations he bore in the message he brought unto our noble self from you and also due to his excellent and humane actions, through which he is entitled to handle the reins of important affairs which includes his great knowledge and deep perception of the affairs of our Moorish government.

"And we have appointed him to represent our noble self at the beautiful exposition in due time if it pleases the mighty God."

THE PANAMA CANAL.

President Marroquin Favors Work on Patriotic Grounds.

COLON, Colombia, July 17.—The text of President Marroquin's message submitted to the Colombian congress referring to the Panama canal says:

"There are two alternatives, firstly, the curtailment of Colombian sovereignty in consideration of certain pecuniary advantages, and, secondly, to rigorously maintain sovereignty and demand peremptorily the money indemnity to which we consider ourselves entitled. In the first case the wishes of the inhabitants of the department of Panama will be satisfied, but the government may be afterward accused of failing to defend the sovereignty of the country and of sacrificing the interests of the nation.

"In the second case if the canal is not built via the Panma route the government will be accused of failing to obtain the wealth of which the canal may be regarded as the beginning and which may be the sole condition of our future aggrandizement. I have already made known my wish that an interoceanic canal should be opened through our territory. I think even at cost and sacrifice we should not place obstacles in the way of such a grand enterprise, because it would surely result in a gigantic material improvement of our country; also, because, once the canal is opened, we will expand and draw closer in our relations to North America, whereby our industries, commerce and wealth would be greatly benefited."

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

RAIN AND DUST COATS.

Latest Designs In These Very Useful Articles—New Summer Dresses.

An indispensable article of apparel is a long dust or rain coat for traveling, and much thought has been expended in developing something graceful as well as useful for the purpose. These coats will also be found valuable for shopping or when it rains or threatens to do so. They are generally made of taffeta or cravenetted wool of some kind, though the silks for this purpose as well as for many other purposes are treated by the process which makes them waterproof. These coats are unlined, are loose enough to slip on easily over any costume and are very long, some of them having almost a train in the back. The finish is plain, as a rule, but a few of the coats display a little ornamentation. A pretty one has a cape made of three folds, the lower two being detachable. The loose sleeves have two folds laid around and slightly fastened. At the side seams are pockets, excellent and sensible things which are almost forgotten by most women.

Just now lovely woman is thinking of but little beyond amusing herself, and few there be who have not stocked up with sweaters, golf vests and all sorts of things in the way of mountain climbing frocks, to say nothing of wheeling suits and auto costumes. The last for the present season are more apt to be of crash or heavy unbleached linen than anything, with becoming hats and caps. The approaching cup yacht races have evoked a long line of sailor suits with something about each to signify to which boat the wearer's heart leans, and there are many suits with soft green shamrocks embroidered on the sleeves and wide collars. These suits are mostly of duck, though quite a number are of strong Irish linen, bleached or unbleached.

Among the newest of the materials now being made up for auxiliary dresses and suits for the smart set one finds some really exquisite mercerized cheviots, soft and yet so silky that it is almost impossible for one to think they are not at least half silk. A few of these cheviots are plain; other styles have an embroidered design; some are all white or black or in various solid colors or in mixtures.

Some of the all over embroidered batistes in colors make up into beautiful dresses, and there are some all over white ones quite as attractive. A new wrinkle is the old fashioned embroidery patterns made so that around the bottom of the dress there is a design which has wheels of large dimensions encircling smaller wheels, while the lower side is scalloped out and buttonholed heavily for the edge.

White lawn and finer batiste dresses are shown for belated ones or those who like to get new gowns from time to time all through a season. These are trimmed with lace in the usual quantities, which means all that can be put on, but now there seems to be rather a fancy for the finer laces, like lierre, valenciennes and white chantilly. Some of these dainty thin frocks have fancy shawl shaped capelines made of the same material as the dress and trimmed to match. The point of the shawl reaches down below the waist in the back and also in the front. The dresses can only be made with material forty-four inches wide, as the shawl is precisely square, and is worn doubled, so that both points appear at the back one below the other. Some like to wear this shawl as a fichu, but there are so many of these that one is forced to believe that they will be a fashion in themselves as shawls pure and simple. For several seasons there has been a movement in favor of the crape and india shawl, but somehow they have been voted down, and these may be before winter, but they are pretty in the light stuffs.

For fine dinner gowns the black spangled dresses are very fashionable, and are prettiest when the black spangles are picked out with silver ones. When there is a large leaf it is outlined with the silver or veined with it. The effect is fine.

One of the prettiest gowns I have recently seen was of pale French gray voile. The corsage was trimmed with a double bertha of cream tambour edged with a double ruche of soft liberty silk in a delicate shade of eau de nil. The small turn down collar was made of the same silk, and there were two hanging ornaments in cream silk cords to finish the soft lace front, which also formed the vest. The skirt was gathered on cords in three tiers falling full to the foot.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

And still the red leader sat at gaze, oblivious for the moment of everything around him, ignoring the coming of orders possibly from Lame Wolf himself. Suddenly the silver armlets once more gleamed on high.

"FROM EVERY SIDE YELLING LIKE FIENDS OF SOME ORTHODOX HELL, DOWN THEY CAME."

Then, clapping the palm of his right hand to his mouth, Red Fox gave voice to a ringing war whoop, fierce, savage and exultant, and, almost at the instant, like the boom and rumble that follows some vivid lightning flash, the prairie woke and trembled to the thunder of near a thousand hoofs. From every point of the compass—from every side, yelling like fiends of some orthodox hell, down they came—the wild warriors of the frontier in furious rush upon the silent and almost peaceful covert of this little band of brothers in the dusty garb of blue. One, two, three hundred yards they came, centering on the leafy clump of cottonwoods, riding at a tearing gallop, erect, defiant, daring at the start, and giving full voice to their wild war cry. Then bending forward, crouching low, then flattening out like hunted squirrel, for as the foremost in the dash came thundering on within good carbine range, all on a sudden the watch dogs of the little plains fort began to bark. Tiny jets of flame and smoke shot from the level of the prairie, from over dingy mounds of sand, from behind the trunks of stunted trees, from low parapet of log or leather. Then the entire grove seemed veiling itself in a drifting film of blue, the whole charging circle to crown itself with a dun cloud of dust that swept eastward over the prairie, driven by the stiff, unhampered breeze. The welkin rang with savage yell, with answering cheer, with the sputter and crackle of rifle and revolver, the loud bellow of Springfield, and then, still yelping, the feathered riders veered and circled, ever at magnificent speed, each man for himself, apparently, yet all guided and controlled by some unseen, yet acknowledged, power; and, in five minutes, save where some hapless pony lay quivering and kicking on the turf, the low ground close at hand was swept clean of horse or man. The wild attack had been made in vain. The Sioux were scampering back, convinced, but not discomfited. Some few of their number, borne away stunned and bleeding, by comrade hand from underneath their stricken chargers—some three or four, perhaps, who had dared too much—were closing their eyes on the last fight of their savage lives.

To Ray and to many of his men it was all an old story. Stabber would never have counseled or permitted attack on seasoned troopers, fighting behind even improvised shelter. Something, perhaps, had occurred to blind his younger rival to the peril of such assault, and now, as three or four little parties were seen slowly drifting away toward the ridge, burdened by some helpless form, other couriers came thundering down at Red Fox, and wild excitement prevailed among the Elk Teeth. More signals were flashing. More Indians came popping into view, their feathered bonnets streaming in the rising wind, and about the prairie wave, where the savage general had established field headquarters, a furious conference was going on. Stabber had again interposed, and with grim but hopeful eyes, Ray and his fellows watched and noted. Every gain in the fight was so much gain for them.

"Twelve fifty-two," said the dark-eyed commander, swinging his watch into the pocket of his hunting shirt, and sliding backward into the stream bed. "All serene so far. Watch things on this front, Field, while I make the rounds and see how we came out."

"All serene so far" it was! Not a man hurt. Two of the sorrels had been hit by flying bullets and much amazed and stung thereat, but neither was crippled. Bidding their guards to dig for water that might soon be needed, Ray once more made his way to the northward side and rejoined Field and Winsor.

In an almost cloudless sky of steely blue the sun had just passed the meridian and was streaming hotly down on the stirring picture. Northward the ridge line and the long, gradual slope seemed alive with swarms of Indian warriors, many of them darting about in wild commotion. About the little eminence where Stabber and the Fox had again locked horns in violent altercation, as many as a hundred braves had gathered. About the middle knob, from whose summit mirror flashes shot from time to time, was still another concourse, listening, apparently, to the admonitions of a leader but recently arrived, a chieftain mounted on an American horse, almost black, and Ray studied the pair long and curiously through his glasses. "Lame Wolf, probably," said he, but the distance was too great to enable him to be certain. What puzzled him more than anything was the apparent division of authority, the unusual display of discord among the Sioux. These were all, doubtless, of the Ogalalla tribe, Red Cloud's own people, yet here they were wrangling like ward "heelers" and wasting precious time. Whatever his antecedents, this new comer had been a powerful sower of strife and sedition, for, instead of following implicitly the counsels of one leader, the Indians were divided now between three.

True to its practice, the prairie wind was sweeping stronger and stronger with every moment, as the sunwarmed strata over the wide, billowing surface sought higher levels, and the denser, cooler current from the west came rushing down. And now all sounds of the debate were whisked away toward the breaks of the old South Cheyenne and it was no longer possible for old Sioux campaigners to catch a word of the discussion. The leaves of the cottonwoods whistled in the rising gale, and every time a pony crossed the stream bed and clambered the steep banks out to the west, little clouds of dun-colored dust came sailing toward the grove, scattered and spent, however, far from the lair of the defense.

But, while the discussion seemed endless among the Indians on the northward side, never for a moment was the vigilance of the circle relaxed. South, east and west the slopes and lowlands were dotted with restless horsemen, and from young Clayton came the word that through his glass he could make out three or four warriors far away toward the Moccasin ridge. "That's good," said Ray. "It means that they, too, are looking for a column coming out from Frayne. But where on earth did all these rascals come from? There must be 400 now in sight."

THE CHURCH IN CUBA.

Clergy Is Solemnly Adjured to Keep Out of Politics.

Salient Points of the Pope's Brief on the New Republic—Earnestly Recommends the Fostering of Education.

A summary of the pope's brief in regard to Cuba and Porto Rico, sent to Archbishop Chapelle, of New Orleans, as papal delegate to those islands, has been received at Washington. In the message the pope refers to the changes of government in the islands and the necessity for providing for the new conditions, as he did by appointing a new delegate, and by decreeing on September 4, 1901, that Cuba should be governed, ecclesiastically, by the same laws as the church in Latin America, enacted in Rome in 1899. These provisions, the pope goes on to say, did not seem to be sufficient for the new necessities of the island, hence the present brief, actum Praeclare.

Leo XIII. erects the new dioceses of Pinar del Rio and Cienfuegos, which comprise, respectively, the provinces of Pinar del Rio and the civil province of Santa Clara. The metropolitan shall be, for all, the archbishop of Santiago. The diocese of Porto Rico is taken away from the metropolitan's province and made subject immediately to the holy see.

He wishes the sees of Santiago and Havana to retain their chapters of canons. If, however, circumstances do not permit the full quota, at least ten canons are to be supported. The new sees must also have their canons. In conferring benefices and canonries the laws of the council of Latin America are to be preserved.

The pope then speaks of the necessity of sacred and profane learning for those who are to hold ministerial office in the dioceses and of the care which the bishops ought to exercise to foster in their priests the virtues which befit their state. His words on not meddling in political matters are very pointed. He wishes men in sacred orders to abstain entirely (omnino abstineant) from such pursuits. They are to foster fraternal love, and to give no ground for envy. To procure this spirit the bishops are to summon the priests yearly for the exercises of a spiritual retreat. The usual conferences for the discussion of theological questions are to be held and care taken to erect seminaries for the proper education of the future clergy of Cuba. The pope recommends especially the Collegio Pio-Latino-Americano, at Rome. He wishes at least two young men from each of the Cuban dioceses to be sent there, and that when they shall have finished, others to succeed them be selected.

POPE LEO XIII.
(Pontiff Who Has Just Issued a Brief on Church in Cuba.)

He commends the sedulous care of schools for youth and colleges for both sexes. A word of praise is bestowed on the religious bodies, who have worked so well in Cuba. The pope wishes their number to be increased, and that houses shall be erected in more places, in which at least eight religious men shall live, whose duty shall be to preach to the people and to teach them.

As soon as the new sees are filled, a provincial council is to be convoked by the apostolic delegate, at which he shall preside. The pope urges the Cubans to persevere in the faith of their fathers, to keep the unity of the faith in the bond of peace, to give due honor to the heads of the republic "republicoe proepositos debito honore prosequantur." The execution of these provisions is committed to the delegate.

The extent of the diocese of Pinar del Rio is 4,650 square kilometers; the population 173,604; there will be in it 29 parishes, and 18 secular priests. The Church of St. Rudesind, in the city of Pinar del Rio, is to be the cathedral. A seminary must be erected in this new diocese. The time for doing so is left to the new bishop.

The diocese of Cienfuegos will have an extent of 7,850 square kilometers, 356,536 inhabitants, 35 parishes, 28 secular priests and 24 priests of religious orders. The Church of the Immaculate Conception at Cienfuegos is to be the cathedral. A seminary must also be erected here. The time for its erection is left to the new bishop.

SPORTING NEWS.

PLAY BALL!

Manager MacLaughlin, of the Alis team, has secured Ryan, the strong Everett College player, to cover third base in tomorrow's game against St. Mary's.

The local baseball games scheduled for tomorrow include Alis against St. Mary, on Crescent Oval, and Hope Y. M. A. against Lyceum A. A., of New York on Hope Common. The Scotch Plains team will go to Westfield and try and wipe out the defeat of a few weeks ago.

The lineup of the Lyceum Athletic Association's nine in tomorrow's game with Hope Chapel is this: Cook, cf; Jones, p; Murray, 2b; Brennan, c; Powell, ss; McKenna, rf; Clias, 1b; Kelts, lf; Morgan, 3b. This is Hope's lineup: Bolen, c; Montross, p; Ganven, 1b; Dodge, 2b; Martin, ss; Shortman, 3b; Baldwin, rf; Hewitt cf; Owens, lf; Roseberry, sub.

Westfield's game Saturday at Recreation Park will be the second in the Scotch Plains series, the first having been won by the Westfielders—4 to 0. In Saturday's game McManus, who was Westfield's star left fielder last year, was secured by them upon his release from Nashua, and there are a few new faces arranged for to make doubly sure this time. Scotch Plains had its bumps last Saturday from Alis, of Plainfield, and this has goaded them on to desperation.

The baseball game tomorrow afternoon on Crescent Oval between Alis and St. Mary will be called promptly at 3:45. It is expected that the attendance will be a record-breaker for the Oval and those desiring seats should go early. This is the batting order of the Alis team:

The St. Mary team will lineup this way:

Hartman, cf; Lynch, lf; Monahan, ss; Doyle, rf; Worthley, 3b; Malley, c; Healey, 2b; Winn, 1b; Ramsey, p.

It has been arranged to have Creedon, of Somerville, umpire the game.

TENNIS.

In the handicap tennis tournament at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, the semi-finals between W. S. Tyler and Oven H. Fleming will be played at 3, and the finals between the winner and G. F. Earle at 4:30, on Saturday afternoon.

INJURED BY FALL.

Bayonne Man Fractures Collarbone and is Taken to the Hospital.

William Lyons, aged 52 years, who claims Bayonne as his home was taken to the hospital in the ambulance this morning, suffering from a fractured collar-bone. He said that he fell from one of the railroad bridges in the eastern part of the city. His injury was attended and toward noon the man was able to return home.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

"The Methodist Church is losing 50,000 probationers a year because of its probationary system," declares Rev. Dr. J. E. Gilbert. He advocates a simpler system.

The meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home Monday evening will be in charge of the Christian Endeavor Society from the First Baptist Church. This evening the society from the Park Avenue Baptist Church will be in charge.

At the annual meeting of the New Jersey Baptist Ministerial Educational Society, in Trenton, the treasurer, Rev. Dr. L. B. Hartman, presented his annual report, which showed that the year just passed has been the most prosperous in the history of the society. In gross $4,746.36 has been appropriated in the work, and thirty-three students have been aided in attendance at, first, theological seminaries (Crozer, Newton, Richmond); second, at universites (Rochester, Colgate, Brown, Bucknell, Chicago); third, at colleges (Lafayette, Richmond); also, at Peddie Institute and at South Jersey Institute. The society's debts have all been paid and all obligations have been fully met and discharged, the there still remains a balance in bank to its credit of $674.94.

COL. BELKNAP NAMED.

A Plainfield Belle May be Mistress in the Kentucky Executive Mansion.

Col. Morris B. Belknap, of Louisville, Ky., who was nominated yesterday by the Republican State Convention for governor of Kentucky, is a son-in-law of former Councilman John B. Dumont, of this city. He married Miss Marion Dumont, a society favorite, in Grace Church three years ago, the wedding being an event of the season. A dispatch to the New York papers says that the nominee is "a wholesale merchant widely known throughout the country."

PERSONAL.

Miss May Mulford, of Grant avenue, is confined to her home by illness.

Miss Emma Faulke, of South Plainfield, is the guest of Mrs. Harry Tappen, of Lyman place.

Councilman R. I. Tolles, of Westervelt avenue, is much improved from a recent severe illness.

Miss Minnie Nischwitz and Miss Florence White, of the borough, are visiting friends at Holmesdale, N. J., for a few weeks.

Harry Munger and R. W. Chrystie, of this city, are planning to enjoy a day's fishing trip to Ocean View Camp, Saturday afternoon. They will return Monday.

Money Missing.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 17—Prosecutor English not being satisfied with the money secured from the various slot machines raided in the vicinity of Westfield and Garwood, recently, has ordered an investigation. It is understood that when examined at the court house about $13 was secured from the five machines. The Prosecutor believes there should have been more money.

Overcome by Heat.

Phillip Dantz, a seven year old boy, was overcome by the heat at noon today on Bank place and fell to the ground unconscious. He was picked up by Benjamin LaVere and carried to the piazza of a neighboring house by LaVere assisted by William H. Addis. Dr. Norman Probasco was summoned and the boy taken to the physician's house. He revived quickly under treatment and will probably be as well as ever by evening.

J. S. DAHL IN BANKRUPTCY

LOCAL CONTRACTOR TAKES STEPS VOLUNTARY FOR CREDITORS.

No Trustees Appointed as Yet—Liabilities $1,100 More Than the Assets.

A petition in voluntary bankruptcy has been filed by John S. Dahl, carpenter and contractor, who lives at 742 East Seventh street. This action was taken on Tuesday. His liabilities amount to $7,000 and his assets are said to be $5,900. The trustees have not been appointed as yet, the case still being in the hands of Atwood L. DeCoster, of Summit, who is referee in bankruptcy for this district. Assemblyman William Newcorn is Dahl's counsel.

Dahl had the contract to erect ten residences for the Home Realty Company. The houses are being erected at the corner of Clinton avenue and West Fourth street.

When it became known that the man had filed papers in bankruptcy the contract was awarded to another man and the work is still progressing. The petition will come before Referee DeCoster on Thursday, July 20.

AMUSEMENTS.

In these mid-summer days the amusement loving turn their attention to the light and airy, and with this in mind the bill for the coming week at Keith's has been arranged. But at this house they will find that in addition to their entertainment being catered to, their comfort, as well, has been thought of, and the cool and inviting surroundings, add to the pleasure to be derived from a visit to Keith's.

Bostock's at Sea Beach Palace Coney Island, continues to be crowded with delighted thousands daily. More than three hundred thousand people have attended the great animal exposition since the opening of its summer season six weeks ago. This is a record which would have gladdened even the great Barnum. The Bostock show deserves its phenomenal success. No public or private animal exhibition has ever approached it in extent or variety. Every known denizen of forest, field, stream and junkle is found somewhere in the vast space building; and space, is a pleasing factor of this rare exhibition.

THE DUKE OF AOSTA.

One of the Most Unpopular Members of Italy's Royalty.

He Would Become the Unwelcome Ruler of the Kingdom Should Victor Emmanuel Die Without Male Issue.

The queen of Italy and the czarina of Russia would be happier than they are to-day and they would rise immensely in popular favor if that mystical bird, the stork, had been kinder and more considerate and had left sons instead of daughters in the royal palaces in which these ladies live. The czarina has disappointed the hopes of the people four times by presenting daughters to the czar and the two children of the young queen of Italy are both daughters. The sooner the stork manifests a higher degree of consideration for the situation in which these royal ladies are placed and grants them sons the happier they and their husbands and a great army of their subjects will be.

The throne of Italy can descend only to the male heirs of the king and if King Victor Emmanuel should die without a son his successor would be the duke of Aosta, who is not at all in favor with the people of Italy, and there would be no end of discontent if he should become king. The duke is 34 years of age. He is the eldest son of the late Prince Amadeus, a brother of King Humbert and ex-king of Spain. His wife was Princess Helene of Orleans, a daughter of the late count of Paris, and they have two sons, Amadeus and Aimon, so that if the duke should succeed to the throne it would probably remain permanently in his family.

The duke and his wife are a handsome pair, says the Detroit Free Press. But one may also see in the face of the handsome young duke signs of the haughty arrogance and the unyielding spirit that have helped to make him unpopular throughout Italy. He would probably be a hard man to deal with, and the people of Italy are hoping and even praying that he may never be their ruler, and it will be a great day in Italy if the beautiful Queen Helene should some time present the king with a son. The duke of Aosta would be the one man in Italy who would not rejoice over an event of this kind. Should he succeed to the throne he might realize in his own experience the truth of the old saying that "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," for his life would not be a very happy one in the face of the strong and unyielding prejudice of the Italian people. A kingly career is not one of continual smooth sailing, even when one is in high favor with one's subjects, and it is a career of much anxiety and unhappiness when one is ruler in opposition to the wishes of his people. So here's hoping that the stork is even now on his way to the royal palace of Italy with a lusty young son to gladden the hearts of the king and queen and the hearts of the people of Italy.

THE DUKE OF AOSTA.
(Heir Presumptive to the Throne of the Italian Kingdom.)

Vibration Stops Hatching.

"An egg in the process of hatching," says an expert, "is remarkably sensitive to vibration. Half the failures that amateurs encounter in hatching out chicks by an incubator method are due to lack of precaution in providing against the effect of vibration on the eggs. The rumble of a train or the passage of a wagon along the street will spoil a whole incubator full of eggs, if the faintest vibratory wave reaches the apparatus. Even such a little thing as the banging of a door in some other part of the house will destroy the chances of hatching out a brood, where care has not been taken to place the incubator beyond the reach of such disturbances. A thunderstorm always gives breeders a scare, as thousands of eggs may be spoiled by a sudden heavy thunder clap. To sneeze or cough in the vicinity of the incubators will sometimes work a disastrous result."

Plague Spread by Rats.

The bubonic plague has become so alarming in Sydney, N. S. W., that the city authorities regularly employ five men to visit the residences and catch rats. The average number of rats trapped by each man is 28 a week. It is believed that the rodents spread the disease by roaming from house to house.

Prescriptions by Telephone.

It is illegal in Germany for physicians to dictate prescriptions to druggists through the telephone. Fatal misunderstandings are likely to result from the practice, therefore the interdictory law was enacted.

POINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

WHAT LOCAL RETAILERS ARE CHARGING FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Prices Are Generally Low With Good Quality and Abundant Supplies.

Local householders doing their marketing for Sunday, today and tomorrow, will find low prices prevailing in fruits and vegetables, which are generally abundant. The season for importing summer vegetables from southern states is about over and the Jersey products are beginning to come in.

Of vegetables, there will be a good supply of green corn from southern Jersey next week. There is some native corn on the markets today, retailing at from thirty to thirty-five cents a dozen ears. A consignment of the first Jersey egg-plants arrived in Plainfield yesterday. They are expensive, however, selling at $2.50 a basket.

Beans, at 60 to 65 cents a basket, are abundant, and peas, which were scarce ten days ago, are now plentiful as the result of warm weather, with the price cut in half. There are large quantities of good Jersey potatoes on the market.

The supply of cabbages is getting short, and prices are high, six, eight and ten cents a head. Cucumbers are numerous and cheap, good ones selling for five and six cents and the best for eight. A large quantity of native and South Jersey tomatoes is on hand and the quality is excellent. The prices run from $2 to $2.25 a bushel. Jersey onions, both white and yellow, are fairly abundant, with the price ranging around $2.

White squash are cheap; yellow squash are not so plentiful. Squashes cost 60 to 65 cents a dozen. The beet crop is large. Four cents a bunch is the prevailing price. Lettuce is scarce and poor in quality owing to the hot weather. Most of the lettuce comes from Boston and is sold for ten and twelve cents a head where a short time ago five cents would buy a much better quality. Carrots are selling for 75 cents a half bushel.

Fruits are down in price and up in quality. Watermelons are retailing for 35 cents and you can buy especially fine ones for 40 cents. The season for currents is about ended. They are still selling at 14 cents excellent in quality. Native apples are beginning to come in at 60 to 65 cents a half bushel. Peaches, Albertas, cost 60 cents a carrier. The supply of pineapples from Florida and Havana was large a short time ago but has dwindled considerably. They cost 15 and 20 cents apiece.

Blackberries have been ripening in good style lately. Large shipments are received every day from the southern part of the State. Fourteen cents a quart is charged. Many crates of unusually fine huckleberries have been received from the mountains of Pennsylvania. The price is rather high—14 cents. Raspberries are about gone. The price is 14 and 15 cents a quart and going up.

BOROUGH AUTHORITIES AFTER FRUIT DEALERS

Mayor Smalley Has An Ax Out for Violators of the Liquor Law.

THE SUNDAY TRADE

MATTER TO BE BROUGHT UP IN THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Some Difficulty in Getting Witnesses to Testify—The Italians Observe the Seventh-Day Baptist Sabbath As Sunday.

At the next meeting of the North Plainfield Council, Friday evening, August 7, an ordinance will be introduced which, if passed, may have the effect of stopping all business in the borough on Sundays. Mayor Smalley has placed the matter in the hands of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed for his opinion and he will report at that session.

The members of the Council have found that something must be done to stop the illegal sale of liquor in the borough on Sunday. Several Italian fruit dealers on Somerset street are the cause of the matter being taken up by the borough fathers.

It is alleged that three of these fruit dealers have been in the habit of selling intoxicating liquors on Sunday in their stores. It is said that behind the display of fruit a bar is often working over time in the rear.

Children, going to and from Sunday-school, and women while promenading stop at these places to purchase peanuts or candy. People in the vicinity of the stores have made complaints that disorderly houses are being maintained in some of the places. Councilman James F. Arnold said yesterday that in two cases of many which he has personal knowledge, young men, not yet of age, have been seen to enter the fruit stores sober and come out intoxicated. When approached with a view of getting them to testify against the shop keepers they refused to do so.

Mayor Smalley declares a stop will be put to the present illegal sales. It is making of Somerset sreet, he said, a most undesirable thoroughfare on which to live and is endangering valuation of property. "I believe," said he, "that those places can be closed up and if the New Jersey Blue Laws amount to anything they will be put in force in North Plainfield."

Some unobjectionable places will be compelled to close their doors and in that way they will have to suffer for the misdeeds of others. On a pretense that they are members of the Seventh-Day Baptist denomination, the Italians close their shops Friday night and remain closed the greater part of Saturday. In this way they believe that they are out of the reach of the law.

MORE DENTISTS.

Charles More Among a Score Successfully Passing Examination.

The New Jersey Dentists' Association has been holding its annual session at Asbury Park, this week. Of the sixty applications received from those wishing to practice dentistry in this State only twenty succeeded in passing. Among the successful ones was Charles Moore, of this city. The State Board of Registration and Examination in Dentistry were in session at the Columbia Hotel, Asbury Park, all of Thursday and the per centage of those being successful in the examination is considered large. Among the Plainfielders who attended the convention was Dr. Guy Hillman.

A Society Belle.

The Asbury Park Press says: "Of a delightful personality, beautiful, vivacious and witty, is Miss Edith Burt, a Plainfield society belle who is here for a short visit. Miss Burt was a Wellesley girl and besides being a taleneted musician and a clever conversationalist she is a fine swimmer and diver and a fearless water nymph. She is visiting Miss Katherine Moore, an incomparable hostess, at her cozy summer residence, the Vermont, on Embury avenue."

BAPTIST CENTRAL COUNCIL

SUGGESTION FOR DENOMINATIONAL UNITY AS PERMANENT PLAN.

A Committee of Nine Appointed to Work Out Scheme and Report.

At the Baptist anniversaries held in Buffalo recently a resolution was offered looking to the establishment of a central body, representing all Baptists in America, to meet once a year, and to deliberate upon questions affecting the denomination. The matter was referred to a new committee of nine, to report next year.

It has long been felt among Baptists North, and to some extent among Baptists South, that greater denominational unity would result if there were some central organization, similar to the National Council of Congregationalists. The scheme is not a new one, but meets with more favor now than when presented before. It may, in the opinion of Baptist leaders, begin with one body, probably Baptists North, and gradually extend to include all in America.

There is no movement to create a central legislative body, but it is believed that recommendations offered by such a council would carry weight with the churches almost equal to legislative enactments, were the latter possible. It is held that delay in providing denominational headquarters, in New York or elsewhere, has been due to a lack of any general movement.

It is to be a permanent body, with members appointed yearly, and is to consider all questions bearing upon working relations of these societies. It will have direction of such matters as the overlapping of work, interference in efforts to raise money, and the publication of propaganda literature. The report of the committee, with all of its recommendations, was adopted by all of the societies, and the members of the new committee of nine will soon be appointed.

WATCHING BORELLI COMET

PEOPLE GATHER IN GROUPS ON THE STREET TO SEE THE COMET.

Some Discuss It in Learned Language, While Others Appear in Ignorance.

A large number of people have been gathering in groups in the city streets for the last night or two, straining their visions and stretching their necks in an attempt to locate the new Borelli comet, which is not yet bright enough to be found without some difficulty. It is amusing to note the quickness with which one or two star gazers attract others, until a crowd of considerable proportions collects in the street, with many of those in it totally ignorant of what they are searching for. Others discuss the comet in learned and technical terms, nearly failing over backwards in their earnest efforts to impart their knowledge and indicate the whereabouts of the body to their friends. References to unfamiliar constellations, declinations, perihelions, ascensions, etc., never fail to receive their due meed of awe and admiration.

Some of the observations heard in the groups are edifying.

One man last evening was worried over the possibility of resulting danger.

"Supposing it should strike the earth," he said, anxiously regarding the tail of the comet.

"Well," said his companion philosopher thoughtfully. "If it only landed in New Brunswick, it would be all right. Nobody would ever hear of it again."

And Sleep on the Ground.

Instead of having their food cooked for and served to them in fine mess halls, disciplinarians say, the National Guardsmen in camp at Sea Girt should have regular army rations and do their own cooking and wash their own dishes, just as the battalion of regulars do who are encamped there. This would be real soldiering.—New York Herald.

I. C. T. Club Inactive.

A business meeting of the I. C. T. Club was held last evening in the club rooms. It was voted to decline the invitation to join with the Junior O. U. A. M., in an excursion to Atlantic City. A proposal to hold trolley parties during August was voted down and it was decided to hold no more dances until September.

REST FOR HER TONGUE IN THE COUNTY JAIL

Abuse of Freedom of Speech Causes Trouble for Mrs. Maggie McGuigan.

POLICE COURT CASES

MICHAEL READINGTON PAYS $10 FOR NIGHT'S LODGING.

Young Sacher Says He Was Spurred on to Assault His Paternal Ancestor Because of Ill Treatment—Judge Lectures.

Mrs. Maggie McGuigan, who is gifted with a sharp tongue and who has no hesitation in using it, will spend the next thirty days in enforced idleness at the county jail for a too unrestrained use of the member in question. It is probable that her neighbors will be able to bear up under the affliction of her absence, for Mrs. McGuigan's abusive language and venomous attacks have annoyed them frequently and brought them unpleasantly before the public.

The charge against Mrs. McGuigan in the city court this morning was of having assaulted Mrs. Mary McCann, both parties residing in the same house on South Second street. The evidence showed that the attack was unprovoked and malicious, the Judge consequently decided to give the county the privilege of entertaining Mrs. McGuigan for the next thirty days.

Michael Redington, who is a frequent patron of the city jail accommodations, favored the police again last night. He was helplessly drunk and the Judge this morning thought $10 was a reasonable price to charge for the night's lodging.

William Rowlett, colored, and Louis Hirsch were arrested for fighting over the price that Hirsch ought to charge for mending a pair of shoes. Both men bore good reputations and were reprimanded and released on suspended sentence. Rowlett was represented by S. S. Swackhamer, and Hirsch by John P. Owens.

Meyer Sacher, seventeen years old, answered to a charge of having assaulted his paternal forebear. Sacher has been ill treated by his father and the Judge dismissed him with much kindly advice.

CHILDRENS' OUTING.

Trolley Company and Mr. Galvin Make Possible a Day's Enjoyment.

The Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company has donated cars to the Netherwood Fresh Air Home for the use of the children for Wednesday, July 22. Mr. Galvin has donated the use of his park to the children that day and the cars will be used to convey the two hundred children to the pleasure ground where the merry-go-round, and numerous other attractions will be enjoyed.

Mrs. Irving Currier, of Leland and Berkman avenues, Netherwood, has the arrangements in charge for the day's outing. Those who desire to supply refreshments for the children for the day of their outing may communicate with Mrs. Currier and arrangements will be made to have the supplies left at the trolley station in Watchung avenue.

Injured Man Better.

William Lyon, of Bayonne, who was taken to the hospital, yesterday morning suffering from a fractured collar bone, was able to return to his home later in the day. According to his story he had been in Philadelphia and was on his way home, when he met with an accident. He fell from a railroad bridge near Bound Brook and was brought to Plainfield on a trolley car. Upon reaching this city he was taken to the hospital in the ambulance.

Next Band Concert.

Ben. LaVere's Concert Band will give its third of the series of band concerts in the City Park Thursday evening. After that the concerts to be given will depend upon the liberality of the public and the action of the Common Council upon a petition received from Mr. LaVere asking for a contribution.

Park Supplement.

The New Brunswick Home News of yesterday's issue contains an interesting description of Riverside Park. The article is well illustrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cain, of Grandview avenue, are happy over the arrival of a young son.

SPECIAL ELECTION OFFICERS

THE DEMOCRATS TAKE NO STAND ON PROPOSED AMENDMNTS.

Union County Minority Party's Members Arraigned Against Primary Law, However.

Officers for the special election to be held on September 22, when the various amendments to the State constitution will be voted on, have been selected by the County Democratic Committee. These officers will serve in Plainfield: First ward, first district—Andrew J. Nolan, Vincent L. Frazee; second district—W. T. Banks, Jacob Voehl, Jr. Second ward, first district—Charles Messersmith, James Harriagn; second district—Hezekiah Hand, J. B. Guttridge. Third ward, first district — Frank McInerney, Thomas McInerney; second district—William H. Harding, M. D. O'Keefe. Fourth ward, first district—Michael Fyinn, Charles Banks; second district—J. J. Kane, Clinton A. Shannon; third district—J. J. Carney, Ira G. Hurlburt.

At the meeting of the committee the new primary law was discussed at some length and the members expressed their disapproval of it, while regarding the amendments proposed, the members would not speak for or against them.

UNDUE INFLUENCE.

Children of the Late George V. Clickner Contest His Will.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 18—In the Orphans' Court here yesterday before Judge Schenck the appeal of the probate of the will of the late Geo. V. Clickener was taken up. Two of his children, Misses Jennie Clickner and Kittie Clickener, dispute the will on the grounds of undue influence of the beneficiaries, Charles W. Clickener, a brother, and Misses Ida and Ella Clickener, sisters. A. A. Clark represents the appellant and John F. Reger the beneficiaries. The case was postponed, after examining a few witnesses until July 21.

OLCOTT APPEAL DEAD.

Judge Schenck Dismisses Writ and Grants Fat Counsel Fees.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 81—Judge Schenck yesterday formally dismissed the appeal in the Joseph H. Olcott will case and signed the Surrogate's order affirming the probate of the document. James J. Bergen and William V. Steele, the lawyers, were each granted a counsel fee of $1,000. This is the largest a court has allowed in Somerset County in many years.

INSPECTING VOTING MACHINE.

Description of Device Examined by State Voting Commission.

Members of the State voting machine commission have inspected the device of the American Vote Register Company of New York.

This machine meets with the approval of the commissioners and the bid has been placed on file with three others now in. A small steel ball is used to vote and mechanism of this machine is easily understood. The price is $500. No curtain is used, but the machine is so arranged in the booth that no one may intrude or see what the voter is doing while he is casting his ballot. One of the election officers stands at one side, separated by a metal screen, and when the voter leaves the booth he registers the vote by manipulating a lever which lets the ball through to the back of the machine and is tallied by means of cyclometers.

WARNOCK'S DONATION.

The Caterer Gives Ice Cream to the Poor Children.

William Warnock has donated thirty quarts of ice cream to the Netherwood Fresh Air Home for tomorrow. Miss Currie, the matron at the Netherwood home has two hundred little tots from New York under her care at present. This is said to be more children than have been accommodated at the home so far this season.

Mr. McCutchen Here.

Charles W. McCutchen, who recently took his family to their summer home in the Adirondacks, has returned to Plainfield for a short stay. During the summer he will make frequent trips to "White Face Inn."

LITTLE JAMES BOY ESCAPES REFORMATORY

A Wealthy Brooklyn Woman Decides to Adopt Boy Who Killed the Watson Girl.

APPOINTED GUARDIAN

JUDGE SCHENCK SUSPENDED SENTENCE YESTERDAY IN COURT

Verdict of Accidental Shooting Was Returned—Guardian's Name Withheld—Read Story in Papers and Sympathy Was Aroused.

Willie James, the nine-year-old boy who shot his little playmate, Theresa Watson, last June, with a rifle while tramping through the woods has been released from the Somerville jail and has found a home with well-to-do people in Brooklyn. A "Lady Bountiful" came to the boy's rescue and has adopted him, thus saving him from a term in the Reform School.

Judge Schenck, who has been greatly perplexed over the disposition of the case, was recently approached by a woman of Brooklyn, whose name has not been made public, and who became interested in the boy through reading the stories told in the newspapers at the time of the shooting. She wanted to adopt the boy. On investigation, it learned that the woman could give the boy a comfortable home with the advantages of an education. Yesterday the boy was arraigned on the simple charge of assault and Judge Schenck suspended sentence. The boy was taken to Brooklyn.

The story of the adoption dates from the Coroner's inquest held in the Somerset Hotel. A young woman reporter from a New York daily attended the inquest. The frightened countenance of the little fellow, as he answered the questions put to him by the Coroner and other officials touched her heart and before she went away from the town she gave him a picture book and several little trinklets. She said that she would come back to see him. She wrote a story which appeared in the Sunday edition of the metropolitan sheet which touched the cord of sympathy in the heart of the wealthy woman in Brooklyn.

The reporter and the Brooklyn woman met. "Lady Bountiful" told of the pathetic case of the neglected child—how he repented for his deed and how he was about to be sent to the Reform School. The story had its effect and Willie now has a comfortable home and a new and brighter future shines before him.

Burglars at Lincoln.

The Lincoln Hotel at Lincoln was broken into last night and a slot machine rifled. The burglars attempted to break through the hotel door and failing, entered by breaking the window pane. The slot machine was taken into a neighboring field and broken open. This was the entire loss with the exception of a few pennies stolen from the cash register. The police have obtained no clue as yet.

Lodge Trophy.

The handsome loving cup won by the baseball team from Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, has been received and is now being exhibited in a local store. It is appropriately inscribed and is a valuable memento. The game was played early in the season with another Knights of Columbus team in the vicinity of New York.

Witnessing Race.

Governor Franklin Murphy and his staff are the guests of Henry J. West, president of the State Board of Taxation, at Seaside Park and will witness the race for the J. Willard Morgan cup, which will be sailed over the course, today, between Seaside Park and Island Heights, by boats of the first-class from four yacht clubs.

View of Montross.

Says the Westfield Standard:—"'Smiling Jimmie' Montross, the Prodigal Son, has returned to Westfield, and will again join the local pitching staff. 'Jimmie' is a good man to have on the team. He fills in anywhere and when it comes to pitching he holds his own with the best of 'em."

At Boynton Beach.

The Crescent Social Club, of Elizabeth, gave a stage party last evening from Elizabeth to Boynton Beach. One of the committee in charge was Charles McCann, of the local telephone exchange. At the beach dancing and a social time was enjoyed and the return trip was made early this morning.

PLAINFIELD IS THE PLACE

FOR PEOPLE TO LIVE TO ENJOY HEALTHFUL ADVANTAGES.

Death Rate of This City Compares Favorably With That of Other Jersey Cities.

This city has a remarkably low death rate for the past year as compared with other cities in New Jersey, as shown in the report recently sent out by the New Jersey State Bureau of Vital Statistics. The figures ocmpared with other cities in the immediate vicinity of the same size as Plainfield are interesting.

Plainfield in 1901 had but 257 deaths which is 107 less than New Brunswick and 51 less than Perth Amboy. The marriages in New Brunswick in the same year were 70 more than in this city and fifteen less than Perth Amboy. Plainfield had 134 marriage of which 115 were white and 19 colored. This is sixty-one less than New Brunswick and 103 less than the Staten Island Sound city. From these figures it appears that this city is behind New Brunswick in the number of deaths, marriages and births.

In 1901 the death rate in Plainfield was less than that of 1900. In the latter year it was 16.24 and in the former it was only 16.06. The lowest death rate in any city in the State is at Irvington where it is but 9.24. Rahway's death rate is 14.87 which except Irvington's is the only one lower than Plainfield's. New Brunswick is rated at 18.18, Perth Amboy at 16.53, South Amboy, 16.14; Elizabeth, 17.77 and Long Branch, the highest rated for the year, is 24.07.

In Elizabeth in one year there were fifteen deaths from typhoid, in Hoboken, seventeen, Jersey City had thirty-three, Newark lost 53 residents through the ravages of disease, Trenton, fourteen, and Paterson, topped the list with seventy-seven. Plainfield's healthfulness may probaby be ascribed in large measure to the purity of her water supply.

INTER-DENOMINATIONAL UNITY

THREE DISTINCT CHRISTIAN BODIES MAY AMALAGAMATE.

Purposes of a General Council Composed of Members of the Three Denominations.

A common statement, in two parts, one addressed to the highest delegated bodies of the respective denominations and the other to the individual churches, has been issued by the committee to which was intrusted the work of devising a plan for the closer affiliation of Congregationalists, United Brethren and Methodist Protestants. The statement to the delegate bodies makes the assertion that the committees encountered no doctrinal obstacles and recommends the addition to the corporate names now held, respectively, of the words "in affiliation with the general council of the united churches." The formation of the general council is recommended and the purchases of this council are described:

To show to the world real Christian unity.

To secure organic union and effective common work.

To prevent duplication and waste.

The address to the churches recites what has been suggested to the delegate bodies, and warns the congregations that the committees have in mind something far more definite than mere co-ordination. Weak churches are to be united, and common educational, evangelistic and missionary work undertaken. The churches are asked to hold common meetings, where two or more denominations have churches in the same State or States. Young people's societies are also urged to hold such common meetings, to enable members to become acquainted. There is suggested an interchange of literature, and the address concludes:

"It is surely not impossible that our denominations, standing together, consulting together, and seeking first, not Methodist Protestantism, not United Brethernism, not Congregationalism, but the kingdom of God and his righteousness, will be able to find ways by which they may adjust their differences of local administrations, and unite their forces all along the line."

Hearing in Contract Case.

A hearing will be given Monday, July 20, in Justice R. P. F. VanMinden's court in New Market in the contract case of Abbott against Doherty. The case of Harry Dreier against William B. Smith on contract in the same court will be called Wednesday, July 22.

SOME OBJECTIONS TO THE AMENDMENTS

Charles H. Hartshorne Takes Exception to the Proposed Change.

HIS VIEWS INSTRUCTIVE

HITS HARD AT SUGGESTED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

As to Separate Courts of Law and Equity — Wherein New Jersey is Backward—Expensive Judiciary.

Charles H. Hartshorne, one of New Jersey's really eminent lawyers, has taken up the fight against the adoption of the amendments to the Constitution. A special election has been called for September 22 and as the proposed changes affect the judiciary solely but slight attention has been given the subject generally. Mr. Hartshorne has furnished his views on the subject to several of the leading newspapers of the State. He says in part:

"We have outgrown the mediaeval system of courts and procedure existing in this State; it works needless injustice to suitors and the amendments, far from reforming the system, will continue its vices at increased expense.

"The following statements are founded on the writer's personal investigation, and are known to him to be true; he is ready to furnish authority for each of them.

"1. Our judicial system is fundamenally the same as it was in colonial times, although the conditions to which it applies are wholly changed.

"2. It embraces more kinds of courts than exist in any other State in the Union. We have nine kinds (above our municipal courts) namely, courts of quarter sessions, courts of oyer and terminer, courts of common pleas, orphans' courts, circuit courts, the supreme courts, the prerogative court, the court of chancery, the court of errors and appeals. Massachusetts, a much more populous and wealthy State, has only four kinds, namely, courts of probate, courts of insolvency, the superior court, the supreme court.

"3. Our system of procedure sometimes compels the courts to dismiss cases after months or years of litigation, because of two courts of equal rank manned by judges of equal competence, both having general jurisdiction in civil cases, a suitor has, by mistake, chosen this court instead of that. Sometimes the courts themselves disagree as to the court in which the suit should be brought.

"4. It sometimes compels a defendant in one court to apply to another court of no higher rank to prevent the first from depriving the first court, though knowing that its judgment will do a legal injustice, is powerless to withhold it.

"5. It often requires litigants having a single controversy to prosecute two or more law suits to settle it, although it could conveniently be settled in one, if the rules of procedure would permit.

"6. It sometimes cuts off absolutely the important right of reviewing a judgment on appeal, because of accidental slips in trivial points of appellate procedure.

"7. It often compels the courts to interpose in law suits long, vexatious, and needless delays because of slips on points of procedure that are utterly useless in the due administration of justice.

"Our outgrown system begins to pinch the lawyers by threatening to accumulate arrears of their cases in the overworked supreme court and court of appeals. It is obvious that a lawyer suffers more by delay in geting his case heard than by a prompt reversal of the judgment upon a point of procedure. For the former event arrests the litigation, while the latter usually protracts it with costs to lawyers on both sides by requiring the parties to retrace their steps or to begin afresh.

"The eminent lawyers who urge these amendments are not moved therein by ignoble motives of costs and protracted litigation. To avert the threatened arrears in those two courts, the lawyers prepared the present amendments, and a complaisant legislature, without discussion, offered them to the people. They proposed a patch upon our antiquated system, namely, a new court of appeals above our supreme court. The United States has no such above its supreme court. Neither has any State in the Union,

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Horace Coddington was awarded judgment this morning by Justice Mosher in his case against David Bell for possession of premises.

—P. H. LaTourette, auctioneer, will sell all the household goods of the late Isaac F. Randolph on Thursday next at 514 Madison avenue.

—The further use of the steam roller on West Front street below Washington avenue, would greatly imporove that thoroughfare. One side of the street is filled with small stones and these should be rolled down.

—People living in Plainfield cannot "take a trip up the Hudson or down the bay" on a "Sunday afternoon" in "The Good Old Summer Time" but they can sit "Under the Bamboo Tree" on "The benches in the Park" "At Any Old time" at Riverside Park near Bound Brook. Take Dunellen cars from this city.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. MRS. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

KOREA WANTS WIJU OPEN.

Japan Afraid That Russia Will Get a Foothold on Yalu.

WASHINGTON, July 18. — The roundabout method adopted by the Korean government to secure the opening of Wiju to foreign trade probably is necessary because of the existence of some treaty stipulations between China and Korea signed since the Chino-Japan war which require the consent of China before such a step is taken.

For many years most of the traffic between Korea and China has been by way of Wiju. The latter place is a big Korean mart on the Yalu river nearly opposite Tatungkao, on the right bank of the Yalu, and the locality to be opened to international trade in Manchuria as a result of the strong representations which have been made to Russia by the United States for the open door in China.

Recent dispatches have shown that Russia has made claims to extensive timber concessions in Korea on the banks of the Yalu and that both Korea and Japan are apprehensive that through the medium of these claims Russia will obtain a strong foothold in Korea. Japan is believed to be at the bottom of this latest Korean move, with the Hermit Kingdom an anxious and willing ally.

Minister Conger Recalled to Peking.

PEKING, July 18. — United States Minister Conger has been recalled from Newchwang, whither he went to investigate the situation there, on account of urgent business connected with the American commercial treaty with China. The announcement that Russia has assured the United States that Mukden and Tartungkao will be made open ports is accepted here as meaningless unless the United States has secured Russia's positive command to Prince Ching to sign the American commercial treaty, after which China would have no power over these ports. While the opening of the two ports eliminates the United States from any active quarrel—though America is clearly the guardian of China's integrity—it contributes nothing to the solution of Japan's difficulties and promises no solution regarding Russia's encroachment in Korea or her evacuation of Manchuria. On the contrary, the Japanese regard Russia's promise to America with apprehension.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

State Department Makes Public Facts Regarding Jewish Petition.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—It is announced by the secretary of state that the incident created by the question of the presentation of the Jewish petition to Russia is closed. The state department made public the correspondence that has taken place respecting the petition.

The official statement of the facts is as follows:

The Russian government has declined to receive or to consider the petition in relation to the condition of the Jews in Russia signed by several thousand citizens and cabled to St. Petersburg by direction of the president.

At the conferenee on Tuesday, the 14th of July, at Oyster Bay the president conferred with Messrs. Leo N. Levi, Simon Wolf and Oscar S. Straus in regard to the presentation of the petition and decided to send the following dispatch to Mr. Biddle, the American charge d'affaires in St. Petersburg:

"You are instructed to ask an audience of the minister of foreign affairs and to make to him the following communication:

"Excellency—The secretary of state instructs me to inform you that the president has received from a large number of citizens of the United States of all religious affiliations and occupying the highest positions in both public and private life a respectful petition addressed to his majesty the emperor relating to the condition of the Jews in Russia."

This was sent on the 15th of July, and on the same day Mr. Riddle was informed by the Russian minister for foreign affairs that in view of the publications which had appeared in the newspapers the Russian government wished to notify him that the proposed petition would not be received under any circumstances, and that this resolution of the Russian government was taken independent of any consideration of the substance or the terms of the petition.

Will Conduct a Free Shop.

HAVERHILL, Mass., July 18.—Herman E. Lewis, a manufacturer of women's shoes, gave up the stamp of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union because of the controversy between the Boot and Shoe Workers' union and the Shoe Workers' Protective union, which caused a strike. Mr. Lewis says that he has been unable to secure skilled help and decided to give up the stamp and will conduct a free shop in the future.

Sentenced For Firing Forests.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 18.—Sam Pasco of Thurman was sentenced to Dannemora prison for a term not exceeding four years and Harry Wood, aged nineteen, who was indicted with him, to the Elmira reformatory. Both were convicted of setting fires to the Adirondack forests in May.

BEAVERS TO BE HELD

Culmination of Investigation Since His Resignation.

MANY OF HIS PROMOTIONS CANCELED

Present Whereabout Is Unknown, but Authorities Are Now Searching For Him to Place Him Under Arrest.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—A bench warrant for the arrest of George W. Beavers, the former chief of the division of salaries and allowances of the post office department, has been issued and is the culmination of an investigation that has been in progress at intervals since his sudden resignation from office last spring.

A number of matters affecting his administration have been probed into, one of the first results of which was the cancellation of 3,046 promotions that had been passed by him to take effect at post offices throughout the country during the present fiscal year.

Subsequently other matters were taken up by the investigating officials. The case on which the present action of the grand jury is based, it is said, is a more recent development. The inspectors have worked continuously on the investigation, and it is said that it was only within the past two or three days that the evidence finally was secured that furnished a basis for action by the federal grand jury.

The authorities are now searching for Mr. Beavers to place him under arrest. His present whereabouts are unknown. The postal officials were chagrined to learn of the publicity of the action of the grand jury in advance of the serving of the warrant. They regarded the news as premature and declined to discuss the matter, on the ground that the time was not yet ripe to make a statement.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow conferred with several of his assistants immediately after he learned that the action of the grand jury had become known. Subsequently he refused to answer all questions on the subject.

Car Men Held For Death of Victims.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., July 18.—Coroner Haynes' decision on the Burt trolley accident inquest was made public. He holds Motorman Grove Bullock and Conductor C. Clancey of Buffalo of car No. 700, south bound from Olcott, responsible for the death of Richard Farrell, who was fatally injured in the wreck at Burt. They are charged with manslaughter in the second degree for causing this death through their culpable negligence in disregarding orders or rules of the company or both. They have been arrested. The question of Operator Wadsworth's guilt or innocence is left to the grand jury.

Opening of Manchurian Ports.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The Japanese minister, Mr. Kogoro Takahira, received a cablegram from Tokyo announcing that the Russian minister to Japan had on the day previous called at the Tokyo foreign office and officially assured the authorities that the Russian government would see to it that two ports would be opened in Manchuria to the world's commerce. The minister went at once to the state department and informed Secretary Hay of this fact. He there learned that similar assurances had reached this government.

Italian Villa In the Forest.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 18.—E. H. Harriman will erect in the wilderness at Arden, in this county, an Italian villa to be one of the finest residences in the state. The work of construction is to begin as soon as Mr Harriman returns from Europe.

Two Young Men Killed by Express.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 18.—William A. Rebling, aged twenty-two, and John H. Peel, aged twenty-one, both of Harrisburg, were instantly killed on the Pennsylvania railroad here by being struck by the Pacific express. Both bodies were badly mangled.

LEO HOLDS HIS OWN

He Shows Less Aversion to Nourishment Offered Him.

HIS GENERAL CONDITION IS BETTER

The Pope Understands the Gravity of His Illness and Says He Is Ready to Die, but Does Not Know His Imminent Danger.

ROME, July 18.—The pope is now reported to be in a somewhat quieter sleep than he had last night, although his breathing is perhaps not so easy. He showed less aversion to the nourishment offered him and took half a cup of consomme, a piece of toast and a few sips of old wine.

Dr. Mazzoni said after his visit that nothing in his condition had changed.

While Leo did not want any one constantly in the room he rang frequently for trivial causes, thus showing beyond doubt his desire for companionship. He took very frequently sips of meat broth, alternated with half spoonfuls of chicken gelatin.

When asleep the pontiff appeared to be dead. His cheeks were sunken, his eyes hollow and his jaws exceptionally prominent, the skin being tightly drawn over the bones. When awake the pope usually appeared to retain life only in his brilliant black eyes.

The pontiff fully recovered the lucidity of his mind and gave fresh proof of his wonderful memory, saying:

"This is the fete of St. Leo. I have never failed to assist at mass since, when almost a boy, I came to Rome to participate in the jubilee of Leo XII. I wish to hear mass today."

The pontiff's desire was immediately gratified by Mgr. Marzolini, who celebrated mass in the chapel adjoining the sick room.

Leo understands the gravity of his condition and says he is ready to die, but he does not realize the imminence of his danger, as was again demonstrated when his confessor, Mgr. Pifferi, asked to see him. The pontiff, on being informed of the monsignore's request, replied somewhat petulantly:

"Not now. Tell him I shall not die without calling for him."

The doctors attending Poe Leo, although not entertaining the least hope of their patient's recovery, considered his general condition somewhat better, whereas they expected him to be much worse.

The Cuban Loan of $35,000,000.

HAVANA, July 18.—The senate has passed the appropriation recommended by President Palma for a commission to go to the United States and possibly to Europe to negotiate the $35,000,000 loan, with an amendment providing that others besides congressmen shall be eligible as members of the commission. It is expected that the permanent and postal treaties with the United States will be ratified before the adjournment of congress. President Palma has signed the bill providing for a Cuban exhibit at the St. Louis exposition. The newspapers comment with satisfaction on the ratification of the naval stations and Isle of Pines treaties as tending to strengthen the friendly relations between the United States and Cuba.

Pulp Wood Destroyed by Fire.

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 18.—The 200 outside laborers of the International Paper company's mill at Corinth, Saratoga county, threatened a strike here, but the union extended its ultimatum until its committee could confer with the company's officials at the main office in New York city. The company's Corinth plant, valued at $300,000, has had a narrow escape from destruction by fire. Five hundred cords of pulp wood were consumed before the fire was subdued.

Pulp Mills Kill the Fish.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 18.—The water in Lake Champlain is soon to be examined at different places and at different depths by the state board of health to ascertain the effect of the discharge into the lake of polluted water from streams on whose banks are located pulp mills. That the discharge of the waste chemicals into the water causes the death of large numbers of fish has been noted for several years.

Fort Arthur Considered Impregnable

ST. PETERSBURG, July 18.—A telgram received from Port Arthur says that upon the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the cathedral there General Kuropatkin, the Russian war minister, made a speech in which he expressed the conviction that "Port Arthur is now becoming a fortress inaccessible to all enemies, no matter how great their number or whence they come."

Czar to Nominate Arbitrators.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The czar having signified his willingness to nominate the arbitrators who are to meet at The Hague to settle the Venezuela indemnity issue, provided all parties concur in the request, the state department has communicated with the London, Berlin and Rome foreign offices on the subject, suggesting that they join in the application.

New York Yacht Blocks Trains.

SYDNEY, N. S., July 18.—The steam yacht Haida, from New York via Halifax, N. S., blocked the draw for several hours at Grand Narrows railroad bridge, and before she was released all the traffic on the railroad had been brought to a standstill. A locomotive was used to extricate the yacht.

Secretary Hay at Summer Home.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Secretary of State Hay is now at his summer home on Lake Sunapee, New Hampshire, where he will remain until autumn.

RELIANCE BEATEN.

Constitution Makes a Close Finish and Wins on Time Allowance.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 18.—The latest aspirant for cup defending honors, the Reliance, was defeated by the Constitution in the initial run of the New York Yacht club cruise from Glen Cove to this port. The new boat led almost from the start and was in her usual position at the finish, but the Belmont boat after being at one time more than a mile astern came up with a rush at the close and was only fifty-nine seconds behind her rival at the line. As the Reliance allows the Constitution 2 minutes and 17 seconds in thirty-seven miles, the length of the run, the latter won by 1 minute and 18 seconds. The time allowance, while unofficial, is believed to be within two or three seconds of the correct time.

It was then seen that the Constitution was within her time allowance, and while the Reliance managed to cross in the lead the Belmont boat was one second less than a minute astern, both boats flying across the line under a great press of sail. The Columbia in the meantime had been dropped quite rapidly and was more than a mile astern when the other boats were finishing.

The day, with its light, shifting breezes, was long and at times tedious, but the close finish between the two nineties made the end interesting as well as exciting.

SHAMROCK III. WINS AGAIN.

Bevis' Great Sailing of Old Boat the Feature of the Race.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 18.—That Sir Thomas Lipton's gallant cup hunter was in her sweetest humor and finest racing trim she manifested by showing her clean heels to Shamrock I. from start to finish over a thirty mile course and winning by 11 minutes and 44 seconds elapsed time, a decisive victory.

Besides outsailing the old boat Captain Wringe and his cup candidate had to deal also with the shrewd sailing master of Shamrock I., Captain Bevis, and that keen hunter for a favorable slant of wind was a factor to be reckoned with. Twice in the shifty wind the keen captain of the former candidate got the better of it in a shift of wind after the challenger had established a big lead. Only the challenger's superior heels enabled her to regain her advantage.

The upshot of it was the Shamrock III. beat Shamrock I. by 7 minutes and 38 seconds going to windward and 4 minutes and 6 seconds running home. If Captain Bevis had not sailed the old boat like a wizard it would have been minutes better.

King Charles Dropped Dead.

DETROIT, Mich., July 18.—The closing events of the Windsor Driving club races were marred by King Charles, owned by D. W. Maloney of White Plains, N. Y., dropping dead on the track at the conclusion of the final heat in the 2:09 pace. The animal was making a hard fight for a position when he staggered and fell just as he reached the judges' stand. Overexertion, resulting in the rupture of a blood vessel, was the cause of the animal's death. The horse was a well known performer on the grand circuit. From a racing standpoint the feature of the day was the remarkable ease with which Monte Carlo won the 2:10 trot.

Washington Park Races.

CHICAGO, July 18.—At Washington park the rain which early began to fall made scratches numerous. Sidney C. Love, owned by Yeager, won from Schwalbe and Hoodwink. Love ran in the colors of his former owner, H. M. Tichener. Schwalbe set the pace until well into the stretch, when Love came with a rush and won going away. The procession began in the second race at one mile, when Orsina at 6 to 5 won pulled to a walk. Sweetie, at even money, took the third, and Fulare, at 6 to 5, won the fourth. Hermencia, at 8 to 5, was the last favorite to score.

Hunt Beats Leonard at Tennis.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 18.—The finals of the New York state tennis tournament held here at the Sedgwick Farm tennis courts brought out the best playing of the week. R. G. Hunt of California finally winning out over E. W. Leonard of Boston in four of the hottest sets of tennis ever seen in Syracuse. By virtue of his victory Hunt will meet F. B. Alexander for the championship of the state. Alexander won it last year and will defend the title against the Californian.

Rain or Shine and Leipsic Won.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Rain or Shine and Leipsic were the only winning favorites at Brighton Beach, the other events going to well played horses. Himself easily captured the handicap at one mile and a furlong from the heavily played Tugal Bey. The favorite, Articulate, was a bad last. Dinah Shad, 12 to 1; Mamie Worth, 7 to 2, and The Rhymer, 5 to 1, were the other winners. The weather was cool and the track fast.

Harding Beat Wire-In.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 18. — The track at Fort Erie has greatly improved, and the racing was sharp. The feature event was the mile and one-sixteenth Owners' handicap, in which Wire-In was the favorite. Harding proved the best horse and won by two lengths from Sir Gallant, with the favorite half a length back.

America's Swan Wins Again.

COPENHAGEN, July 18.—At the regatta held under the auspices of the Danish Royal Yacht club a long distance race from Copenhagen to Helsingborg, Sweden, was won by Robert W. Goelet's yacht Swan.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Returns Quite Satisfactory.

NEW YORK, July 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

At the lowest point on Wednesday the average of the sixty most active railway stocks was $89.18, surpassing all low records since the memorable collapse on May 9, 1901, when the average touched $86.23. In neither case was liquidation in Wall street due to depression in legitimate business, being confined to the stock market and financial influences. Conditions continue satisfactory outside the region of speculation, many reports indicating further improvement. During recent months the two disturbing factors have been labor controversies and weather conditions, but each week has brought better things in these two respects until the outlook contains much that is encouraging. Crops are making rapid progress, and the army of unemployed is diminishing.

Railway traffic is heavy, earnings thus far reported for July exceeding last year's by 13.6 per cent and those of 1901 by 19.2 per cent. Extensive preparations are being made to move the crops, and it is hoped that no blockades will occur, although there is some doubt as to whether adequate motive power can be secured. Retail trade in seasonable merchandise is fully up to the average, and there is less than the customary midsummer quiet among wholesalers, while the preparations of jobbers and manufacturers indicate confidence in a large fall business.

Bank exchanges at New York for the week were 9.6 per cent smaller than a year ago and 19.2 per cent less than in 1901, while at other leading cities there was a loss of .3 from last year and a gain of 3.4 over 1901.

It was natural that a satisfactory official report as to grain condition should produce a lower level of quotations, the more so because prices were abnormally inflated, and the weather was even more favorable after July 1, the latest date covered by the department estimate. Trade and other private estimates promise a total yield of the three leading cereals fully equal to any preceding record. Exports of wheat and flour for the crop year were about 201,000,000 bushels, somewhat less than the average for recent years.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for July aggregated $5,644,685, of which $3,553,057 were in manufacturing, $1,608,636 in trading and $482,992 in other commercial lines. Failures this week were 213 in the United States against 213 last year and 16 in Canada compared with 20 a year ago.

TOBACCO KILLED HIM.

Consumed One Hundred Thousand Cigars In Twenty Years.

CHICAGO, July 18.—A dispatch to the Inter Ocean from Kalamazoo, Mich., says:

William G. Pattison of this city is dead in his eighty-ninth year as the result of the excessive use of tobacco. His tobacconist, from whom he bought exclusively, gave out the statement, after his death had been made public, that in twelve years Mr. Pattison smoked more than 48,000 cigars, which cost him $4,800.

In his early life he was an even more constant smoker than in his declining years, and local cigar men estimate that in the last twenty years he had smoked 100,000 of his favorite brand, which cost him $10,000.

Mr. Pattison was a pioneer stagecoach man of the middle west.

Ninety Recruits For Navy.

CINCINNATI, O., July 18.—Lieutenant L. H. Eversart has recruited ninety men here this week, who will be taken on a special Chesapeake and Ohio train to the Norfolk navy yard. Some of the men are skilled mechanics for service in the navy.

AT CIUDAD BOLIVAR

Armistice Between Gomez and Rebels Terminated.

LIEUTENANT CULVER TAKES ACTION

Foreign Women and Children, Many of Them Germans, Take Refuge on Board American Steamers. Provisions Already Scarce.

SOLEDAD, Venezuela, July 18.—An armistice that had been arranged between General Gomez and the revolutionary forces at Ciudad Bolivar commanded by General Rolando has been terminated.

Lieutenant Commander A. E. Culver, commanding the United States gunboat Bancroft, which, with the French cruiser Jouffroy, has just arrived off this port, has visited Ciudad Bolivar.

Notwithstanding that the armistice has terminated, no engagement between the government forces and the rebels has taken place. General Gomez has completed the investment of Ciudad Bolivar, and none can now leave the city.

Lieutenant Commander Culver after a long conference with the commanding officer of the Venezuelan squadron decided to take under his protection all the river steamers belonging to the American Orinoco Steamship company, which were recently seized by the revolutionists at Ciudad Bolivar. He also requested the women and children of the American and other foreign colonies at Ciudad Bolivar to take refuge on the steamers in order to escape the dangers of the siege, the shelling of the town and a possible battle.

In accordance with Lieutenant Commander Culver's invitation many women and children, a number of whom were of German nationality, embarked early on the American steamers which, flying the American flag and escorted by the Bancroft, left in the direction of San Felix, probably on the way to the island of Trinidad.

Meat, milk and other provisions are already scarce in the besieged town. The British consul paid $150 for a cow. The swift current running in the Orinoco river, as the result of heavy rains, prevents direct communication between Soledad and Ciudad Bolivar. The revolutionists have also destroyed the means of transport between the two towns.

THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

Mayor Harrison Urges the People to Keep the Streets Clear.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The riotous conduct of the strikers of the Kellogg Switchboard company and their sympathizers during the last four days impelled Mayor Harrison to issue a proclamation urging all people to remain away from the scene of the trouble and calling upon the rioters to cease from their work.

The proclamation insists that all people must keep off the streets near to and refrain from gathering in crowds around the Kellogg plant and declares that all persons who do this or in any other way interfere with the work of the police by the forming of blockades will be promptly arrested and punished.

Heavy rain prevented possible trouble by dispersing the mobs, and the work of handling freight from the plant of the Kellogg company was not interfered with as much as on former days.

Dam Contractors Get Rifles.

CLINTON, Mass., July 18.—Although there was no disturbance of any sort at the Wachusetts dam, where a strike is in progress, the contractors considered it good policy to engage ten extra special officers, and forty-six policemen were on duty. The contractors also received a consignment of rifles, which, with those they had in their possession before, is a sufficient number to arm most of the special police. Of the forty-six men twenty-one are former employees of the contractors. They will not use the guns unless the strikers offer violence.

Famous American Artist Dead.

LONDON, July 18.—James Abbott McNeill Whistler, the celebrated American artist, is dead at his residence, 74 Cheyne walk, Chelsea, at the age of sixty-nine years. His death came unexpectedly, although for some time he had been seriously ill. Obituary notices recognize the distinguished and unique personality of Whistler, whose genius greatly dominated European art of the present generation. While admitting that it is a question for posterity to decide his exact position as a painter, it is generally conceded that he was one of the eminent artists of the age.

Second Attempt Was Fatal.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 18.—Having failed in an attempt at suicide three weeks ago, Alfred Morton, a well known master painter, made a second trial and was successful. On the previous occasion doctors saved the man's life only after several hours' hard work. Illuminating gas was used. Mr. Morton was sixty years old. He had been despondent over financial matters.

Depositors Will Be Paid In Full.

NEWBURG, N. Y., July 18.—The directors of the Cornwall State bank, which was wrecked by defalcation of Cashier Joseph W. Cummins, have announced that they have agreed on a plan whereby depositors will be paid in full. The deposits amount to about $45,000.

Benjamin Franklin Dropped Dead.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., July 18.—Benjamin Franklin, aged forty-six, business manager of the Ilion State league baseball team, dropped dead of apoplexy just as the game was about to begin here. He was formerly postmaster and was prominent as a politician.

A company has been incorporated at Trenton to turn out 700,000,000 stogies a year. We hope they will be used for export trade.

Business managers of newspapers still have a chance to restore confidence by giving truthful circulation statements."—Printers Ink.

It is reproted that the menues of a dinner given in Asbury Park the other day were printed on $20 gold certificates. The story is as yellow as the certificates.

Some four hundred delegates to the Epworth League convention at Detroit slept on pew cushions so crowded were the hotels. Probably they were accustomed to it.

The Avon Land Company offers to sell the beach front to the borough at that place for $72,000. The banks of Green brook dividing our city and borough could be obtained at a much less figure.

Says the Dunellen Call: "As one of our reporters was perambulating along Greenbrook." We can find the word "perambulating" in the dictionary, but please tell us where to find the Call's reporters.

There has been one noticable fact connected with the Pope's illness. It has been the means of spreading knowledge concerning the Roman Catholic Church and the administration of its affairs.

"Whoever, north or south, black or white, stirs up strife needlessly by word or deed, is an enemy to both races and to his country." That is the latest utterance of the wisest of his race, Booker T. Washington. It classifies as enemies many people who like to pose as red hot patriots

"The low cut shoe will not be popular at the New Jersey seaside resorts after this year. It is found that they give the pertinacious mosquito too tempting a chance at the ankles, and they also get full of sand when the wearers walk on the beach."

All this from the New York Herald. Well, it doesn't know the Jersey girl.

The latest method of dealing with the liquor evil comes from New Hampshire. A drinkers' directory is the novelty, supplied to each saloon keeper, and containing the names of chronic drunkards, and those who have been arrested for drunkenness, to whom no sales must be made. It ought to be a good method of ridding the State of large numbers of undesirable citizens, who would be forced to look elsewhere for their spirituous refreshment.

A Comparison.

The scene at Luna Park on a Saturday night belittles the Pan-American's electrical exhibition, for, in comparison to the space at Buffalo, Luna Park has seven times as much electrical illumination of the promised 200,000 electrical lights, 122,000 are burning. The 200 foot high Electric Tower is seen from New York City and was sufficiently brilliant to thoroughly light the whole of Coney Island. It was as great a revelation as the building of Luna Park had been, and those who were fortunate enough to see it marvelled that it had not been thought of before.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

Many Folk of Greater Plainfield Are Entertaining or Being Entertained.

Mrs. Jerry Burns, of this city, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Casey, of Raritan.

Miss Lena Tallamini, of this city, has returned from a visit with Raritan friends.

John Mantz, of the Hotel Knnsington, who has been quite ill, is now convalescing.

Miss Eleanor Perkins, of Sandford avenue, is spending the summer at Delaware Water Gap.

Miss Mabel Gano, of this city, is spending three weeks with Mrs. Hockenbury, of Annandale.

Emaline Townsend Buck, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is the guest of J. E. Townsend, of Netherwood.

Miss Mayme Carty, of Plainfield, has been spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Dilts, of Raritan.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Brook avenue, will soon go to Maine, where they will spend their vacation.

Miss Marion Rocap, of West End Park, is spending her summer vacation at the Clifton House, Patchogue, L. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Crotsley, of this city, have returned from a visit with friends at Junction, Hunterdon county.

Mr. and Mrs George White, of Willow avenue, are planning to spend a portion of their summer vacation at Casco Bay, Me.

Miss Lillian Remsen, of Long Island, has returned home after a visit with Miss Beatrice Miner, of East Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Moon, of Grandview avenue, have returned from visiting Mrs. Moon's cousin, Dr. Alfred Almeeran Lewis, of Morristown.

Miss Perrine, formerly of Plainfield, but now a trained nurse connected with the Elizabeth General Hospital, is in this city for awhile doing private nursing.

H. G. Kerr, formerly of this city, who is now head of the "floating squad" of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, was married in Canada, Saturday, June 27, to a Miss Caselton. Mr. Kerr is well known here.

AMUSEMENTS.

Around in the different parts of the grounds at Luna Park, Coney Island, are the scenic rivers and babbling brooks, Japanese gardens, Old Germany, Little Ireland, the Grand Casino, the largest ball room on earth, Alhambra and Convention Hall, the Infant Incubators, the Hipprodrome with Wormwood's Monkey Theatre, the mile a minute shoot the chutes, a new sensational ride, sea on land, and a Chinese Theatre with a new Ching Lung Foo.

Pain's Manhattan Beach spectacle has broken all records for attendance as far as the season has progressed. The Fourth of July crowd numbered 12,780 people, and so crammed the amphitheatre that the police interfered before the performance began. Perhaps 8,000 people were turned away. The unheard of jam is attributed to the popularity of "Last Days of Pompeii" which is undoubtedly the most elaborate thing Pain has ever produced.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Martin Lance, who for a long time past has been the conductor on the Arlington avenue trolley car, has been transferred to the Netherwood and Dunellen line.

—Nature's summer food is fruit. The more that is eaten is the better. Care should be exercised, however, in its selection to be sure it is ripe enough or not too ripe. Neuman Brothers have the right kind at the right prices.

—A speed of over ninety-five miles an hour was reached on the New Jersey and seashore division of the Pennsylvania Railroad last week with a lone engine. It was expected that a speed of 100 miles an hour would be attained, but this failed, and as the most favorable conditions existed, those in charge think it is impossible to attain that speed under the same conditions.

except New Jersey and New York.

"Our present court of appeals consists of the justices of the supreme court, the chancellor, and six 'special' judges who till recently were laymen. The new court will consists of five judges, not members of any other court. The present court costs twelve to fifteen thousand a year. The new court will cost fifty to seventy thousand, according to the salaries to be paid.

"A great movement for judicial reform, within a lifetime, revolutionized the administration of justice in most English-speaking communities. But the lawyers of the State, as a body, are curiously ignorant and wholly indifferent concerning it. They want a new court, but they want no reforms in administering justice.

"We want, not more courts but fewer, and a more simple and certain procedure. Let no one suppose that the amendments are a 'step forward.' They are a step backward. They will postpone and make more difficult the reforms which must come at last. Constitutional changes in the judiciary are not to be made lightly, like amendments to a town charter. Let us make no piece-meal change now in hope of another patch a few years hence."

GERMS OF DISEASES.

They Are Now Being Harnessed by Medical Investigators.

How Bacilli Are Isolated, Tested and Propagated — Important Part Played by Horses and Guinea Pigs.

[Special New York Letter.]

THIS is essentially the age of antitoxins, extreme cases of the "hair of the dog" curing the bite. New discoveries are constantly being made, both of the specific germs causing certain diseases and methods of utilizing them for their own destruction. It is well known that if a person were shut up in a room for an extended length of time where no fresh air was allowed to enter death would ensue because the air in the room, breathed over and over, would become charged with poisons given out by the body, and there would soon be no fresh air to feed upon. In the case of a disease germ much the same condition prevails. It must have fresh material to feed upon, as the juices it throws off are a certain poison to itself. Hence, if to the blood of a person containing germs of a disease, a sufficient quantity of the effete material furnished by the germ itself be added, the small pest dies because it has no fresh food, free from its own specific poison, upon which to feed. In the case of many of our most common and virulent diseases the bacillus has been isolated and for their treatment an antitoxin has been secured.

Nearly everyone is aware that the antitoxins in general use are obtained from horses, and the methods of securing them are being constantly improved upon. Of course the first thing to be considered is the isolation of the offending microbe from the thousands of different variety which surround it. This presupposes the fact that the wicked one is so well known as to be recognizable; that his portrait hangs in the germ rogues' gallery.

After the bacteria are removed from a sufferer, they are more carefully cultivated than most plants, the usual medium being bouillon prepared from filtered, sterilized water and fresh beef. After standing for a few hours, the bouillon is strained, refiltered and resterilized. For several days, a process of reboiling, sterilizing and filtering goes on in white dust-proof closets, by men dressed in most immaculate white. It is kept in sterilized jars, stopped with sterilized cotton. When this bouillon has become absolutely free from all germs, it is inoculated by having the bacilli dropped in from the point of a needle of glass and platinum. The germs multiply as rapidly as in a human body, for the bouillon is kept in a warm incubator for about 72 hours, when it may be seen to be covered with a ghastly-looking, greenish crust, a toxin which is a hideous mass of the disease to be treated, consumption, diphtheria or whatever has been cultivated. It is then injected into guinea pigs which die and are opened and examined. If it is found that the toxin was pure, it is injected into an antitoxin horse. Before one of these horses is utilized for this purpose, he is tested to ascertain if he be free from all disease, by receiving an injection of mallein, a fluid which will arouse into activity any disease which may happen to lurk in his system. If he be healthy, the mallein will not affect him. Being proven healthy, the first injection of toxin, about one-half a thimbleful, or one cubic centimeter, is introduced into his blood from a syringe of glass and silver by a thoroughly sterilized, disinfected, white-clad, clean-shaven physician, in a white enameled stable. For three days, the horse is very ill, eating nothing. His bones are sore. He swells, then slowly recovers. In ten days, he is quite well again, when another injection is given, this time of three cubic centimeters. He becomes ill, but less so than in the first instance. Ten days later, 20 cubic centimeters are administered. The effect of this is hardly perceptible. By the end of two months, more than one pint or 500 cubic centimeters are given without producing any ill-effects. This dose would kill a large number of ordinary horses, but our friend has become immune, that is, his system is able to resist any number of live germs introduced, because it contains so much of their own poison, that they have nothing to feed upon and die from an overdose of themselves.

Now that this antitoxin quality has developed in the animal, each month eight quarts of blood are drawn from him, while every ten days he still receives an injection of 500 centimeters of toxin. Thus his antitoxic power is kept up. He suffers no inconvenience. His health is good, he exercises moderately and eats his sterilized grain with relish. If he goes to pasture for a month or two, his antitoxic power is impaired and he has to begin all over again with his first dose of one cubic centimeter of toxin which renders him ill as at first. After being drawn from the horse, the blood is sealed up and stands for several days, when the serum, or thin portion, is extracted by means of a force pump. This serum is used on guinea pigs and its strength thus ascertained. It is now filtered and purified, sealed in small vials and passes into the hand of physicians in general practice, who introduce it into the circulation of such patients as are suffering from the special disease from whose germ it was prepared. Their systems are thus reenforced by a poison to the germs whose demise rids them of the disease which was preying upon their tissues.

While some antitoxins have been obtained with comparative ease, experiments with typhoid germs have proven very unsatisfactory. In 1884 Koch discovered the bacilli of typhoid. They are rod-like and thick with the ends rounded, and sometimes joined in filaments. They possess little hair-like projections called flagella and move very rapidly. They are found in water, milk and meats and gain entrance into the system by various methods. Many experiments have been made to secure an antitoxin from bouillon, but to no great purpose. It has been nearly impossible to obtain the "juice between the cells" of typhoid bacteria without destroying the chemical action of germs themselves. No really satisfactory results had been obtained until, recently, Dr. Allan McFayden, of the Jeaner institute of preventive medicine, one of the leading bacteriologists of Europe, after much research, has discovered a method of manufacturing antitoxin for typhoid which, it is generally believed, will soon be universally adopted. The microscopical cells of the typhoid bacilli are so small and pliable or elastic that no mechanical agent could destroy them. Freezing does not injure them.

It occurred to Dr. McFayden to freeze the cells by means of liquid air until very brittle, then to crush thousands of them together in a mortar. This first and most difficult step has proved a great success. The mass now dead, so far as its power of communicating disease is concerned, is allowed to become warm again, and is still chemically alive as to its qualities from which antitoxin may be prepared. Repeated injections into animals have produced a serum, which, it is believed, will prove efficacious. It is too soon after its discovery for a large number of experiments to have demonstrated its successful use, but results so far obtained are very promising. At present about all one can do for a typhoid patient is the administration of baths, nourishment and stimulants. If the new process be proven to produce antitoxin, the disease will soon lose its terrors.

Upon the death of his grandson from cholera infantum Rockefeller donated $200,000 to be used toward finding a cure for that disease. Two students discovered and isolated a germ, and Dr. Simon Flexner manufactured therefrom an antitoxin which counteracts it. It will come into use as soon as the exact amount for a dose shall be determined. His success has been the means of elevating Dr. Flexner to the position of director in the $15,000,000 Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. Prof. Behring, of Vienna, is also conspicuously gaining the attention of the medical fraternity, first because of his discovery of the diphtheria antitoxin, which is yearly saving the lives of thousands, and more recently by his experiments with tuberculosis. The death rate from diphtheria has been reduced to but 4 to 6 per cent. from 80 to 90, by means of antitoxin. Dr. Behring hopes to reduce that of tuberculosis proportionately.

The Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

ORGAN BUILDING

A Pleasant Occupation For Women

IN the United States a woman builder of church organs would be a great novelty. In England, however, such women are not so rare. The skilled worker in the craft gets $10 a week, which is large wages for Great Britain. Here the pay would be much greater. Why American women have never tried it one cannot understand, for the work is not difficult.

In England the organ builder's trade is apt to run in families and be handed down from father to son or, as in the case of Miss Wedlake, well known in London, from father to daughter. Mr. Wedlake was a famous British artificer of church organs. He had a large factory of his own. His daughter desired to learn his handicraft. He desired to have her do so. She could not be apprenticed regularly because, being a woman, the sky would have fallen had she been articled like a boy. But, being a woman, she also had an eye, an ear, a touch and an adaptability to the work of organ building that not one boy in a thousand possesses. There was no law to prevent her learning the business as a rank outsider. Her father was a man liberal far beyond his time on the woman question. He himself taught her and took a fine pride in her progress.

Like a boy, she went into the factory and learned the trade from the ground up. It is a delicate, beautiful work, thoroughly healthful, artistic enough to be inspiring and satisfying.

Since she learned her trade Miss Wedlake has been constantly busy. She has the woman's natural quickness of eye, and long practice has made her accuracy absolutely unerring. Her work is chiefly the construction of bellows and the ornamentation of pipes. The blocks of wood for the bellows come already prepared. Then Miss Wedlake leathers and gussets them together. Pieces of white kid are cut exactly to fit and carefully adjusted to the wood by hand. There must be no looseness of execution here, for it would ruin all. In one of the large churches of London—St. Jude's, South Kensington—Miss Wedlake did all the leathering of the main bellows. In connection with organ bellows work Miss Wedlake's father invented and patented an ingenious piece of mechanism, which won him the medal at an exposition, but his daughter did the work of making the thing. She herself is inventive and has patented, among other devices, a stove that can be taken apart and cleaned and put together again by the most ignorant of women.

After she has constructed the bellows of her organ Miss Wedlake proceeds to decorate the pipes. In this department she rises to the artistic. She devises first a scheme of ornamentation suited to the subject. The theme is usually of an ecclesiastical or Biblical nature. Then she lays the figures deftly upon the pipes. Miss Wedlake's accomplishments, however, by no means stop at bellows making and adjusting and pipe ornamentation. She can take to pieces any organ in the world, clean and repair it and set it up again bit by bit. Then she finishes by tuning it.

There is another department in organ construction which requires the most sensitive touch, ear and nerves that belong to human being. This is the "voicing" of the organ. Here, too, woman has excelled. Some years ago there was in England a family of organ builders named Abbey. A daughter of the house became the most skilled of the race in the family trade. This lady, Miss Abbey, chose France as the field of her labors. She went thither and settled and began building at once organs and a business. So skillful was she that in this particular task of voicing an organ she became the marvel of the Frenchmen who were in the same field.

An expert authority sets forth the following qualifications for the organ maker: "A delicate and sensitive musical ear, physique sufficiently strong to lift the less heavy pipes, some simple, cheap tools and about as much skill in their use as is required in very modest wood carving are the equipment necessary to start with in an organ builder's factory. The most difficult and highly paid branch of this industry is reed voicing, not the reeds of harmoniums, but of real organs. This is tedious to learn and takes years to master thoroughly." MARY EDITH DAY.

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

Well might he ask and marvell Stabber's little village had never more than 50 warriors. Lame Wolf's band was counted at less than 240 fighting men, and these, so said the agents of the omniscient bureau, were all the Ogallalas away from the shelter of the reservation when the trouble started. No more should be allowed to go, was the confident promise, yet a fortnight nearly had elapsed since the frontier fun began. News of battle sweeps with marvelous speed through Indian haunted lands, and here were warriors by the score, come to strengthen the hands of kindred in the field, and, more were coming. The mirror signals plainly told them that. Yet it was well nigh one o'clock and not another hostile move was made. Fox then was being held by stronger hands. It meant that Lame Wolf had listened to reason—and Stabber, and would permit no fresh attack until his numbers should be so increased that resistance would practically be vain. It meant even more—that the Indian leader in chief command felt sure no force was yet within helping distance of the corraled troopers. He could, therefore, take his time.

But this was a theory Ray would not whisper to his men. He knew Webb. He knew Webb would soon read the signs from the north and be coming to his relief, and Ray was right. Even as he reasoned there came a message from across the grove. Lieutenant Clayton said the Indians he had seen away to the south were racing back. "Thank God!" was the murmured answer no man heard. "Now lads, be ready!" was the ringing word that roused the little troop, like bugle call "to arms." And even as eager faces lifted over the low parapets to scan the distant foe, fresh signals came flashing down from the northward ridge, fresh bands of warriors came darting to join the martial throng about the still wrangling chieftains, and then, all of a sudden, with mighty yelling and shrill commotion, that savage council burst asunder, and, riding at speed, a dozen braves went lashing away to the westward side, while with nerce brandishing of arms and shields and much curveting and prancing of excited ponies, the wild battle lines were formed again. The Sioux were coming for the second trial.

"Meet them as before! Make every shot tell!" were the orders passed from man to man and heard and noted amidst the whistling of the wind and the sounds of scurry and commotion at the front. Then, silent and crouching low, the soldiers shoved the brown barrels of their carbines forth again and waited. And then the grim silence of the little fortress was broken, as, with startling, sudden force there went up a shot from the westward side:

"My God, boys, they're setting fire to the prairie!"

Ray sprang to his feet and gazed. Away out to the west and southwest, whence came the strong breeze blowing from the Sweetwater hills, half a dozen dark, agile forms, bending low, were scudding afoot over the sward, and everywhere they moved there sprang up in their tracks little sheets of lambent flame, little clouds of bluish, blinding smoke, and almost in less time than it takes to tell it, a low wall of fire, started in a dozen places, reaching far across the low ground, fencing the valley from stream bed to the southward slopes, crowned by its swift-sailing crest of hot, stifling fume, came lapping and seething and sweeping across the level, licking up the dry buffalo grass like so much tow, mounting higher and fiercer with every second, and bearing down upon the little grove and its almost helpless defenders in fearful force, in resistless fury—a charge no bullet could stop, an enemy no human valor could hope to daunt or down.

"Quick, men!" yelled Ray. "Out with you, you on the west front! Stay you here, you others! Watch the Sioux! They'll be on us in an instant!" And away he sped from the shelter of the bank, out from the thick of the cottonwoods, out to the open prairie, straight toward the coming torrent of flame still, thank God, full 700 yards away, but leaping toward them with awful strides. Out with him rushed Field, and out from Clayton's front sped half a dozen old hands, every man fumbling for his match box; but until they reached a line with their captain, already sprawled upon the turf, and there, full an hundred yards from the grove, they spread in rude skirmish line and, reckless of the mad chorus of yells that came sweeping down the wind, reckless of the clamor of the coming charge, reckless of the whistling lead that almost instantly began nipping and biting the turf about them, here, there and everywhere, they, too, had started little fires; they, too, had run their line of flame across the windward front; they, too, had launched a wall of flame sailing toward the grove, and then, back, through blinding smoke they ran for their saddle blankets, just as the sharp sputter of shots burst forth on the northward side, and the Sioux, with magnificent dash, came thundering within range.

Then followed a thrilling battle for life—two red enemies now enrolled against the blue. "Fight fire with fire" is the old rule of the prairie. Ray had promptly met the oncoming sweep of the torrent by starting a smaller blaze that should at least clear the surface close at hand, and, by eating off the fuel, stop, possibly, the progress of the greater flame.

But the minor blaze had also to be stopped lest it come snapping and devouring within the grove. It is no easy matter to check a prairie fire against a prairie gale when every human aid is summoned. It is desperate work to try to check one when to the fires of nature are added the furious blaze of hostile arms, every rifle sighted by savage, vengeful foe. "Check it, lads, ten yards out!" shouted Ray to his gallant fellows, now lost in the smoke, while he again rushed across the front to meet the charging Sioux. With his brave young face all grime, Field was already at work, guiding, urging, aiding his little band. "Both hands! Both hands!" he cried, as, wielding his folded blanket, he smote the fringe of flame. "Stamp it out! Great God! Wing, are you hit?"

"BOTH HANDS! BOTH HANDS!" HE CRIED, AS, WIELDING HIS FOLDED BLANKET, HE SMOTE THE FRINGE OF FLAME.

For answer, the sergeant by his side went plunging down, face foremost, and little Trooper Denny, rushing to aid his young officer in the effort to raise the stricken man, as suddenly loosed his hold and, together again, these two sworn comrades of many a campaign lay side by side, as they had lain in camp and bivouac all over the wide frontier, and poor Denny could only gasp a loyal word of warning to his officer. "Get back, sir; for God's sake, get back!" ere the life blood came gushing from his mouth. Bending low, Field grabbed the faithful fellow in his strong arms and, calling to the nearmost men to look to Wing, bore his helpless burden back through stifling smoke clouds; laid him on the turf at the foot of a cottonwood, then ran again to the perilous work of fighting the flame, stumbling midway over another prostrate form. "Both hands! Both hands!" he yelled as again his blanket whirled in air; and so, by dint of desperate work, the inner line of flame at last was stayed, but every man of the gallant little squad of fire-fighters had paid the penalty of his devotion and felt the sting of hissing lead—Field last of all. Westward now, well-nigh 100 yards in width, a broad, black, smoking patch stretched across the pathway of the swift-coming wall of smoke and flame, a safeguard to the beleagured command worth all the soldier sacrifice it cost. In grand and furious sweep, the scourge of the prairie sent its destroying line across the wide level to the south of the sheltering grove, but in the blood and sweat of the heroic men the threatening flames of the windward side had sputtered out. The little garrison was safe from one, at least, of its dread and merciless foes, though five of its best lay dead or dying, and others still sore stricken, in the midst of the smoking grove.

"Field, old boy," said Ray, with brimming eyes, as he knelt and clasped the hand of the bleeding lad, while the Sioux fell back in wrath and dismay from the low-aimed, vengeful fire of the fighting line, "this means the Medal of Honor for you, if word of mine can fetch it!"

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

COLLEGE SPORTS.

Western colleges, that is two of the largest of them, have taken up golf and added it to their list of intercollegiate contests. For several years eastern colleges have been at it, but it was not until last fall, when a team from the University of Chicago, under the captaincy of Howard Sloan, met the University of Michigan team at Ann Arbor, that the innovation was tried in the west. The last half of this match has just been finished at Chicago. It is not many years ago that golf was an unheard-of sport among western universities, but the gradual spread of the game among the preparatory schools has tended to bring it more and more into collegiate life.

Howard Sloan.

The annual conference meet among the western colleges, recently held at Chicago, was won by the boys from Ann Arbor and furnished some exciting sport for the "rooters." The victory gives Michigan permanent possession of the famous Spalding trophy, thus realizing a long cherished hope, as the college has now been victorious for the third successive time. The meet proved the closest in years, Michigan scoring 49 points to Chicago's 40, Wisconsin finishing a poor third with but ten points. In the east Yale won the intercollegiate championship cup in a most exciting meet by half a point from Harvard. The result of the meet was in doubt until the running of the last event, which was the 220-yard dash, and the finish was so close that the crimson have filed a protest against the decision of the judges.

In the lawn tennis field the prospects are very bright for a successful season, and the list of tournaments that will be held throughout the country is large. In the western intercollegiate tournament, recently held at Chicago, Michigan was victorious in both the singles and doubles, St. John, of Michigan, forfeiting the singles to Danforth, of Michigan, who was champion last year. St. John and Lee, of Michigan, won the doubles from the Wisconsin pair, Morley and Garnett.

BASEBALL.

College baseball in the west is about over for the present season and the University of Illinois team has again been returned the winner. The university has always turned out a fast team, one that has been able to hold their own with the best college teams in the east, which fact was demonstrated when the team trimmed both the Harvard and Pennsylvania nines a year or two ago.

The franchise of the Anderson, Ind., baseball team in the Central league has been transferred to Grand Rapids, Mich.

It is reported that "Rube" Waddell, the eccentric and star pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, will tred behind the footlights next season, appearing in the melodrama, "The Stain of Guilt." Just what position he will play in the production is not yet known.

Prof. Joseph J. Thomson, of Cambridge college, England, recently gave the following explanation of a curved pitched ball: "The ball follows its nose, so to speak. If it leaves the pitcher's hand revolving downward on a horizontal axis, it is bound to drop. If it leaves revolving upward on a horizontal axis, it follows its nose and rises. When the ball travels on a vertical axis, with an inward revolution, the inshoot is caused. The outdrop is the result of the ball's traveling on a slanting axis, with an outward revolution, and so on. The axis and revolutions are determined by the manner of the sphere's leaving the pitcher's hand, and there you are.

TRACK AND STABLE.

For the third successive time a horse ridden by an American jockey has won the famous classic event of the English turf, the Derby, at Epsom Downs. Rock Sand, the victorious animal, is owned by Sir J. Miller, and was ridden by Danny Maher. Lester Reiff won the event in 1901 on Volodyovski, and "Skeets" Martin repeated the trick in 1902 on Ard Patrick. The only American horse in the race was Duryea's Acefull, who finished fifth.

Danny Maher.

The Brooklyn handicap, always an interesting event among eastern turf followers, furnished an exciting race recently when Duryea and Harry Payne Whitney's colt, Irish Lad, won the event by a nose from William C. Whitney's favorite, Gunfire. The finish was so close that the winner was in doubt until the numbers were posted by the judges.

The city of Toronto is making an interesting departure in horse shows. Arrangements are being made to hold an open air equine exhibition where, instead of extending the show over a week, it will all be done in one hour. The entries will be ranged in Queen's park and University oval and the awards will be made by an army of judges.

W. K. Vanderbilt's Alpha, guided by Nash Turner, recently won the Prix Victor, valued at $2,000, at Paris.

HARRY MARTIN.

HISTORIC OLD DRUM

One of the Most Valuable Relics in the United States.

It Has Sounded the Call to Arms in Three American Wars, and Was Originally Captured from the British.

A visitor at New Bedford, Mass., viewing the original of the accompanying picture, and not knowing its history, would hardly consider it the priceless treasure it is, or understand the veneration in which it is held. The drum is the property of the Richard A. Pierce post, G. A. R., of New Bedford, and besides being the most treasured possession of the post, is one of the most valuable relics in the United States.

Although now its venerable sides are cracked and its decorations much the worse for wear, the old drum still resounds to the touch with all the vigor and clearness of tone it did in the days of the revolution. Its great historical value lies in the fact that it saw service during these early days of strife and also later on.

The members of the post have had the instrument mounted on a silver plate, bearing the following inscription: "This British drum was captured at Bunker Hill, and assigned by lot to Levi Smith, a drummer in the continental army. Descended to his son, Israel Smith, a soldier of the war of 1812. Descended to his son, Israel Smith, leader of the band of the Thirty-second Massachusetts infantry, the headquarters band which marched with Sherman from Atlanta to the sea in 1864, and presented by him to R. A. Pierce post, No. 190, department of Massachusetts, G. A. R., in 1898."

The above inscription gives the facts in connection with the drum, but do not tell the interesting story. It was at the time that the British soldiers first landed on these shores to subdue the colonial rebels that the instrument also came over, carried by a young English redcoat, who hoped to beat on it the victorious advance of the British soldiers. Instead, it fell into the very hands of the rebels it would have helped to down. It was at the battle of Bunker Hill that the English drummer boy carrying it was shot to death, and a revolutionary soldier managed to obtain possession of it, keeping it with him when he, with his comrades, was finally forced to retreat from the hill.

Israel Smith, the grandsire of Levi Smith, the former owner of the drum, who presented it to the post, was the drummer boy in the famous Rhode Island company who stood the charge at Bunker Hill. Later, when the soldiers drew lots over the drum, young Smith became the fortunate possessor of the prize. It was in a dilapidated condition, more than one bullet having pierced its sides, but young Smith fixed it up and beat many a lusty charge on it before the war was over.

For the 30 years following the war the drum of Bunker Hill rested in peace in Smith's house. When the war of 1812 began he presented it to his eldest son Israel, who marched away to battle with it, and through its inspiring strains it helped to bring about another victory. Again it was stored away, and only dust and cobwebs were its companions until it became the possession of the grandson, Israel, Jr.

For a long time after the death of the elder Smith, the drum, in the possession of his oldest son, was hidden away. The mother of Israel, Jr., remembering her husband's fondness for the relic, hunted up its whereabouts, and heard it had been left in the care of a friend of her son's in Providence, R. I. She impressed upon her son the value of the instrument, and he secured possession of it.

For years various historical societies have endeavored to secure the relic, but Mr. Smith has always refused to part with it, and it was only after his wife died and his home was broken up, that he decided to intrust it to the care of the R. A. Pierce post, at New Bedford, of which he is a member.

Except for new drum heads, it is in the same condition as when in his father's possession.

There are many old revolutionary relics scattered over this country, which have been handed down from generation to generation. If they could be gathered together into one museum, and be preserved, they would be of even greater interest in the future than they have been in the past. It is such mementoes as these that serve to instill lessons of patriotism in the young.

NOTE "A" KILLS.

A Bandmaster Finds Musical Destroyer of Mosquito.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 18—J. H. Thomas, the leader of the National Cornet Band of this city, announces that he has discovered the musical note that is fatal to the mosquito.

After several attempts one of his musicians reached the note A, which on an alto horn produces about 960 vibrations per second. Five mosquitoes were siting on the ceiling, but the instant he reached the A, every mosquito dropped into the horn. Thomas secured a powerful microscope and found that both the auditory and optic nerves were completely paralyzed. "From rough calculations," says Thomas, "I think that an ordinary amateur band ought to be able to kill off all of the mosquitoes in the Newark meadows in three days."

MRS. NEWMILLER DEAD.

She Follows the Son and Husband Beyond the Great Bourne.

Mrs. Peter Newmiller died yesterday afternoon at the Muhlenberg Hospital where she was taken Tuesday night for the removal of a cancer. This is the fourth death in the family in a little over a month. William Newmiller the dead woman's son was killed while he was hurrying home from Texas, to attend the sick bed of his father when he was killed in a railroad wreck. Five weeks later Peter Newmiller died at his home in Mt. Bethel, John A. Dentz, a mason, of Summit avenue, and a cousin of Mrs. Newmiller was killed at Stirling, N. J., and yesterday Mrs. Newmiller passed away

The dead woman was in her sixty-fourth year. She has made her residence in Mt. Bethel nearly all her life and was well known in this city. Several children survive her. In the Coontown M. E. Church she has always taken an active interest. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Coontown Church and the interment will be in the Coontown Cemetery.

HE IS DISAPPOINTED.

Governor Says Consumptives' Home Commissioners Will Have to Await Legislative Action.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Sea Girt, July 18—Governor Murphy is deeply chagrined by the discovery that the bill providing for the erection of the buildings for the State's hospital for consumptives at Glen Gardner failed of passage by the last Legislature.

He said yesterday, that there was but one thing to do and that was to permit the commissioners to proceed as far as they possibly can with their plans and await the future action of the Legislature. If the State shall accept the constitutional amendments in September there will have to be a special session of the Legislature to pass laws for the reconstruction of the courts and he will endeavor to have that session also pass the consumptive hospital act.

Reception to Pythians.

WEST END HOUSE HAS BAD PURPOSE?

Rev. John McMurray Attacks Hotel Which John Goff is Building.

HE CALLS IT A SALOON

"IT IS INTENDED TO BECOME A SECOND MIKE WATSON PLACE."

Pastor of Monroe Avenue Church Talks About Worldliness—Discusses Dancing and Celibacy—Marriage Should be Unworldly.

The West End hotel which is being built on Front street near Clinton avenue for John Goff was the subject of a remonstrance by Rev. John Mc Murray at the Monroe Avenue M. E. Church in a sermon last evening. The building is being erected ostensibly for hotel purposes, said Mr. Mc Murray, but its real purpose, in spite of its twenty to thirty rooms, is to provide the neighborhood with a saloon.

"If its purpose is carried out, it will become a second Mike Watson place."

Continuing the speaker said that the city fathers should not allow themselves to be hoodwinked into granting the owners of the building a liquor license, for by so doing they would be abetting an immoral purpose.

"Worldliness and Unworldliness" was the subject of Mr. McMurray's sermon, and he discussed amusements from the point of view of unworldliness. Worldliness, he said, consists in setting the heart upon the things of this world, unworldliness in setting the heart upon the life hereafter. Christianity is a set of principles. It rests with the minister to enunciate those doctrines, and their application is left to every man's own conscience. It does not behoove a minister, went on the pastor, to say to any man "You shall not dance," but he has the right to lay down a principle with reference to dancing.

Mr. McMurray referred to the saloon as a "breeder of lawlessness" and said that the drinker is a nuisance to himself and others. He discussed married life and celibacy from the view-point of worldliness and stated that people should enter upon or refrain from matrimony accordingly as their consciences told them whether or not they were acting in an unworldly manner. Referring to Sunday observances he said that "the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." He said further:

"Worldliness is worse than sin, for worldliness is a continued state. The reasons for Christian unworldliness are the shortness of time alloted to man on earth, with every season presenting its own opportunity, and the changefulness of the external world."

Revolutionary Societies Outing.

Col. Mills, Commandant at the United States Military Academy, West Point, has granted the request of Mrs. Thomae, of Bound Brook, and has given his permission for a limited number of members of Camp Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., and Nathan Hale Society, D. A. R., of Bound Brook and Somerville, to visit the post on Wednesday. A guide will be assigned to show the party the points of interest.

Preached to Baptists.

Rev. Fred. Taylor, of Brooklyn, preached two strong sermons at the First Baptist Church, yesterday. In the morning his subject was "Abiding in the Love of God," and the evening theme was "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." There were large congregations present at both services.

Marriage in August.

Miss Helen Whitenack, daughttr of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitenack, former residents of Bound Brook, but now of Scotch Plains, and John Kandelky, of New York, will be married in the M. E. Church Scotch Plains, Saturday afternoon, August 1, at 4 o'clock.

Going to Trinity.

Miss Sarah Curry and several of her charges from the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will visit the Christian Endeavor Society at Trinity Reformed Church, this evening, and take part in the service.

ELKS STALK TO BALTIMORE

PLAINFIELDERS TO ATTEND NATIONAL CONVENTION IN ORIOLE CITY.

Men Who Believe in and Practice Brotherly Love Will Have a Jolly Good Time.

A number of the Plainfield members will accompany about fifty Elizabethians to the National Convention of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks to be held at Baltimore beginning tomorrow. This is a somewhat remarkable affair, consisting of social sessions, carnivals, parades, band contests, minstrel shows, and stunts peculiar to the Elks.

The convention will continue until Saturday evening of this week. Four bands will contest for the prizes to be awarded: $1,000, $500 and $200. This will be on Tuesday and on the following day there will be a parade with prizes to be given for display. Individual prizes will be given to the tallest, the shortest, heaviest, lightest, oldest and youngest Elk. During the stay of the Elks at Baltimore there will be a number of side trips to points of interest.

TRUST MAKERS KNOWN HERE

SEVERAL OFFICIALS OF SHIP BUILDING CORPORATION HAD JERSEY TRAINING.

One Had Law Office in North Plainfield—Others Well-Known in Union County.

Inasmuch as the attention of people is attracted to the shipbuilding trust at the present time, it is interesting to note that some of the prominent advisers of that gigantic concern are New Jersey men, who at one time lived in this immediate vicinity and who are well known to many Plainfielders.

William McAdoo, who is one of the officers of the trust is a New Jersey man, and although he hails from Hudson County his name is not unfamiliar here. He was Assistant Secretary of War under Whitney in Cleveland's administration. James Smith, the receiver for the trust, is a Jersey City man and has won his way to success through tremendous difficulties. He is well known in both Union and Somerset Counties.

Perhaps the best known of the men identified with the corporation is Richard Lindabury. Mr. Lindabury was a teacher in the public schools in Somerset County years ago and for a time in the Somerset street school. Later he studied law and practiced in Somerville. His ability became recognized while he was pleading some important cases in the courts of the county seat and he gradually forged ahead until he is today the counsel for the whole corporation, and for some of the litigants who applied for the receivership.

Nelson Cromwell, whose name has been brought prominently before the public recently as counsel for some of the bond dealers of the corporation, is also a Somerset County man. Many people remember him as a struggling attorney in this city and Somerville. He studied law and had a relatively poor practice in partnership with Sullivan & Curtis. Cromwell married a well-known society belle of Somerville and started in business anew at North Plainfield. Later he moved to New York.

MRS. NEWMILLER BURIED.

Same Pallbearers As Those Who Bore Her Husband to the Grave.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Peter Newmiller was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence at Mt. Bethel and at 3 o'clock from the Coontown M. E. Church. The services, which were conducted by the dead woman's pastor, Rev. George Bowers, were largely attended and the floral tributes were handsome. The "Christian's Good Night" was sung by Rev. Mr. Bowers and his two daughters, Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. John Cooper. The interment was in Coontown Cemetery. The pall bearers were the same ones who bore the remains of the dead woman's husband to his grave a month ago. They were Robert Zergible, Edward Cooper, Peter Zeglio and John Cooper.

Vacations Postponed.

Daniel T. Clawson, a clerk at the postoffice, is detained at his home by an attack of typhoid fever. In consequence the vacations of the letter-carriers are held up for the present. Dr. Probasco is in attendance.

Rev. T. L. Gardiner, who is occupying the editor's chair at The Sabbath Recorder office for a time, has returned from a few days' visit at Asbury Park.

ORDER OF EXERCISES; CORNERSTONE LAYING

Former Governor Voorhees Accepts Invitation to Deliver the Oration.

THE LIST OF SPEAKERS

PARADE OF MASONIC BODY TO PRECEDE THE FORMAL EXERCISES.

Capt. J. Frank Hubbard, of This City, to Make Address of Welcome—Cathedral Quartette to Sing—Senator Kean to Preside.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees has accepted the invitation to deliver the oration at the laying of the corner stone of the new county court house at Elizabeth on Thursday morning, July 30. The stone arrived last week.

The various preliminaries have now been arranged, and on the day set apart for the ceremonies there will be an imposing Masonic parade similar to that of Decoration Day a few years ago when the Grand Lodge of New Jersey laid the cornerstone of the Elizabeth General Hospital. This is the order of exercises:

Procession of Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons of New Jersey, from Masonic Hall to new court house at 10:45 a. m.; overture, band; address of welcome, J. Frank Hubbard, director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders; ode, Cathedral quartette; ceremonies of laying the cornerstone; invocation; anthem, Cathedral quartette; delivery of implements to architect; anthem, Cathedral quartette; oration, Hon. Foster M. Voorhees; benediction, grand chaplain; return of procession to Masonic Hall.

It is expected that the exercises in connection with the laying of the cornerstone will occupy about an hour and a half.

When the procession has been disbanded at Masonic Hall, the grand lodge session will be closed in a formal manner by Most Worshipful Master W. Holt Apgar, and the officers of the grand lodge will proceed to the assembly room of Jacobs Theatre, where the other guests will await them, and when the banquet will be served.

United States Senator John Kean will preside, and make the opening address. Other speakers will be Director Hubbard, Grand Master Apgar, Frank Bergen, and County Collector Edward M. Wood.

FOOTED IT FEATLY.

Guests of Hotel Netherwood Held Weekly Hop Saturday—Two Hundred People There.

The weekly hop at the Hotel Netherwood, Saturday evening, was attended by about two hundred people, including many society from this city. The affair was delightful and attended with many pleasing features. The music for the dancing was furnished by the hotel orchestra and the programme of waltzes and two-steps was most attractive. The hotel is enjoying a successful season, there being nearly one hundred and fifty guests registered. The hops will now be continued every Saturday evening throughout the season. There will also be special attractions under the direction of Mr. Conklin, the genial manager of the "popular resort on the hill."

Off to Scotland.

Robert Slorah, of McDowell street, left on the Anchor Line steamship, Saturday afternoon, for Scotland, for a six weeks' visit. While away Mr. Slorah will visit many points of interest including his birthplace, Aberdeen.

Visiting by Auto.

F. M. Stagg, M. D., of Passaic, accompanied by Mrs. Stagg and Elizabeth and Robert DeCamp, of Chester, Morris County, drove over to Plainfield yesterday afternoon in their auto and called on several friends.

On to Lake Hopatcong.

Final preparations will be made to morrow evening at a meeting of the Hope Y. M. A. for the camping trip to Lake Hopatcong. There will probably be twenty in the party.

POPE LEO DIED TODAY

(Special Dispatch to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 10, 1 p. m.—A cablegram has been received here announcing the death of the Pope, which occurred at 4.04 this afternoon. (Italian time). The moment of death according to New York time would be 10:19 this morning. The venerable Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church was unconscious at the time he passed away. He was surrounded by his relatives, the physicians and members of the heirarchy. Telegrams announcing his death have been sent to all the courts in Europe and to President Roosevelt.

Father Delahanty informed The Daily Press that as soon as the news reached St. Mary's rectory the church bell was tolled ninety-three times, the years of the venerable Pontiff's earthly career.

FAIR ESTATE INCITES PARIS

FRENCH NEWSPAPERS ENTER INTO CONTROVERSY.

Arrest of Alleged Witnesses to Death of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Fair Causes Trouble.

The Fair millions are the cause of a division of Paris into two hostile camps. The newspapers of the French capital have taken decided stands and each day print long articles favoring one side or the other in the present controversy for the estate. Some of the papers have overworked themselvse into a white heat over the matter according to a cablegram.

The disruction was caused, it is said, by the arrest on a charge of perjury, of the two principal witnesses, Alfred J. Moranne and Paul Germain Mas, who claim to have been near the accident and saw that Mrs. Fair, who was a New Market girl, was alive after her husband died. Other witnesses claim that the men were nowhere near the scene of the accident and swore falsely regarding the accident.

MISS FRAZEE'S FUNERAL.

Niece of Mrs. F. N. Sears Laid at Rest in Hillside Cemetery.

Laura Frances Frazee, of Philadelphia, sister of Mrs. Theodore Larew, of West Fourth street, this city, was buried yesterday afternoon from the home of her niece, Mrs. Frederick N. Sears, of 327 Clinton avenue. Miss Frazee died Friday, July 17, at the University Hospital, Philadelphia. She was at one time head clerk in the cloak department of Bamberger's store, Newark. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Harris C. Rush, of the mission Church of the Heavenly Rest. The pall bearers were Frederick N. Sears, Theodore J. Larew, George Dennick, George Sharkey and Claude Roseberry. The interment was at Hillside.

AUTO CASE IN COURT.

Herman Unger, of Newark, to Face Justice Clark Thursday.

The automobile case of the Township of Fanwood against Herman Unger will be called for a trial in Judge Clark's court Thursday afternoon, July 23. The case is one which has attracted the attention of automobilists all over the State. Unger, who is a member of the Newark firm of silversmiths, was arrested last October for speeding has auto. He decided to make a test case of the ordinance. The matter was taken to the Supreme Court where Unger was represented by Reed & Codington, of this city. A decision was given in favor of the township, thus bringing it back to the justice's court.

Christened Italian Babe.

At St. Mary's R. C. Church yesterday a child of Nicholas Martone, of Lake street, was baptized. The sponsor was Fortunato Matarazzo, of Somerset street. Fifty people filled the proud father's house on Lake street and a social time was enjoyed until a late hour this morning.

Ceiling Fell.

A ceiling in one of the apartments of the Lincoln flats, on West Fourth street, fell yesterday. One of the inmates of the house had a narrow escape from injury. This is the second accident at the flats from the same cause within a brief period.

College Professor to Preach.

Rev. Dr. Francis Brown, of Union Theological Seminary, will preach in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church next Sunday.

WANTS STATE CONTROL OF ANIMAL INDUSTRIES

Timely Address of Celebrated Veterinarian Before Jersey Organization.

SOME ANIMAL DISEASES

MALADY CONTAGIOUS AND PROTECTION SHOULD BE GIVEN.

Measures Taken the by National Bureau—Value of Domestic Animals in New Jersey More Than $16,000,000.

Dr. D. E. Salmon, of Washington, D. C., chief of the National Bureau of Animal Industry, in an address delivered before the Veterinary Medical Association of New Jersey, in session at Athenia, recommended the State control of all animal industries, with a competent veterinarian at the head of such a bureau. Few, even of those directly connected with such matters, realized the importance of animal industry in this State, Dr. Salmon added. The value of the domestic animals of New Jersey, he said, is more than $16,000,000. In discussing the establishment of such a bureau two points must be considered, the money invested, which in this case was a large sum, and the effect on the health of the public.

There were animal diseases constantly present, he went on, which were dangerous to human life. Glanders was one of these, and every year a number of human beings die from this malady. He cited the recent case in Newark.

"Rabies is another animal disease responsible for many deaths among human beings," Dr. Salmon continued. "The medical profession is somewhat skeptical as to the existence of this disease, and the doctors are somewhat to blame for the general opinion held regarding this malady to the effect that it never, or very seldom, causes death. Humane societies, formed for the purpose of caring for stray dogs, are also responsible for the spreading of the belief that rabies is a rare occurrence. I myself, until late years, did not attach much importance to the danger to human life from rabies.

"But a large number of cases in the District of Columbia a few years ago and many deaths convinced me that there was grave danger to human beings from this malady. Deaths among cats and dogs are due to rabies more often than is commonly known. This might not be a bad thing if it reduced the unnecessary number of dogs and cats without danger to public health.

"Each State ought to have an association to look after all animal matters, and to take charge of an outbreak of disease among them. It should be an association with one man, a competent veterinarian, at the head of it, and he should be given sole charge and be held solely responsible. Division of authority is always a division of responsibility.

"Tuberculosis and anthrax are also common diseases among animals, and they are terrible diseases to fight. The people of New Jersey do not realize the necessity for concerted action in this matter. Nine-tenths of all the animals imported into the United States come here to this quarantine station, where they are held to see if they will develop any diseases."

Dr. Salmon told of other diseases that were common among animals, and related some of the measures taken by the National Bureau to stamp them out.

"My advice," he said, "is to have such a State bureau established here, under the direction of an able veterinarian as executive officer, and I publicly give my endorsement to such a movement."

No Games Saturday.

On account of the heavy rain, Saturday, all of the local baseball games were declared off. This will disarrange the fixed schedule and other plans will have to be made to play those games scheduled. Saturday Alis is scheduled to play Hope Y. M. A. on Crescent Oval, while St. Mary's team will play at Scotch Plains.

Special Music.

There will be special music by a chorus choir at Trinity Reformed Church, this evening, when, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home and several children from the Home, will be present and take part. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

MRS. BEDFORD WANTS ESTATE

A PLAINFIELD WOMAN AMONG THE HEIRS TO PROPERTY.

Says the Spurious Child is Still in Paris—The Property Valued at $300,000.

Mrs. Bedford, widow of Gunning S. Bedford, who died in Paris last February, arrived in New York on La Gascogne yesterday to sign some papers and to retain a lawyer to fight for her husband's estate. She says she will fight the case against her relatives for her husband's estate, to the last ditch. The persons to whom she refers are her husband's cousins, Mrs. Virginia Zerega, of this city, and her three sisters who instituted the proceedings against Mrs. Bedford.

Mrs. Bedford was the woman who was arrested in Liverpool and fined $50 in Bow Street Court for registering a spurious baby as her own in order that the child might inherit the property of her husband amounting to about $300,000. She denies a report that the baby is dead and says that she is in the country near Paris in charge of her nurse.

MARRIED LIFE A FAILURE

MR. AND MRS. JOHN KELLEY PLAYED PING-PONG WITH BEER BOTTLES.

Vinous Habits Drove Venus to Flight—Three Other Drunks in Police Court.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley, finding marital bliss a snare and a delusion, have agreed to separate, arriving at that conclusion this morning after a consultation with City Judge Runyon. The pair had a bibulous seance last evening at their parlors on East Third street, following it up by playing ping pong with the beer bottles. As a result Mrs. Kelley had her lord and master arrested for assault and the latter appeared in court this morning with his shirt front much bespattered with gore. Mrs. Kelley appeared to be quite as much at fault as her sprouse, and, as the couple agreed to live peaceably apart, the Judge decided to suspend sentence.

George Campbell, colored, resisted the officer Saturday evening when the latter attempted to guide his faltering footsteps toward police headquarters. George would have been a drawing card as the ossified man in a circus, but as a sober and law abiding citizen he was a distinct failure. He gave the police $3 today to remember him by.

Thomas Kennedy, drunk and disorderly, and Charles McCarthy, helplessly drunk, were allowed to go on suspended sentence.

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED.

Recruited From Bound Brook—Men Want Jobs in Plainfield—Cash Register Co. Shut Down.

There are numerous unemployed machinists in this city at present seeking positions in local machine shops. The unusual influx of mechanics at this time of the year, when usually the factories are rushed with orders, is due to the closing down on Saturday of the Ideal Cash Register Works at Bound Brook. The Daily Press announced a few days ago that the factory was about to shut down.

The notice of the decision to close indefinitely came as a surprise to the 150 employes. It is said that the reason for the action is an injunction secured against the Bound Brook concern by the National Cash Register Company, of Dayton, Ohio. Some time ago the Bound Brook factory secured a favorable decision against the latter company, but the Ohio people took the case to a higher court and their plea was sustained.

Quietly Married.

David Ramazzotti, a Park avenue fruit dealer and Miss Flora Agnetti, of 173 Bleeker street, New York, were married last Wednesday at the bride's home in New York. The best man was Ralph Martino and the bridesmaid was Miss Alice Agnetti, a sister of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Ramazzotti are residing on Park avenue.

Conde as a Director.

Professor P. Ludwig Conde is sojourning at the Hotel Kensington, Saratoga, and is receiving flattering expressions from the guests regarding the music which his orchestra is furnishing at that hostelry.

The Deadly Automobile.

An automobile driven by New York parties at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, yesterday afternoon, killed an unknown dog on West Front street. The machine narrowly escaped overturning.

THREE GOLFERS WENT ROUNDS IN RAIN

Weekly Competition at Hillside Club Continued in Heavy Downpour.

THEY WERE DRENCHED

PETERSON, SAUGSTAD AND HIBBARD ADVANCED THEIR SCORES.

Peterson Finished First and Saugstad Second—Latter Second in Total Standing—No Play at Park and Westfield Clubs.

Even the heavy downpour of rain on Saturday was not sufficient to deter three members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club from taking part in the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup, three being necessary to make the points count. So far as can be learned this was the only golf play in this vicinity and the trio that ventured to make the rounds received a good drenching en route.

Walter Peterson won first honors with a net score of 78, and Olaf Saugstad finished second with a net 81. H. D. Hibbard was the one remaining player to receive a point. This gives Peterson a total of 7 3-5 points and Saugstad a total of 9, advancing them well among the leaders. Mr. Hibbard has a total of 3 points. Their scores on Saturday were:

Walter Peterson, 87, 9—78; Olaf Saugstad, 93, 12—81; H. D. Hibbard, 95, 12—83.

This is the standing by points for the Golf Committee cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club:

H. Reeve Stockton	9½
Olaf Saugstad	9
Walter Peterson	7 3-5
Augustus R. Fisk	7
Arthur Murphy	6
Robert Abbott	5½
E. B. Shoemaker	3 3-5
E. T. Newkirk	3½
W. L. Glenney	3½
C. Westley Abbott	3
Marion S. Ackerman	3
C. B. Morgan	3
Frank O. Reinhart	3
H. D. Hibbard	3
Dudley H. Barrows	2 3-5
Julius Erickson	2
H. W. Beebe	2
Morris J. Dumont	2
J. Whitney Baker	2
A. G. Henderson	1
Elliott T. Barrows	1
D. H. Rowland	1
Dr. F. O. Ard	1
G. H. Squires	1
S. H. Patterson	1
E. E. Iremonger	3-½
H. deP. Wright	5

The scheduled play-off of the finals in the club championship between Robert Abbott and F. O. Reinhart did not come off. The event will be played this week at the convenience of the contestants.

At the Park Golf Club not a single person put in an appearance to play. The course was thoroughly soaked and the driving rain kept even the most enthusiastic at home. The same conditions existed at Westfield.

North Plainfield Politics.

Freeholder, the New York Press political writer has this to say today: "There are indications of Republican harmony in the North Plainfield end of Somerset County. Well, this won't hurt the party outside of Somerset a bit and it may do the promoters of harmony within the borders much good. But what is to become of Samuel S. Swackhamer, the Democratic Moses, if the Republicans get together and present their old-time front to the foe?"

Who's Who?

A RIGID INQUIRY.

Judge Wants to Know Why Many Lives Have Been Lost.

JACKSON, Ky., July 20.—A renewal of feud troubles is brewing here. The special grand jury called by Circuit Judge Redwine to investigate the charge of attempting to bribe B. J. Ewen not to testify against Curtis Jett and Thomas White in the Marcum murder case and the charge of arson for the burning of Ewen's hotel after he had testified is convened here. Judge Redwine, it is reported, will ask the grand jurors to go into a sweeping inquiry concerning conditions in Breathitt county, where twenty-seven lives have been lost since the Hargis Cardwell feud started and where no one has yet been punished for any of these capital offenses.

In the event of a general inquiry it is conceded that persons highly connected will be involved and that trials for the killing of Dr. Cox and Town Marshal Cockrell will follow close on the second trial of Jett and White for the murder of Marcum.

It is feared that trouble will begin when B. L. Ewen returns here from Lexington to testify against a well known citizen for offering him $5,000 cash if he would not testify against Jett and White.

In anticipation of the worst Ewen, while in Lexington, made his will and arranged all his affairs. About $4,500 was raised for him by popular subscription after he lost everything he had in the incendiary fire, and this he has fixed for his family, his wife and part of his children being here awaiting his return.

Ewen has told Commonwealth Attorney Byrd and others the name of the man who offered him the bribe, and as it is said that the man has no means of his own the bribery investigation will extend to the one who was to furnish the money for the $5,000 bribe offered Ewen.

This town has been kept quiet under martial law by the provost marshal since Jett and White were transferred to the jail at Lexington a month ago, but many are apprehensive over the coming week, although the troops are still here. The militia has been continuously here for two months.

After the killing of Town Marshal James Cockrill there was no one to make arrests for over a year until the soldiers arrived in May. Then City Judge Cardwell, who had been a prisoner in his own house for eighteen months, resumed holding court. The town trustees have just appointed Joseph Newland as town marshal. Newland is considered one of the bravest men in the mountain districts.

During the past seven years seven men have held this position. Four of them were killed while on duty, and two of the other three were forced to resign.

It is expected that a special grand jury will complete its work this week so that the attorneys, witnesses and others can go to Cynthiana, where the next trial of Jett and White for murdering Marcum will begin on Monday, July 27.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS.

In Yacht Race From Helgoland to Deal Swan Wins Gold Cup.

DEAL, England, July 20.—The handicap yacht race from Helgoland to Deal, which was started last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, was completed last night. The Navahoe finished first, the Comet was second and the empress' yacht Iduna third. Emperor William's Meteor and the Therese also started.

Zanesville Beats Boston Nationals.

ZANESVILLE, O., July 20.—The Zanesville ball team won from the Boston National league team here by a score of 9 to 8. Four thousand people saw the game. Catcher Dexter for Boston had his right thumb badly split by a foul tip and will probably be out of the game for awhile. Denton of the Zanesville team got four singles, a two bagger and a base on balls in six times at the bat.

W. K. Vanderbilt's Horse Second.

PARIS, July 20.—W. K. Vanderbilt's Alpha, ridden by Ransch, took second place in the Prix du Trocadero. His horse Bright was unplaced in the same race, and his Constantza also failed to secure a place in the Prix de Nozay at St. Cloud.

Ward Wins President's Golf Cup.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 20.—John M. Ward, the former well known ball player, won the President's cup at the Hollywood Golf club, making a score of 40 out and 40 in and beating Arthur Lehman 8 up and 6 to play.

Swan Got Prize of Honor.

COPENHAGEN, July 20.—The regatta held under the auspices of the Danish Royal Yacht club has closed. Robert W. Goelet's yacht Swan secured another prize of honor, a large gold cup, awarded to the most speedy racer.

Four Young Men Killed.

CINCINNATI, O., July 20.—Four persons were killed near the Avondale suburban station on the Cincinnati, Lebanon and Northern division of the Pennsylvania railway while walking on the tracks. They were Louis and William Murr, messenger boys, aged thirteen and eleven years, and two unidentified young men. In a deep cut on a curve they got out of the way of an outgoing excursion train and were struck on the other track by an incoming passenger train.

Fair Witnesses Released.

PARIS, July 20.—Upon the application of counsel for A. J. Moranne and Lucien Mas, the witnesses in the Fair will case (who were arrested on Wednesday in connection with their testimony given in New York), the examining magistrate has ordered the prisoners' provisional release.

IN THE PHILIPPINES

General Wood Arrives at Manila and Goes to Zamboanga.

NEW CURRENCY FOR THE ISLANDS

Inquiry In Howze Case Will Be Held In America—Battalion of Scouts For St. Louis Fair Composed of Many Tribes Is Assembling.

MANILA, July 20.—General Leonard Wood has arrived here. He will confer with Governor Taft and General Davis on the Moro question and will leave shortly for Zamboanga to organize the government of the Moro province.

The government will today commence the circulation of the new currency authorized by the United States congress at its last session. Considerable difficulty in adjusting it to the conditions here is anticipated. It is expected that the circulation of the new currency will be limited, because the Mexican coin will continue to be legal tender until December. The merchants use Mexican coins because they are cheaper and their purchasing power is equal to the new coins.

It is believed that the entire year's crops will be paid and handled in Mexican money. A shortage of Mexican coins is threatened, these coins to the value of $10,000,000 having been exported to Singapore and Hongkong since January.

The court of inquiry into the charges of cruelty brought against Major R. L. Howze, headed by General Moore, has gone to Laoag to investigate the charges formulated through General Miles and Major Hunter. All the American witnesses in the case have gone to the United States, and an inquiry will be necessary here.

The first herd of carabao which the government imported to restock the plantations has been attacked with hemorrhagic septacemia, and the mortality is heavy. The disease is apparently incurable. The herd has been isolated and the spread of the disease checked. The government hopes to successfully complete its plan of restocking the plantations.

The battalion of scouts which is going to the St. Louis exposition is now assembling at Manila. It includes Ilocanos, Macabebes, Tagalogs and Visayans. Major Carrington has been chosen to command the battalion. The collection of the Philippine exhibit for the St. Louis exposition is making excellent progress and promises to be thoroughly representative.

Old Lady Drowns Herself.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 20.—Mrs. Adeline Cheney, who was visiting her sisters, the Misses Hull, in Owego, arose early in the morning and made her way to the Susquehanna river, where she jumped into the water and was drowned. The body, fully dressed, was found near the steamboat Dewey. Mrs. Cheney was sixty-five years of age and had been suffering from nervousness. She was the widow of the late Alfred C. Cheney, who at the time of his death a decade ago was president of the Garfield National bank and Garfield Safe Deposit company of New York.

Elks' National Convention.

BALTIMORE, July 20.—Incoming trains brought to this city large numbers of Elks from various parts of the country, who come as delegates to the national convention of Elks, which opened here today and will continue during the entire week. It is estimated that 10,000 visitors have already arrived, and this number will be greatly augmented by numerous delegations now en route. Public and private buildings have been lavishly decorated, arches and courts of honor erected, and the streets of the city are brilliantly illuminated.

Whistler's Sad Death.

LONDON, July 20.—It is ascertained that the late James McN. Whistler, the eminent American artist, died under peculiarly distressing circumstances. He had been ill for a year, but his condition had improved to such an extent that he ordered a cab to go for a drive. As he was about to leave his house in Chelsea he was seized with a fit. He recovered temporarily, but was the victim of another paroxysm, from which he died. Three eminent London physicians were summoned at the first attack, but they were unable to afford him any relief.

Will Keep Foreigners Out.

LIVERPOOL, July 20.—The directors of the Cunard Steamship company have called a special meeting of shareholders to consider a change in the articles of association with a view to preventing foreigners from becoming directors or principal officers of the company. Other provisions will insure that the company will remain exclusively British and also increase the capital by the creation of a new share worth $100 called the "government share," which will be issued only to a nominee of the government.

Officers Arrested In Sofia.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 20.—A number of domiciliary visits and many arrests have been made as the outcome of the theft of sixty rifles from the military arsenal here by members of the Macedonian committee with the complicity of the master armorer. The arrested men include two officers and several schoolmasters. The Macedonian journals menace the prefect of police with the fate of M. Stambuloff, who was assassinated by political adversaries.

Ide Will Return to Manila.

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., July 20.—Judge Henry C. Ide of the Philippine commission, who has been spending the past month at his home here, will return to Manila shortly.

MOB LYNCHING IN WYOMING.

Murderers Gorman and Walters Shot by Armed Citizens.

BUTTE, Mont., July 20.—A special to the Miner from Red Lodge, Mont., says that Jim Gorman, who killed his brother about a year ago and ran off with his brother's wife, and a man named Walters, who killed a widow named Hoover at the Hot Springs two years ago because she refused to marry him, were lynched at Basin, Wyo. C. E. Pierce, a deputy sheriff, was killed during the attack on the jail.

A state of lawlessness now prevails in northern Wyoming, as a result of which all law and order seems to have been abolished. From President Moffett of the Montana and Wyoming Telephone company, who is now making a tour of inspection of his company's lines, comes the news of the lynching and of an appeal for help from Sheriff Fenton of Big Horn county, who has arrested a number of prominent cattlemen near Thermopolis and has appealed to the governor of Wyoming for assistance of the militia in getting his prisoners to the Basin.

It was reported to Sheriff Fenton last Wednesday morning that a mob was coming up to Basin from Hiattsville and Tonslip to lynch Gorman and Walters, and the sheriff took these two men and a horse thief from jail and secreted them in a gully near the town under the guard of Deputy Sheriffs Alston and Pierce.

Gorman managed to slip his handcuffs and make his escape. He swam the Big Horn river (an unprecedented feat) and made for the mountains. A posse was quickly organized, and Gorman was recaptured about fifty miles from Basin.

Last night a mob of about fifty unmasked men rode up the east bank of the Big Horn and compelled the ferryman to carry them across the river. They made no demonstration until they entered Basin, when five shots were fired as a warning. The mob proceeded at once to the county jail and fired a volley into the jail.

Deputy Pierce and Special Deputy Meade were guarding the prisoners at the time. One bullet grazed Meade's shoulder and entered Pierce's heart. Members of the mob then tore up the telephone poles and battered the jail doors down. They first came to Walters, who was crouched in his cell begging piteously for mercy. No needless torture was resorted to. Walters was shot instantly.

The mob next found Gorman, whose body was pierced by five bullets and was left presumably dead. He lingered, however, until the forenoon.

A still more alarming state of affairs is reported from the vicinity of Thermopolis. About six weeks ago, as a result of the range feud that has been so bitterly waged, a sheep man, Ben Minnick, was killed by cattlemen. The sheriff, it is asserted, has captured the murderers, who are all prominent cattlemen and whose names have been withheld owing to threats made against the sheriff. Sheriff Fenton is unable to get his prisoners to Basin. It is said the same mob that lynched Gorman and Walters are sympathizers and have declared that Sheriff Fenton will never get out of the locality alive with his prisoners.

Sheriff Fenton has wired the governor of Wyoming for permission to use the state militia at Lander and has also sent a telephone message to Basin and other towns asking for volunteers to assist him in upholding the law. Everywhere hardy westerners are responding to the call, arming themselves and hastening toward Thermopolis. It is probable the militia will be ordered to the scene, and a bloody battle may be feared. The country about Thermopolis is a wild and lawless one. The last message from Sheriff Fenton said he still held the prisoners and that he believed he could hold out until re-enforcements came.

Payne In Search of Health.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Postmaster General Henry C. Payne, who spent Saturday off Tompkinsville on board the revenue cutter Onondaga, has sailed for Boston, where he is expected to remain three days, returning then to New York for another brief stay. Mr. Payne, who is making the trip for his health, did not land while here, and his physician is said to have refused to allow him to receive callers.

Swift Left Him $4,000.

CHICAGO, July 20.—A bequest of $4,000 in the will of the late Gustavus S. Swift will enable Clifton P. Pledger, a Northwestern divinity student, to realize his ambition of attending Harvard university for four years. Young Pledger was employed by Swift & Co., and the favorable impression he made in this position led to the bequest.

Twenty Valuable Horses Burned.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 20.—Twenty valuable horses were burned to death or hopelessly injured in a fire of incendiary origin which badly damaged Soules' livery stable here. The horses lost were driving horses and trotters owned by wealthy people of the city.

Fire Delays Trains.

WHITEHALL, N. Y., July 20.—Fire nearly destroyed the block occupied by the Sinnott estate as a grocery store; loss, $10,000, partly insured. Two trains from Montreal and Plattsburg were delayed nearly three hours by hose laid across the tracks.

Alleged Forger Arrives.

NEW YORK, July 20.—James Beazley, who was arrested in South Africa charged with having forged postal orders at Cape Nome, Alaska, was a passenger on the St. Paul. He is in charge of Detectives D. R. Dwyer and C. E. Heron.

"Old Sol" Takes His Hat Off To Us.

THE COOLEST STORE IN TOWN.

No need to consult your thermometer when going a-shopping if this be your destination. Though it may broil and blister and burn on the pavement, inside the store you'll find it as cool as a mountain zephyr. Everything for your convenience—broad aisles—high ceilings—perfect ventilation—nine elevators to carry you quickly to every floor—cozy resting parlors on the mezzanine floors—prompt service and speedy deliveries all contribute to make hot weather shopping easy. We're proud of our store—proud, too, of our splendid stock of summer merchandise and our prices—well, we wish to brag just a little about them. We ask you to compare our prices with those advertised by New York stores, and venture to say you will always find ours as low, and most times lower, than theirs. Come in and look around—always something of interest whether you buy or not.

WILL JAPAN FIGHT?

Is Russia Ready to Make War For Manchuria?

TO PLACATE BRITAIN AND AMERICA

Russian Policy Said by Diplomats at Peking to Be to Pacify Great Powers and Provoke Japan to Hostilities.

PEKING, July 20.—According to diplomats here, the greatest factor in the eastern situation is the increasing danger of war between Russia and Japan. They believe it is becoming plain that Russia is willing to fight Japan if convinced that no other powers will assist her. The Russians are confident of their ability to easily defeat Japan and are said to be anxious to settle definitely her position in eastern politics and end her ambitions to oppose Russia's progress in Manchuria.

The belief is attributed to the Japanese that the Russian policy is to attempt to placate Great Britain and America and provoke Japan into beginning hostilities. They regard Russia's consent to opening ports in Manchuria, the czar's promised visit to England and the occupation of the Korean border as parts of that policy. Russia's activity on the Yalu river is more irritating to Japan than the retention of Manchuria, and all Japanese officials in China speak of war as a "probability."

M. Pavloff, the Russian minister at Seoul, capital of Korea, has had an audience with the emperor of Korea, at which he opposed the opening of Wiju, the port on the Yalu river, the opening of which was asked by Great Britain and Japan.

STEPPED ON DYNAMITE.

Peculiar Accident Caused Death of Horse.

TRENTON, N. J., July 20.—An unusually peculiar accident made necessary the killing of a horse belonging to James H. Romaine, the proprietor of a hotel in this city, while Mr. Romaine and the other occupants of the carriage to which the horse was attached had a narrow escape from personal injury. The horse, which was one of a team that was being driven along the road near Ewingville, stepped on a stick of dynamite. The dynamite exploded and blew off one of the horse's hoofs. The vehicle was partly shattered by the explosion, but the occupants were not hurt. The horse's hoof was blown about seventy-five feet, and the animal was afterward shot.

The dynamite is supposed to have been a part of some that was being used for the blasting of rock in connection with the building of a macadam road at the point where the accident occurred.

Negro Shot; May Be Lynched.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 20.—A special to the Pioneer Press from Montevideo says that the posse in pursuit of the negro who committed the murderous assault upon Miss Olson finally brought him to bay in a wheat field near Milan. He made a desperate resistance and was shot and badly wounded before he submitted to his captors. He was removed to Milan and will be brought to Montevideo on a train reaching here in the morning. Excited crowds are awaiting his arrival, and it is believed that if the officers bring their prisoner to town he will be lynched.

Spain's Reconstructed Cabinet.

MADRID, July 20.—The king has approved the new cabinet which has been constituted by Marquis Villaverde as follows: Premier, Marquis Villaverde; foreign minister, Count San Bernardo; minister of justice, Senor Buganal; minister of finance, Senor Besada; minister of war, General Martitegui; minister of the navy, Senor Estram. Former Premier Silvela, who submitted his resignation, together with that of the cabinet, in his speech declared that Spain's interest in the Moroccan question required her to have a strong army and a strong navy.

Pole Killed Young Watkins.

WELLSBORO, Pa., July 20.—John Watkins, a well known young man of Morris Run, this county, was shot and killed almost instantly at that place by Mike Bumbrski, a young Pole. Bumbrski was arrested and brought to the county jail here. He says he was under the influence of liquor and did not know that he had committed the deed until told of it. Watkins and Bumbrski had an altercation, and the latter went into his house, secured a shotgun and shot Watkins. The wounded man died two hours later in the Blossburg hospital.

Schooner Destroyed by Fire.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 20.—The old Rockland lime schooner George W. Glover sprang a leak last night off Kitterey while on her passage from Rockland to New York, and her cargo of lime caught fire. Finding it impossible to save the vessel, Captain Keefe beached her on the flats and abandoned her to her fate. By morning she had been practically destroyed.

Montana's Disbarment Case.

BUTTE, Mont., July 20.—In the Shores disbarment case Attorney Laury of Butte, for the defense, has testified that Attorney Foote had told him that Judge Harney had been bribed in the Minnie Healy decision and that State Senator J. M. Kennedy had paid him money in the offices of a Butte semi-weekly newspaper.

Plainfield, N. J., July 20, 1903.

A Boston millionaire eats sand as medicine. Probably this is a tonic for grit.

"Mr. and Mrs. Cain, of this city, are happy over the arrival of a son." And now presumably it will be a case of raising Cain.

Prince Hozanna, it is announced, will soon deliver an address at a local church. If there's anything in a name his speech ought to be inspiring.

An evangelist is quoted as declaring that "there is not one child in hell." He fails to state whether this information is obtained by personal knowledge.

A borough official complains that there is too much religion in this column. If that be the case, we have no objection to his cutting some of it out for personal use.

Many complaints have been heard regarding the odors which arise from the lunch wagon located on East Second street. The Board of Health should investigate, and if it is found that the wagon is a nuisance to a sufficiently large number of people, demand should be made for its removal.

As to strangeness, fact delivered fiction a knockout blow recently in the case of the Fanwood man who discovered a long-lost nephew in Mother Jones' army, recognising him by a family resemblance. Verily

"There's a divinity that shapes our ends, Rough hew them how we will."

There can be no issue drawn between President Roosevelt and Former President Cleveland on the race suicide question. The sage of Princeton has been advanced one number by Mr. Stork who made his appearance at Gray Gables Saturday and there are now five children in the family, one less than the number which gather about the board of the strenuous statesman.

Just think of it. A Kalamazoo man smoked 100,000 cigars in twenty years and only lived to be eighty-nine years old. In the last twelve years of his life this lover of Sir Walter Raleigh's discovery consumed 48,000 cigars. Over in New Brunswick (this place is on the map), a man lived to be seventy-eight who had not touched a drop of water for forty-one years. These facts will not be found in hygienic reviews.

United support should be given Mayor Smalley and other citizens in their efforts to suppress the illegal sale of liquor in the borough on Sundays. The offending parties are not saloon keepers in this case, but Italian fruit merchants. American born citizens would be ashamed to keep their stores open on the Lord's day for the sale of luxuries and these men should not be allowed to take advantage of that fact. It is generally believed that the illicit sale of liquor is the sole reason why these storekeepers do not close their places. When sufficient evidence is obtained against these violators of the law, swift and severe punishment should be meted out to them. Neither Plainfield nor North Plainfield needs this class of merchants and the sooner we are rid of them the better. Anyone having a knowledge of this nefarious practice should acquaint the authorities with the facts and thus help in landing the guilty parties in jail as quickly as possible.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

A large number of baseball enthusiasts gathered yesterday morning to witness the much-talked of game between the Eagle Eyes and Greenbrooks, and were well paid for their trip by the exhibition of skill that was displayed. The game stood 2 to 2 from the second to the ninth inning, when with a number of well bunched hits the Greenbrooks succeeded in getting a man across the plate. Four more games of the series are yet to be played between the two teams.

It is practically decided that a fire bell is to be purchased by the borough, and a belfry erected on the town hall. This is a step towards up-to-dateness and is certainly a marked improvement over a rusty old hoop that could not be heard around the corner.

Miss Duyer, who has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Cora Coyle for a number of weeks, returned to her home at Philadelphia this morning.

The Methodists have decided to purchase a new bell for their church, and a committee has been appointed to solicite subscriptions.

A large number of young people from the borough, expect to attend the picnic at Riverside Park, this evening.

Miss Wanda Wade has returned to her home in Bound Brook after spending several days visiting friends in town.

Engineer Cameron and family, of Elizabeth, have taken possession of the Kuldoshes' house on Fifth avenue.

Lewis Churchill, who has been with a engineering corps in Connecticut for the past month, has returned home.

Several boroughites took advantage of the cheap trip yesterday, and went on the Mauch Chunk excursion.

The regular monthly meeting of the Dunellen Building Loan Association will be held this evening.

Mrs. Ella Campbell, of Grove street, is entertaining Mrs. J. Joice and daughters, of Vineland.

Miss Marjorie Burk, who has been laid up with a sprained knee, is now able to be around.

Frank Mohan has accepted a position with the Central Railroad at Greenville.

Miss Janie Churchill is spending her vacation at her home on Washington avenue.

The gypsy camp at Washington Rock was visited by many yesterday.

Mrs. John Moynihan entertained friends from Bound Brook yesterday.

Mrs. Kathryn Maier is confined to the house with a slight illness.

T. J. Ronayne has returned to work after a few days' illness.

Miss Irene Ayers is entertaining New York friends.

Hugh Birch visited relatives in Paterson yesterday.

Miss Amy Sampson is visiting out-of-town friends.

NEW MARKET.

The Friendship Circle will hold their regular weekly meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. William V. Dunham.

The game which was scheduled between the Y. M. A., and Orange F. C., was postponed because of the rain.

Miss Lillie Gaskill has returned home after her vacation and has resumed her duties at the postoffice.

Miss Annie Jenner has returned home after a visit with friends in Orange.

Clarence Whitford has been visiting his home during the past week.

Sam Dent visited friends in Somerville, Saturday evening.

The band will meet for weekly practice Wednesday evening.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The rain of Saturday made a postponement of the second of the series of games with Westfield necessary, much to the regret of fandom. Manager Johnston and Manager Denman will get together sometime this week and arrange for a meeting during August.

Judge Clark has issued execution in the case of Fizio against Lyarro. The Constable has levied on all the woodland timber of the defendant at Berkely Heights, and the sale has been advertised.

"Religion Between Sundays," was the topic discussed by the B. Y. P. U. at their weekly meeting held in the parlors of the church last night.

The game of ball between Rahway and the Brooklyn Field Club at Buffalo Sunday afternoon drew a number of local lovers of the game.

Several from town were guests of "The Old Oaken Bucket Club" at their clambake held near Mountain Park Inn yesterday.

The rain of Saturday saved the rooters the necessity of saying some nice things about the trolley service at any rate.

Miss Marion Goodman led an interesting meeting of the Epworth League at the Methodist Church Sunday evening.

Miss Florence MacCaskey, of Short Hills, is spending a few days with Miss Mary Westcott, of the borough.

Andy Cullin, who has been right-hand man at Earl's Hotel for sometime past, has resigned his position.

Mrs. John R. Marsh has been confined to the house for several days suffering from a severe cold.

LEO IS IN EXTREMIS

Lies In a State of Coma, and the End Seems Near.

IS KEPT ALIVE BY STIMULANTS.

Both the Vatican and Italian Government Have Made Final Preparations For the Finish of the Pontiff's Life.

ROME, July 20.—The condition of the pope is growing worse. His holiness has fallen into a kind of stupor.

It is thought that the change in the pope's condition is due to blood poisoning as a result of derangement of the kidneys.

The pope has had an attack of delirium. The end appears inevitable. The pope's valet is greatly distressed because he is unable to assist his dying master, who does not recognize any one. Centra left the sick room several times, exclaiming:

"It is finished. I can do no more."

The pope during a lucid interval said to him as he was leaving:

"My hour has come. Farewell. Thanks, my son."

Cardinal Vannutelli, grand penitentiary, whose duty it is to say prayers for the dying, has entered the sick chamber. This is believed to indicate that the pope is in extremis.

Drs. Lapponi and Mazzoni are impressed by the depression shown by the pope and especially by the frequency of his pulsation, which has reached 95 for the first time, as heretofore the limit has been 92. The doctors could only make a superficial examination, not wishing to disturb the patient too much, considering that quiet was the best thing for him. The physicians have ordered that silence be maintained in the sick room and that as little speaking be done as possible. The liquid in the pleura is apparently stationary, but there is really a slight augmentation of it, as absorption, even in the smallest degree, must go on the whole time.

The doctors do not think that another operation is advisable yet. They fear now that the heart may get too weak, inducing intermittence in its pulsation, which would be fatal.

Dr. Lapponi's report says:

"The pope at the present moment is in a state of coma which may be called a condition preceding the last agony, the duration of which it is impossible to forecast, although everything leads to the belief that this condition cannot last. To be more exact, he is still in a state of torpor and stupor, from which, however, he rouses occasionally when he hears sharp sounds, as, for instance, the insistent voice of one of his familiars calling loudly to him. Left alone, he relapses immediately into a condition of torpor.

"At intervals he murmurs in his sleep, continuing to have forebodings that he is being abandoned by his valet, Centra, and myself. These are the symptoms of incipient cerebral anæmia and general exhaustion. He can no longer turn in his bed without assistance and is being kept alive by artificial stimulants.

"During the last twenty-three hours he has had two injections of camphorated oil, three of caffeine and two hypodermics of salt water, besides drinking stimulants."

Mgr. Biolotti, master of the pope's chamber, said that the pulse of his holiness had not yet shown any signs of becoming intermittent despite his extreme weakness and coma.

Both the Italian government and the authorities of the Vatican have made final preparations for the pope's death. The government is rigidly censoring all telegrams and telephonic communications between Italy and the rest of the continent. At this hour but few people remain at the Vatican. Dr. Mazzoni and Dr. Rossoni and the cardinals have gone to their homes to await the last urgent summons.

After the visit of the physicians Cardinal Rampolla called to get full details of his report of the pontiff's condition, and when the rumor that the pope was worse spread through the city the usual rush to the Vatican began. Several cardinals hurried to the Vatican, among them Cardinal Oreglia, who remained for a half hour and then left in his stead Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli, who as great penitentiary bears the duty of reciting prayers for the dying at the last moment in the sick room. Cardinal Vannutelli remained at the Vatican in the apartment of the major domo in order that he might be ready for any call.

The medical aspect of the pope's case is exciting much discussion. One reliable authority, having opportunities of knowing the private history of the treatment, declares that a third operation for the removal of the pleuric fluid actually has been performed, but has not been made public in order to avoid increasing the public apprehension. It is also stated in the same reliable quarter that Dr. Lapponi and Dr. Mazzoni have made a written statement before a notary giving the exact details of the pope's case and that copies of these statements have been deposited with Cardinal Rampolla and Mgr. Cagiano de Azevedo, the major domo of his holiness.

The purpose of this statement is to answer possible subsequent medical criticisms on the treatment of the case. It is understood that the doctors have not been as frank in their bulletins as they personally desired to be, details of some features of the case being withheld at the earnest request of the Vatican authorities. Their formal statement is expected to clear up the entire medical history of the case.

President Roosevelt has sent through Assistant Secretary of State Loomis to Cardinal Rampolla a telegram expressing the president's sincere sympathy for his holiness in this hour of supreme anxiety and asking to be informed of the condition of the venerable patient. The Vatican authorities are deeply appreciative of this expression of the American president and recall the cordial personal exchanges between the president and the pope when the volumes of presidential messages and papal encyclicals were exchanged. Cardinal Rampolla sent an answer to the message which contained the thanks of the Vatican authorities for the solicitude expressed by the president and also the latest information concerning the condition of the pope.

His message reads:

"I beg of you to present in his holiness' name to his excellency the president the warmest and most sincere thanks for his sympathy toward his holiness in this hour of dreadful suspense, and I am very sorry to advise you that unfortunately the condition of the august sufferer is becoming very dangerous."

Now that the supreme last moment in the memorable life and reign of Pope Leo is expected almost hourly the contrast between the quiet within and the excitement without the Vatican is most striking. In the vast palace there is a hushed calm of expectation, the only apparent wakeful souls being the Swiss guards.

The doctors and attendants of the dying pontiff speak in whispers and move noiselessly about, so that from the sick room no sound comes except the heavy breathing of the unconscious pope or his occasional cries for Pio Centra and Dr. Laponni. His tone is one of fear, as though he felt himself abandoned. In reality sleep is very far from his eyes.

No matter at what hour death comes the whole palace will spring into sudden life, as though touched by a magician's wand. In the piazza of St. Peter's, on the contrary, all is movement, there being a regular encampment of journalists before the famous bronze doors, which are now closed in their faces and behind which the regular tramp of the Swiss guards can be heard.

Many eyes are glued to the window in the pope's chamber overlooking the piazza, while the near by cafes, especially those with telephones, are crowded. Bicycles, ready for use, are piled up outside them, and cabs are lingering about in the hope of catching a fare. This strange scene is illuminated by the magnificent starlight, while the two grand and celebrated fountains give a kind of spectral grace to the whole.

The Observatore Romano, the chief Vatican organ, has received orders to hold itself in readiness to issue almost at a moment's notice a special edition. The only thing wanting to complete the paper is the hour of Pope Leo's death.

MULE SPINNERS RETURN.

Manville Company Will Employ as Many Strikers as Possible.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., July 20.—By a close vote the Rhode Island Mule Spinners' association indorsed the action taken by the striking mule spinners of the Manville company, who voted to return to work.

A vote of censure was also passed against those officers of the United Textile Workers of America who arranged the conference with the officials of the Manville company when the strike of the mule spinners was practically settled. Secretary James Cliffe of the Rhode Island Mule Spinners' association was the only official of the United Textile Workers who was present, and he defended the action taken at the recent conference. Manager Henry S. Lippitt of the Manville company has agreed to take back as many of the strikers as he can make room for.

Major Hughes Killed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 20.—Major Edward Hughes, Louisville's veteran fire chief, was run over and killed by a trolley car. Major Hughes was one of the best known fire chiefs in the country and had been at the head of the Louisville fire department for twenty-five years, until recently, when he was retired on half pay. He was a picturesque character and had been a fire fighter for more than fifty years. He was on his way to the house of a friend, and when he stepped off the car at Beechwood he was run down and killed by a car coming in the opposite direction.

Passengers and Mail Landed.

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile, July 20.—The passengers and mails of the German steamer Theban, from San Francisco for Hamburg, which grounded in Gray's channel, have been landed. The damage to the steamer is less than was supposed, and she is expected to be floated in ten days. She will be discharged in order that the damage may be repaired. Steam pumps have been placed aboard. Eight thousand bags of coffee have been jettisoned.

Colombia Will Ask $25,000,000.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 20.—Reliable information received here from Bogota says that it appears probable that the canal treaty will be ratified, with an amendment making the sum to be paid to Colombia by the United States $25,000,000 instead of $10,000,000, as proposed by the treaty. Cable communication with the capital has been interrupted.

Son Arrives to Grover Cleveland.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., July 20.—A son was born to ex-President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland at their summer home here. The attendants say that all conditions affecting both mother and child are satisfactory.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

WOMEN'S SPEECHES.

Ladies Have Proved That They Can Orate With the Best.

The pleasing murmur of the women's clubs is silenced officially for the summer. While the members are meditating new coups one may glance over the net result of their past work in one particular—their progress in the art of oratory and eloquence. When first women's clubs were instituted it was feared the fair girls, old and young, could never learn or observe parliamentary usage. When a lady in the beginning of feminine clubdom arose to address Madam President it was with a flutter, a twitter and a gasp and a gulp in her throat, and she once in awhile choked up at half a dozen words, sat down, covered her face with her hands and burst into tears at essaying her maiden speech. I have seen a lady do that.

Would women ever learn to talk in public?

Time and clubs went on. Women did learn parliamentary usage so thoroughly and practice it so strenuously that today the leading teachers and trainers of that branch of education the country over are of the feminine sex.

Learn to talk in public? Well, club women began practicing that, too, and became such mahatmic adepts at it that at length it seems they never do anything else than talk. Undoubtedly the ladies have found their tongues in public.

A cynical rabbinical legend records that when Eve was packing her trunks to leave the garden of Eden just the last thing before she passed through the gate she ran to the great tree of Gabble and under it gathered up twelve basketfuls of talk and brought them away with her. She saved some of the seed and planted it, and that spread the trees all over. Thus one of her blessings at least Eve brought from her lost Edenic state, and that was the right of talkee-talkee. Her daughters, the club women, let not this blessing wane for want of use.

It is on record that one ladies' organization set out to improve the condition of poor girls by establishing an institution where they might learn trades. Their efforts extended over a number of years. In 1900 the president gave an account of progress before the society, and her address began:

"Unfortunately, our school for girls still remains an unaccomplished fact."

Three years have passed since then and the school for girls "still remains an unaccomplished fact." But the conventions, the love feasts and, above all, the elections the dear ladies have enjoyed since then! The motions they have moved, the speeches they have spoken! At one meeting the solemn question is discussed, "Does woman lose her womanliness by entering a business career?"

Miss Cloverton regrets painfully to say it does. Miss Botherton declares flatly it is no such thing that woman loses her womanliness by entering on a business career. So what are you going to do about it? Then Miss Botherton, a shrewd looking spinster, propounds this conundrum:

"THE DAY MY SON WAS MARRIED."

"Madam President and ladies, what is womanliness?"

And there you are.

Mrs. Bingle offers a resolution that the human race is to be saved only through plentifully mothering it, and she says:

"There is one day in my life I shall never forget, and that is the day my son was married."

Then Mrs. Tringle offers an amendment to Mrs. Bingle's resolution to the effect that "we seek for a work on which all may unite, and that we refuse to act until we find a standard upon which all may agree." And they are not done making speeches about their standard of harmony yet. From time to time they adjourn the subject of a basis of harmony over till next meeting. Madam President herself has defined the scope of the grand organization and desired the ladies to bear this in mind in their pursuit of a common basis of harmony.

"We are," she said, "a deliberative body whose women may compare and advise together, where all are invited and all may speak and advise. Therefore there can exist no rivalry. Therefore our organization overlaps or interferes with no other body of women. Our society simply holds a place ready for the concentration of the voice and energy of all organized womanhood toward furthering questions of general public welfare and concern."

Was not that fine?

And the ladies are still talking—talkee-talkee. KATE SHARP.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

CHAPTER XIII.

To say the Sioux were furious at the failure of their second attempt would be putting it far too mildly. The fierce charge from the northward side, made under cover of the blinding smoke sent drifting by the gale across the level flats, had been pushed so close that two red braves and half a dozen ponies had met their death within 60 paces of the rifle pits. There lay the bodies now, and the Indians dare not attempt to reach them. The dread, wind-driven flame of the prairie fire, planned by the Sioux to burn out the defense, to serve, as their ally, had been turned to their grave detriment. Ray and his devoted men had stopped the sweep of so much of the conflagration as threatened their little stronghold, but, ranging unhampered elsewhere, the seething wall rolled on toward the east, spreading gradually toward its flanks, and so, not only consuming vast acres of bunch grass, but checking the attack that should have been made from the entire southern half of the Indian circle. Later, leaping the sandy stream bed a little to the west of the cottonwoods, it spread in wild career over a huge tract along the left bank, and now, reuniting with the southern wing some distance down the valley, was roaring away to the bluffs of the Mini Pusa, leaving death and desolation in its track. Miles to the east the war parties from the reservation, riding to join Lame Wolf, sighted the black curtain of smoke, swift sailing over the prairie, and changed their course accordingly. Not so many miles away to the south Webb's skirmishers, driving before them three or four Sioux scouts from the northward slope of the Moccasin Ridge, set spurs to their horses and took the gallop, the main body following on.

With them eyelids blistered by heat and smoke, Ray's silent, determined little band could see nothing of the coming force, yet knew relief was nigh; for, close at hand, both east and west, large bodies of the enemy could be seen swift riding away to the north.

They had hoped, as Fox had planned and promised, to burn out and overwhelm the little troop at the grove before the column from Frayne could possibly reach the spot. They had even anticipated the probable effort of the command to check the flames, and had told off some 50 braves to open concentric fire on any party that should rush into the open with that object in view. They had thought to send in such a storm of lead, even from long range, that it should daunt and drive back those who had dared the attempt. They had stormed indeed, but could neither daunt nor drive back. Ray's men had braved death itself in the desperate essay, and, even in dying, had won the day.

But their losses had been cruel. Three killed outright; three dying and eight more or less severely wounded had reduced their fighting strength to nearly 30. The guards of the sorrels, herded in the stream bed, had all they could do to control the poor, frightened creatures, many of them hit, several of them felled, by the plunging fire from the far hillsides. Even though driven back, the Sioux never meant to give up the battle. On every side, leaving their ponies at safe distance, by dozens the warriors crawled forward, snakelike to the edge of the burned and blackened surface, and from there poured in a rapid and most harassing fire, compelling the defense to lie flat or burrow further, and wounding many horses. The half hour that followed the repulse of their grand assault had been sorely trying to the troop, for the wounded needed aid, more men were hit, and there was no chance whatever to hit back. Moving from point to point, Ray carried cheer and courage on every side, yet was so constantly exposed as to cause his men fresh anxiety. Even as he was bending over Field a bullet had nipped the right shoulder strap, and later another had torn through the crown of his campaign hat. In all the years of their frontier fighting they had never known a hotter fire; but Ray's voice rang out through the drifting vapor with the same old cheer and confidence. "They can't charge again till the ground cools off," he cried. "By that time they'll have their hands full. See how they're scudding away at the southward even now. Just keep covered and you're all right." And, barring a growl or two from favored old hands who sought to make the captain take his own medicine and himself keep covered, the answer was full of cheer.

"Send six of your men over to the south front, sergeant," were Ray's orders to Winsor, as he hurried over to join Clayton again. "They may try one final charge from that side, and give us a chance to empty a few more saddles." Creeping and crouching through the timber, the chosen men obeyed, and were assigned to stations under Clayton's eye. The precaution was wise, indeed, for, just as the captain foresaw, a rally in force began far out over the southward slopes, the Indians gathering in great numbers about some chieftain midway between the coming force and the still beleagured defenders of the grove. Then, brandishing lance and shield and rifle, as before, they began spreading out across the prairie, heading now for the cottonwoods, while others still faced and fired on the far blue skirmish line. The fierce wind, sweeping across the direction of the attack, deadened all sound of hoof or war chant, but there was no mistaking the signs, no doubt of the intent, when, in a little moment more, the earth began to tremble beneath the dancing pony feet, telling, almost with the swiftness of sight, that the grand advance had begun. But other eyes were watching, too. Other soldiers, keen campaigners as these at the Elk, were there afield, and almost at the moment the wild barbaric hoard burst yelling into their eager gallop, and before the dust cloud hid the distant slopes beyond, the exultant shout went up from the captain's lips, as he threw down his glass and grabbed his carbine, "It's all right, men! The major's at their heels. Now let 'em have it!"

Now, with heavier losses than had befallen Wayne in '76, Ray's command beheld with almost tranquil hearts the coming of the fierce array in final charge. Behind them, not two miles, to be sure, rode in swift, well-ordered pursuit, the long line of comrade troopers. But there had been intervening years of campaign experiences that dulled to a degree the earlier enthusiasms of the soldier, and taught at least the assumption of professional composure that was the secret wonder of the suckling trooper, and that became his chief ambition to acquire. It is one thing to charge home at hard-fighting command when friends and comrades back the effort and cheer the charging line. It is another to charge home conscious that other chargers are coming at one's heels. Magnificent as a spectacle, therefore, this closing dash of Lame Wolf's warriors was but a meek reminder of their earlier attack. Long before they came within 400 yards of the leafy stronghold—the moment, indeed, the brown Springfields began their spiteful bark—to right and left the warriors veered, far out on either flank. Screeching and yelling as was their savage way, they tore madly by, flattened out against their ponies' necks, and, those who could use their arms at all, pumping wild shots that whistled harmless over the heads of the defenders and bit the blackened prairie many a rod beyond. Only jeers rewarded the stirring spectacle—jeers and a few low-aimed, sputtering volleys that brought other luckless ponies to their knees and sprawled a few red riders. But in less than five minutes from the warning cry that hailed their coming, Lame Wolf and his hosts were lining Elk Tooth ridge and watching with burning hate and vengeful eyes the swift, steady advance of Webb's long blue fighting line, and the utter unconcern of the defense. Even before the relieving squadron was within carbine range certain of Ray's men had scrambled, out upon the northward bank and, pushing forward upon the prairie, were possessing themselves of the arms and ornaments of the two dead warriors whom the Sioux had striven in vain to reach and bear within their lines. Ray and Clayton at the moment were strolling placidly forth upon the southward "fench" to receive and welcome the little knot of comrades sent galloping in advance to greet them. There was perhaps just a suspicion of exaggerated nonchalance about their gait and bearing—a regimental weakness, possibly—and no other officer save Lieut. Field happened to be within earshot when Winsor's voice on the other front was heard in hoarse command:

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can) the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

MADE TRIP ON SNOWSHOES.

Early Minnesota Legislators Had a Hard Time Reaching the State Capital.

The members of the Minnesota legislature of to-day are not content with their lot unless they can journey to St. Paul, the capital, in the most palatial of railway carriages, says a Minneapolis exchange. Fifty years ago last January, when the legislature assembled, some of the members from the extreme northern counties were sadly disappointed. They had hoped to walk into the new capitol, select their seats and enjoy the pleasures incident to the first occupancy of that structure. Their homes were so far removed from the capital and the means of communication during the winter months so poor as to practically isolate them, hence they had not been able to keep in touch with the situation and did not know that the capitol was still unfinished. Three of them—Rolette, Kittson and Gingros, of the county of Pembina—had come the entire distance on snowshoes and several had taken desperate chances of death by blizzards or hungry timber wolves. Several members of that legislature were afterward distinguished for their ability as debaters and shrewd politicians and most of them had a hand in forming the great commonwealth now called the "bread and butter state."

ENGLISH DISDAIN PEANUTS.

In Their Eyes the Toothsome Goober Is Fit Only to Be Fed to Swine.

Over in England they call the peanut "ground-nut" and "ground-bean," says the New York Press. In British eyes it is fit only for pigs. It is met with occasionally in fruiterers' shops, but never in push carts, as in this country. A British encyclopaedia says: "In the southern states of North America the seeds, or nuts, as they are called, are roasted and used as chocolate. They are a favorite article of food with the negroes." Georgians are called "goober grabbers" throughout the south. Many a farmer has grown rich on the humble peanut, the annual product being worth $10,000,000. Some persons try to belittle the goober. A lawyer, examining a witness in an important case, one whose testimony was conclusive, undertook to ridicule him. "You are a business man, I believe?" "Yes." "What is your business?" "I deal in peanuts." The lawyer smiled knowingly at the jury. "A peanut vender, eh? How many pints did you sell last month?" "I hardly know. A million, possibly." "What! A million?" "I handle about half a million bushels a year. I am a wholesale dealer." The lawyer sat down with the laugh turned on him.

FEW ALIENS IN SCOTLAND.

Most of the Inhabitants of the Land of Heather and Doons Are Natives.

Scotland, according to the latest returns, is not a dumping ground for aliens, says the London Chronicle. Only 1.033 per cent. out of a population of 4,472,1663 are aliens. The number of English-born persons north of the Tweed, if transferred to London, would be hardly noticed. They number only 131,350, or 2.937 per cent. Irish people, on the other hand, aggregate 205,064, or 4.585 per cent., and patriotic Scots, backed up by police statistics, charge this remnant and their connections with committing 50 per cent. of the crimes annually recorded on the far side of the Cheviots.

Welshmen seem to shun Scotland, as only 2,673 were found there when the census enumerators came round. Marriage is popular to the extent of 46.777 per cent. of males over 15 years of age, and fair womankind is appreciated to the extent of 44.277 per cent. of like ages. While the widowers number 72,741, the widows total no fewer than 175,405, which bears out the truth there lies in the now neglected ballad of "Three Women for Every Man."

MAKING ENGLISH WORSE.

Foreigners Have Enough Trouble Over It Without These Mistakes Being Made.

Foreigners are always complaining, and not without reason, at the difficulties of the English language. This is quite natural, considering how very different our pronunciation is from our spelling, but what must to them appear to be gratuitously adding insult to injury is the entirely opposite meanings some common words possess in different localities, says London Gentlewoman.

In the eastern counties particularly, many words are misleading. For instance, "there were several there" means not just a few, but a great number; a "shy girl" is a bold one; and some of the verbs do double duty with absolutely opposite meanings, notably that of "to learn."

I will quote an instance gleaned from this morning's local daily paper: 'Situation required as under-housemaid, or where lady is willing to learn. Good references.—Apply," etc. The advertiser was quite innocent of any impertinence. She meant "where lady is willing to teach!"

Congo Drum Talk.

Perhaps the most curious means of communication in the world is the drum language of a Congo tribe. These queer people can talk to each other with large drums made of bamboo hoops, over which the skin of some animal is stretched. The drum, however, is used only on important occasions.

EX-EMPRESS EUGENIE

Hers Is One of the Saddest Cases of Modern History.

Extravagance Was One of the Causes of the Downfall of the French Dynasty — Her Present Life in England.

One of the most pathetic figures of the day is ex-Empress Eugenie. A queen without a throne, the merest shadow of her former self, dwelling solely in the past, and regardless of what the future may bring forth, the widow of Napoleon III. makes her home at Farnborough, in Hampshire, England, save for a few months in the winter, when she resides in a ville overlooking the sea at Cape Martin, near Monte Carlo, and in the midst of those over whom her husband ruled.

No woman living has experienced such vicissitudes of fortune as Marie Eugenie de Guzman y de Porto-Carrero, who on the 5th of May next will celebrate her seventy-seventh birthday. Born in Granada, her father was a Spaniard while her mother belonged to a Scottish family. Her station in life was not a particularly lofty one—her grandfather on her mother's side occupied the not very important post of British consul at Malaga—and neither her parents nor her young associates ever dreamed that she would ultimately become the consort of a monarch and write her name in indelible letters in history.

But Eugenie's unmatched beauty and vivacity were such that wherever she went she was the center of attraction. Women eyed her with envy, men raved about her, her photograph was in every shop. She was at once the most fascinating and the most handsome woman of her time. A prominent writer likened her to a snow-flake on a July day; another—an American—compared her with the fairy-like mist that hangs over Niagara. Certainly no lady was ever the object of such fulsome adulation. When her beauty was at its height she visited Paris, with the result that having the entre to the court, she captivated the heart of Napoleon III., emperor of the French.

EX-EMPRESS EUGENIE.

The emperor had contemplated a union with another lady, but upon the appearance of the lovely Spaniard, the negotiations were broken off and Eugenie became the royal idol.

The wedding of Napoleon III. and his fiancee took place at the cathedral of Notre Dame on the 29th of January, 1853, when the latter was in her twenty-seventh year. For close upon 17 years the empress was the brightest star in all France. Her court was magnificent; there was no thought of the morrow; money flowed from the imperial coffers in a never-ceasing stream. The extravagance was appalling. The empress was the best-dressed woman not only in France, but in the world. No one had the slightest chance of competing with her. Her taste was exquisite, her wardrobe was estimated to have cost $1,000,000, and the household expenses amounted during one period to no less a sum than $10,000 a day.

It was this reckless expenditure that was one of the principal causes of the downfall of the dynasty. The French began to tire of the state of affairs, their anger was aroused; then came the war with Germany, the revolution broke out, and the empress' fate was sealed with that of her husband. In terror for her life she fled from Paris one September night after the revolution, and making her way to the coast crossed to Ryde.

Later on she was rejoined by the emperor, and the dethroned pair settled down at Camden House, Chislehurst, where they lived as ordinary people, neither expecting homage nor receiving it. The dazzling empress fell back into oblivion as quickly as she came out of it. Exiled from France, she was separated from her friends, and since the wreck of the empire she has never cared to make new ones.

The ex-empress is still rich. When she escaped from Paris she forfeited the bulk of her possessions, her splendid and incomparable jewelry was sold and scattered, but there was a large fortune left, and £50,000 of it went towards the purchase of the mansion and grounds at Farnborough.

The empress maintains no more style than is to be found in the average country house. Her staff of indoor servants number 12 only, and when she travels her methods are those of a private lady. She no longer courts attention. Neither in France nor in England are her features familiar to the public. All her glorious beauty has vanished, her face is wrinkled, the hair that was once golden is white. The wonderful figure that was the talk of Paris has been transformed—the empress, in fine, is a different woman.

"Smiling Jimmie" Montross pitched for the Rahway Field Club, yesterday, in a game at Rahway against the Brooklyn Field Club. The Rahwegians were victorious by a score of 8 to 1. Montross only allowed seven hits.

TENNIS.

It was impossible to play the finals in the tennis tournament at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, Saturday, owing to the rain. Arrangements will no doubt be made to play them off during this week.

CATHOLICS ORGANIZE.

David J. Kenney an Executive Committeeman of the American Federation of Catholic Societies.

The second annual convention of the New Jersey branch of the American Federation of Catholic Societies was held yesterday in Catholic Institute, Newark. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, and Bishop O'Connor, of Newark, were both present. In the election of officers, David J. Kenney, of North Plainfield, was chosen a member of the executive committee.

A constitution was adopted and steps were taken to perfect county federations in those counties that are not yet represented. Camden was decided upon as the place for holding the next State convention, and twenty-three delegates were elected to represent New Jersey at the federation's national convention which will be held at Atlantic City from August 1 to 5.

MUST BE LICENSED.

Borough Board of Health Insists That Ordinance Must be Obeyed.

The North Plainfield Board of Health is determined to compell all merchants in the borough to secure licenses if they wish to peddle their wares. The Natural Ice Company is just at present receiving the Board's attention. It is alleged that the ice company has been in the habit of operating six wagons on a permit issued for four. It is said that if the ordinances in this matter are violated power is given the Board to make arrests on sight and the penalty for such cases is imprisonment for two years or a fine of $1,000.

Expected Home.

The local young men who have been enjoying camping life in the Berkshire Hills, Conn., are expected home today. They are Arthur Humble, Fred Armstrong and Edgar George. Some returned Saturday and those were Leslie Radford, Arthur Jeffery, Striker Hoagland and Will Emmons.

Talked About Honduras.

Rev. George N. Karner, of West Front street, gave an interesting missionary talk on Honduras before the Christian Endeavor Society at its meeting last evening. A feature of the meeting was the vocal solos by Mrs. Charlotte M. Ross.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Mrs. Robert Giddis, second soprano at the First Baptist Church, has been engaged for another year.

There will be a regular business meeting at the First Baptist Church, Wednesday evening, following a short devotional service.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Woods, of the Baptist Church, Somerville, will preach at the First Baptist Church, Sunday morning and evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed Church will hold a picnic on the grounds of the church, Thursday afternoon and evening.

Special music was rendered yesterday at the Trinity Reformed Church by members of the Christian Endeavor Society. Solos were sung by William Jeffery.

The attendance at the men's meeting of the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon, was large. The members of the Knights of the Golden Eagle were present in a body and enjoyed the services.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church held a regular consecration service, last evening, prior to the preaching service in the church. There was a large attendance and much interest.

During the month of August the Sunday-school at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church will hold its sessions in the afternoon at the East Third Street Chapel. This is made necessary on account of the proposed improvements at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood, of this city, had charge of the services at Rescue Mission yesterday afternoon. They sang several duets in a pleasing manner. Tomorrow evening the members of Rescue Mission will conduct the services at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp. The local people will leave the Watchung avenue trolley terminus at 7:15.

Rev. Jason S. Hogan, of Pompton Plains, who was extended a call to the Presbyterian Church at Bound Brook, has accepted the pastorate of the Lafayette Reformed Church of Jersey City. Rev. W. R. Greenway, pastor of the Elizabeth Avenue Presbyterian Church at Lyons Farms, who was the second choice of the Bound Brook Presbyterians, has accepted a call to the Westminster Presbyterian Church, of Yonkers.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church will enjoy its annual picnic tomorrow. The members will meet at the church at 9:15 tomorrow morning, at which point they will take the trolley to the end of the Somerset street line. From there they will walk to Mountain Park Inn, where they will spend the day. The Juniors will be in charge of Miss Bessie Wilson, superintendent.

Surprise Party.

In honor of Miss Vida Stillman, of Alfred, N. Y., who is visiting her aunt, Dr. Martha Stillman, of West Fourth street, about twenty-five young people gave a surprise party Saturday evening. The evening was spent in playing games and listening to good music, after which refreshments were served.

Senator Childs' Visit.

State Senator S. S. Childs and family, of Bernardsville, rode to North Plainfield, yesterday, in his large new auto and were entertained by Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer at his home on Mountain avenue. Senator Childs visited some of his constituents in the borough.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. The Independent Order of Odd Ladies, No. 1, has arranged for an outing to Midland Beach on Thursday, July 23.

The annual field day of the Jr. O. U. A. M., of this State, will be held at Atlantic City on Thursday, August 13. Benevolent Council will conduct an excursion to the popular resort on that day.

Miantonomo Tribe, Independent Order of Red Men, has accepted a challenge from Wetumpka Tribe, to play a game of baseball. A committee has been appointed to arrange a time and place. The committee comprises Wm. Newcorn, Peter Sheridan and Charles Keller.

District Deputy John Becker and staff will go to Carteret tonight to install officers in the Odd Fellows' lodge there. Those who compose the staff are Joseph Sheppard, Henry Nischwitz, Edward and John Bowman, John H. Carbey, Fred Becker and S. H. Sohley.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Professor John B. Smith has discovered the dear little mermis; a beautiful little parasite that will be welcomed in every cultivated family. It is a dainty, thread-like little creature with six papillae, and though all its habits are not yet known, one is sufficiently authenticated to make the mermis welcome and popular. This beautiful little round worm with six papillae lives on and kills the mosquito. As yet Professor Smith is not receiving orders for quantities of the mermis, but hopes that it may in time be cultivated in sufficient numbers to make mosquitoes as scarce as honest voters in Middlesex County.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Quaife, of Philadelphia, returned home today after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. George R. Laird, of North avenue.

Mrs. Robbins, of Norwood avenue, has returned faom Lake George, where she has been stopping for a few days. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Helen Robbins, who will remain for the summer.

Miss Helen O'Keefe, a New Haven school teacher, is visiting her brother, John A. O'Keefe, of 652 South avenue. Miss O'Keefe is well known here, having spent a season here a year ago at The Netherwood.

Mrs. Frank W. Conger and children and Miss Charlotte Conger, of Mountain avenue, are spending the summer at Monticello, Sullivan county, N. Y. Mr. Conger expects to join his family in his two weeks' vacation, some time next month.

Innovation at Trinity.

The music at the services at Trinity Reformed Church yesterday was especially fine. It was the first appearance of the chorus choir recently organized by the leader, Horace J. Martin. The new choir is composed of eighteen voices, selected from the Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor Socities. William Jeffery sang the leading tenor part and during the offeratory sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" to the delight of all. The choir will sing at all the services at the church during the months of July and August.

Bungling Job.

Because he claims that all the doors and windows were put in his building in a manner unsafe for people to live within the structure Burk and Frank Carara have instituted suit on contract against Antone Ananan, of Mt. Bethel, for $200. The case is to be hear tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Justice Cooper's court in Mt. Bethel. F. J. Blatz represents the plaintiffs and Codington and Swackhamer are the counsels for the defendants. The case will be tried by jury.

Ticket Agent Resigns.

John Whitenack has resigned his position as ticket agent at the North Avenue Station to accept a clerical position at the freight house. The change takes effect the last of this week.

Contemptible Act.

Clarence Thorn, of Watchung avenue, has lost a valuable French poodle. Somebody gave the dog ground glass in its food and the animal passed away in great agony.

Investing in Realty.

Mrs. O. Heinbold has purchased two lots of Elston French on his Duer street extension, near Greenbrook road and is erecting a $2,000 house on one of the lots.

Installation of Officers.

Washington Camp, No. 30, P. O. S. of A., will meet tonight. A full attendance is desired as the newly-elected officers will be installed.

—Glendale Grove was the scene yesterday at the third annual outing of the Old Oaken Bucket Club.

MEASURING DEVICE.

Device Employed to Ascertain What Size Cars Can Be Used.

The appearance of a peculiarly shaped car on the Watchung avenue overhead bridge yesterday afternoon attracted considerable attention. It was in skeleton form with large white bands projecting over the sides. The car was being used for measuring the bridges.

It is the intention of the Central Railroad of New Jersey to place an order for a large number of passenger coaches which will be much larger than those now in service. In some places it is necessary to make some changes to bridges. The car is being used over the entire road.

His Fame Spreads.

The Newark Sunday News said yesterday: "Thomas M. Muir, a Plainfield newspaper man, is the youngest chancellor commander in the ranks of New Jersey's Knights of Pythias, and his fellows hint that he is the youngest in the whole country. "Tommie," as even the newsboys and bootblacks call him, has just celebrated his twenty-third birthday, and Perseverance Lodge of Plainfield, the strongest in the State numerically, has chosen him for the exalted position."

WANDERED FROM HOME.

Mrs. Peterman Found After Long Search Resting From Walk.

The police of this city and North Plainfield were notified Saturday evening to be on the lookout for a Mrs. Peterman, mother of Mrs. J. B. Scott, of Plainfield avenue and West Seventh street.

It was stated that Mrs. Peterman, who is aged and feeble, wandered away from home during the afternoon and caused her family considerable worry. During the evening a telephone message was received at the headquarters that an elderly woman was wandering about West Fourth street, and appeared to be lost. She was found sitting on a stone in front of 212 West Fourth street and was sent home by the police in a hack, being exhausted from her long walk.

SIX MONTHS STATISTICS OF POLICE COURT

Three Hundred and Fifty-Six Arrests in Plainfield During That Time.

MOSTLY DRUNKENNESS

THE FOREIGNERS OUTNUMBERED THE AMERICANS.

Most of the Offenders Guilty of Minor Misdemeanors—Many of the Culprits Came From Other Cities—The Statistics.

Three hundred and fifty-six arrests made during the first six months of the present year is Plainfield's record—not a bad one for a city of sixteen to eighteen thousand people, when it is considered that most of the arrests were for minor offenses and that seventy-nine of the culprits came from outside the city.

The figures were compiled by a Daily Press reporter from the police record books, which, by the way, are accurately kept in remarkably convenient form for reference. The numbers given were hastily calculated and cannot be expected to be absolutely correct. They at least approximate close accuracy, however, and should be of some interest to the student of statistics, giving as they do an indication of the general morale of the community.

Of the 356 arrests, 323 were of males and 33 of females, an unusually large proportion to the discredit of the sterner sex. Habitual offenders, the worst kind, numbered twenty-one males and three females, of whom seventeen males and the three women were arrested twice, three men were arrested three times, and one "old stager" landed four times in the toils of the law. Deducting for names thus appearing more than once, the net total of those arrested is 327.

Most of the arrests were for drunkenness, which may be taken as a matter of course. Two hundred and forty arrests for drunkenness and disorderly conduct during the six months ending June 30 attest the vigilance of the police. Of these 83 were both drunk and disorderly, 89 were disorderly simply, and 68 were drunk with no reservations as to order.

Most of the other cases reported were for minor misdemeanors. The number of crimes committed was not large. There were three cases of atrocious assault, three were guilty of criminal conduct, seven of burglary, two of attempts to poison, twenty-one of larceny, most of it petty, four of gambling, four of embezzlement, two of receiving stolen goods, and two of obtaining money on false pretenses. Seven cases of assault were tried, and in this connection, it may be well to state that there were numerous cases of assault in which no arrests were made by the city police but which were brought before Justices of the Peace.

Minor misdemeanors included thirty-eight violations of city ordinances in regard to peddling, bicycling on the sidewalks, allowing dogs to run at large unmuzzled, etc. The other offenses were: Trespassing on cars, nine; resisting an officer, one; non-support, one; vagrancy, four (not many tramps in Plainfield); carrying concealed weapons, one; and fast driving, two. There were very few juvenile offenders.

It is well to remember, in considering all of the foregoing figures, that no statistics can indicate the extent of crimes and misdemeanor absolutely. Some offenders are certain to escape the notice of the police however vigilant.

It is interesting to examine police statistics from the viewpoint of the nationality of the offenders. Of Plainfield's backsliders, during the six months in question, 159 were American born and 168 were foreigners, a sufficient commentary in itself of the extent to which the foreign and not wholly desirable element is gaining ground. There were 67 colored people on the black lists. The various offenses were divided fairly evenly among all the nationalities.

These were the unfortunates according to race: Americans, 159; Irish, 45; Afro-Americans, 38; Italians, 12; American Jews, 11; Russian Jews, 10; Polish and Austrian Jews, 1 each; Germans, 11; English, 10; Poles, 9; Scotch and Danes, 4 each; Swish, Slavish, Swedes and Austrians, 2 each; Hungarians and Assyrians, 1 each.

All of these were inhabitants of Plainfield with the exception of six who had no known residence, twenty who lived in North Plainfield and 53 from other localities. A glance at the list suggests the city's growing cosmopolitanism.

SPECIAL SERVICES HERE FOR LEO XIII

Solemn High Masses to Be Said at St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Churches.

NO DATE YET FIXED

AWAITING INSTRUCTIONS FROM THE BISHOP OF NEWARK.

Local Priests Received Papal Blessing Exactly One Year Before His Holiness's Death—Bells Tolled in City and Borough.

A coincidence in connection with the death of Pope Leo XIII is the fact that it is just a year ago to a day that Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's R. C. Church and Rev. Father Andrew Egan, of St. Mary's R. C. Church were received by the Pontiff in the Vatican and received his blessing.

As soon as the word of his death arrived in this city the bells in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's churches tolled ninety-three times, the number corresponding to the aged Pontiff's age.

When seen last evening Father Miller said that special services would be held in St. Joseph's Church when a solemn high mass will be celebrated for the dead Pope. The exact date will not be set until word is received from Right Reverend John O'Connor, Bishop of Newark. The services will probably be held within the next ten days, probably at the time of the funeral of the dead Pontiff. On the day of the services in this city the members of the two churches will gather at the respective edifices and offer up prayers for the repose of the soul of the dead Holy Father.

Father Egan said that special services will also be held at St. Mary's Church Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Father Fredericks, of Bloomfield, will assist Fathers Egan and Dalahanty. The services at St. Mary's Church will be very elaborate.

BULL SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

FOUR-YEAR-OLD CHILD FALLS INTO BROOK WHILE FISHING.

Youngster Grabs at Bull's Tail, and Latter in Fright Scampers to the Shore.

The four-year-old child of Charles M. Bandell, a farmer living near Bound Brook, had a narrow escape yesterday from drowning and owes its life to a Holstein bull.

The child, with its nine-year-old brother, went fishing in a brook that runs through part of the Bandell farm, which is used as a pasture. The children were sitting on the bank, fishing in a pool about four feet deep, when the younger child slipped into the water. The brother in his fright left the child and ran to call his father, who was cutting hay in an adjoining field.

By chance the afther saw the child fall into the brook and was on his way to rescue him when, to his amazement, he saw the child being dragged out of the brook by the bull, which had been standing in the water.

The child, in the usual manner of a drowning person, snatching at anything, managed to catch the tail of the bull, and the bull in sudden surprise rushed from the brook.

Notwithstanding his being a life-saver, the bull is to be killed this week, he having been sold to a butcher.

Witnessed Jersey Justice.

Eugene O'Reilly, Patrick Muldoon and James Day, of this city, went fishing yesterday in Baritan Bay, and had fair luck. The men were witnesses to a case of quick justice meted out in Metuchen. A man caught abusing his horse in Metuchen streets was brought before Justice A. L. Morse, given a hearing and fined $30 inside of twenty minutes.

Refused Tempting Offer.

It is reported that Mrs. William B. T. Lane has refused an offer of $50,000 made by Major Lillie, of Pawnee Bill's Show, for the Lane homestead. The property has been in the Lane family since 1864. At that time the Lane estate comprised a large part of Plainfield.

Festival Postponed.

The St. Mary's baseball club has decided to postpone its "midsmumer night's festival" to August 5 on account of the death of the Pope. The festival was scheduled for Thursday of this week.

PLAINFIELD'S RATE REMAINS AT $2.50

Board of Tax Assessors Fixes County Rate at $2.52 For Coming Year.

THE COMPLETE TABLE

TAXABLE VALUES HERE HAVE INCREASED $341,000.

Total Valuations of City Over Nine Million Dollars—Rate for Cranford and Summit Over $300—Those in Other Places.

The Union County Board of Tax Assessors met yesterday at Elizabeth for the purpose of fixing the taxable valuations of the boroughs, towns and cities and determining upon the State and school tax proportions for each. William Eckerson, of Elizabeth, was chairman and John J. Farrelly, secretary.

Plainfield was represented at the meeting by its Board of Assessors. The total valuation of this city being reported as $9,333,000, an increase over last year of $341,000. The valuations throughout the county go up over $1,800,000. The county rate for the coming year will be $2.52, an increase of two points over last year. There is one point increase in the county rate and one point increase in the State school rate.

The rate for the year in this city will be the same as last year, $2.50, but in many of the other places thoughout the county there will be a noticeable jump in the rate. This is the table for each place in the county showing this year's rate:

Clark, $1.26; Cranford, $3.24; Elizabeth, $2.96; Fanwood, $2.20; Borough Fanwood, $2.70; Garwood, $2.60; Linden, $1.60; Plainfield, $2.50; Mountainside, $2.36; New Providence, $2.36; New Providence Borough, $2.32; Roselle Borough, $2.40; Roselle Park, $2.28; Summit, $3.54; Union, $1.96; Westfield, $2.98; Rahway, $2.90.

In the above list it will be noted that there are two places, Cranford and Summit, where the rate wil be over $3 on the hundred. This is quite a jump and a large increase over last year. That Plainfield's rate will remain the same during the coming year speaks well for the city and much credit is due the Board of Assessors for its good work in keeping the rate at the same mark.

CHARGES ASSAULT.

Complaint Made by Robert Donnelly, Who Transfers Case to Justice's Court.

Robert Dofinelly yesterday, entered a complaint in the city court against Robert Kiely and Michael Gartland, charging them with having beaten and otherwise assaulted him Saturday night. Donnelly was notified to appear this morning but failed to do so and the complaint was dismissed. On the advice of his lawyer, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Donnelly took the case to Justice Hand's court where a hearing will be given today.

AT FRESH AIR CAMP.

Services Being Held in Westfield Institution This Week.

The meetings at Camp Woolfe, Westfield, are in full swing. That part of the grounds used for the services is enclosed with mosquito netting—an improvement much appreciated by all.

Tomorrow Y. P. S. C. First Presbyterian Church, Cranford; Friday, Y. P. S. C. First Presbyterian Church, Westfield. The services begin at 8 o'clock, and are open to the public.

Excursion Postponed.

Owing to the severe illness of Mrs. Andrew Cox, of East Fourth street, the proposed excursion of Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., on Thursday, has been postponed indefinitely.

Wheel Recovered.

Officer Messler found a bicycle last evening on Watchung avenue, opposite East Fourth street, which was afterwards claimed by George W. Scribner, of Columbia avenue.

CAMPER MISSING; PROBABLY DROWNED

George Honeyman, of Somerville, Supposed to Have Gone Down in River.

MISSING ON SATURDAY

HIS BOAT WAS FOUND UPTURNED ON A BANK.

Son of Philip Honeyman—Twenty-Five Years of Age—No Trace of Body—Camping Out at Weston, Near Bound Brook.

George Honeyman, twenty-five years old, who had been camping on Millstone river, at Weston, for about a month, with John Austin and Archie Crusen, of Somerville, is missing. His boat was found upturned on one of the banks a mile below the dam.

He left his companions Saturday night to go to Bound Brook for groceries. He purchased a return ticket on the railroad at Bound Brook, and that was the last seen of him. A can of oil was found on the bank of the river where the boat had been tied, but no trace of Honeyman was found.

It is supposed the boat upset while he was getting into it and that he went over the falls. The body, it is thought, may have floated down the stream to New Brunswick. The river is very high on account of the heavy rains that have fallen. Honeyman was a son of Philip Honeyman, of Somerville. The missing man wore rubber boots and a heavy overcoat which probably prevented him from swimming ashore.

MRS. ESTHER GILES' FUNERAL

SERVICES HELD IN HER LATE HOME AT OAK TREE.

Rev. Dr. Schenck, Assisted by A. P. Tulp, Officiated—Interment at South Plainfield.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Esther Giles, of Oak Tree, were held this afternoon from her late home at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of Trinity Reformed Church, assisted by A. P. Tulp, of Rutgers' Theological Seminary and the supply at Marconnier Chapel, officiated. Interment was at South Plainfield.

Mrs. Giles, who was the wife of Manley Giles, died Saturday night, following a long illness with lung trouble. She was a faithful attendant and member of Marconnier Chapel. She was sixty-one years of age and leaves a husband and three daughters, Mrs. Gardner, of Metuchen; Mrs. Cardliff and Miss Giles, who lived at home.

Excursion to Shore.

The annual excursion of the Sunday-schools of the Congregational, First Presbyterian and Park Avenue Baptist Churches will be the chief event on Thursday. The weather has been ideal for such outings and you can not spend a day more profitably than in going with these Sunday-schools to the seashore. The train leaves Plainfield at 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

Another Trial.

The case on contract between Burk and Frank Carara and Antone Ananar, of Mt. Bethel, which was to have been tried before Justice Cooper yesterday was dismissed. The case will be heard in North Plainfield in two weeks when the plaintiff's counsel returns from his vacation.

Infant's Death.

The four-months-old child of Stonewall Jackson died yesterday afternoon after an illsnes of several days. The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon and the interment will be in the family plot at Somerville.

Lawn Party.

A reception will be held at Sunset Cottage, near Mt. Horeb, Thursday evening by the Misses Voehl, of this city. Many Plainfield young people will attend the affair which will be in the nature of a lawn party.

Going Abroad.

William D. Murray and family, of East Ninth street, accompanied by George M. Griffen, of East Second street, will sail Saturday on the Steamer Columbia for Glascow.

Fined for Drunkenness.

Michael Woods was fined $3 last evening by Recorder Doud for being drunk. He was arrested Sunday afternoon on Somerset street by Chief Campbell.

THE FIRE FIGHTERS BIG CONVENTION

The Local Chief to Be Among Number From All Over the Country.

PROGRAMME ARRANGED

THIRTY-FIRST ANNUAL MEETING AT ATLANTIC CITY.

To be Largest Ever Held in This Country—Subjects of Papers—Free Discussions—Those to Participate.

Former Chief August Saltzman and Chief T. O. Doane of the local fire department will attend the thirty-first annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers which convenes at Atlantic City September 8. The sessions of the convention will be held in Marine Hall on Young's Ocean Pier, and will be called to order at 11 o'clock each day. Chiefs of the fire departments from all parts of the country, as well as Canada and several of the European cities, will attend the convention, which promises to be the largest ever held in the history of the association, not excluding that of last year, which was the largest and which was held in New York City.

A number of important papers on fire matters will be read and discussed by the delegates. Chiefs A. J. Harris, of Tampa, Fla., and John Thompson, of Toronto, Ont., will present papers, the subject being "Should Firemen be Members of Labor Unions?" Chief Henry R. Yates, of Schenectady, N. Y., will read a paper on "Deadly Fumes from Acids and Other Chemicals; How Better to Protect the Lives of Brave Firemen From Their Dangerous Effects When Engaged in Fighting Fires."

The paper by Captain William Brophy, of the Boston Fire Department, will be "Should the Chief Have Absolute Command of the Fire Department?" "Fire-proof Construction and Does It Afford Added Fire Protection" will be the subject of the paper to be read by Perry M. Stewart, superintendent of buildings of New York City.

"First Aid to the Injured at Fires; Can Firemen be Instructed so as to Render Such Aid and Should They Not Be" will be the subject of the paper to be read by Chief Edward H. Mersch, of Evanston, Ill.

Secretary Hills, in his invitation, requests each chief attending the convention to present any question he desires discussed. This will be a new feature. In former years the only matters discussed were the papers read before the delegates. Many chiefs of small departments may have an important matter to discuss, but because they have not been selected to read papers might be a little timid in presenting the matter on which they would like to hear the views of other chiefs. The rule at this coming convention will be for attendants to speak right out.

WORK ON COURTHOUSE.

No Time Being Lost by Workmen Laying Heavy Granite Blocks.

The work of laying the heavy granite blocks in the construction of the new court house building at Elizabeth, has progressed rapidly, and from the granite so far laid one can form something of an idea as to what its architectural beauty will be.

The largest portion of work so far done is on the side facing Rahway avenue. As has been stated, the basement wall on that side is up, and at the present time the stone masons are as speedily as possible placing in position the blocks of carved granite which form the outside wall of the first story.

No work has as yet been done toward laying granite on the northerly side, although it is expected the work on that side will shortly be commenced.

STREET IMPROVEMENT.

Work Being Done Under Supervision of Street Commissioner.

The street department started work yesterday on the repaving and leveling of West Fifth street from Arlington avenue to Plainfield avenue. The work has been started from the western end of the thoroughfare beginning at Plainfield avenue. The culverts at the intersection of Clinton avenue and West Second street has been repaired and gutters placed so as to allow a free passage of water in case of heavy storm.

MISS CURRY TALKS ON FRESH AIR WORK

Addresses the Trinity Reformed Church Christian Endeavor Society.

TELLS OF UNDERTAKING

WHAT'S BEING DONE TO MAKE HEALTHY POOR MOTHERS AND CHILDREN.

The Improvements at Netherwood Fresh Air Home—Buildings to Be Dedicated Next Sunday—The Donor.

Miss Sarah Curry, matron of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, was the principal speaker at the Christian Endeavor Society of the Trinity Reformed Church last evening. Her address on the work of the camp and the good that has been done among the poorer classes in New York awakened much interest in the work. She had with her several of the children from the camp.

Miss Curry sketched of the plans now underway for increasing the efficiency of the Home. Among those now at the place are tired and care-worn mothers from the densely populated tenements in the great city. She told of the care of the 165 women and children now at the camp. Thirty-five of that number are mothers. When they came here all but two were sick and run down, and today all are well and happy, with two exceptions.

Accommodations are now being made for the accommodation of men. They come to the camp so as to be with their families over Sunday but heretofore no provisions has been made for them. A new building is being erected on the other side of the pond where the men can be accommodated over night.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the buildings at the camp will be dedicated. Rev. E. M Rodman, rector-emeritus of the Grace Episcopal Church, will be the principal speaker. The buildings are given by Alexander Morgan, a prominent member of the New York Stock Exchange, and a distant relative of J. Pierpont Morgan.

THOUGHT THEY WERE BURGLARS

FRIGHTENED SERVANT SUMMONS POLICE FORCES.

Two Little Boys Peeking Into Councilman Lee's Home Alarm the Domestic.

Two small boys peering into the windows of Councilman Charles Lee's house in North Plainfield yesterday afternoon cause the entire police force of the borough and part of the police department of this city to be summoned to the spot on a hurry call.

A servant was at home alone during the afternoon and while passing from the parlor into the dining room as startled to see two faces peering into the front windows. The frightened domestic ran to the telephone and sent in a hurry call for the police. Marshals Campbell and Fahn were the first to arrive on the scene but while they were on their way the servant thought she would be doubly sure of protection and sent a call in to Chief Kiely, of this city. She declared that burglars were trying to break into the house.

The borough marshals hurried to the place buckling on clubs and pistols as they ran. Three guardians of the peace arrived at the house at the same time. There they found two little boys standing on tip toes looking into the parlor windows and playing on the porch. The boys heard in what estimation the police officials held them and were later released.

Realty News.

William Jeffery, real estate broker, has sold for the Investors Realty Company thirty-five lots on Elk and Fourth streets and Rushmore avenue, to James E. Totten, who will proceed to improve them by erecting buildings at an early date.

Arrived in England.

Corporation Counsel and Mrs. Craig A. Marsh arrived safely in Plymouth, Eng., yesterday. Cablegram to that effect was received in the afternoon by Mr. Marsh's relatives in this city.

Mr. McCullough a Delegate.

R. H. McCullough, of North Plainfield, has been selected by the New Jersey Federation of Catholic Societies to attend the sessions of the National body.

FUGITIVE'S PROPERTY TO BE SOLD NOW

Henry Watson's Household Goods to Be Disposed Of to Satisfy His Creditors.

SON'S BROTHERLY LOVE

YOUNG SAMUEL WATSON TRYING TO SUPPORT SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

Lad But Seventeen, Serving His Apprenticeship, Has Been the Support of Family—Aunt to Care For Children Now.

The final chapter in the arrest and escape from jail of Harry Watson, of the borough, will be enacted tomorrow when the household goods belonging to the fugitive will be sold at a public sale by William N. Pangborn to satisfy a claim held by Edward Ryan, a grocer. The action was taken in Justice Smalley's court.

Behind the sale is the story of a young boy, not yet seventeen years of age, taking care of his seven brothers and sisters, all younger than himself and who is determined to live down the disgrace of his father. Samuel Watson is a plumber's apprentice in the employ of William C. Krausse of Vine street. Since the arrest of his father for incest, young Watson has been trying to support his brothers and sisters. He has been partly successful but tradesmen, who had claims against the lad's father needed their money and tomorrow the household effects will be sold.

Young Watson will use a portion of the money secured from the sale for the purpose of sending his brothers and sisters to an aunt in Philadelphia, Pa., who has promised to take care of them. Young Watson is anxious to complete his apprenticeship, will remain in this city for that purpose.

SECRETLY MARRIED.

Former Plainfield Girl Said She Was Going to Coney—But She Didn't.

George Palmer, an employe of the Johnson & Johnson Company, of New Brunswick, and Miss May Whitehead, formerly employed in the office of a local machine shop, were married Sunday in New York. Miss Whitehead resided in Morristown and was visiting at Mr. Palmer's home. Sunday the pair announced their intention of spending the day in Coney Island, and the next heard from them was a telegram from New York stating that they were married. Both are about nineteen years old.

VIOLATED ORDINANCE.

Felix Borrowiski Forgot That One Should Not Ride a Wheel on the Sidewalk.

Felix Borrowiski rode a bicycle on the sidewalk yesterday and Roundsman William Mattox pulled him in. The officer forgot the man's name, however, and but for the latter's honesty in appearing this morning, it would have been necessary to dismiss the case. Mr. Borrowiski asserted that he had forgotten that it was a punishable misdemeanor to ride on the sidewalk, and City Judge Runyon, this morning jogged his memory. Sentence was suspended.

OLDEST BUILDING HERE.

The Structure in East Front Street Erected Just Sixty-One Years Ago.

Few people in this city know that the building at 121 Front street, almost opposite Park avenue, is the first brick building ever erected in this city. A. M. Griffen occupies the ground floor. The building was erected sixty-one years ago by Thomas S. Alberti, father of Mrs. A. A. Titsworth, of New Brunswick. Mr. Alberti and Mrs. Titsworth formerly lived in this city. The brick used in the construction of the building were hauled to this city by teams from Sayreville, six miles south of New Brunswick.

Camping Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Runyon, of West Front street, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. McNabb, of Franklin avenue, left Saturday for a three weeks' camping trip at Sea Breeze Point, Staten Island.

Miss Leech.

A baby girl was born to Mrs. Thomas Leech, of 209 West Second street, yesterday. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan is the attending physician.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

"Bert" Sherman, of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, is visiting relatives at Asbury Park.

William Apgar, timekeeper at the Pond Machine Tool Company works shop, commenced his annual vacation yesterday.

William Walker has returned to his work at the Pond Machine Tool Company factory, after a ten days' visit at Asbury Park.

Hugh Gray, after an illness lasting for three months, has returned to his work at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

Harold Bowman returned to his desk in the office at the Pond Machine Tool Company works today, after two weeks' vacation in the country.

Frank Carroll, of Rosedale, N. J., has moved to this city, where he has secured employment in the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

Fred Sisson and Thomas Cullan, of the Campbell Printing Prses Works, are in New York erecting a large auto press for a metropolitan newspaper.

A copy of the laws of New Jersey, regarding factories, have been placed in all the local shops by the factory inspectors, who have been making their annual visitations to the institutions.

Thomas Condy, of the Aluminum Plate and Press Company factory, left for Buffalo today to set up two new machines for the Buffalo Enquirer, which were recently shipped by the local shop.

Labor societies throughout the country are claiming the honor of having first proposed the Louisiana Exposition. The subject was first advocated by the labor unions on January 23, 1898, when resolutions were first adopted, which eventually brought about the result.

Thomas Schaefer, a machinist formerly employed at the Potter Press Company's plant, is at Asbury Park in charge of a moving-picture machine. Mr. Schaefer, after graduating from the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant some years ago, started in the theatrical business, beginning with the Plainfield Fife and Drum Corps as drum major. After twirling a year for these people he went with the Corse Payton Stock Company, swinging Indian clubs, and twirling a brass club with a lighted torch on each end. This feat won him good standing in the theatrical field. Two years ago Schaefer purchased a moving picture machine, and made a tour of the country with different stock companies. He is now located at the "Old Mill" in Asbury Park acting as the American agency for the Lumere Conmentgraph Company, of London.

William Ross, of West Second street, has returned from a trip to Liberty Corner, where he has been spending his vacation at the home of relatives.

LITERARY.

President Roosevelt does love to talk, but people like to hear him. The professors of rhetoric may say that he is too emphatic, didactic, hortatory. At least he does not speak through a mask. You feel that a man—at times, perhaps, a boy—is saying what he means. Frequently, as in his speech at the St. Louis exposition, he says it well, with dignity, and with authority. In none of his speeches did he utter a word than can be used to his political injury. It pays to be straightforward; and Mr. Roosevelt's method is really more sensible and effective than the ordinary politician's continual gingerly balancing on wires and tiptoeing on egg-shells. See Everybody's Magazine for August.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

When preparing to leave for the sea shore have the wardrobe renovated by S. Hirsch, of 430 Watchung avenue. He makes a specialty of remodeling gowns at reasonable prices.

Jewelry and silverware at the lowest possible rates are sold at the jewelry store of Carl Silbert on Somerset street. A full assortment is always kept in stock and watch and other repairing is made a specialty of.

When in need of fresh fruits and vegetables R. W. Barnes can supply you at prices which defy competitors. The quality of his stock is known to all thrifty housekeepers. Trade at his store and be contented. Park and North avenues.

There's no sense in getting bald headed. Try Reynold's Petroleum Hair Tonic when your hair begins to fall out. It is on sale at T. S. Armstrong's drug store on Park avenue. Makes the scalp heathy and makes the hair grow naturally.

J. S. Hansen, of East Front street, is the man who will do your decorating in the best and cheapest manner. If you want proof of it go inside of any one of a thousand pretty homes in Plainfield which have papered throughout by Hansen.

With some people any kind of milk will do, but with those who have used the kind sold by Wm. Lindsay & Sons, the Mountain avenue dairy-men, they do not want to use any other kind. The reason is plain. The quality of the milk is superior and it will keep in the warmest of weather.

Mrs. G. Meissner, of Watchung avenue, makes a specialty of washing delicate fabrics. Many people rather than send a dress made of delicate laces to a steam laundry or have an unexperienced laundress do them up send them to Mrs. Meissner. She guarantees satisfaction, and no tears.

There is a vast difference in paints as to quality and the method of putting the same on a house. The New York Painting and Decorating Company, of Park avenue, handle only the one kind of paint, the best, and the company employes only first-class men to do its work. The same is also true of wall-papers sold by this concern.

AMUSEMENTS.

Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre is now in the midst of the most successful summer season it has ever had. The stock company is fully up to the standard that was maintained here all through the past winter season. Many new vaudeville specialties are interspersed between the acts of the comedy, and are picked only from the first class variety field. At this playhouse one is always assured of a splendid entertainment, courteous treatment, and every possible modern comfort.

Just how strong "The Earl of Pawtucket" and Lawrence D'Orsay, the star at the Manhattan Theatre have become with amusement lovers of the metropolis, as well as with the theatre-going public of the entire country, as it is represented by the throng of transients in New York, is manifested by the fact that notwithstanding the intense heat and the six months' stay of the comedy and star at the Manhattan Theatre, there is absolutely no cessation in the attendance that would warrant the belief that the merry play is waning in popular favor.

Fred Stone, who plays the scarecrow in "The Wizard of Oz," at the Majestic Theatre, has to stand motionless for eighteen minutes at a stretch, perched upon a pole in a cornfield, while a scene is taking place in the foreground. The eyes of the audience are constantly upon him and he must not move a muscle of his face or body or the illusion would be destroyed. His outstretched arms are supported by a cross piece nailed to the pole, and during the first performance of "The Wizard of Oz" both of Stone's arms went to sleep and when Dorothy came to take him from the pole he really needed her support until he could restore the circulation.

New Jersey at St. Louis.

An elaborate work on the resources and advantages of this State, for distribution at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, is being compiled by Ellis R. Meeker, of Elizabeth. The object is to attract special attention to the great progress being made in the State, prominently setting forth its desirability as a place of residence, manufacturing and kindred industries, agricultural pursuits, investment and general employment. Mr. Meeker is well qualified for the work by interest in State affairs and acquaintance with the public men.

LEO XIII. IS AT REST

Dies With Words of Benediction on His Lips.

LAST LOOK WAS ON THE CROSS

Supreme Power In the Hands of the Sacred College.

CARDINAL OREGLIA NOW RULES.

In Pontiff's Last Moments He Said, "The Pain I Suffer Is Most Terrible," Yet His Parting Whispers Were Blessings on the Cardinals and His Relatives.

ROME, July 21.—Pope Leo XIII. is dead. The last flicker of life expired at four minutes past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the pontiff now lies at rest.

The period of over two weeks that Pope Leo passed in the shadow of death was no less wonderful than his life. His splendid battle against disease was watched the world over with sympathetic admiration and ended only after a series of tremendous efforts to conquer the weakness of his aged frame by the marvelous will power of his mind.

The pleuro pneumonia with which his holiness had been suffering was scarcely so responsible for his death as that inevitable decay of tissue which ensues upon ninety-three years of life. The tested steel which had bent so often before human ills was bound to break at last. The emaciated and lifeless frame which held so brave a spirit lies on the bed in the Vatican beside which almost all the world has prayed.

The red damask coverlet rests lightly over the body, the cardinal's scarlet cape is about the shoulders, while on his head has been placed the papal hood of velvet bordered with ermine.

A white silk handkerchief is bound about his chin, and in the hands which have blessed so many thousands has been placed a crucifix. The body will be watched by uniformed officers of the noble guard and rough clad Franciscan penitentiaries, who will keep a ceaseless vigil until the burial occurs.

Today the sacred college of cardinals will assemble for the impressive ceremony of officially pronouncing Pope Leo dead. After this sad function has been performed the body will be taken to the small throne room adjoining the death chamber, where it will be embalmed.

The funeral ceremonies will extend over nine days, the remains being removed to the cathedral of St. Peter's, where they will lie in state. The ultimate resting place of the dead pontiff will be in the magnificent basilica of St. John the Lateran.

Pope Leo's final moments were marked by that same serenity and devotion and, when he was conscious, that calm intelligence which is associated with his twenty-five years' pontificate. His was no easy death. An hour before he died, turning to Dr. Lapponi and his devoted valet, Pio Centra, he murmured, "The pain I suffer is most terrible." Yet his parting words were not of the physical anguish that he suffered, but were whispered benedictions upon the cardinals and his nephews, who knelt at the bedside, and the last look of his almost sightless eyes was toward the great ivory crucifix hanging in the death chamber.

Practically all the cardinals now in Rome, kneeling at the bedside, watched the passing of his soul. Earlier in the day Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli had impressively pronounced the absolution in articulo mortis. The condition of his holiness varied from agony to coma. Wishing to relieve him, Dr. Mazzoni suggested that morphine should be administered, but Dr. Lapponi did not agree, fearing that the end might be quickened.

Of this supreme moment Dr. Lapponi gives an impressive description. He said:

"Death occurred through exhaustion, although in the last two hours Pope Leo made a supreme effort to gather together all his energies. He succeeded in recognizing those about him by the sound of their voices, as his sight was almost entirely lost. Still he made a marvelous display of his energy, and even his death was really grand. It was resigned, calm and serene. Very few examples can be given of a man of such advanced age after so exhaustive an illness showing such supreme courage in dying.

"The pontiff's last breath was taken exactly at four minutes past 4. I approached a lighted candle to his mouth three times, according to the traditional ceremonial, and afterward declared the pope to be no more. I then went to inform Cardinal Oreglia, the dean of the sacred college, who immediately assumed full power and gave orders that the Vatican be cleared of all curious persons having no right to be therein. Contemporaneously, the cardinal instructed Mgr. Right, master of ceremonies, to send the Swiss guards from the Clementine hall to close all the entrances to the Vatican and dismiss all persons from the death chamber, the body being intrusted to the Franciscan penitentiaries."

Meantime events of momentous importance to Catholic Christendom were occurring. The death of Pope Leo meant the passing of the supreme power into the hands of the sacred college of cardinals as its temporary custodian during the interregnum. The perfect administrative machinery of the church provided against the slightest interruption of the governing authority. As the senior member of the sacred college Cardinal Oreglia, to whom the pope solemnly confided the interests of the church, has now become the exponent of the cardinals until Pope Leo's successor has been elected. This has brought forth Cardinal Oreglia as the striking personality of the hour.

The cardinal is the exact antithesis of Pope Leo, having none of the late pontiff's sympathetic and benevolent characteristics. He comes from a noble Piedmontese stock, and his nobility is shown in his haughty and austere bearing. He is not popular among his colleagues or the Romans, and his brusque manner has earned him the title of "The Piedmont Bear." He is tall and robust, and his seventy-four years are shown by the whiteness of his hair. His face has the tawny hue of old parchment and is deeply lined. Despite his austerity the cardinal's learning and piety are universally recognized. This is the man who for the time being is practically pope. It was he who issued the orders to clear the Vatican from intruders and brought tranquillity out of the confusion immediately following Pope Leo's death.

At 4:20 o'clock in the afternoon a man dashed across the square of St. Peter's, while another followed on a bicycle. Within a few seconds, as if by magic, newspaper men, gendarmes and messengers, running, driving and gesticulating, dashed to and from the portals of the Vatican. Like a wireless message there flashed around the words, "He is dead." Rubbing the afternoon sleep from their eyes, bareheaded men and women, many carrying babies, emerged from the darkened houses and cafes and besieged the door of the Vatican.

The quick movement and tense feeling of the rapidly gathering crowd now permeated where a few minutes before there had been no sign of life. The French ambassador's carriage drove furiously from the Vatican and drew up at a near by telegraph office. Without waiting for the horses to stop the ambassador jumped out and notified his government of the pope's death.

There soon followed the cardinals, who, with set faces, drove slowly homeward. Behind the shutters of Pope Leo's room, which still remained closed, all was over. The heavy bronze doors were swung to, and entrance to the Vatican was only obtainable by knocking at a little wicket which was closely kept within by the papal guard and without by the Italian police. The latter had been slightly re-enforced, but had no difficulty in controlling the crowds, who were allowed to remain in the square, just as they were accustomed to do before the death, but not to enter the Vatican itself.

Carriages kept rattling up, their occupants mostly holding in their hands extra editions announcing the pope's death which the local papers quickly got out. On the steps of St. Peter's sat a group of young Roman princes discussing the situation. Near by was gathered almost every type of peasant and working woman who make "Rome so picturesque." A few entered the basilica itself and there offered up prayers for Pope Leo's soul. Among the supplicants were many monks, who, with hands uplifted, prayed long and earnestly at the gates of the dimly lighted shrines.

The greatest interest is now centered in the work of the holy conclave which is to select the successor of Leo XIII. Speculations, prophecies and predictions come from every direction in favor of the various candidates. The comparatively long illness of Leo has had the effect of narrowing the chances of some who entered the contest with what was thought to be the brightest prospects, while it has brought forward the prominence of others who at first were hardly considered. The result is that they are all now on about the same level.

It is said that there has never been a conclave in which there are so many candidates who have a fair chance of winning. Such a situation might lead to a struggle of much longer duration than that of 1878, when Leo was elected. That conclave lasted scarcely three days. The contest would be prolonged especially if after the early ballots the different parties whose exact strength could only then be established persist in remaining faithful to the favorites instead of joining forces with those of candidates having better chances.

In 1878, when Pius IX. died, it was evident to all that the cardinals who had the best chances of success were Cardinals Bilio and Pecci. The former would certainly have been elected if he had not made in the conclave a written statement declaring that he would not accept the tiara, as, having compiled the syllabus, he would be open to an attack which would have been detrimental to the church. Therefore the nomination of Cardinal Pecci followed without obstacle.

Now there are a half dozen at least who are entering the conclave with equal chances of success. It is believed that the foreign cardinals will ultimately give the casting votes, as, living far away from Rome, where different factions form and flourish, they will be more impartial, especially as it is admitted by all that the new pope will be chosen from among the Italian candidates. For this latter reason these cannot be national rivalry among the foreigners.

From a most reliable source it is learned that the considerable talk which is going the rounds to the effect that certain foreign powers might exercise the right of veto in the conclave is unfounded. What the powers desire is not that the new pope should be friendly to any particular power, but that he should conduct the affairs of the papacy in a peaceful, equitable, religious manner without stirring up international strife.

Indeed it is supposed that the rumor that Austria might attempt to exercise the right of exclusion against Cardinal Rampolla was started by the friends of the latter in order to have him appear as a persecuted martyr. The most prominent candidates for the succession are Cardinals Gotti, Oreglia, Agliardi, Serafino Vannutelli, Capecelatro, Sarto, Rampolla, Di Pietro, Stampa, Ferrari, Satolli and Richelmy.

Pope Leo's last day on earth was full of physical anguish, and this was heightened by fleeting moments of consciousness, which permitted him fully to recognize the slow approach of his end. The complete coma of Sunday night was broken by periods of lucidity. When the doctors assembled in the sick room for the regular conference the aged sufferer recognized them and mournfully said their task would soon be over. The doctors recognized that the catastrophe was very near and so informed Cardinals Rampolla and Oreglia and the other leading figures of the sacred college.

Toward noon the pontiff had a distinct sinking spell, during which his heart almost ceased to beat. The cardinals and Pope Leo's relatives were hastily summoned, and word spread through the Vatican that death had actually occurred. But despite the imminence of danger the pope again rallied. Even while the cardinals stood about the bedside expecting the advent of death the sufferer opened his eyes, and his lips moved with words of benediction. He recognized and spoke to Cardinal Oreglia and, still thinking of the church he loved so well, confided its interests to the dean of the sacred college. The cardinals, prelates and the dying man's relatives knelt beside the bed and kissed his hand.

For two hours the pope lingered in a state of semiconsciousness. About 2 o'clock it became again apparent that his life was fast ebbing away. The cardinals and his relatives were again summoned from the adjoining chamber. Prayers for the dying were said, and absolution in articulo mortis was administered. Still the spark of life continued to flicker, gradually growing dimmer and dimmer.

At 2:45 p. m. the doctors detected the approach of the final agony. Some slight signs of consciousness remained, and the dying pontiff muttered some inaudible words. Gradually his power of speech and sight were blunted, and he could neither see nor speak. Thus the chill of death gradually overspread him until at 4 o'clock the struggle ended and he passed into the endless sleep of eternity.

By a strange coincidence this is the birthday of former Queen Margherita, the mother of King Victor Emmanuel, and flags had been raised all over the city in her honor, giving it a festive appearance. By express desire no salutes were fired, as is customary, so that the pontiff might not be disturbed, especially as there is a fort near the Vatican. When the king heard of this desire he had telegraphic orders sent all over the kingdom that no salutes should be fired. In Rome on the fact of the death becoming known many of the displayed flags were withdrawn and shops closed. Bulletins announcing Pope Leo's death are being pasted to the closed shutters, and all the theaters are closed, placards being put out saying there was no performance as a sign of mourning for Leo XIII. All the newspapers, including those favorable to the present institutions, publish long eulogistic articles about the deceased.

The only discordant note is struck by the Socialist organ Avanti, which says: "We Socialists without disdain, but with indifference, pass before this corpse and await the new enemy."

The government has renewed the most energetic orders, Premier Zanardelli attending to the work personally to insure order about the Vatican, but it cannot and will not participate directly in the mourning.

A little scene which occurred will better than anything else illustrate what is the present feeling between the two parties which so bitterly fought against one another until 1870, when the temporal power fell. When the death of the pontiff became known inside the basilica of St. Peter's an old captain of the pontifical army went to kneel in a chapel where the sacrament was exposed. A young captain in the Italian army followed him, and, kneeling together, both prayed for the repose of the soul of their common holy father.

Immediately following the death of the pope cablegrams and telegrams were dispatched to all parts of the world notifying the sovereigns, rulers and foreign governments of the demise. Before night fell many telegrams of condolence reached the Vatican, coming from emperors, kings, political rulers and high church dignitaries abroad. The Vatican officials are deluged with these messages.

July Clearing Sales.

THE third and greatest week of the most colossal sale of summer merchandise that has ever occurred in Newark. Surplus stocks, odd lots, line ends and remnants—thousands of dollars' worth of seasonable and staple goods at a mere fraction of former markings and in numerous instances selling for prices that nowhere near cover cost of production.

Shirt Waist Selling Furor.

NO EVENT ever planned in our famous second floor department has been so fully calculated to create a sensation. All of our White Swiss and Lawn Waists are involved, and the labor expended in their production is scarcely paid for in the prices put upon them. Beautifully trimmed with laces or embroideries, and many exquisitely hemstitched—tucked backs, collars and cuffs—a few Irish Linen Waists in the assortment, with medallions and Mexican hand drawn work. See window display.

Governor Bates is wise. He has found a way of avoiding office seekers.

When Common Council meets in August the public will expect a report from the public park commission. The scheme is a popular one and the commission should not hesitate to recommend that the land be purchased for the purpose. A park is one of the few needs in this city and its establishment should be but a question of months.

In its account of doings at Sea Girt the Newark News says: "One thing which pleased all who have been here throughout the entire encampment was the fact that the band did not play 'Hiawatha.' We don't know whether this is intended to be rough on the band or on the tune, but we have suffered somewhat from the way that catchy air is being overdone.

Which will be king, Waterboy or McChesney? The great contest between these two thoroughbreds, the one representing the East and the other the West, will draw one of the largest crowds that ever gathered at Brighton. Not in years has there been so much interest taken in an event on the turf and since the records have been tumbling this season so frequently the racetrack enthusiasts expect great things at Brighton tomorrow.

Leo XIII has passed away and with his death has come the end of a glorious chapter in Roman Catholic Church history. He lived to see a wonderful change in the religious world much of the credit for the transformation being due to himself. The liberal policy which he pursued won him the admiration of the great army of Christendom which does not subscribe to that creed and endeared him to those within the fold. There is less religious bigotry today and Leo XIII is largely responsible for this. The greatest tribute paid to his memory is that emanating from the Protestant pulpit all over the civilized world. He was justly esteemed for his goodliness and broadmindness and his memory is indeed cherished.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

South avenue was graded to the borough line about the year of 1873. The road terminated at the eastern boundary of the Sutphen property. Now the Sutphen estate has taken up the matter and continued the spacious avenue to Fifth avenue. The Borough Council now has the acceptance of this street under consideration. It will make the adjoining land very suitable for building purposes, and as it is free from trolleys, is destined to become one of our most popular drives.

There will be an important meeting of the directors of the Building and Loan Association Thursday evening at the Call office. Important business will be transacted and a full attendance is desired.

Herbert Dyer, of Cincinnati, who has been visiting Archie Brakeley for the past month, has returned home.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The game Saturday afternoon on the local diamond between the locals and St. Mary's will be one of the best games of the season. Manager Johnston will have his full team out. "Chick" will be on short and if Kavanagh is not found in right field the fans can rest assured that his part of the garden will be well taken care of. The visitors have been strengthened up and will have a fast lineup that will keep the locals guessing.

The Brookside Gun Club, which has been lying dormant since the ball season opened, are beg nning to make preparations for active work at the traps again. Several new members have joined the club and regular Saturday afternoon shoots will be held during the fall and winter months.

"Gilpin," the large Newfoundland dog which has been the pet of the George W. Marsh family for a number of years, was killed Sunday night by Officer Guerrier. Gilpin had been suffering for several days from an incurable disease, so it was decided to end the poor animal's suffering.

Invitations are out for the approaching marriage of Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Whitenack, to John Kandelky, of New York. The happy event will take place at the Methodist Church on Saturday, August 1.

Mrs. J. A. Cubberley and sister have started for an extended visit in central and northern New York.

William Hamilton made a business trip to New Brunswick this morning.

AS A SPEAKER.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer Much in Demand at Farmers Gatherings.

Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer is rapidly taking a prominent position as a speechmaker. On the morning of August 6 he has been engaged to make the principal address before the farmers at Neshanic Station, and on the fifteenth of the same month he will make an address at Lake Grinnell, in Sussex county. The farmers of that locality are going to hold their annual picnic and Mr. Swackhamer will be the principal speaker of the occasion.

"The Democratic Needs of New Jersey" will be the subject of a speech by the "Domocratic Moses from Somerset" at the farmers' picnic at the fair grounds at Flemington on August 19. The picnic will be in charge of the Farmers' Alliance, the chairman of which association has secured Mr. Swackhamer as speaker for that, the greatest day in Flemington. Pottersville is also to be honored with an address by "the future Governor of New Jersey" on August 26. At that time the farmers will cease their labors and gather at Pottersville for a day of fun and frolic.

DEADLY CONFLICT.

Italians Slash Each Other—One in County Jail and the Other Dead.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 21—Pelino Debacco is in the county jail here charged with having stabbed a fellow Italian, Liberatto Palobizio. The men engaged in a stabbing affray, yesterday, Debacco alleging that Palobizio provoked the assault and knifed him first, and that he slashed back to defend himself. Both men reside at Gladstone. Palobizio died in the Morristown Hospital last night. Debacco is only slightly wounded.

EVENTS AT NETHERWOOD HOME

PROGRAMME FOR WEEK AT FRESH AIR INSTITUTION.

Outing in Park and Entertainments at Home Make the Young Ones Happy.

Religious services at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, last evening were in charge of a delegation of members of the Rahway M. E. Church. The visitors expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the work of the home. This evening's meeting is under direction of the Rescue Mission of Plainfield.

Tomorrow the children and mothers will enjoy an outing at a local park and provisions are being made for a jolly time. In the evening, Martin A. Korff, of this city, will entertain the children. The First Baptist Church of this city will have charge Thursday evening, and the Baptist Church of Roselle will conduct Friday's meeting.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will initiate five candidates, tomorrow evening. A smoker and social time will follow.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 2e, F. and A. M., will hold a regular communication this evening and confer the third degree on four candidates.

Four candidates will be put through the third rank in the Knights of the Golden Eagle, this evening. The work will be done by the home team.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will hold an important meeting this evening. As this will be the last meeting for several weeks, a full attendance of members is desired.

The annual State pow-wow of the Independent Order Red Men was held on Sunday in Liederkranz Hall, Newark, with sixty Indians present as delegates. The business considered was chiefly of a routine sort. In the afternoon officers were chosen for the ensuing year. Fred Petry, of Newark, was chosen grand chief. Notwithstanding that Plainfield boasts of many Red Men not one is represented in the new board of officers.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss Leighton has resigned her position as an operator at the local telephone office.

—Walter Sheridan, of Flemington, has secured a position with Fred Endress, of West Front street.

—William Simmons, who has been employed for some time at the Manganese Steel Safe Works, has resigned to take a position at the Pederick-Ayres Company's plant.

—The new horse purchased by the city for the use of the police patrol wagon is now being exercised every day by Chief Kiely or one of his assistants.

—Harrison Codding and his son-in-law, William Morrison, of Mountain avenue, went to Madison Sunday in an Oldsmobile. They made the distance of thirty-six miles there and back in three hours.

—Work has been going on for several days in relaying the flagstone pavements on Elmwood place. Some of the sidewalks have been above the grade of the streets and these have been lowered so as to conform with the grade of the street.

—A tall chimney on the house of George Schlereth, of Chatham street, blew down sometime Sunday night and some of the occupants of the house had narrow escapes as they were asleep directly beneath a skylight which was shattered.

Lewis Clark, of Lincoln place, is confined to his home by illness.

Miss Elizabeth Perine, of Martinsville, is the guest of Miss Alice DeMott, of Somerset street.

pal court, the college of cardinals will just before entering the conclave hold a formal reception of the diplomats accredited to the Vatican. At this reception it is the practice for the diplomats to express verbally the condolences of their sovereigns on the demise of the pope. Secretary Hay has been officially advised of Pope Leo's death by the American embassy here.

The death of the pope brings about a widespread change in all the administrative departments of the church and considerably influences questions of church policy. The change within the Vatican affects practically all the officials, from the highest to the lowest. Cardinal Rampolla retires from the post of secretary of state, where he exercised a strong influence owing to the physical infirmities of Leo. Other high officials are similarly affected—the master of the chamber, the undersecretary of state, the vicar of Rome, the vice chancellor, the grand penitentiary, the librarian of the Vatican and a host of lesser officials.

These will continue to exercise their functions until the new pope is elected, when he will designate his own secretary of state and other officials to carry on the various important branches of the church's work. Thus there is a complete transformation of apostolic authority, the death of the pope meaning the nominal death of all the officials under him.

The propaganda alone remains intact, as the prefect and entire machinery of the propaganda is unaffected. The chief international questions which may be affected by the death of the pope are those connected with the suppression of religious orders in France and the change of the clergy in the new Spanish-American possessions.

CONSTITUTION WINS AGAIN.

Reliance Defeated In Fair Trial of Speed.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 21.—The Constitution is rapidly becoming a dangerous rival of the Reliance for the honor of defending the trophy, for the older boat defeated the new one in a run of thirty-seven miles, the third of the New York Yacht club cruise from New London, by 1 minute and 29 seconds, availing herself of her time allowance, estimated at about 2 minutes and 17 seconds. This is the second time on the present cruise that the Constitution has won from her rival on time allowance, and, while the victory on the first occasion from Glen Cove to New Haven was due in some measure to changeable breezes, the conditions of the present race were as fair for one as the other.

The two yachts sailed on practically even terms for nearly ten miles along the southern Rhode Island shore, with sheets well flattened, and it was not until half the course had been covered that the Reliance was out from under the Constitution and safely in the lead.

The Columbia sailed a lonesome race, dropping behind from the start and finishing more than ten minutes behind the Reliance.

The run was made in good time through the able assistance of a nice breeze from the southeast, which enabled the yachts to sail almost the entire distance from Race rock to Point Judith sharp on the starboard tack and the last seven miles to the finish on a broad reach.

LIPTON STOPPED RACE.

Shamrock III. Did Good Work—Sir Thomas Pays Respect to Leo.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 21.—Ten miles an hour for thirty miles, windward and leeward, was the rattling pace set by Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger in a race with Shamrock I. in the water of the international course off Sandy Hook lightship.

The challenger's exact time for thirty miles was 2h. 59m. 20s., very nearly record time for a cup event and on a par with the Reliance's splendid performance off Newport in June, when the American yacht covered thirty miles in less than 3 hours.

The yachts were preparing for another brush when Sir Thomas received notice by De Forest wireless telegraph that the pope was dead. Sir Thomas immediately stopped the racing, and the Erin's ensign is displayed at half mast in tribute to the memory of Pope Leo XIII.

Sixty Firemen Now Out.

HOLYOKE, Mass., July 21.—About thirty stationary firemen obeyed the order to strike in the mills of the American Writing Paper company, Parsons No. 2, Carew and Hampshire companies. These, with those previously idle, make about sixty firemen now out. No other change is reported in the strike situation, the Linden mill of the American company being in full operation, as on Saturday.

Negro Got Nineteen Years.

FREEHOLD, N. J., July 21.—Thomas Thomas, a negro who broke into Mayor Davis' home at Red Bank a week ago and attacked Miss Grace Davis, was convicted upon two indictments and committed at once to the state prison at Trenton to serve a sentence of nineteen years. The jury was out only five minutes.

Electric Storms at Geneva.

GENEVA, N. Y., July 21.—Two severe electrical storms passed over this city, during which several buildings were struck and several persons stunned. A heavy fall of hail accompanied the storm and did considerable damage to fruit.

Veteran Railroader Dead.

CLEVELAND, O., July 21.—T. S. Lindsey, assistant treasurer of the Lake Shore road, is dead here, aged eighty-one years. Mr. Lindsey was connected with the Lake Shore in various capacities for nearly half a century.

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS.

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every Plainfield Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptics. Nowadays the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Here is proof which should convince every Plainfield reader:

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of B. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Company, says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

An Ideal Location.
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THIN GOWNS.

Dainty Lawn Dresses—Some Useful Taffeta Costumes.

Linen and lawn gowns are among the pressing considerations of the hour. The last are very elaborate, embroidered affairs for the most part, made of the finest material, decorated with hemstitchings and mounted on the sheerest of linings.

Taffeta for linings seems to have given way to softer silks, but whole dresses are made of it and are considered very smart.

A gown of white taffeta seen recently was inset with medallions of lace and had a sack coat worn over a lace blouse. This was a very effective toilet.

The fluffy, soft gowns of mull show lace and tucks, trellis work of ribbon and applications of lace flowers, while floral patterned taffetas are to be seen made in the simplest fashion, with a perfectly plain, narrow skirt, a wide waistband of black satin and a slightly full bodice.

Elbow sleeves are again seen on many models, and they have huge drooping frills.

The dress shown is of deep scarlet taffeta trimmed with soft ecru mull tucked and embroidered.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

Foulard For Simple Gowns—Gray Linen Is Smart.

Foulard continues in high favor, white with brown spots being considered especially smart. The bodices of these foulard dresses are made overhanging a wide belt. Sometimes the sole trimming of these gowns consists of a stole effect of lace. Those fortunate enough to possess it use bits of old lace and line them with chiffon, employing shirrings of the chiffon to fill in with. Good effects are also to be obtained by puffings of tulle and narrow strips of lace.

Pale blue and pale lavender vie with old rose for pretty summer toilets.

DRESSY BLACK HAT.

Gowns of pale lavender linen are trimmed with bands of cream linen decorated with French knots in black.

Iron gray linens are used for traveling costumes consisting of a kilted skirt and a three-quarter unlined coat.

Gray linen canvas is one of the season's novelties, and when trimmed with gray and white braid it looks very dressy.

Foremost among the decorative details of the hour to be chronicled are ribbon quillings—narrow, broad, regular or in graduated widths, whichever appeals as more convincingly appropriate to the occasion. As the finish to the hem of a plaited skirt these quillings are particularly happy in a narrow width of satin ribbon, repeated two or at most three times round the hem. On a pastel blue cloth they created a distinctive outline in a delicate French gray ribbon, the short really incidental bolero being worn over a pale gray accordion kilted chiffon blouse, inlet down the front and along the shoulders with an exceptionally boldly patterned but light cream guipure lace, cuffs of the same lace running up into a deep point on the inside of the arm of the graceful full sleeves.

The black hat shown is simply trimmed with a single ostrich plume. It is suitable for wear with elaborate gowns.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

"Come back there, you fellows! Back, or you're goners!"

The sight had proved too much for some of the Sioux. Down again at furious speed came a scattered cloud of young braves, following the lead of the tall, magnificent chief who had been the hero of the earlier attack—down into the low ground, never swerving or checking pace, straight for the grove, the three or four inquisitive bluecoats in the meantime scurrying for shelter; and the yell that went up at the sight of the Indian dash and the quick reopening of the sputtering fire brought Ray, running once again to the northward edge of the timber, wondering what could be amiss. Field was lying on his blanket, just under the bank, as the captain darted by, and grinned his gratification as he heard the brief, assuring words: "Webb's here—all hands with him." An instant later a bullet whizzed through the roots of the old cottonwood above his head, and from far out afield, deadened by the rush of the wind, a dull crackle of shots told that something had recalled the Sioux to the attack, and for three minutes there was a lively fusillade all along the northward side. Then it slowly died away, and other voices, close at hand—someone speaking his name—called the lad's attention. He was weak from loss of blood, and just a little dazed and flighty. He had meant three hours agone that when he next encountered his post commander his manner should plainly show that senior that even a second lieutenant had rights a major was bound to respect. But, only mistily now he saw bending over him the keen, soldierly features—the kind, winsome gray eyes, filled with such a world of concern and sympathy—and heard the deep, earnest tones of the voice he knew so well, calling again his name and mingling cordial praise and anxious inquiry, and all the rancor seemed to float away with the smoke of the last carbine shots. He could only faintly return the pressure of that firm, muscular hand, only feebly smile his thanks and reassurance, and then, he, too, seemed floating away somewhere into space, and he could not manage to connect what Webb had been saying with the next words that fastened on his truant senses. It must have been hours later, too, for darkness had settled on the valley. A little fire was burning under the shelter of the bank. A little group of soldiers were chatting in low tone, close at hand. Among them, his arm in a sling, stood a stocky little chap whose face, seen in the flickering light, was familiar to him. So was the eager brogue in which that little chap was speaking. A steward was remonstrating, and only vaguely at first, Field grasped the meaning of his words:—

"The captain said you were not to try to follow, Kennedy, at least not until Dr. Waller saw you. Wait till he gets here. He can't be three miles back now."

"To hell wid ye!" was the vehement answer. "D'ye think I'd be maundherin' here wid the whole command gone on afther thim bloody Sioux? I've made my mark on wan o' thim, an' he's the buck I'm afther."

"He's made a mark on you, Kennedy," broke in a soldier voice. "You mad fool, trying to tackle a chief like that—even if he was hit, for he had his whole gang behind him."

"Sure he dared me out, an' what's this he called me?—a d——d thafe!—me that niver——"

"Oh, shut up, Kennedy," laughed a brother Irishman. "You were full as a goat at 'K' troop's stables—Where'd ye get the whisky if——"

"I'll lay you, Lanigan, when I get two hands agin, though I misdoubt wan would do it. It's me horse I want now and lave to go on wid the capt'n. Ready now, sir," he added, with sudden change of tone and manner, for a tall, slender form came striding into the fire light, and Field knew Blake at the instant, and would have called but for the first word from the captain's lips.

"Your heart's safe, Kennedy. I wish your head was. Your past master in blasphemy out there won't eat it, at all events."

"Did ye get him, sorr—afther all?"

"I didn't. His English spoiled my aim. 'Twas Winsor shot him. Now, you're to stay here, you and Kilmaine. The doctor may bring dispatches, and you follow us with the first to come." An orderly had led forth a saddled horse, and Blake's foot was already in the stirrup. "They say it was Red Fox himself, Kennedy," he added. "Where on earth did you meet him before?"

"Shure, I niver knew him, sorr," was the quick reply, as Blake's long, lean leg swung over the big charger's back and the rider settled in saddle.

"But he knew you perfectly well. He dared you by name when we closed on them—you and Mr. Field."

And when an hour later the veteran surgeon came and knelt by the side of the young officer reported seriously wounded, and took his hand and felt his pulse, there was something in the situation that seemed to call for immediate action. "We'll get you back to Frayne to-morrow, Field," said Waller, with kind intent. "Don't worry now."

"Don't do that, doctor," feebly, surprisingly moaned the fevered lad. "Don't take me back to Frayne!"

CHAPTER XIV.

Within 48 hours of the coming of Trooper Kennedy with his "rush" disaptches to Fort Frayne, the actors in our little drama had become widely separated. Webb and his sturdy squadron, including Ray and such of his troop as still had mounts and no serious wounds, were marching straight on for the Dry Fork of the Powder. They were 200 fighting men; and, although the Sioux had now three times that many, they had learned too much of the shooting powers of these seasoned troopers, and deemed it wise to avoid close contact. The Indian fights well, man for man, when fairly cornered, but at other times he is no true sportsman. He asks for odds of ten to one, as when he wiped out Custer on the "Greasy Grass," or Fetteman at Fort Phil Kearney—as when he tackled the Gray Fox—General Crook—on the Rosebud, and Sibley's little party among the pines of the Big Horn. Ray's plucky followers had shot viciously and emptied far too many saddles for Indian equanimity. It might be well in any event to let Webb's squadron through and wait for further accession from the agencies at the southeast, or the big, turbulent bands of Uncapapas and Minneconjus at Standing Rock, or the Cheyennes along the Yellowstone. So back went Lame Wolf and his braves, bearing Stabber with them, flitting northward again toward the glorious country beyond the "Chakadee," and on went Webb, with Blake, Gregg, Ray and their juniors, with Tracy to take care of such as might be wounded on the way; and, later still, the old post surgeon reached the Elk with guards and hospital attendants, and on the morrow began his homeward march with the dead and wounded—a sad and solemn little procession. Only 20 miles he had to go, but it took long hours, so few were the ambulances, so rough the crossings of the ravines; and, not until near nightfall was the last of the wounded—Lieut. Field—borne in the arms of pitying soldiers into the old post hospital, too far gone with fever, exhaustion and some strong mental excitement to know or care that his strange plea had been, perforce, disregarded;—to know or care later that the general himself, the commander they loved and trusted, was bending over him at dawn the following day. Ordering forward all available troops from the line of the railway, "the chief" had stopped at Laramie only long enough for brief conference with the post commander; then, bidding him come on with all his cavalry, had pushed ahead for Frayne. It couldn't be a long campaign, perhaps, with winter close at hand, but it would be a lively one. Of that the chief felt well assured.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

VENEZUELAN BATTLE

Hundreds of Rebels Dead In Streets of Ciudad Bolivar.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS' BOLD ADVANCE

Castro's Army Suffers Considerable Loss In Advancing to Capture the City Cemetery.

SOLEDAD, Venezuela, July 21.—The engagement between the government forces and the revolutionists occupying Ciudad Bolivar began in two different directions, the revolutionists opening the battle, during which the smoke over Ciudad Bolivar was so thick that it was impossible to see the city. The government troops, after a terrible fight, in which they lost more than 100 men, captured the cemetery.

The Venezuelan fleet, consisting of five men-of-war, shelled the government building at Ciudad Bolivar.

The revolutionists' flag then disappeared from the government building, and all the streets near by were captured by the government forces, and a charge of all the government soldiers on the city was ordered.

The wounded were beginning to arrive at the government headquarters from all directions, and the fight was general, but the movements could not be followed from here in consequence of the smoke caused by the fire of the artillery of the revolutionists, which seemed formidable. It was answered vigorously by the government guns, and only a few shots reached the fleet.

A block of houses opposite the government building was captured by storm, although the revolutionists seemed to be resisting desperately.

General Rivas is waiting for a signal from General Gomez, the Venezuelan commander in chief, who conducted the attack from Miraflores, to enter Ciudad Bolivar with all his reserves and fourteen guns.

Astarita Won at Brighton.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The Mexican stable's Astarita, with Hicks up, won the Sea Gull stakes at Brighton Beach. The Bathampton filly opened at 6 to 5 in the betting, but so little was thought of her chances that her price drifted back to 2 to 1. She was carrying the heavy impost of 121 pounds and handled it in clever fashion. Getting off in front and gradually increasing her lead to the finish, she won easily by two lengths from Futurita, who was one and a half lengths from the 50 to 1 shot, Stamping Ground. The 7 to 10 favorite, Mamie Worth, was badly interfered with and finished in the ruck.

Racing at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 21.—The central trotting circuit meeting at Crittenden park opened rather inauspiciously, inasmuch as rain in the middle of the day kept the people away, and the somewhat heavy track interfered with the sport. King McGrippi won the 2:35 trot in straight heats and demonstrated that he belongs in a much faster class. He stepped a half mile in 1:09, and his best mile was 2:20¾. Pescara secured second money, Belle Mac was third and Bourbon McGregor fourth. Others to start were Mikado, The Fashion, Little Boy and the Tramp.

Dick Welles Wins at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Dick Welles, J. B. Respess' record breaking three-year-old, had little difficulty in winning the Premier stakes at Hawthorne. He was in front all the way and was under restraint at the end of the mile, cantering under the wire five lengths in front of McGee. Orsina was third. Paul Aker, at 40 to 1, won the steeplechase.

OUT AT FIRST.

A meeting of the Orange Field Club, which was to have been held tomorrow evening at the home of H. C. Smith, of Westervelt avenue, has been postponed. A date will be set later for the meeting.

An effort is being made by the managers for Alis and St. Mary to arrange a game between these two teams for Saturday, August 8, on Crescent Oval. The rain Saturday upset many plans. Saturday St. Mary will play Scotch Plains and Alis will play Hope Y. M. A.

FRANK O. REINHART CHAMPION

BY DEFEATING ROBERT ABBOTT HE LEADS AT HILLSIDE.

Holds the Championship of the Baltusrol Links, Making the Record for the Links.

Frank O. Reinhart will continue to hold the championship of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club for another year. This honor came to him last Tuesday when he defeated Robert Abbott in the finals, 3 up and 2 to play. In addition to this Reinhart won the Baltusrol Club championship and he holds the record of the course (6,103 yards) in 73. He also holds the record for the Hillside course, making the 18 holes in 68 two weeks ago.

Reinhart has been in exceptional form of late and his playing has been rather phenomenal. He is surely destined to hold the National championship at no far distant day, for if good earnest effort, combined with an almost complete mastery of the ancient game counts for anything, this honor is sure to come to this young Plainfielder.

IS HE WORKING A GRAFT?

JOHN SMITH CLAIMS TO BE A LONG LOST SON.

Says He Was Born in Plainfield to a New Brunswick Woman—Story of the Separation.

Mrs. Aleta McCollough, who owns a carpet weaving place in New Brunswick, is not quite certain whether or not she has discovered a long-lost son, and she has invited the police of that burg to aid her in determining. John Smith, who has been employed at her shop for the past six months, claims the honor of being her offspring.

Mrs. McCollough states that, when she was sixteen years old and lived in Plainfield, a son was born to her and that when the baby was nine weeks old she gave him to a Mrs. Ellen Smith to adopt. Mrs. Smith took the child West, and after that Mrs. McCollough saw him when he was ten years old and at no time since.

The young man, John Smith, tells a plausible story of his parentage. He is thirty-one years old and Mrs. Mc Collough says looks like her husband. He claims that he has travelled all over the United States and in foreign countries in search of his mother.

What makes Mrs. McCollough doubt his story is the fact that she once heard him say in his sleep that she was "easy" to think he was her son, and that he had "at last struck a good thing."

CASE COLLAPSES.

Mrs. Bedford Now Loses All Claim on Husband's Estate, Child Being Dead.

Mrs. Gunning S. Bedford, who arrived in New York from Havre on Sunday with the avowed purpose of beginning a fight for her late husband's property, learned yesterday through a cable despatch from her agent in France that the baby she tried unsuccessfully to pass off in England as hers and Bedford's, died last Tuesday in Paris.

As the guardian of a deceased illegitimate child of Bedford, she could have no standing in any court.

Saved His Life.

A dispatch from Winsted, Conn., says: "Golfer Henry T. Thomas, of Plainfield, N. J., rushed out of the station with his golf bag over his shoulder and seized the railing of a moving car. His golf bag prevented his getting aboard, but Jeremiah Maloney, of Norwalk, who is an athlete, caught him in his arms and saved him." The Plainfielder referred to is probably Thomas T. Thomas, of Watchung avenue.

Mrs. Chamberlain, of Carlton avenue, has gone to Portland, Me., to visit for a time.

FORGOT TO REPEAL THE OLD STATUTES

Bungling Work of the Legislature Now Causes Trouble.

NEGLECTED REPEALERS

TWO PRACTICE AND TWO SMALL TRIAL ACTS NOW ON BOOKS.

Supreme Court Will Have to Render Decision—The Opinion of Charles L. Corbin—Intention of the Legislators.

The disclosures of several mistakes or oversights in the transactions of the last New Jersey Legislature have brought to light the fact that there are two practice acts on the statute books of this State, both legally there, but one unintentionally. There are also on the statute books two laws governing the course of procedure in courts for the trial of small causes.

This state of affairs was brought about by the failure of the Legislature to incorporate repealing clauses in the revision of the practice act and in the act concerning courts for the trial of small causes, both of which were passed at the last session of the Legislature.

The result of this is that there are, as has been said, two practice acts and two sets of rules regulating the conduct and practice in courts for the trial of small causes which conflict in numerous particulars, the disparity in which under existing conditions can only be adjusted by the supreme court.

While with no other information at hand it would be safe to assume that it was the intention of the farmers of the revised practice act that it was to supplant the old one in so far as the two did not conflict, yet it seems that it was their intention that the new act should supplant the old in its entirety.

Charles L. Corbin, a member of the commission by which the revised practice act was prepared, when his attention was called to the failure of the Legislature to pass a repealing clause or act said that the commission intended that the new act should supplant the old one.

At the same time he said that in his opinion the provisions of both the new and the old acts would be legally operative except where they conflict.

As an example of the conflict of the two laws it has been noted that the old practice act contains a provision for service upon a non-resident or absent defendant by publication. This is not referred to in the new act, and hence without the repeal of the old act would be operative in spite of the statement of a member of the revision commission that the old act as to be superceded by the new.

Attention to the failure of the Legislature to repeal the old practice act as first called by School Commissioner John H. Hartpence, who is connected with the office of the supreme court. It was while making a careful study of the act that he discovered the omission

The commission appointed to rectify and revise the statutes is composed of Supreme Court Justices Dixon and Fort and Lawyer Charles L. Corbin. Wilbur A. Mott is secreary of the commission.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Wm. D. Murray will have charge of the mid-week service at the Crescent Avenue Church tomorrow evening, taking for his subject "Christian Example."

Rev. Fred Taylor, who preached at the First Baptist Church, Sunday, was entertained while in Plainfield by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Serrell, of Myrtle avenue.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church will hold a regular meeting in the church Sunday evening. It will be devoted to missionary subjects.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed Church a picnic will be held on the church grounds on Craig place, Thursday afternoon and evening.

The pulpit at the Crescent Avenue Church will be occupied next Sunday by Rev. Dr. Francis Brown, of Union Theological Seminary. On Sundays and Wednesday evenings in August Prof. George Wm. Knox, of Union Theological Seminary, will be in charge.

Alex. P. Irvine, who is to address the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting, Sunday, July 26, is an exceptionally strong speaker and a favorite at men's meeting. He is at present pastor of the People's Church in New Haven, Conn. All men are earnestly invited to be present.

It was announced last Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church by Superintendent E. M. Cave, of the Sunday-school, that all indebtedness on the new kitchen is liquidatod. The work of raising the funds for this improvement has been undertaken largely by the women of the church.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Baptist Church, will conduct the services Thursday night at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. J. Pierce. The local Endeavorers will leave this city on the trolley car leaving the Watchung avenue terminus at 7:30.

Ira E. Whyte, who has returned from the Baptist Young People's Union convention at Atlanta, Ga., this week, makes the statement that, "judging from present indications, the fourteenth international convention of the Union will be held next year in Asbury Park." Mr. Whyte went to Atlanta for the express purpose of bringing about such a result.

Next Sunday being the last before Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck takes his vacation, a communion service will be held in the evening and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated by Dr. Schenck and his congregation.

PERSONAL.

B. G. Volk, of New York, is visiting Robert Trewin, of Somerset street.

Miss Helen M. Apgar, of East Front street, is now taking her two weeks' vacation.

Edward Apgar, of Somerset street, spent Sunday at the home of his relatives in Clinton.

E. R. Harris and William McNabb, of Cranford, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hand, of Elmwood place.

Charles A. Stover and family, of Carlton avenue, will leave next week for Newport, R. I., where they will enjoy a cruise for two weeks.

Miss Margaret Robbie, of New Haven, Conn., will spend tomorrow with her brother, Kenneth Robbie, boys' secretary at the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. A. M. Vanderbeek and son, Roy, of Duer street, left today for Cherryville, Hunterdon County. Mrs. Vanderbeek will remain a few days, but Roy will spend the remainder of July and all of August.

Miss Katy Bodine, Miss Nellie Cotter, Miss Edith Huff and John Struble and George L. VanEmburgh, are among the clerks at Woodhull & Martin's store who are now enjoying their summer vacation.

It is Wm. A. Gavett and not Street Commissioner Gavett who is spending the summer at Kennebunkport, Me. A day or two at a time will be all the vacation Plainfield's street commissioner will enjoy this summer.

J. Vincent Rittenhouse, of Sandford avenue, who is making his home at present in Duluth, Minn., is convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever. During the first convalescence he suffered a relapse and was quite ill for a time.

Charles Mackey, formerly of this city, but now of Siegfried, Pa., returned home last evening after a short visit with his parents in East Front street. This is Mr. Mackey's first visit to Plainfield in ten years. He holds a position with the Lawrence Cement Company.

LOCAL LODGE OF ELKS TO BE ORGANIZED

Movement Progressing to Start Branch of B. P. O. E. in This City.

PETITION FOR CHARTER

SEVENTY-FIVE MEN DESIRE TO BECOME AFFILIATED.

May Be Organized in October—Lodge Headquarters Not Yet Selected—The Men Back of the Scheme.

The movement started sometime ago to organize a local lodge of Elks in this city is now well underway and it is probable that in the fall the petition which has been circulated among many prominent Plainfielders will be sent to the State headquarters for a charter. The lodge in New Brunswick will have to consent before a charter can be obtained here.

Chief of Police Patrick Kiely, Assemblyman William Newcorn, Thomas Timbo, and other well known Elks have been active in the circulation of the petition and over seventy-five names have already been secured. Among those whose names appear on the paper are members of the lodge at present but who desire a local camp. There are many others who have signed their names to be members of the organization.

At present the local Elks are obliged to attend the sessions of the lodge at New Brunswick or at Elizabeth. There the membership is large and the rooms occupied by the B. P. O. E. are already crowded. There has been a steady increase of membership in the New Brunswick lodge and a large percentage of the new men are from this city.

No rooms have been decided upon so far although a well known Elk, in speaking of the petition a few days ago, said that in the event of a charter being secured rooms may be obtained in the Babcock building or in the old Council chambers on Park avenue. It is reported that an organization will be effected in October.

TRILLS AND TREMULOS.

Professor Boyle Whistled the Mocking Bird and Captivated Hotel Audience at Netherwood.

An excellent concert was given last evening at the Hotel Netherwood by the well-known musician, Professor Boyle, of New York City. His selections delighted a large audience of hotel guests and their friends and consisted of piano solos and several songs. Professor Boyle also whistled the Mocking Bird, and captivated his hearers.

The attraction for the guests of the hotel tomorrow evening will be a progressive euchre party. Saturday evening the usual weekly hop will be held with music by the hotel orchestra.

FLOOD FUND.

Mayor Jenkins Reports That Fifty Dollars Has Been Subscribed for Sufferers.

Any person wishing to contribute toward assisting the Kansas City sufferers can do so by forwarding the same to City Treasurer Wm. F. Arnold at the City National Bank. Mayor O. L. Jenkins reports that thus far only $50 has been received toward this worthy object and he would like to make the total amount at least $100. A ready response will be appreciated.

Surprise Party.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anglebauer, Sr., of East Third street, was the scene of an attractive surprise party Monday evening tendered to Mrs. Lenn, of Maspeth, L. I., who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Anglebauer. The occasion was Mrs. Lenn's thirty-fifth birthday. About thirty-five relatives and friends were present.

HOPEY M. A. CONTRIBUTES $140

JUDGE RUNYON'S BOYS DONATE SUM TO CHAPEL IMPROVEMENT.

Father of the Flock Leaves for Lake Hopatcong to Select Camping Site.

A special meeting of the Hope Chapel Y. M. A. was held at the chapel last night, President William N. Runyon presiding. Rev. L. R. Howard asked for a donation to help defray the expenses of the new kitchen, stating that the Ladies' Aid Society had raised $300 and $60 had been received from individual members of the chapel. The Society voted $140 to be added to that already received by Mr. Howard, making a total of $500. The new kitchen with all improvements will cost $1,000. The swimming-pool will be erected on the ground floor of the new addition. President Runyon was appointed a committee of one to secure a site for the camp at Lake Hopatcong, the Judge left today for the Lake. O. B. Morse, secretary of the Plainfield Amateur Basket Ball League, announced that $5.10 was the proportionate share for each team of the net receipts.

CAPTURED BY GOD OF LOVE

BETROTHAL OF MRS. J. P. MASON AND JOHN B. DUMONT.

Announcement a Pleasant Surprise in Society—Mr. Dumont a Distinguished Citizen.

Local society is pleasantly surprised to hear of the engagement of Mrs. J. Parker Mason, of Stelle avenue, to John B. Dumont, of East Seventh street. No date has been set for the wedding, which no doubt will be a society event.

Mr. Dumont is a broker, prominently identified with the New York Stock Exchange and has figured conspicuously in public affairs here for many years. Until recently he was a vestryman of Grace Church. As president of the Common Council he did much to advance the interests of the community and as a director of the Public Library he has helped materially to build up that institution. His first wife died about two years ago, Mrs. Belknap, wife of the Republican candidate for governor of Kentucky, is a daughter.

Mrs. Mason is the widow of James Parker Mason, a prominent iron commission merchant of New York and is the daughter of J. Howard Wright, an influential New Yorker, who recently donated the fund for the Memorial Pavilion in the new Muhlenberg Hospital group of buildings. She has figured much in society here and in the metropolis.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS.

Charles Drake Comes in Contact With Pole While Working on Trolley Sprinkler.

Charles Drake, of Jefferson avenue, North Plainfield, was struck by a trolley pole while working on the trolley sprinkling car on the Aldene branch of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway lines yesterday.

Drake was leaning out of the front of his car looking at the sprinklers when he struck his head a resounding blow against a pole. He fell unconscious in the roadway. William McCarthy, the conductor, stopped the car and picked his motorman up. A little stimulant revived him and although he had a severe gash in the side of his head he was able to keep at work until relieved.

Fish Story, Phew!

John Hubbard, of North Branch, caught a black bass in the Raritan Monday which weighed ten pounds, seven ounces. It is said to be the biggest bass ever caught with a hook and line in the State. Hubbard made two other star catches on the same day, one of a bass weighing eight and a quarter pounds and another weighing five and three quarters. The fish are being exhibited at a Somerville fish market.

Meeting of Creditors.

The creditors of John Dahl, a bankrupt contractor, will hold a meeting in the office of Prosecutor English at Elizabeth, Thursday, July 30. At that time a trustee will be appointed by Referee DeCoster. Assemblyman William Newcorn is looking after Dahl's interests.

Cashier's Vacation.

David M. Runyon, cashier of the First National Bank, accompanied by his wife, left today for New York State, where they will enjoy a ten days' outing in the mountains.

REPUBLICANS PLAN FOR THE CAMPAIGN

Majority Party's Executive Committe Holds a Meeting.

AS TO NATURALIZATION

VOTING MACHINE IN FIRST DISTRICT OF FOURTH WARD.

Secretary Newcorn to Issue Call for Primaries — Messrs. Cose, Keeley, Morrison and Adams on Naturalization Committee.

The City Republican Executive Committee met last evening and took preliminary steps towards the opening of the fall campaign in this city. In the absence of Mayor O. L. Jenkins, chairman of the committee, J. F. Buckle presided at the meeting. Secretary William Newcorn, was instructed to issue the calls for the primaries at the necessary time and it is the desire of the committee that all members of the city and county committees forward to the executive committee the names of the election officers.

Mr. Buckle appointed Horace Adams, James Morrison, John Keeley and John Cose as a committee on naturalization. Those wishing to take advantage of the naturalization laws, as well as those having the names of any persons who desire papers, are requested to see any member of the committee or forward their names to the committee as soon as possible so that arrangements may be made to visit the county clerk's office at Elizabeth. Dates will be arranged for this as soon as the committee receive the applications of persons intending to become citizens.

Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn has designated the first district of the Fourth ward as the place for one of the voting machines allowed for Plainfield. This place is chosen owing to its central location, making it possible for any one interested to see it in operation. The machine will probably be used at the approaching election in September. The State commission to whom was assigned the task of securing eighty-one voting machines, will select several makes, divided them up as to localities and then put them to a fair test. Upon the result will depend future action as regards supplying all parts of the State with machines.

The local board of elections has not yet been entirely completed. The chairman of the various wards will forward the names of the officers from each ward some time during this week to Secretary Newcorn and they will then be made public.

MARRIED IN ST. MARY'S.

Miss Mary Reynolds Becomes the Wife of James Block.

James Block, of Stone street, a coachman in the employ of Edwin Hooley, of North Plainfield, and Miss Mary Reynolds were married last evening in St. Mary's R. C. Church, Father Egan officiated. The wedding was a quiet one, only the immediate friends and relatives of the couple being present.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Katherine Reynolds, and the best man was Edward Ururahan. After they were made man and wife a reception was held at the home of the groom in the borough. They will reside here.

Killing Dogs.

The dog poisoner is again at work in this city. Yesterday two large dogs belonging to residents on Watchung avenue, near East Front street, were found dead. This makes five canines which have met death through the poisoner's tempting bait in one week.

A. O. Trust Married.

August O. Trust, formerly of this city, but now of East Arcadia, N. C., and Miss Harriet Love, of Armour, the same State, were married at the home of the bride's parents Wednesday, July 15. The couple will reside at East Arcadia.

Mrs. Woodhull Improving.

Mrs. Floyd T. Woodhull, who has been staying at German Valley, Hunterdon county, has returned home. She has been quite ill for some time, but is now reported as slowly convalescing.

Salt Water Day.

Friday will be known as "Salt Water Day" at Boynton Beach. In consequence a host of colored folks from this and neighboring towns will journey to this popular resort on that day.

BEN LA VERE'S BAND CONCERT PROGRAMME

Arrangements for Third and Probably Final Musical Feast.

FUNDS BADLY NEEDED

EXPECTED FINANCIAL SUPPORT HAS NOT BEEN FORTHCOMING.

Cornet and Tenor Solos to be Features of the Concert—Hiawatha to be Repeated by Request—At the City Park.

What is likely to be the last of the series of band concerts at the City Park will take place tomorrow night, Benjamin LaVere again doing the honors with his band. The programme is well up to the standard of excellence set by the first two concerts. "Hiawatha" is included by special request. Albert C. Sweet will again play a cornet solo, and Wm. Murray, one of the most talented tenors of New York City, will sing two popular selections, "General Hard Tack on Guard" and "I'm Thinking of Thee All the While."

Mr. LaVere, who has been to much time and trouble in providing for the success of the concerts, announces that he will be obliged to discontinue them unless the petitions now before the City Council are granted. It is especially requested that those who have pledged money in support of the undertaking will pay their subscriptions as soon as possible. Everybody has been appreciative of the delightful concerts which Mr. LaVere has arranged but few have seemed willing to co-operate with him in a manner substantial enough to encourage further efforts.

This is tomorrow's programme:

Part I—March, "Cosmos," Althouse; overture, "Lustspiel," Kela Bela; concert waltz, "Helmet of Navarre," Hirst; cornet solo, "The Vacant Chair," Rollinson, by Albert C. Sweet; medley, "Coming Thro' the Rye," von Tilzer; songs, "General Hard Tack on Guard" and "I'm Thinking of Thee All the While."

Part II—Descriptive, "A Hunting Scene," Bucolossi; popular, (a), intermezzo, "Anona," Vivian Grey; (b), idyll, "Hiawatha," Moret; selection, "Mocking," Slone; march, "Corigo Love Song," Cole and Johnson.

GUN CLUB CONTEST WINNERS

CHARLES STOECKEL WINS FIRST PRIZE IN RIFLE CONTEST.

Dr. C. M. Luckey Champion in Trap Shooting—Two Tied in Target Practice Tourney.

Captain Henry Haurand, of the Independent Gun Club, gives the list of probable winners of the season's shooting at the Maple avenue grounds. The result of the scores will not be definitely known until the latter part of next week as the result of the last shoot which took place Monday afternoon will not be scheduled before that time.

It is probable that Henry Haurand and William Krausse have tied in the target practice tourney. Charles Stockel, William Krausse and Frank Keller are the winners of the first, second and third prizes, respectively, in the rifle contests and Dr. C. M. Luckey, Louis Van Dyke and Charles Jensen are the winners in the first, second and third class, respectively, in the trap shooting contests.

The captain's prize of a handsome imported stein will probably be awarded to Joseph Keating for having the most bull's eye to his credit for the season. A consolation of a burnt leather medal is being prepared and this will be presented to the member scoring the lowest.

Lowering Grade.

Street Commissioner Gavett's men have lowered the sidewalk grade at the corner of Elmwood place and West Second street, to conform to the established grade of the two streets.

Lost We Forget.

Atlantic City excursion Sunday, July 26th, $2.50, via New Jersey Central.

—Mrs. Gilson, business and medical medium is still at 159 Somerset street.

—Everything that is first class is sold at Neuman Brothers. Rockdale butter, Rockyford melons, fruits and vegetables which arrive each morning and staple and fancy groceries. Neuman Brothers lead, others imitate.

LOCAL MACHINISTS' ODD EXPERIENCE

Start South, But Turn Back When Informed of Real Circumstances.

STOOD BY THE UNION

REFUSED TO ACCEPT POSITIONS AS SCABS IN SOUTHERN SHOP.

Employes of Pederic-Ayres Co. Leave for Florida, But When En-Route Hear of Facts Which Make Them Discontinue the Journey.

About a dozen employes of the Pederic-Ayres Company took a trip down the line towards Florida two weeks ago without having any knowledge of what was to be their destination. The men were induced to make the venture by a "smooth-spoken" individual who stated that he was a representative of an important manufacturing concern which was in need of machinists and was willing to pay big salaries for their services. He refused to divulge the nature of the business or the company's location.

In spite of his secrecy, a number of the men listened to his arguments and agreed to his terms. Still in ignorance of their destination, they took a southbound train, and were not informed of the object of their journey until after they had passed beyond Baltimore and were still speeding South at the rate of forty miles an hour. Then their manager told them that they were to be used as "scabs" in a boiler-making concern in Fernandina, Florida, from which all the employes had struck.

This was a rather hard morsel to swallow, as most of the men in the party believed faithfully in unions. Two of them, one of whom was Frank Marsh, of New Market, refused to enter into the scheme and announced their intention of quitting the party at the next station, and returning to Plainfield.

They followed out their intention to the letter, in spite of additional inducements and the fact that neither one of them had more than a dollar or two in his pocket. Their long journey home they began courageously, starting out on foot and buying their meals generally at farm houses on the way. Sometimes they succeeded in getting rides on freight trains for twenty or thirty miles, sometimes a farmer's wagon gave them "a lift" and often they covered long weary stretches on foot. It took them a week to make the return trip to Plainfield, where they arrived last Sunday, much the worse for wear.

TRIAL POSTPONED.

Contract Case Against "Mayor" Smith, of New Market, Continued.

The case of Harry Dreier against Wm. B. Smith in Justice VonMinden's court in New Market was continued this morning. Dreier is suing Smith for some baseball suits which Smith bought but neglected to pay for. They were to be used for the New Market team for which Smith was manager. Smith has retained W. S. Angleman as his lawyer, and Wm. Newcorn represents the plaintiff.

Celebrates Birthday.

Miss Ethel Skillman, daughter of Lewis B. Skillman, of Watchung avenue, celebrated her thirteenth birthday yesterday afternoon and evening, giving a lawn party at her home. About twenty friends were present, among them being several from Elizabeth and Somerville. The lawn was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns.

Held for Assault.

Robert Kiely and Michael Gartland were held in $100 for the Grand Jury yesterday by Justice Hand. They were arrested by Constable Gjetlessen on complaint of Robert Donnelly who charged them with having knocked him down and drawn a knife with the intention of further assaulting him.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Wm. B. Randolph, a well-known barber of Park avenue, and Miss Emma Jones, an estimable woman, of Boston, Mass. The date for the wedding has not yet been set.

To Be Married in August.

The engagement of Miss Margaret Day, of East Fourth street, to Joseph Atkinson Shelly, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is announced. The wedding is to take place early in August. Miss Day is the daughter of John Day.

IMPROVING W. U. SERVICE

LOCAL WESTERN UNION COMPANY TO ESTABLISH BRANCHES.

Messenger Service as Well to be a Feature Hereafter.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has completed arrangements for opening three branch offices in this city, one at Clinton avenue, another at Grant avenue and the third at Netherwood station. People living in the vicinity of these branch offices can file their messages with the ticket agents who will immediately telephone them over a private wire to the North Avenue station whence they will be sent to their destination.

The company has also established a local service, by which, for a small fee, messages can be sent from any of the branch stations to the North Avenue station and from there delivered by messengers to any part of the city. People living in the vicinity of Richmond street and in the eastern part of the city can telegraph from the freight depot between the hours of 8 in the morning and 6 in the afternoon daily except Sundays.

MASTER MASONS ARE INVITED TO ATTEND COURT HOUSE CORNER STONE CEREMONIES.

Worshipful Masters and Other Distinguished Officers Invited to the Banquet.

Most Worshipful Grand Master W. Holt Apgar, of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New Jersey, has sent invitations to Worshipful Master James A. Stafford and Worshipful Master Louis I. VanAlstyne requesting the presence of the officers and members of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, and Anchor Lodge, No. 149, at the ceremonies incidental to the laying of the County Court House cornerstone at Elizabeth on July 30.

The local worshipful masters are invited to attend the banquet following the exercises. Dr. D. C. Adams and other local masons of high degree have received special invitations. Capt. J. Frank Hubbard, who will deliver the address of welcome as director of the Board of Freeholders, is a member of Jerusalem Lodge, and Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, who will deliver the oration, is also a member of the fraternity. The Grand Lodge will be opened at 10:30 o'clock in the lodge room of Washington Lodge, No. 33, Masonic Hall. All officers have been requested to wear silk hats, frock coats and the jewels.

SETTLES CLAIM.

Amicable Arrangement Made Between Railroad and a Westfield Victim.

John K. Large, claims agent for the New Jersey Central, yesterday settled the claim of Miss Mildred E. Everitt, of Somerset street and Mountain avenue, for injuries received in the Westfield disaster on January 27 last. The settlement was made through Miss Everitt's counsel, Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer.

Funeral of Infant.

The funeral services over the remains of Sarah, the four-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, of Somerset street, were held this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp was the officiating minister. During the services the Misses Alice and Jennie DeMott sang "The Christian's Good Night" and "Face to Face." The remains were taken to Somerville where the interment was in the family plot.

On the Elks' Trail.

Herbert Overbaugh, Henry Pettyfious, George O. Stevens and Alexander Findley left yesterday for Baltimore where they will attend the national convention of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks. The session began yesterday and will continue through to Saturday evening.

In Honor of Miss Reiber.

In honor of Miss Alberta Reiber, of New York, who was their guest, Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Greene, Jr., of Willow avenue, entertained a party of young people at their home Monday evening.

Going Abroad.

Miss Annie B. Bogart, of East Sixth street, is booked to sail tomorrow on the American Line steamer St. Paul, for Southampton.

—At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A., last evening, nothing of special importance was done.

LOCAL COMMUNICANTS MOURN FOR PONTIFF

Altars in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Draped by the Sisters.

BISHOP ISSUES ORDERS

ST. JOSEPH'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY ADOPTS SUITABLE RESOLUTIONS.

Father Egan Receives Instructions From Bishop O'Connor, but Father Miller Has Received None From Bishop McFaul.

Black crepe draped about the altars of the Roman Catholic Churches of this city today tell in solemn silence the grief which has come to the parishoners of those churches by the death of the Holy Father, Pope Leo XIII. At St. Joseph's R. C. Church and St. Mary's Church the Sisters of Mercy spent the entire morning in draping the alters and interiors of the edifice with black and purple.

Hung on each of the altars at St. Joseph's Church are festoons of black while about the sides of the church are intertwined long streamers of black and purple. These decorations of sorrow will remain in the church until after the funeral of the dead Pontiff. The Holy Name Society of that church has adopted these resolutions:

"North Plainfield, N. J.,
July 22, 1903.

IN MEMORIAM.

Leo XIII is dead
He lived while the world made its greatest strides in progress
He lived and labored with this great world as his workshop and humanity as his patrons
And now he has laid aside the implements of peace with which he toiled.
His work is done and he has gone to his Master to be judged of its value.
We mourn his loss—we bespeak for him the earnest prayers of all—for who was not the friend of Leo? Who so loved our country and its people.

The Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church, North Plainfield, N. J., learn of the death of Leo XIII, Pope: with sincere regret, and hereby express the sorrow felt by the members of this society which enjoyed his special protection.

Robt. McCormack,
Pres. Holy Name Society,
North Plainfield, N. J.,
July 22, 1903.
Andrew E. Kenney,
Secretary.

St. Mary's R. C. Church has also been draped in mourning. The altars are cloaked in the colors of mourning while about the sides of the church are festoons of jet.

Rev. Father Egan has received from Right Rev. Dr. John J. O'Connor, Bishop of the Diocese of Newark, this letter:

"The sad news of the death of our Holy Father, Pope Leo XIII, has come from Rome. The church has been deprived of her supreme guide on earth who for more than twenty-five years ruled her destinies with consummate wisdom. The visible head of the church, the Vicar of Christ, full of years and good works, has been called from the scene of his earthly labors, and the faithful throughout the world mourn the spiritual father to whose care Divine Providence had intrusted them during the past quarter century. The joys of the recent papal jubilee have changed to sadness and grief. The church has lost a great pontiff, the world an enlightened statesman and scholar, mankind a father and friend.

"As spiritual children of our departed high priest we deplore our loss and we pray that God in his goodness may guide and protect His church during the period of her widowhood. The papacy is immortal, though the occupant of the papal chair is subject to the inevitable law of death.

"During these days of mourning and until the Sacred College of Cardinals shall elect a successor to the deceased Pontiff you are directed to add in the mass when the rubrics will permit, the collect 'De Spiritu Sancto,' that the Holy Ghost may enlighten those who are intrusted with this important duty, and inspire them to choose one after God's own heart to continue the work of the lamented Leo XIII.

"All priests exercising faculties in this diocese are directed to offer, at their earliest convenience, three masses for the repose of the soul of our departed Pontiff, and the reverend

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Arthur Sherman, of the Manganese Steel Safe Company's plant, is sojourning at Asbury Park.

Frank Nickerson, of the Potter Press Company's plant, is visiting relatives at Spring Valley, N. Y.

Arthur Caleen, of the Aluminum Press Company's works, has returned from a visit with Elizabeth friends.

"Fred" Beekman, and "Jack" Little, both of the Campbell Press Company's works, have returned from a fishing trip at Perth Amboy.

"Andy" McClellon, of the Potter Press Company's plant, returned home Monday with a nice mess of fish, which he caught at Boynton Beach.

Samuel Alexander, of West Fourth street, has resigned his position at the Potter Press Company's plant, and will take a similar one with a Brooklyn firm.

"Bert" Nickerson, who was formerly employed at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, is working at the Crown Butt and Company's works, which are located at Spring Valley, N. Y.

Chas. Utter, of the Potter Press Company's plant, removed yesterday from East Fourth street, to the new house he recently purchased from N. K. Barnes. The house is located on Grant avenue, corner of Front street.

The Aluminum Press Company is erecting several color presses which turn out some fine work in the color line. "Judge," a comic weekly, is printed and colored by a machine of the same pattern the concern is building now.

Machinists are in great demand at automobile repair stations throughout the country, especially along the New Jersey coast where a repair shop is stationed every half-mile. One of the largest stations in New Jersey is owned by P. H. Zackarias, of Asbury Park, who employes between fifteen and twenty machinists to do hurry-up jobs on balkey horseless wagons.

The question as to whether or not the silkworkers should affiliate with the American Federation of Labor was finally settled at the American Federation of Labor convention which was held in Paterson. The Federation will concede nothing to the silkworkers, and the only way in which the latter body could become connected with the Federation it has time and again been explained, is through uniting with the Textile Workers of America. The latter body holds a charter giving it jurisdiction over all textile trades, but the silkworkers claim they could not get due recognition in uniting with them, as only those connected with the silk industry know its requirements.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Charles E. Vail and family, of Orchard place, are visiting at New Castle, Pa.

Miss Helen Robbins, of Norwood avenue, is spending the summer at Lake George.

Mrs. A. B. Willis and son, of Elizabeth, are spending a few days with Plainfield friends.

Miss Zelpha Williams, of West Fourth street, entertained a few friend at her home Monday evening.

E. Maxwell Honeyman, of Grove street, has returned from a week's vacation spent at various places of interest.

Clifford Braider, of Jackson Court, has returned to his position in New York after an enjoyable two weeks vacation.

E. L. Suffern and family, of Sycamore avenue, North Plainfield, have gone to Lake Pleasant, Hamilton County, N. Y., for their summer vacation.

Mrs. Thomas F. Doner and children, of 522 West Fourth street, left yesterday for Richmond, Va., to visit Mr. Doner's parents. They will remain until September 1st.

John E. Stewart, formerly of Plainfield but late of New York, has taken up his residence at Truell Court for the summer. His family is sojourning in the White Mountains.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

M. Weinberger, the West Front street clothier, has just the kind of clothing for this season of the year. The styles are all right, the quality the best and the prices very low.

There is a store on East Front street which is paradise to the owner of a sweet tooth. Fowler's is the name. Pure, home-made candies, fresh daily, cold drinks of all kinds and ice-creams and ices are the attractions.

Course its necessary for all women in town to know that I. H. Boehm is making a special sale of corsets this week. He has special light ones for hot weather. I. H. Boehm makes a specialty of summer millinery.

Cool and comfortable summer furniture in all styles makes Powlison & Jones' store on East Front street a mecca for vacation stay-at-homes. You are sure of getting what you ask for when you trade with Powlison & Jones.

A wise summer girl has a camera and a wise kodak girl not only takes her camera to the sea shore but also takes a good supply of necessary developers, etc. F. W. VanWinkle, of North avenue, has a new developer that beats anything yet.

When in need of anything in the jewelry line do not forget that J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue, can sell you the best quality goods at the lowest market price. His stock of goods compares favorably with those to be found in New York.

To be properly suited go to Werner's clothing store on West Front street. Their suits are warranted to wear well and fit well, and are cut in the latest styles. They are sold at one-third less than the usual price. Their fine men's neglige shirts are being almost given away.

There is no better time to have painting and papering done than while on your vacation. If you give your contract to Chas. Conover & Company, painters and decorators, of Elmwood place, they will do the work in a first-class manner and when you return home you will be pleased.

The H. E. Gayle Hardware Company keeps in stock many things at this season of the year which tend to make one enjoy the warm weather. They have in a wide variety of refrigerators, hammocks, ice cream freezers, etc., for which only a reasonable price is asked. An inspection of the goods is invited.

For a cent an hour one can keep cool. Why not have the cool zephyrs blowing over you on your front porch instead of going all the way to Atlantic City for them. Electricity will do the work at very small cost. An electric fan costs no more than a single electric light, to operate. William H. Pope can give you some facts about it.

$2.50 to Atlantic City.

On Sunday, July 26th, the New Jersey Central will run a low-rate excursion to Atlantic City, fare, $2.50 for round trip. Special train leaves New York at 8 a. m., South Ferry at 7.55, stopping at West 8th Street at 8:19, Elizabeth, 8:12, Newark at 8.05 a. m., Elizabethport at 8:25 a. m., arriving Atlantic City at 11 a. m.; returning leave Atlantic City at 7 p. m. This is one of the best outings of the season at the greatest of watering places. 7 21 td take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, billiousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowls, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Michael Reagan, janitor at the Fanwood Clubhouse, yesterday bought a pony from Jacob Sachar, of West Third street.

—Miss Daisy Snyder, of Boehm's, and Miss May Casey, of Lederer's, intend rusticating during the last two weeks of August at Asbury Park.

—These are not busy days at Muhlenberg Hospital, for a wonder. There are only eighteen patients at the institution and all are convalescing.

—Street Commissioner Gavett is still at work on the matter of street sprinkling, the idea being to cover just as many of the city streets as possible. There is sure to be some dissatisfaction no matter how the sprinkling is done, but it is the purpose of the street department to give as good service as possible.

Will You Sleep Well

Tonight? Not if you have a cough that begins to torment you as soon as you lie down. You can conquer the cough with Allen's Lung Balsam, which will relieve the pain in the chest, the irritation in the throat and the hard breathing. Since it contains no opium, this remedy may be given freely to children, and to the most delicate adults.

CITY WAS CAPTURED

Ciudad Bolivar Taken by the Troops of General Rivas.

REBELS HAD TO SURRENDER OR DIE

The Government Forces Acted With Great Humanity, Orders Being Issued That the Attacking Party Must Show Mercy.

CARACAS, Venezuela, July 22.—After desperate fighting the city of Ciudad Bolivar has been captured by the Venezuelan government troops. The fight was horrible, the rebels resisting to the last at the jail, the capitol and the Dalton block, where the American consulate and most of the foreign business houses are located.

The government troops, which had received all the re-enforcements available and who numbered in all 5,200 men, made a general attack upon all positions held by the rebels. The Zamora, called the Sevastopol of Ciudad Bolivar, was stormed and captured. Ninety-four dead rebels were found inside, among them being General Azanza, one of the revolutionary leaders, whose head had been blown off by a shell.

It is impossible to render an idea of the carnage which occurred at this point. At the same time General Rivas, General Gomez's chief lieutenant, with 2,300 men, succeeded in destroying a barricade erected around the Miranda plaza, the key to the capitol, where all the survivors of the revolution were concentrated.

All the roads and streets running into the capitol are guarded by government troops, and the escape of the revolutionists after the capture of the capitol was impossible. They had to either surrender or die. The custom house was taken after a ten hours' fight, sixty being killed as a result at this spot. The Dalton block was captured later. The situation of the rebels is now considered desperate and hopeless. Many of the shops have been pillaged.

Many people near the scene of the fighting abandoned their homes and sought refuge in other parts of the city, crossing the streets amid a hail of bullets and shells, the women carrying their children, the strong helping the weak. Many men in trying to protect the women fell, struck by bullets, in the middle of the street. What with the firing, the yells of the wounded and the crying of the women and children, a terrible scene was witnessed, bad enough to disgust anybody forever with civil war.

The government troops acted with humanity, especially the forces of General Rivas, who, fighting bravely, was the first to order the attacking force to be merciful.

Train Wreckers Arrested.

ROANOKE, Va., July 22.—Detective W. G. Baldwin of Roanoke has arrested John Bailey and John Kennedy near Shenandoah, charged with wrecking a Norfolk and Western passenger train near Greenville on the night of Dec. 28 last, when Engineer Wesley Bailey was killed. The men had a hearing, pleaded guilty and were sent to Staunton jail charged with murder. In a sworn confession they say they planned with Mrs. Ellen Painter to wreck the train and kill any passengers who might escape death in the wreck. Only the engineer was killed, and the plan for wholesale murder was abandoned. Mrs. Painter comes from North Carolina and will be arrested later.

Plot Against Kaiser.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, July 22.—It is authoritatively stated that the police have received no intimation from abroad of an intended visit of American anarchists, who, it was reported, had left Chicago with the avowed intention of killing the kaiser. It has been known for some time that a prominent anarchist was staying in Christiania for the benefit of her health, but there is no intimation that her presence has anything to do with a plot against the German emperor.

Morey Hotel Burned at Tivoli.

KINGSTON, N. Y., July 22.—Morey's hotel, at Tivoli, was burned to the ground. It was owned by former City Clerk Richard Hoffman and was regarded as historically valuable. Dr. Barton, one of the best known physicians in the Hudson valley, was rescued in an unconscious condition. The guests and the proprietor lost everything of value.

Burglars Get $400, No Arrests.

PASSAIC, N. J., July 22.—The post office at Carleton Hill, a village near here, was entered by burglars, who blew open the safe with nitroglycerin, secured $300 in stamps and $100 in cash and got away safely. This is the fourth time in eight years that this post office has been robbed, and no arrests have ever been made.

Milling Hamlet Wiped Out.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 22.—Fire has wiped out the milling hamlet at Harrison River, B. C., destroying the mill of the Harrison River Timber and Trading company, the residence of Manager Tretheley, six cars of lumber, the Northern Pacific railway station and much lumber. Loss $100,000.

France Honors Two Americans.

KING RESPECTED LEO

At Dublin Edward VII. Spoke of the Pope's Death.

REMEMBERED HIS GREAT KINDNESS

Britain's Ruler Resolutely Refused the Protection of Detectives, Saying, "I Shall Receive All Protection From Irish People."

DUBLIN, July 22.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra were received by the lord lieutenant of Ireland, the earl of Dudley, and a number of officials and were conducted to a pavilion where an address of welcome was read in behalf of the Kingstown municipal council.

In replying to the address King Edward said he shared in the sadness of multitudes of his subjects over the news of the pope's death. He said he remembered the kindness with which the pope had so recently received him and the interest which he took in the welfare of the English people. The king added that his visit came at a time when a new era is opening for Ireland.

At Bull's bridge the procession halted and the king received addresses from the suburban councils of Blackrock, Rathmines and Pembroke, to which his majesty replied briefly. The procession then passed on and entered the city of Dublin, preceded by police, a detachment of royal horse guards, a brilliant staff, the lord lieutenant, the headquarters staff of the Third army corps and other military and court officials.

The city was again brilliantly illuminated, and dense throngs were parading and cheering "God save their majesties!" who gave a grand dinner party at the vice regal lodge. It is understood that when arrangements were being made for the Irish tour King Edward resolutely refused to sanction the proposal of Scotland Yard to send a number of detectives.

"I want no such protection," said the king. "All the protection I want I shall receive from the Irish people. On that point I am perfectly satisfied."

A special performance which had been planned for the Royal theater here for July 24 has been countermanded in consequence of Pope Leo's death.

Hughes' Failure Affects Vermont.

PAWLET, Vt., July 22.—The recent assignment of General William H. Hughes, the prominent quarry owner of Granville, N. Y., which came as a surprise to people in this vicinity, is having no small effect here. General Hughes' interests in the slate business in Rutland county were almost as large as they were in New York state. Business here is considerably upset. It is stated here that General Hughes' liabilities will amount to from $200,000 to $250,000 with assets not over $100,000 and the Poultney National bank and a bank in Rutland, besides the Farmers' National bank of Granville are creditors to the extent of $90,000. General Hughes is a director of the bank in Granville. It is understood that bankruptcy proceedings have been begun.

Australia Wins Kolapore Cup.

BISLEY, England, July 22.—The rajah of Kolapore cup, open to teams of eight from the mother country, from the militia or volunteers of each British colony, dependency or federation, the Indian staff corps, the Indian service or Indian volunteers, was shot for in good weather and was won by Australia, with a score of 771. The mother country scored 765; Canada, 753; Natal, 740, and Guernsey, 735. At the 200 yards range King and White of the Canadian team made the best possible scores.

Contract to Save Ship For £15,000.

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile, July 22.—Contracts have been made with local salvors to save the cargo of the German steamer Theben for £10,000 and the ship at £5,000 on the principle of "no cure no pay." The German steamer Theben, Captain Schultz, as before reported, grounded in Gray channel, but afterward got off badly damaged and was subsequently run ashore at Cunningham island to prevent sinking.

Died In His Office.

BOSTON, July 22.—Stricken with heart disease, George O. Barker of Lynn, head of the New England division of the United States secret service of the treasury department, died in his office in the post office building here. Mr. Barker was about fifty-seven years of age. In all he had been in the government service about twenty years. He was a veteran of the civil war.

Two Killed While Walking Track.

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 22.—While walking on the Boston and Maine tracks Thomas Moore, thirty-five, and Richard Hawley, thirty-five, both laborers and unmarried, were struck by a train and instantly killed. They saw one train approaching and in avoiding it were run down by another.

Engineers Go Back to Work.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 22.—The strike of the engineers at the International Paper company's mill here is over. The men go back to work at the old wage after being out a month. Four hundred men locked out by the engineers' strike will now resume work.

Both Legs Cut Off by Train.

LYONS, N. Y., July 22.—A man claiming to be James Brown of Chicago and the son of a Cleveland policeman had both legs cut off at the New York Central depot here while trying to board an east bound fast freight train. He will probably die.

American Squadron at Lisbon.

LISBON, July 22.—The American squadron, under Rear Admiral Cotton, has arrived from Southampton.

THE COOLEST STORE IN TOWN.

No need to consult your thermometer when going a-shopping if this be your destination. Though it may broil and blister and burn on the pavement, inside the store you'll find it as cool as a mountain zephyr. Everything for your convenience—broad aisles—high ceilings—perfect ventilation—nine elevators to carry you quickly to every floor—cozy resting parlors on the mezzanine floors—prompt service and speedy deliveries all contribute to make hot weather shopping easy. We're proud of our store—proud, too, of our splendid stock of summer merchandise and our prices—well, we wish to brag just a little about them. We ask you to compare our prices with those advertised by New York stores, and venture to say you will always find ours as low, and most times lower, than theirs. Come in and look around—always something of interest whether you buy or not.

LEO TO LIE IN STATE

In the Chapel of the Sacrament of St. Peter's.

ALL BELLS TOLL FOR PASSING SOUL

The Whole People of Rome Will Be Allowed to Say a Last Farewell to the Body of the Great Pontiff.

ROME, July 22.—The body of Leo XIII. lies in the hall of the throne room, a few steps from the room in which his death took place. The same vestments, the comauro hood, the rochet and the white gown which were put on Monday cover the form, which rests in semistate surrounded by lighted candles, the noble guard and Franciscan penitentiaries.

The diplomatic body, the high dignitaries and the Roman aristocracy will enter the hall to pay their tributes of respect to all that remains of the pope, who won the respect and affection of the whole world. The body will then be arrayed in all the glory of the pontifical robes, the miter replacing the hood, and at sunset it will be taken into the chapel of the Sacrament of St. Peter's, where for three days the public will be given an opportunity of paying a last farewell. The interment will occur on Saturday evening. The impressive ceremonial of the recognition of the death of the pope occurred in the morning in the chamber in which he died. Thereafter only those were admitted who were concerned in the embalming of the body, an operation which occupied six hours. Meantime the authorities of the Vatican proceeded with the preparations for the funeral and the conclave and the acknowledgment of the condolences which had been received. Among the latter was a notable message from the German emperor.

Several thousand entered St. Peter's at vespers and joined in prayers for the departed. Among these were many of the Italian officers, whose troops shortly after sunset were marched from the Vatican back to their barracks. At no time had their services been needed.

The quiet of the evening was broken by a chorus such as the world has seldom heard, when all of Rome's 400 churches commenced to toll bells for the passing of the soul of Leo XIII. From the seven hills and from every quarter of the city which contained churches came the constant clang until all was one vast reverberation. The harsh jingle of the smaller chapel bells, striking quickly and more often, was not drowned by the solemn strokes that came in mourning measure from the great dome of St. Peter's. It was as if a great fire raged and every bell in Rome were vying with every other in anxiety to warn the populace. Except in its common motive and common sorrow it was an amazing discord, which continued an hour and which will recur nightly until the obsequies are over.

The programme for the "novem diales," the nine days' ceremony, as far as established, but still open to possible change, is as follows: This morning the second meeting of the congregation of cardinals will occur to discuss measures relating to the conclave. The diplomatic body, the Roman aristocracy and the high dignitaries of the church will have an opportunity to take a last view of the late pontiff before he is laid in St. Peter's. The body will be arrayed in full pontifical robes, and the remains will be transported to the basilica of St. Peter's, where they will be taken charge of by the chapter of the basilica and deposited in the chapel of the Sacrament. Tomorrow the whole people of Rome will be allowed to view the body of the pontiff, while requiem masses will be celebrated in the different chapels. The congregation will meet on Friday and Saturday. Saturday night the body of the pope will be sprinkled with holy water by the chapter of St. Peter's. It will then be taken at the head of a procession around the basilica and entombed to the strains of the "Miserere," intoned by singers of the Julia chapel.

The viscera of Pope Leo, which was placed in an earthen urn and provisionally deposited in the crypt of St. Peter's, was removed at midnight to a magnificent urn, which, carried by Mgrs. Marzolini and Angeli, was taken in a Vatican carriage to the Church of St. Vincent Anastasius. The mysteriously picturesque scene was such as is only possible in Rome. The carriage was met at the door of the church by priests carrying torches which flared in the breeze, the flickering light having a weird effect on the faces of those present.

A death mask of Leo XIII. was taken by Commendator Galli, director of the Vatican museum. The delicate work was successfully executed, and the result is considered highly satisfactory. For some time it was thought that no death mask would be taken, but the great sorrow expressed over the first decision not to have such a precious memento of such a noble man influenced the family of the pope to reconsider and change their earlier decision.

The Vatican authorities are very much pleased with the messages of condolence received from United States Secretary of State Hay. They feel a special gratification over messages from Protestant countries or those having no representative of the holy see.

The will of Leo XIII. has not yet been opened; consequently all alleged news concerning it and the millions he is said to have left to the church is merely imaginary.

Plainfield, N. J., July 22, 1903.

Smithsonian Institute scientists have captured a whale for the St. Louis Exposition. The suckers will be caught later on.

Postmaster-General Payne says that he would rather die than quit while under fire. If he means what he says the position he takes is commendable.

Talk about robbing Peter to pay Paul! An Elizabeth swain has been arrested on a charge of rifling a restaurant cash register to buy sweets for the proprietor's daughter.

An official recognition of the Vatican by the United States Government took place the other day. Secretary of State Hay cabled condolences "by command of the President."

Out of 356 arrests made by the local police officers during the first six months of this year, 246 were for drunkenness. The flowing bowl causes more trouble in this world than is generally accredited to it.

Plainfielders find reason to congratulate themselves in the fact that the tax rate for next year will be the same as it is at present. A rate of $2.50 is a blessing when compared with $3.24 as fixed for Cranford and $3.54 as agreed upon for Summit.

It was not the incompetence of the legislators nor of their officers that is responsible for the gross blunders that have come to light, but of the vicious system of transacting the business of the session that they have fallen into.—New York Herald.

Just what the difference this makes we are unable to discover.

Property is on the jump in this city. The increase in taxable values during the last year has been $341,000, or approximately over a quarter of a million dollars. Doesn't look as if Plainfield is moving with the rear contingent in the march of progress. In no sense of the word is this a boom town, but its history is one of sure healthy growth.

Well may one be pardoned for asking "what's in a name," when the local trolley service is considered. Last Saturday during the downpour summer cars were run on all local lines. Great promises have been made by the Public Service Corporation to the people of Newark, Elizabeth and other cities. We ask its attention here.

Ben LaVere's Band gives the third concert in the series at the City Park tomorrow evening and it will be the last for the season unless liberal contributions are made. That the concerts are popular can be readily judged from the large attendances. Unfortunately the support from a financial standpoint has not been as it should. An opportunity will be given tomorrow night to make a donation.

A Surgical Operation

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.)

rectors will kindly arrange in their respective churches for a solemn requiem, at which they will invite their people to assist and to pray for the same intention.

"A solemn pontifical mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Newark, on Thursday, July 30, at 9:30 a. m., which all the clergy are urgently requested to attend.

"The Holy Spirit exhorts us to pray for those whom God has placed over us. 'Remember your prelates who have spoken the word of God to you,' Hebrews xiii, 2. May we show our loyalty to mother church, our attachment to the centre of unity, our charity to our departed father, by the faithful discharge of this duty, and may our fervent prayers ascend to the throne of grace and mercy that he whom we revered and honored as Christ's vicar on earth may speedily be purified of the imperfections of this world and be admitted to the eternal companionship of Jesus Christ in the kingdom of His Glory."

To Elect Trustees.

There will be a meeting of the Swedish Lutheran Church at 164 Manning avenue, this evening. New trustees for the church will be appointed. Rev. C. Peterson, of Arlington, and Rev. C. F. Saudahl, of Montclair, will be the leading speakers.

TRAIN WRECK IN DELAWARE.

Passenger Train Cuts Through a Freight—Five Persons Hurt.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 22.—The south bound New York and Norfolk express on the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington railway ran into a freight train on the outskirts of this city, resulting in serious injury to five persons.

At the place where the collision occurred the tracks of the Delaware division cut off across the main line tracks almost at right angles.

The Norfolk express was proceeding at a rapid rate when suddenly Engineer Beckley saw the lights of a freight train cross his path. The next instant his locomotive had plowed through the middle of the freight. The force of the collision hurled the express locomotive and tender over to the right and the main coach and baggage cars to the left. Within a few seconds after the collision flames shot up from the cars.

Assistance was promptly sent from Wilmington by special train, and two fire companies went to suppress the flames, but so quickly had the fire spread that of over 200 well filled bags on the mail car all but two were burned. The mail clerks had not time to get their clothing, and one of them says he lost $100 which was in his coat. The crew of the express car succeeded in getting most of the baggage out, but some of it was later destroyed by the flames.

SIMEON OLA DEFEATED.

Federal Scouts Defeated Rebels and Drove Them From Albay.

MANILA, July 22.—The Philippine scouts and rural constabulary defeated 250 rebels in the streets of Albay, the capital of the island of Albay, killing fifteen and wounding fifteen.

The combatants entered the town from opposite sides, and street fighting continued for three hours. Four noncombatants were killed. The scouts lost one killed and two wounded.

The rebels were led by Simeon Ola, chief of the Albay rebels, and they had fifty rifles. Colonel H. H. Bandholtz, formerly captain of the Second infantry, who was in command of the scouts and constabulary, has been campaigning actively in Albay, but this was the first decisive engagement he has had.

Twenty-five native priests who seceded from the Catholic church in Iloilo because of the failure of the church to appoint a native bishop, have refused to join the Aglipay movement and will continue their Catholic rites while refusing to acknowledge the papal authority.

Interlake Yachting Meet.

TOLEDO, O., July 22.—The annual regatta of the Interlake Yachting association has opened at Put In bay, Lake Erie. Seventy-five yachts of all classes are attending the meet, which is the largest in the history of fresh water yachting. The first race was sailed over a triangular course, four miles to the leg, off Gibraltar island. The principal interest in the race was centered in the trial between Cadillac and Detroit, two thirty foot Detroit yachts that were candidates last year for the honor of defending the Canada cup. Cadillac won by eight seconds.

Reward For Escaped Convicts.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 22.—Warden Deyo of Clinton prison has authorized the announcement that the $250 reward offered for the capture of Peter James, the "lifer" who, with three other prisoners, esceped from the prison Saturday last, will be paid for him dead or alive. This indicates that the prison officials expect James to fight to the death before being captured. Although the reward offer has stimulated extraordinary interest in the search, not the slightest trace of the four desperadoes has been found.

Cunard Ships as Cruisers.

LONDON, July 22.—It is announced that the government has completed the agreement with the Cunard Steamship company and that it will be shortly submitted to parliament and the shareholders. It is understood that the government will pay considerably over $5,000,000 for the construction of two additional steamers and that the whole fleet of vessels will be at the government's disposal as cruisers. The agreement provides for an improved Atlantic mail service.

Two Convicts Got Away.

KINGSTON, N. Y., July 22.—Alexander Burt and George Colgan, who escaped from the Eastern New York reformatory at Napanoch, got away easily. While the convicts were at chapel they eluded the guards' vigilance, made an elaborate toilet and dropped from the roof to the prison yard by means of a window rope. They left the stockade without trouble.

Roosevelt Will Ride Forty Miles.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 22.—President Roosevelt has in contemplation a trip to Sayville tomorrow. It is his present intention to ride on horseback from Sagamore Hill to Sayville, a distance of about forty miles, to visit Robert Roosevelt and family. He expects to be accompanied by his two oldest sons. They may not return until Friday.

Fatally Attacked Missail.

VIENNA, July 22.—A dispatch from Tetovo says that the members of the Macedonian committee fatally attacked the Bulgarian archpriest Missa Missail. The archpriest's own bishops, whom he had offended, forbade the local doctors to attend the wounded man.

Hotel Fire at Tilton.

TILTON, N. H., July 22.—The Lovering hotel has been burned and other property, including the town hall block and dwelling houses, damaged. The hotel stable also was burned, and eighteen horses perished. The loss is estimated at $56,000.

An Ideal Location.
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

SMART DUST COATS.

They Are Prettily Trimmed With Tassels and Embroidery.

Applique motifs of lace or handsome insertion are liberally used, and tassels, tabs and shaped frills are all popular on dust wraps.

Some of the wraps are full length, but the majority are three-quarters.

There are many cloths now used for coats which have a waterproof surface or some particular finish which renders them impervious to clouds of dust and showers of rain. The smart wraps, however, are in a soft make of taffeta or louisine and may be as beautiful as one pleases. The prettiest perhaps are those draped with capuchin effects of contrasting shades. Thus a pale biscuit wrap has a hood of sky blue and a small over collar of lace, the sleeves being also turned back with sky blue and lace.

A charming dust wrap seen recently was of accordion plaited alpaca in the form of a pelisse caught in at the waist with a fancy embroidered belt. The large sleeves had embroidered cuffs.

The yachting costume shown herewith is of white alpaca trimmed with navy blue taffeta.

New and Dainty Shirt Waists—Afternoon Lawn Costumes.

The new batiste and linen shirt waists are particularly charming. They are embroidered in linen thread and, although simple, possess a good deal of style. They are admirably suited for morning wear with the full, short skirt.

A smart little afternoon frock of grass lawn was worn over a pale grass green petticoat made with several rows of gaugings around the waist and finished with five large tucks near the hem. A cape collar of coarse lace and grass lawn was fastened down under a pale green taffeta swathed band, and the blouse underneath was entirely of gauged grass lawn. With this was worn a pale green sailor hat simply trimmed with a wreath of black velvet balls.

Another smart linen costume had a kilted skirt with a yoke of embroidery in a deep red shade, the waist being trimmed to correspond.

Grass lawn mixes well with the new make of macrame lace or, for that matter, with any coarse lace which has character in its design.

The waist illustrated is of black china silk trimmed with embroidered squares of white.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

An Absent Minded Teacher.

Neander, professor of theology in Berlin, was one day overtaken by a thunderstorm. He jumped into a cab, but could not give either the number of his house or the name of the street. The driver thought the man was mad and was about to tell him to get out when the professor, espying a student, called out to him and said, "Just tell the man where I live."

Neander's sister, who kept house for the professor, took fresh apartments nearer the university, as she thought the distance too great for her brother. A few days after their removal he complained of the long and tiring walk, and it then turned out that he had gone first to the old lodgings and so around to the university.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

Now, there was something uncanny about this outbreak on the part of the Sioux, and the general was puzzled. Up to September the Indians had been busy with the annual hunt. They were fat, well-fed, prosperous—had got from the government pretty much everything that they could ask with any show of reason and, so they said, had been promised more. The rows between the limited few of their young men and some bullies among the "rustlers" had been no more frequent nor serious than on previous summers, when matters had been settled without resort to arms; but this year the very devil seemed to have got into the situation. Something, or probably somebody, said the general, had been stirring the Indians up, exciting—exhorting possibly, and almost the first thing the general did as he climbed stiffly out of his stout Concord wagon, in the paling starlight of the early morning, was to turn to Dade, now commanding the post, and to say he should like, as soon as possible, to see Bill Hay. Meantime he wished to go in and look at the wounded.

It was not yet five o'clock, but Dr. Waller was up and devoting himself to the needs of his patients, and Dade had coffee ready for the general and his single aide-de-camp, but not a sip would the general take until he had seen the stricken troopers. He knew Field by reputation, well and favorably. He had intimately known Field's father in the old days, in the old army, when they served together on the then wild Pacific shores "where rolls the Oregon." The great civil war had divided them, for Field had cast his soldier fortune with his seceding state, but all that was a thing of the past. Here was the son, a loyal soldier of the flag the father had again sworn allegiance to when he took his seat in the house of representatives. The general thought highly of Field, and was sore troubled at his serious condition. He knew what dispatches would be coming from the far south when the telegraph line began the busy clicking of the morning. He was troubled to find the lad in high fever and to hear that he had been out of his head. He was more than troubled at the concern, and something like confusion, in the old doctor's face.

"You don't think him dangerously wounded, do you?" he asked.

"Not dangerously, general," was the reply. "It's—well, he seems to have something on his mind." And more than this the doctor would not say. It was not for him to tell the chief what Webb had confided ere he left the post—that most of the currency for which Field was accountable was so much waste paper. Field lay muttering and tossing in restless misery, unconscious most of the time, and sleeping only when under the influence of a strong narcotic. Dade, with sadness and constraint apparent in his manner, hung back and did not enter the bare hospital room where, with only a steward in attendance, the young soldier lay. The doctor had gone with the general to the bedside, but the captain remained out of earshot at the door.

First call for reveille was just sounding on the infantry bugles as the trio came forth. "I have sent for Hay already, general," Dade was saying, as they stood on the wooden veranda overlooking the valley of the murmuring river; "but will you not come now and have coffee? He can join us over at my quarters."

Already, however, the orderly was hurrying back. They met him when not half way over the line of officers' quarters. The few men for duty in the two companies of infantry, left to guard the post, were gathering in little groups in front of their barracks, awaiting the sounding of the assembly. They knew the chief at a glance, and were curiously watching him as he went thoughtfully pacing across the parade by the side of the temporary commander. They saw the orderly coming almost at a run from the direction of the guard house, saw him halt and salute, evidently making some report, but they could not guess what made him so suddenly start and run at speed toward the southward bluff, the direction of the trader's corral and stables, while Capt. Dade whirled about and signaled Sergt. Crabb, of the cavalry, left behind in charge of the few custodians of the troop barracks. Crabb, too, threw dignity to the winds, and ran at the beck of his superior officer.

"Have you two men who can ride hard a dozen miles or so—and carry out their orders?" was the captain's sharp demand.

"Certainly, sir," answered Crabb, professionally resentful that such a question should be asked of men of the ——th cavalry.

"Send two to report to me at once, mounted. Never mind breakfast."

And by this time, apparently, the chief, the post commander and possibly even the aide-de-camp had forgotten about the waiting coffee. They still stood there where they had halted in the center of the parade. The doctor, coming from the hospital, was signaled to and speedily joined them. The bugle sounded, the men mechanically formed ranks and answered to their names, an the while watching from the corner of their eyes the group of officers, now increased by two infantry subalterns, Lieuts. Bruce and Duncan, who raised their caps to the preoccupied general, such salutation being then a fashion, not a regulation of the service, and stood silently awaiting instructions, for something of consequence was surely at hand. Then the orderly again appeared, returning from his mission, out of breath, and speaking with difficulty.

"Craps— I mean the Frenchman, sir, says it was after four, perhaps half past when they started, Pete drivin'. He didn't see who was in it. 'Twas the covered buckboard he took, sir—the best one."

And then, little by little, it transpired that Hay, the post trader whom the general had need to see, had taken his departure by way of the Rawlin's road, and without so much as a whisper of his purpose to anyone.

"I knew he had thought of going. He told Maj. Webb so," said Dade, presently. "But that was before the outbreak assumed proportions. He had given up all idea of it yesterday, and told me so."

"Has anything happened to—start him since then?" demanded the bearded general, after a moment's talk.

Dade and the doctor looked into each other's eyes, and the latter turned away. It was not his affair.

"W—ell, something has happened, general," was Dade's slow, constrained reply. "If you will step this way—I'll see you later, gentlemen—" this to his subalterns—"I'll explain as far as I can."

And while Dr. Waller fell back and walked beside the aide-de-camp, gladly leaving to the post commander the burden of a trying explanation, the general, slowly pacing by the captain's side, gave ear to his story.

"Hay cleaned up quite a lot of money," began the veteran, "and had intended starting it to Cheyenne when this Indian trouble broke out. The courier reached us during the night, as you know, and the major ordered Ray to start at dawn and Field to go with him."

"Why, I thought Field was post adjutant!" interposed the general.

"He was, but—well—I beg you to let Maj. Webb give you his own reasons, general," faltered Dade, sorely embarrassed. "He decided that Field should go——"

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

SHAMROCK III. STILL WINS.

Lipton's Presence, the Tars Say, Brings Luck.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 22.—After her narrow margin of victory in the last race, Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the nautical blue ribbon was again in racing form and trimmed her trial horse by 33 minutes and 17 seconds in a twenty mile race. Much of her big victory was due to a fluke in which she covered miles of water while Shamrock I. hung idle in a calm.

Another thing which the sailors say brought good luck to the new boat was that Sir Thomas, after watching the races from the Erin for several days, sailed on the challenger. Her crew declares that he rarely fails to bring good luck. The victory was decisive on every point of sailing. Sir Thomas was highly pleased.

Jockeys Hurt, McChesney Lamed.

NEW YORK, July 22.—During the running of the second race at Brighton Beach an accident occurred in which three horses fell. Beauchamp, one of the unfortunate jockeys, was badly hurt about the head and left side and suffered great agony. Michaels escaped with a cut on the head, while Cochran was unhurt. The accident happened at the head of the stretch, where Cochran, on Ruth Parrish, attempted to come through on the rail. In doing so he bumped against Highwind and fell. Long Distance, with Michaels up, and Kingsboro, with Beauchamp up, stumbled and fell. Both Michaels and Beauchamp were stunned, and report had it that all three jockeys were killed. This, however, proved incorrect. The Championship special between Waterboy and McChesney has been declared off, as McChesney, while having his final work out for the race, bruised the hoof on the inside of his left fore leg.

Favorites All Won.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 22.—Many heats of excellent racing were furnished at the central trotting circuit races here. The favorites invariably won, though pressed hard in each event, and the "bookies" were really hit hard. Cricket won the first, third and fourth heats of the 2:24 trot. Glenwood, Jr., won the second heat, and third and fourth money respectively went to West Shore and Lilly Stranger. Graydon, Bell Bird, Bonaparte, Roxalena, Breezeland and La France also started. The best time was 2:21¾ in the third heat.

Racing at Hawthorne Track.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The feature event at Hawthorne, a handicap at a mile and an eighth, was won by Nitrate. The winner finished galloping two lengths in front of Zazel, a 30 to 1 shot. Modicum just lasted long enough to beat The Conqueror a neck for third place. In the second race for two-year-olds Peace had to give away nine pounds to Auditor and was beaten half a length in a fierce drive.

Croix d'Or Won at Delmar.

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—Croix d'Or won the feature of the card at six furlongs at Delmar park. He was last for over half the distance, but gradually worked his way to the front, winning only by a neck. In the third race Ocyrohe and Pretension finished second and third, but were disqualified for fouling. They got Dr. Cartledge between them and gave him a severe bumping, nearly lifting him off his feet.

Butterscotch Won at Fort Erie.

BUFFALO, July 22.—The track at Fort Erie was in good condition for the first time since the meeting opened. Butterscotch won the feature event, passing Firing Line in the stretch. Jockey Stewart got a bad fall in the steeplechase, his mount, Pat My Boy, falling and rolling over him. He was not fatally injured and may be out in a couple of weeks.

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager John Owens has not yet secured a pitcher for his game next Saturday with Scotch Plains, but he says that he will have a good man in the box. The St. Mary boys are going to the Plains determined to capture the game if hard honest effort will count for anything.

The baseball game on Crescent Oval on Saturday afternoon between Alis and Hope Y. M. A. promises to be a close and exciting contest. Alis will have its strongest team in the field and as the Hope boys have strengthened considerably the teams should be evenly matched. "Warry" McLaughlin will do the pitching for Alis, and in fact the lineup will be the same as scheduled for last Saturday against St. Marys.

TENNIS.

The finals in the tennis match, men's singles, will be played on the courts of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clnl on Saturday.

In a closely contested game yesterday the semi-finals were played off in the tennis tournament at the Y. M. C. A. Denton defeated Robbie by a score of 6 to 3 in both sets. Chauncey M. Koons is champion in singles. Koons and Denton came together in the finals. The sets were played on the courts this morning and Koons was victorious, 8-6, 9-7. An appropriate trophy will be presented to the winner.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The choir at the First Presbyterian Church has been granted a vacation for the entire month of August.

The regular business meeting of the First Baptist Church will be held this evening after a short devotional service.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church will have charge of the meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, this evening.

Perseverance Lodge will attend the meeting of Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, this evening, when it will work the third rank on several candidates.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will hold a picnic at the church grounds tomorrow afternoon and evening. Everybody is cordially invited.

Several candidates were received into Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, at last night's meeting. Arrangements are being made for a big celebration next week. Dr. C. M. Lucky is chairman of the arrangements.

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

John Steiner, of Somerset street, will be initiated into Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., at the meeting, this evening.

Four new members were elected and one proposition received at the meeting of Martha Washington Council, D. of A., last night.

Through a misunderstanding on the part of certain members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., last evening was set as the time for a meeting. The regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening, July 28, which will be the last until Fall.

At the meeting of the Knights of Columbus, this evening, plans will be discussed for holding an outing and field day day at Riverside Park sometime next month. The New Brunswick Knights at a recent meeting decided to hold their annual outing and field day at the Park, Tuesday afternoon and evening, August 18. It is probable that many of the local Knights will attend the outing of the New Brunswick lodge.

Grand Secretary Robert H. Alberts, of the Royal Arcanum, says that he is now permanently domiciled at the New Jersey Royal Arcanum headquarters, rooms 303 and 304, Davisdon building, at the corner of Montgomery and Washington streets, Jersey City, and must not be addressed at Hoboken. The June figures are as follows: Admitted by initiation, 162; admitted by card, twenty-seven; reinstated, four; withdrawn to join other councils, twenty; took final cards, three; suspended, thirty-one; died, eight; net gain for June, 131; membership in the State on July 1, 20,671.

District Deputy Grand Master John Becker and staff, of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., had a noteworthy trip to Carteret, Monday evening, where the newly-elected officers were installed. That the Odd Fellows did not arrive at their destination on time and that they were lost en route, may have been due to the fact that "Jack" Carney, who appeared at the entertainment, giving several recitations, was in the party. At any rate Mr. Becker and Henry Nischwitz, who took turns driving, lost their way by at least two miles and had to retrace their steps. On the way home the party again lost their way and did not reach Plainfield until 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The Odd Fellows had a good time, however, and everybody was delighted with Mr. Carney's part in the programme.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Friends Extend Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin, of Jersey City, are spending their vacation in Plainfield with relatives. Last evening they celebrated the first anniversary of their marriage at the home of Mr. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Martin, of Jackson Court. There were present a number of relatives and friends of the young couple and the event was a very pleasant one. During the evening refreshments were served and the best wishes of all were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Martin for many happy returns of the day. Mr. Martin holds an excellent position on the reportorial staff of the Jersey City Journal. His wife is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bailey, of Duer street.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE STATE LIBRARY

Overcrowded Condition Demands the Placing of Steel Racks Along the Walls.

PLANNING AN ADDITION

NEW BUILDING NEEDED TO ACCOMMODATE RAPIDLY INCREASING LIBRARY.

Library Now Consists of 61,909 Volumes — Now Two Hundred Years Old—Started in Eighteenth Century.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 22—On account of the great number of books accumulated in the State Library within the last few years it has been deemed advisable to install steel racks for a depository, which will be placed along the walls of the present library quarters in the near future. In addition there will be a tier for such books as are not much in demand. For this purpose the last Legislature passed a law authorizing the State House Commission to procure such shelves and make whatever other improvements about the library they might find necessary. This act calls for an appropriation of not more than $15,000, but the money was not included in the general appropriation bill and will be required to be included in next winter's appropriation bill.

For many reasons it has been urged and for a long time considered, that a plan be adopted by which a separate building may be erected on a modern scale to provide facilities that will afford ample space for the present library and future contingencies, which plan would accord with the library systems of many other States and meet the most serious objection presented in opposition to the contemplated improvement, namely, the steel racks, etc., in that the present State House structure is considered by experts to be too frail for the support of much greater weight than it now has to bear.

At present the number of volumes and pamphlets in the State Library, the records shows to be 61,909, besides innumerable newspapers and magazines which have been carefully preserved and bound from the beginning of the nineteenth century. Last year 3,589 volumes were added to the library's equipment of books. In 1890 the number of books in the library was 37,148, showing that there has been nearly a two-fold increase in thirteen years. In that year the present quarters were occupied. In 1896 the library collection consisted of a little more than 47,000 volumes, and every year since that time many volumes have been added.

The State Library is estimated to be about 200 years old. Its nucleus was a collection of the records, minutes and reports of the General Assembly at the beginning of the eighteenth century. The earliest records filed in the State Library were the minutes of the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey of 1704, written in a bold handwriting which stands the test of time and preserves its identity without much trace of its antiquity. These minutes were transcribed with a quill, which was evidently wielded by a master hand. This book is carefully preserved in the private office of Librarian Buchanan and is rarely exhibited to visitors or handled.

Other relics in the State Library are early prints from the presses of the Bradford Brothers and Benjamin Franklin.

There is also in the librarian's private office Philip Melancthon's copy of Livy, the famous Latin classic, printed at Bosel, Switzerland, in 1535, which is supposed to be the oldest book in America except the celebrated Gutenberg Bible of 1457, purchased by Braton Ives, of New York, for $15,000. Aside from the date of the publication, this copy of Livy is peculiarly valuable as it contains Melancthon's marginal notes and interlineations in Latin, Greek, Hebrew and German. This work was once the property of the Mickle family, of Camden, and is in a good state of preservation. It was presented to the State by a member of the Mickle family a number of years ago.

The State Library, especially the law department, is considered to be one of the best working libraries in the country. It was early perceived that a library is an important and beneficial branch of a State institution, and it has long been admitted as well as properly considered the great storehouse of knowledge from which a fund of information and instruction, beyond any other agency, could be derived. A depository of literature and science as included in the reference library which the wisdom and learning of ages have handed down for the benefit of man, a department exceeding all other sources from which historical data pertaining to human events can be acquired, was the idea of the early librarians in the formation of the library and its various extensions.

AMUSEMENTS.

Grace George will spend eighteen weeks of next season in New York, the time being divided between autumn and spring. During the latter engagement she will try a new comedy, as yet unnamed, which was purchased for her nearly four years ago.

Wilton Lackaye's starring vehicle, "The Bit," will have forty-eight speaking parts, thirty-two of which are taken from the novel by Frank Norris. Mr. Lackaye will be seen as Curtis Jadwin, whose love for Laura Dearborn forms the theme of the play.

Novelties are always sought after by the managers of variety houses and in this line the Sisters Meredith at Keith's furnish one. They have a novelty in the shape of "Hiawatha." It is one of the best things ever done on the vaudeville stage and has won praise wherever shown. From the ranks of the legitimate come Rice and Cady, late of the "Fiddle-dee-dee" Company. They are German comedians without peers. Ziska and King, the masters of mystery and mirth, just from Europe, will give an act the equal of which has never been seen in this country.

Among the guests in a party given recently at Pain's Manhattan Beach spectacle, "Last Days of Pompeii" by William C. Whitney, was an inquisitive young niece of the formal naval secretary. She appeared to be enjoying the fireworks immensely and as an especially brilliant burst of rockets lighted the skies for miles around, the little girl turned to her mother and inquired.

"Mamma, do you suppose the Lord is watching the fireworks?"

"I guess he is, dearie," replied the fond parent, "Why do you ask?"

"And are His angels with Him?" continued the child.

"Yes, His angels are with Him."

"Well, I hope the Lord's alright—but Mamma, how do they keep their clothes from burning?"

Signor Creatore, that unique and sensational band leader who has become so prominent as the musical craze of New York, during the summer season, will be heard at Riverside Park all next week under the auspices of the New Brunswick Lodge of Elks, with his great organization of fifty musicians. This will afford a new experience to all lovers of music, as, in spite of the fact that Creatore is regarded by many as a sensation on account of his calisthenic gestures while conducting, he is declared by all musical critics to be an intense artist, with wonderful musical temperament. There will be a matinee daily, and change of programme at each performance.

—Secretary Kenneth Robbie, of the Junior Department of the Y. M. C. A., and Edgar George, Fred Armstrong and Arthur Humble returned yesterday from a two weeks' camping trip in the Berkshire Hills.

JERSEY BOYS IN CAMP.

Waverly Cadets From Jersey City Attract Attention at Northfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

East Northfield, Mass., July 22—For several weeks a contingent of the Waverly cadets of Jersey City, have been camping on the hills back of the Northfield Seminary campus.

The cadets were a pleasing factor in the Northfield Summer Conferences, not only delighted the Northfield guests with exhibition drills, but also furnishing a part of the music for the Young Women's Conference. With them are a score of young women, also from Jersey City, who help add to the social life of the camp and who are taking full advantage of the Northfield tennis and golfing facilities found so plentifully on Mr. Briggs' newly purchased farm. Chaperoning the girls are Mrs. E. C. Faye, Lansingburg, N. Y., Miss Ada M. Faye, of New York City and Mrs. E. Waldeck, of Jersey City. Next year Mr. Briggs plans to establish a camp, similar in outline to "Camp Northfield" but open to girls as well as to boys.

THRESHER LICENSED.

The Owner Obtains a Permit Under Automobile Law Provisions.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 22—Humor dropped into the automobile license situation last week when William A. Brown, of Elwood, Atlantic County, applied at Trenton for a license for his traction threshing machine, which he swore could not travel faster than three-and-one-half miles an hour.

Automobile License Clerk Transeau was inclined at first to treat the whole matter as a joke, but inquiry of the notary public convinced the clerk that Mr. Brown was in earnest. Accordingly license No. 1,353 was given to Mr. Brown, and the clerk noted the fact that a traction threshing machine running at the snail pace of three-and-one-half miles an hour must not, under the law, be run at a rate not exceeding thirty miles an hour on New Jersey's highways.

Wisdom in Belfry.

A pair of snowy owls flying around the Seventh-Day Baptist Church for the past few days at dusk have attracted considerable attention. They have made their nests in the church belfry.

Catholic Aid Society Wants to Know Where Children Are.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 22—One of the purposes of the Catholic Children's Aid Society, formally projected at a meeting in Newark, last week, is to make some arrangement between the State Board of Children's Guardians and the aid society, when it shall have been established permanently, whereby its management might be apprised of cases of children who had passed from the jurisdiction of the State guardians. It was desired to have the society notified whenever a child shall leave the home or boarding place to which it had been assigned and cease to be a public charge. The society would then be placed in a position to follow the career of the child, and doubtless in many cases, it was estimated, could look after its moral and spiritual welfare. The matter will be brought to the attention of the State Board at its next meeting.

ELKS' UNIQUE BADGES.

Advertising Trenton's Pottery Industry at the Convention.

As a mark of recognition to Trenton's eminence as a pottery center, the local lodge of Elks are wearing porcelain badges at the Elks' National Convention at Baltimore.

Suspended from bar, bearing the word "delegate," is a blue ribbon, to which is attached the medallion of the lodge, made to represent a dinner plate.

The medallion is the product of Maddock's Lamberton Works.

LITERARY.

The fiction number of Leslie's Monthly has a remarkable list of authors on its cover: Irving Bacheller, Henry Harland, John Luther Long, Howard Pyle, Roy Rolfe Gilson, Harry Stillwell Edwards, David Belasco, Marion Hill and Judge Shute, among others. There are stories of all kinds, and of all varieties of feeling, ranging from the delicate sentiment of Harland and Gilson to the strong, virile feeling of John Luther Long's story, which is really a novel in disguise, and from the quaint humor of Bacheller's new stories of Eben Holden to the jubilant fun of Judge Shute's "Real Boys," and the broad farce of Edwards' darky story and Marion Hill's picture of modern kindergarten methods.

Mrs. Hall Participates.

Woman suffragists from all over the State assembled in Ocean Grove yesterday for the opening of the annual session of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association. To the address of welcome by Bishop FitzGerald, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city, the honorary president, responded. At the afternoon meeting, Mrs. Hall read a woman suffrage farce, "The Judgment of Minerva," of which she was the author.

Central's Plan.

In the execution of plans for the development of the Central Railroad of New Jersey's dock facilities at the foot of Liberty street, which involves the expenditure of one million dollars, the New York public is to have a free waterfront promenade, modelled more or less after similar promenades in Antwerp and Copenhagen. Work on the improvement is expected to be completed this year.

LITTLE FLUCTUATION IN LOCAL TAX RATE

Increase Small When Multiplicity of Improvements Are Considered.

ITEMIZED ASSESSMENT

COMPARISON IN DETAIL BETWEEN THE RATES FOR 1902 AND 1903.

Lowest Rate in 1894 and Highest in 1899—Where the Money Has Been Spent—Other Interesting Facts.

Plainfield's tax rate for the past ten years has not fluctuated greatly. It has increased from $2.22 in 1894 to the present rate of $2.50, but this increase has been small in proportion to the number of improvements which have been inaugurated during the period and which have made their inroads into the city treasury.

In 1894, there was no sewer tax. The electric lighting system was much less complete and of course less expensive. Police and fire protection was much less adequate than now. There was no great outlay for the improvement and care of the streets; boulevards made no drain upon the public funds. The city did not have charge of the street sprinkling, and expenses for schools were lighter. Considering these and numerous other ways in which the demands upon the city's resources have increased, the corresponding growth in the tax rate seems small. The fact must be considered, however, that the expenses are distributed among a greater number of people, the growth in population during the decade being conservatively estimated at from five to six thousand.

The greatest that the tax rate has been in the ten years was $2.56 in 1889, and the lowest $2.22 in 1894. The tax rate for each year in the period was: 1894, $2.22; 1895, $2.32; 1896, $2.30; 1897, $2.52; 1898, $2.42; 1899, $2.56; 1900, $2.46; 1901, $2.50; 1902, $2.50; 1903, $2.50.

The itemized assessment for 1903 follows: County tax, .49; State school tax, .18; fire department tax, .25; library tax, .04¼; city and city light tax, .65½; poor tax, .06¼; free school and bond tax, .69; principal on sewer bonds, .06; interest on sewer obligation, .07. The county, State school and fire department taxes have increased one cent each over the 1902; assessment; the library tax is a quarter of a cent less; the city and light tax is three and a half cents less; care of the poor costs one and three-quarter cents more; the tax on the principal on sewer bonds is one cent less; and the other two items, free school and bond tax and interest on sewer obligation remain the same.

VETERANS ORGANIZE.

Old Employes of Jersey Central Railroad Have Banded Together.

A plan is under way and nearing completion for the organization of a veteran association of the employes of the New Jersey Central.

Membership in the Association will be limited to employes who served the company under General Superintendent R. E. Riker, who severed his connection with the Central on October 31, 1876.

At a preliminary meeting of the association held recently, Superintendent George H. Frech, of the New Jersey Southern Division, was chosen president. The executive committee is made up of Agent J. A. Haynes, of this city, chairman; Capt. B. W. Hopper, of Newark, and Samuel Phipps.

The union will conclude its meetings today. Three meetings will be held during the day—at 10:30, 3 and 8 o'clock. Miss Belle Kearney, of Mississippi, will deliver an address at the evening meeting.

MASS AT SAINT JOSEPH'S

BISHOP M'FAUL SENDS ORDERS TO FATHER MILLER.

Special Prayer Composed by Bishop to be Said at All Devotions.

Father Miller, of St. Joseph's Church, this morning received a letter of instruction from Bishop Mc Faul, of Trenton, regarding the special services to be held in memory of Pope Leo XIII. It directs that there shall be a solemn mass Monday morning at the church at 9 o'clock. Father Miller will be the celebrant, Father Ditrich, of Bound Brook, the deacon; Father Tyrrell, of Rahway, the sub-deacon and Father Dunphy, of Dunellen, the master of ceremonies. Father Dunphy will deliver a discourse on the life of the Holy Father and there will be special music.

The letter also contains a special prayer, composed by Bishop McFaul, which will be said at all devotions until a successor to Leo XIII is chosen by the Sacred College at Rome.

CHANGE IN NAME.

The Hebrew Religious Organization to be Known by a New Title.

A certificate of amendment to the original incorporation, changing the name of the Hebrew body in this city from Congregation Beth Tefilleth Isho Yendal to Congregation Children of Israel, was filed yesterday in the office of the County Clerk at Elizabeth by the trustees of the congregation. It is proposed to erect a handsome house of worship in New street between Front and Second streets. Funds for that purpose are now being raised.

DESTRUCTION IN WAKE OF THE STORM

Considerable Damage Done in This City and Surrounding Country.

THE HAIL DID DAMAGE

LIGHTNING PLAYS QUEER STUNTS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Michael Webber Knocked Unconscious—Trees Blown Down—Damage at Warrenville, Millstone and Vicinity.

The storm of yesterday is said to be the severest experienced in this section of the State in several years. Considerable damage was done in this city and in surrounding country where huge hailstones fell and did considerable damage to crops as well as injured cattle in the fields.

Lightning struck a large tree in front of Michael Webber's house on East Third street near the East Third Street Chapel and stunned a man named Joseph Brownlee, of Chatham street. He was passing beneath the tree when the bolt struck and was knocked down. Though dazed he continued on his way. A large tree on the Hillside Golf links was blown down.

In the church yard of the Springdale, M. E. Church the large mulberry tree, which has stood there for almost a century, was blown over. At Warrenville the hailstones fell in great quantities and some of them were very large. Window glass in the home of Henry Williams at Warrenville was broken.

Henry Williams says that the lightning struck the corner of his house, passed down the chimney to the parlor, where it struck a sword hanging on the wall and then leaped to the piano where it played about the strings in the back of the instrument. The bolt passed out through the iron grating to the cellar. Mr. Williams is authority for the statement that many of the roads in that part of the country are washed out to some extent although not enough to impair traffic.

At Millstone the storm was exceedingly severe. At the home of Freeman Stelle the hailstones were unusually large, doing much damage to crops.

ADORNING LIBRARY.

Groups of Statuary Placed in the Carnegie Library in New Brunswick.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 23 — The statuary group for the Carnegie library has been placed in position. It is just above the main entrance to the building. The group of figures is thirty-two feet in length and over eight feet on the major axis.

The main central group represents the figure symbolizing "Education," and holding the form of "Youth." The right arm of the main figure is extended, holding upward the "Mirror of Truth." To the right and left of this group are four other groups, representing, respectively, "Mechanical and Industrial Education," as well as "Fine Arts, Science, Literature and music."

WALTON IN TROUBLE AT CONEY ISLAND

Husband of Plainfield Young Woman Locked Up at That Resort.

DIFFICULTY OVER MEAL

PROTESTED AGAINST PAYING FOR A POOR DINNER.

Although Lester R. Walton Establishes His Identity and Offers Personal Bond, the Police Keep Him in Station House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 23—Lester R. Walton, a chemist, of No. 509 Fifth avenue, was arraigned in the Coney Island Police Court today charged with ordering a meal in the Albemarle Hotel, on Surf avenue, and failing to pay for it.

Walton and his wife went to the hotel for dinner last night and complained that the fish was tainted. The manager is said to have offered to substitute better food, but a quarrel started which resulted in the manager calling a policeman.

The police accepted the word of the hotel manager without question and locked Walton up, his wife accompanying him to the station in tears. Although Walton was able to establish his identity and responsibility, the police would not accept his personal bond, and he was locked up, while Mrs. Walton started in search of his father, Alfred Walton, a wealthy Manhattan physician.

Young Mr. Walton was arrested two years ago on a charge of stealing $50 from the apartments of Miss Josephine Curtis, on the top floor of No. 509 Fifth avenue.

In court he was able to show that he had not stolen anything and that he had gone into the young woman' room to see what had become of a chunk of ice. His father owns the building and purchased ice each day for a cooler on the top floor. He said it had been taken frequently by some one and that Miss Curtis was suspected. He was discharged and then brought suit against Miss Curtis.

Mrs. Lester R. Walton is a daughter of Mrs. Ella B. Smith, of Westervelt avenue. Her maiden name was Miss Mabel Smith.

DRIVEN THROUGH THE AIR

COW KICKS JOSEPH THYS WHO ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY.

Lame and Sore From Experience—Friends Come to His Assistance.

Joseph Thys, of Terrell road, was kicked by a cow in the groin yesterday and severely bruised. He was taking the animal out to pasture, and had just let down the bars for her to pass through, when she let fly unexpectedly with both hind legs, landing them with great force upon the person of her master. The latter was driven through the air several feet and deposited upon the ground with momentum sufficient to remove all the atmosphere from his lungs. Kind friends pumped him by the arms and slapped him upon the back, in the unselfish effort to assist him to recover his normal share of ozone. The latter operation when applied to his sore spots was especially effective in bringing him too. Mr. Thys is lame and sore from his experience, but not seriously damaged.

FIRE ON FARM.

George Nixdoph Loses Valuable Horse and His Barn By Blaze.

While George Nixdoph, of Gillette, was at Summit Tuesday afternoon his barn was set on fire in some mysterious manner and a horse and the contents of the building were consumed. The loss is estimated at $2,000. It was insured for $1,000.

The barn was a large one and in it he had stored a wagon and some of his hay crop. The flames were well underway before they were discovered and seemed to originate from the interior. Incendiarism is hinted at. The horse, which was burned, was a fine black one and was greatly prized by the owner.

COLONIAL DAMES IN HISTORIC HOUSE

Headquarters of New Jersey Society Now the Old Barracks at State Capital.

DEPOSITORY FOR RELICS

OCCUPY TWO ROOMS ON THE SECOND FLOOR OF STRUCTURE.

Collection of Pictures of Historic Buildings—Antique Hall Clock—Portraits of General and Martha Washington.

Local members of the New Jersey Society of Colonial Dames will be interested to know that Trenton's historic barracks in West Front street, Trenton, is now the official home of the society. Arrangements were made some time ago, whereby the society secured two rooms on the second floor, as a meeting place and depository for historical relics. These rooms have been furnished and were occupied for the first time, recently, at the meeting of the board of managers.

The rooms are connected by two arches and they are attractively papered in a shade of blue with large rugs on the floor to match. The furniture is Colonial in style. The east room contains paintings of President and Martha Washington in oval gilt frames and other historic pictures.

In one corner stands an antique hall clock that was once the property of Col. William Trent, after whom Trenton was named. The clock was donated to the society by the late Mrs. Washington A. Roebling. At tablet on the clock is inscribed: "Colonel William Trent's clock, presented to the New Jersey Society of Colonial Dames by Mrs. Washington Roebling, January, 1903."

In this room also is the writing table containing the "guest book," in which is written a long list of names of distinguished persons who have been the guests of the society in the past.

In the west room is a splendid collection of framed pictures of historic buildings and places in various parts of New Jersey. One picture shows the monument erected by the Colonial Dames to the soldiers and sailors who gave their lives for their country during the war with Spain.

Both rooms have old-time fire places, equipped with brass firedogs, fenders and tongs. Other historic articles will be placed in the rooms as the society obtains possession of them.

AN INCORPORATOR.

Mr. Davis One of the Directors of the Newly-Organized Consolidated Davis Company.

Virginio T. J. Davis, of Norwood avenue, is one of the incorporators of the Consolidated Davis Company, which has filed papers at Trenton. The registered office is at 152 Market street, Paterson. The company has a capital stock of $50,000. Its object is to acquire the capital stock of the Davis Company of Massachusetts, the Sulphur Mining Company of New Jersey, the Davis Sulphur Ore Company of New Jersey, the American Copper Extension Company of New Jersey and the Powers & Robinson Foundry Company of New Jersey. The incorporators include Herbert J. Davis, of New York, Virginio T. P. Davis, of this city, Edgar M. Tilt, of Paterson, Joseph Kling, of Sea Cliff, New York, John E. Tryer, of New York.

A Comparison.

This city's valuation just exceeds that of Plainfield. In Plainfield it is $9,343,000, an increase of $341,000 over last year. In this city it is $9,511,716. The net taxable valuation of Elizabeth this year is $21,127,700, an increase of $957,000 over last year. Rahway this year has a decrease of $27,600, which is explained by the failure of the bank in that city, which reduced the personal valuation $34,000. Rahway's total is given at $3,192,300. —New Brunswick Home News.

One Year Old.

Andrew Norman Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Lynch, of Orchard place, is one year old today. The anniversary will be observed at the home of Mrs. Lynch's mother, Mrs. John McKeon, on West Front street, this evening.

M. Jackson Crispin, secretary and treasurer of the U. S. Metal Manufacturing Company, of New York, is spending a few days in Plainfield as the guest of B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Myrtle avenue.

HAS A KING CHARLES II RING

RELIC IN POSSESSION OF A BASKING RIDGE MAN.

Antiquated Piece of Jewelry in a Family for Over Two Hundred Years.

Michael L. Connolly, of Basking Ridge, a journeyman carpenter, employed by Nicholas Thomas at Millington, has in his possession a ring which is more than 200 years old, and for which he has refused many offers. The ring was made during the reign of King Charles II. of England. The quaint and antiquated piece of jewelry has been handed down through generations of the Connolly family, the present owner receiving it as a gift from his grandmother.

The ring differs from those now made, it being cast in a mould instead of rolled. It is of a band style, and the design is emblematic of the owner's loyalty to the ring, and consists of two hands holding a heart, upon which is placed a crown, thus in an ingenious manner signifying "We give our hearts to the crown."

Mrs. Connolly's ancestors were faithful followers of King Charles II., and the ring was worn by them during the religious troubles which occurred during the latter's reign. The present owner received the trinket about twenty-five years ago, and has worn it as a watch charm, which has resulted in the peculiar design being nearly destroyed.

PAID TRIBUTE TO THE POPE

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PRAISED HIS LIFE AND CHARACTER.

Adopted Resolutions Regarding the Dead Prelate's Services to Church and Humanity.

Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, met last evening to take action regarding the death of Pope Leo. There was a full attendance, and many of those present paid their tributes of love and respect for the dead Pontiff. The principal speaker was Andrew E. Kenney, who reviewed the life of His Holiness, and estimated the worth of his achievements for the church and for humanity.

It was ordered that the charter be draped for thirty days. These resolutions were drawn up and placed upon the records of the meeting:

Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus.

Plainfield, N. J., July 23, 1903.

It is with profound sorrow that we record the death of His Holiness, Leo XIII., on Monday, July 20, 1903 in the 94th year of his age, and the twenty-sixth of his glorious pontificate.

As faithful and devoted children of Holy Mother Church it is but fitting that we should show to the memory of our late Holy Father those evidences of filial love and devotion so firmly implanted in every Catholic heart.

To the Knights of Columbus the loss is a personal one. He was our protector and benefactor, and his paternal encouragement and commendation of our work has been our guiding star—and incentive to higher things and an impetus to increase effort in the noble cause of Catholic fraternity, which he has sanctified by his holy benediction.

The Great Leo has passed away, an irreparable loss to the great historic Church which he has guided with unerring hand for a quarter of a century; but his beautiful life and glorious pontificate will ever remain an enduring monument, which time cannot affect.

"Eternal rest grant unto him O Lord, and let perfect light shine on him."

School Law Argument.

That the general law of New Jersey, under which the entire public school system of the State is conducted, is in danger of being set aside was shown in an announcement made Tuesday, by Chancellor Magie that the Court of Errors and Appeals desired a reargument of the case in which the constitutionality of the act was attacked. The court fixed September 9 as the date for the reargument.

Somebody Was Careless.

Patrolman Flynn discovered a fine opening for an enterprising burglar last night at the Netherwood station of the Central Railroad. The windows of the baggage room had been left wide open by the last man to leave the place. Nothing had been taken, however, and the patrolman reported the oversight and made everything fast.

BATTLED IN AMBULANCE TO SUBDUE PATIENT

Casper Ebner, of North Made Delirious by the Storm.

NOW AT SOLDIERS' HOME

EXCITING EXPERIENCE OF DR. ARTHUR H. DUNDON.

Trip From This City to Kearney Interrupted by Storm Which Made Patient Frantic—History of the Old Soldier.

While Dr. A. H. Dundon, of Somerset street, North Plainfield, was taking Casper Ebner, of Steiner place, to the Soldier's Home in Kearney, near Newark yesterday, in the ambulance, the storm overtook him and while the lightning crashed and the thunder roared he was in the vehicle battling with his delirious patient.

Casper Ebner lived on Steiner place for years. He was a soldier. As a young man he served in the German Army. During the Civil War he was a member of Co. B, 1st Regt., New York Engineers. Old age and a malignant fever has made the once strong soldier a physical wreck. An effort was made some time ago to have the aged veteran taken to the Old Soldier's Home at Kearney near Newark.

The ambulance was called into service and shortly after the first shower yesterday, when it was thought that the storm was over for the day, the start was made. When near Cranford, the rain began to fall in torrents and distant peals of thunder told all too plainly that another and far more severe storm was approaching.

The horse was urged to all speed but the storm over took the travellers. The patient lay in the ambulance suffering from fever. When the storm became too intense the driver stopped at a farmhouse and waited until its fury had abated.

While driving through Broad street in Newark another storm came up and the rain fell in torrents. The loud crashing of the thunder made the patient delirious and he tried to disrobe in the ambulance. The streets were deserted save for a few passing carriages and a trolley car now and then. The driver was urging his horse with all speed for Kearney and, while the lightning played about the dashing ambulance and the cries of the patient were drowned by the thunder claps Dr. Dundon struggled to quiet the man and he finally succeeded.

CHURCH AID SOCIETY.

Catholic Organization to Care for Poor and Abandoned Children.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, July 23—The Catholic Children's Aid Association of New Jersey, which was recently organized, has filed articles of incorporation at the Hudson County Clerk's office. They provide that the corporation shall be managed by trustees.

Among the stated objects of the organization are the placing of destitute and abandoned children in private homes or public institutions, the investigation of cases of cruelty and neglect of children, the aiding of courts and probation authorities in the treatment of juvenile delinquents, co-operation in the enforcement of factory inspection and child labor laws, the organization and conduct of works for the moral and physical advancement of children, and the establishment of asylums or homes for the care and education of orphans and of the destitute, dependent and defective children.

It is not the intention to interfere with the charitable work of the State, but to co-operate with the State Board of Children's Guardians.

PETER MUNDY'S FUNERAL.

Services Held Over Remains of Former Plainfielder.

The funeral of Peter D. Mundy, who died at his home in Springdale, Monday, was held yesterday. The interment was in the Springdale M. E. Cemetery. Mr. Mundy was a hatter in this city in the early 'seventies but has been living a retired life in the country during recent years. He was about 80 years of age.

The strike at the Ostrander Tile Works at New Brunswick, is still on, no concessions being made by either party.

William Eakin, of the Potter Press Company's Works, left yesterday on a fishing trip along the New Jersey coast. The trip will be made with a yachting party which will return Sunday night.

About 22,000 men engaged in a dozen of the New York City building trades have gone back to work under the arbitration agreement of the Employers' Association. Matters were not in such shape that the entire 35,000 included in the agreement could begin at once, but by today, it is expected, the remainder will find work, as will also members of one or two other unions which are in favor of accepting the agreement.

On application of Judge Francis Scott, of Paterson, counsel for the W. & M. Fletcher Company of Hoboken, Vice Chancellor Emery yesterday signed an order enjoining the striking machinists formerly employed in the corporation's shops from interfering with the non-union or other workmen now employed. The International Association of Machinists, its grand lodge officers and the officers and members of Elysian Lodge, of Newark, are made the defendants.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

The Boston Fur and Cloak Store is headquarters for fashionable dresses for women. A most desirable line of light waists, separate skirts and children's dresses will be found in stock at very low prices.

The model seafood market of Jerry Foss, of Park avenue, is cooled by electric breezes. Fish are received fresh every day and are immediately placed under ice. Cleanliness and coolness are first requisites at this market.

A clever housekeeper will deal with the best tradesmen. W. W. Dunn, the Park grocer, has the very best of stock and each morning he receives fresh vegetables and fruit. The contented housekeeper is she who trades at Dunn's.

It makes a good deal of difference where you buy your meats. You owe it to yourself and family to buy them at a place where you can be sure of getting them fresh and wholesome. Such a place is J. W. VanSickle's on North avenue.

C. M. Nagle, the pharmacist, has a splendid line of imported and domestic cigars. He is a specialist on prescriptions and has an exceptionally complete supply of medicines. The quality of all his goods can be depended upon to be exactly as represented.

Putnam & DeGraw, the dry goods merchants, are offering some attractive specials for summer wear in figured lawns and batiste, women's lace hosiery, percale shirts and boys' shirts waists. This firm's stock of goods is one of the best in the city.

A. M. Harper, the Park avenue stationer, carries one of the most complete stocks of fine writing paper, pens, pencils, writing pads, as well as all kinds of dolls, to be found anywhere. You will find this store a convenient place to purchase such articles.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said: "My kingdom, My kingdom for a tender steak." There is no excuse for not having a tender steak on the table. All that is necessary to obtain rest on that score is to trade at Smalley Brothers, North avenue.

A man is known by the company he keeps and also by the shirt he wears. If a man has on a shirt that he bought in New York it is a ten to one that he has not at heart the interest of Plainfield. A shirt bought at J. R. Blair's, on Park avenue, cannot be beaten in New York and when such a shirt is purchased here it encourages our local merchants. Trade here.

During the heated term there is nothing more refreshing and stimulating than a salt bath. L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, has just received a large shipment of fine West India sea salt and this added to the daily bath is very beneficial. Mr. Randolph is doing a great deal toward keeping humanity cool and comfortably by serving the best drinks at his fountain.

DEATH AT PATERSON

Tornado Sweeps City, Killing Two and Injuring Many.

WIDESPREAD DAMAGE TO BUILDINGS

Main Street House Collapsed, Causing Death of One Man and Burying Others, Who Were Dug Out Badly Injured.

PATERSON, N. J., July 23.—A terrific tornado has visited this city. During the storm, which lasted about three minutes, two men were killed and at least threescore injured. One house was blown over, more than a score of buildings were unroofed, and havoc was done to trees, fences, signs and awnings. The storm came from the northwest, accompanied by heavy rain. The wind blew with the force of a hurricane.

At 780 Main street half a dozen men were at work jacking up a house. When the tornado struck this building it collapsed. Joseph Van Dam was buried under the wreckage and instantly killed. Four other men were caught, but were dug out alive, though unconscious. They are suffering from severe scalp wounds and are not in condition to give their names. Two other men who were injured in other parts of the city were treated at the hospital.

Thomas Hancock, eight years old, was struck by a piece of shafting blown from a wrecked laundry building, which completely severed his head from his body.

At St. Joseph's hospital the patients were thrown into a panic. Big trees in the grounds around the hospital were blown down, the windows were smashed and the awnings carried off. Throughout the path of the tornado similar damage was done.

Sale of Spanish Coin.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The war department has directed Governor Taft to accept the highest bid—amounting to $131,582—for the subsidiary Spanish coin which was found in the treasury at Manila when the place fell into the hands of the Americans. This is about half the face value of the coin, and it is said that the purchasers, if the sale is completed, expect to make a handsome profit through the shipment of the coin to some South American republics where it is current. The Spanish government has made formal claim to the money under that section of the treaty of Paris which provides for the return to Spain of movable public properties.

Killed Because He Wouldn't Get Up.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 23.—Because his son Charles, aged sixteen, refused to get up when called William Liard shot and killed the boy as he lay in bed at Knoxville, chased a younger son to the home of a neighbor in an attempt to kill him also, then turned the weapon upon himself with fatal effect. Liard was addicted to drink and had separated from his wife. News of the tragedy prostrated the mother, and fears for her recovery are entertained.

Three Boys Fall From Trestle.

BUFFALO, July 23.—In alighting from a freight train on a trestle near Angola three youths, all from Buffalo, plunged headlong from the side of the bridge and struck on a rocky bed thirty feet below the tracks. One, Frank Cobscobia, was dashed to death, and the other two sustained severe injuries. The injured youths are Leo Thurn, nineteen years old, and Steve File, sixteen years old. They are at the Emergency hospital.

Was It Accident or Suicide?

BOSTON, July 23.—With a double barreled shotgun, Andrew Cuneo, fifty-nine years of age, a prosperous Italian of the north end, either accidentally killed himself or committed suicide at his home. Mr. Cuneo was getting ready to go down east on a shooting trip. This is taken to support the theory of accidental shooting, but the man's daughter says he had been despondent over business troubles.

Gaynor and Greene Extraditable.

MONTREAL, July 23.—Donald Machaster, K. C., who is now in London, has notified the members of his firm here that the lord chancellor has granted leave to appeal from Judge Caron's decision to the effect that Gaynor and Greene cannot be extradited. The lord chancellor stated that in his opinion the offenses of Gaynor and Greene were decidedly extraditable.

Young Girl's Sudden Death.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., July 23.—Alice A. Fox, twenty-one years old, daughter of John Fox, a prominent citizen, became ill on the street and went into Dr. L. D. McWayne's office after hours for treatment. Before the doctor was able to aid her in any manner she pitched forward lifeless. An autopsy was held, but the coroner refused to make his decision public.

Failure of French Fisheries.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 23.—The failure of the French fisheries on the Grand Banks this season has been the worst for a decade. Many large vessels returned not a quarter filled, and the average of the fleet was hardly half a catch. Moreover, fifteen vessels were lost, two foundering with their entire crews. The outlook at St. Pierre is most distressing.

Better Times For Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 23.—The agents of a company claiming $4,000,000 capital in concessions from Mexico for colonizing the coast of Yucatan are successfully engaged at Mayaguez and in the vicinity in inducing Porto Rican families to emigrate. The newspapers of this island oppose the plan, claiming that better times are coming for Porto Rico.

RESTS IN ST. PETER'S

Body of the Great Pope Lies In the Basilica.

DEVOTEES TAKE A LAST FAREWELL

Preparations For the Conclave Have Begun In Sistine Chapel—Italians Pleased at Sympathy of Kaiser and President Roosevelt.

ROME, July 23.—The body of Leo XIII. lies in state in the basilica of St. Peter's. Beginning today at sunrise the people of Rome and those of all nations now in the Eternal City were admitted to pay their last farewell. Opportunity for this solemn tribute will end Saturday.

Yesterday the remains of the dead pope lay in the throne room of the Vatican, where the leaders of the diplomatic, clerical and civil world were allowed to pass the bier. The ceremonial when the body was conveyed from the throne room to St. Peter's was one of the most striking of all the obsequies. During the day the congregation of cardinals met and decided to hold the conclave under the identical regulations which obtained at the conclave which elected Leo.

Dr. Lapponi in the course of the day presented to Cardinal Oreglia a report of the autopsy which was held, which showed that there was no sign of cancer in the pope's body. Some hours before sundown St. Peter's was cleared of idle crowds. The massive doors were closed and the throng of sightseers was pushed back to the foot of the great flight of circular stone steps. Half a hundred carpenters hastily constructed a stout fence five feet high to resist the encroachments of the crowds which are expected to come to view the remains of the dead pope. The fence extends directly across the colonnade, and in it are two narrow entrances which will give ready means of controlling the ingress and egress of the throngs.

At the session of the congregation when Cardinal Oreglia asked if the conclave would be held in Rome it is reported that only Cardinals Martinelli and Steinhuber objected on the ground of possible influence of the Italian government.

Cardinal Oreglia, who himself at the time of the death of Pius IX. had favored a proposition to hold the conclave outside of Italy, declared that interference by the Italian government was impossible, and the proposition to hold the conclave at Rome was carried unanimously.

The congregation decided that all participating in the conclave should not be allowed to hold communication of any kind with the outside world. In 1878 Cardinal Hohenlohe was permitted to have his meals sent from home, through which medium, it is said, he notified Crispi, then minister of the interior of Italy, and Bismarck about the proceedings of the conclave.

It has been decided that the cells for each cardinal in the conclave shall be chosen by lot. Preparations for the conclave have already begun in the Sistine chapel, where the balloting will occur. It is said that an agreement has been reached between the ecclesiastical and government authorities to have the Italian troops enter St. Peter's should any disturbance occur during the three days that Leo will lie in state in the chapel of the Sacrament.

According to the Tribuna, irritation is felt at the Vatican against the Catholic sovereigns for the cold tone of their telegrams, and their condolences are contrasted with that of Emperor William. The Tribuna adds that everything good is said of the German emperor and of President Roosevelt and predicts that the German cardinals and Cardinal Gibbons will be received by their colleagues with pronounced cordiality.

The will of the late pope, it is said, leaves all he possessed to the church, including presents which might appear to be personal property, on the ground that no one could claim anything he had during life as he had generously provided for those bound to him by ties of blood and affection. The report published in the United States on the authority of the Tribuna here to the effect that the will had been opened by Cardinal Oreglia and that it showed the pope had left a private fortune of $15,000,000 was premature and was retracted in a later edition of the Tribuna itself.

Miners Drowned Like Rats.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., July 23.—By the bursting through of a large body of water that was impounded in an abandoned section of Ellangowan colliery, of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, just before quitting time five miners, all foreigners, were drowned like rats in a trap. Considerable coal accompanied the rush of water, making it impossible to reach the bodies. Mine Inspector Fenton is on the scene and aiding the officials in the work of recovering the bodies.

Sage of White Hall Dead.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 23.—A telephone message from Richmond, Ky., says that Hon. Cassius M. Clay, the Sage of White Hall, former minister to Russia and a widely known Kentuckian, died at his home at White Hall at 9:10 last night.

Touched Live Wire, Fell and Died.

NYACK, N. Y., July 23.—Robert McHenry, a cable splicer employed by the New York Telephone company, touched a live wire on a pole at Spring Valley and fell, fracturing his skull and dying almost instantly.

Young Corbett Won.

BOSTON, July 23.—Young Corbett got the decision over Jimmy Briggs in the match here last night at the end of ten rounds.

KODOL
Digests What You Eat.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammeled action.

Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2½ times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

NEWARK, N. J.

We Challenge Comparison With Any New York Store.

"Old Sol" Takes His Hat Off To Us.

THE COOLEST STORE IN TOWN.

No need to consult your thermometer when going a-shopping if this be your destination. Though it may broil and blister and burn on the pavement, inside the store you'll find it as cool as a mountain zephyr. Everything for your convenience—broad aisles—high ceilings—perfect ventilation—nine elevators to carry you quickly to every floor—cozy resting parlors on the mezzanine floors—prompt service and speedy deliveries all contribute to make hot weather shopping easy. We're proud of our store—proud, too, of our splendid stock of summer merchandise and our prices—well, we wish to brag just a little about them. We ask you to compare our prices with those advertised by New York stores, and venture to say you will always find ours as low, and most times lower, than theirs. Come in and look around—always something of interest whether you buy or not.

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS.

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every Plainfield Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptics. Nowadays the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Here is proof which should convince every Plainfield reader:

Mr. Geo. S. McGinnis, of No. 212 Somerset street, foreman of B. H. McCullough's Sash and Door Manufacturing Company, says: "I never was sick a day in my life until a pain struck me across my back and a lameness over the kidneys. I did not pay much attention to it at first, thinking it would pass away, but instead of this it grew worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended by those who had used them for such troubles that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I used them according to instructions and felt somewhat relieved. Continuing the treatment, by the time I had finished the third box, the pain in my back and lameness disappeared.

HEDGES IS REMOVED

Superintendent of Free Delivery at Washington Accused.

CHARGED WITH FALSE STATEMENTS

Said to Have Reported Himself at Various Places When He Was In Fact at Times Hundreds of Miles Away.

WASHINGTON, July 23. — Charles Hedges has been removed from the office of superintendent of free delivery of the post office department on the charge of falsifying his diary and loaning his traveling commission. It is charged that he reported himself at various places when in fact he was not at those places on the dates mentioned, in some instances being hundreds of miles away.

Mr. Hedges, while making no general denial of the charges, contended that they were not sufficient justification for removal. Ervin H. Thorpe, post office inspector in charge at New York, has been designated acting superintendent of free delivery in place of Mr. Hedges.

The following is the official statement of the case made public by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow:

"Charles Hedges was removed from the office of superintendent of free delivery for falsifying his diary and loaning his traveling commission. He reported himself at various places on public business when in fact he was not in those places on the dates mentioned, but elsewhere, in some instances hundreds of miles distant.

"On Oct. 25, 1900, he states under oath in his diary that he was at Joplin, Mo., on 'extension of free delivery service,' when in fact he was in Mansfield, O., attending the funeral of ex-Secretary John Sherman. On Dec. 7, 1899, he reports himself at San Antonio, Tex., 'investigating carrier service,' while in fact he was in Mexico examining mining property.

"In the month of October, 1899, A. W. Machen, superintendent of free delivery, was sick with typhoid fever, and Hedges was at the department acting as superintendent. In his diary he states under oath that he was at various places—namely, New York, Philadelphia, Bridgeport, Conn.; Camden, N. J., and elsewhere, 'actually engaged in traveling on the business of the free delivery service.' Assistant superintendents of free delivery are allowed a per diem of $4 per day in lieu of expenses for each day engaged actually traveling on the business of the department. Hedges' false statements as to his whereabout on these days were manifestly for the purpose of collecting per diem to which he was not entitled.

"There are many other instances of similar falsification. The facts were submitted to the postmaster general some days since, who directed Hedges' removal for the reasons above set forth."

There were several charges on file against Mr. Hedges, but none of these constituted the basis of his dismissal. The acts which led to his removal were discovered by the inspectors in the course of their general investigation of the records of the free delivery office. The case has been under investigation for several weeks. Mr. Bristow summoned Mr. Hedges and notified him of his dismissal. Mr. Hedges reiterated his contention that his dismissal was not warranted.

In a statement Mr. Hedges says:

"While I was assistant superintendent of free delivery, with headquarters at New York, I was called to Washington to take charge of the entire service while Mr. Machen was ill with typhoid fever. While so acting I got $2,000 salary as assistant superintendent, while Mr. Machen received $3,500. It was necessary for me to get the per diem allowance to make the services and the compensation equal.

"It is charged that the per diem accounts show me at other points, the theory being that, strictly speaking, under the law I was not entitled to per diem when at headquarters. This has never been tested, consequently never decided. It has been the practice of the office for the party taking the place of the head of the service to claim per diem in some form. In my case I was also supervising the eastern division while officiating as general superintendent here. Herbert W. Valentine, now in the New York post office and formerly stenographer there under me, surrendered private letters and notes to the inspectors which gave them this information. I used to drop him a line when I was traveling to keep him posted of my whereabout. Valentine is the one who used this post office commission. It was used with the knowledge of General Superintendent Machen and of First Assistant Postmaster General Johnson. Valentine was anxious to go out on field work. Mr. Bristow refused to allow the issuance of a commission for Valentine on the ground that he was a clerk and not an officer. Mr. Machen, however, held that as Valentine was engaged on the work of the office his use of the commission was not illegal.

"As to the San Antonio reference, I was in Mexico, but not examining mining property. I did not see this mining property. In making my reports I never put down towns that I had not visited, nor did I put down all the towns that I visited, as I was permitted to do. Thus I omitted mentioning the Mansfield visit because I had no official work there, and Joplin was the last place where I had official work. I simply prolonged the time on the list."

Mr. Bristow declined to say anything as to the status of Mr. Valentine, who, Mr. Hedges says, traveled on his commission.

Plainfield, N. J., July 23, 1903.

Rapid strides are being made by the New Jersey Royal Arcanum. Its report shows a healthy growth.

Wouldn't labor be fortunate if all its spokesmen were as able and as conservative as the late P. M. Arthur?

Mugs are to be given as prizes at the Asbury Park baby parade. They are of solid silver—not the kind to be seen in the parade.

"Jim" Martine is not so unfortunate, even though he has failed to land in a fat office during his political career. He says that his party is sure to win the next Presidential election. A man so optomistic is to be envied.

The New Brunswick Home News makes a comparison in tax rates under a head line, "Plainfield nearly as rich in property as this city." In other respects "comparisons are odious"—so far as New Brunswick is concerned.

A suggestion was made at the Women's Suffrage Society meeting in Ocean Grove that if the fair sex is given the right to vote it would be entitled to the privilege of going to war. Unfortunately a lot of them are well trained for fighting battles.

One only has to listen to the sincere expressions of sympathy over the death of the venerable Leo XIII to realize that religious bigotry is rapidly decreasing. If the Roman Catholic communion is blessed in having so Godly a man as the next occupant of Peter's chair it will be fortunate indeed.

Plainfielders who have admired the beauties of Duke's farm, near Somerville, will regret the loss sustained by the owner through the destructive storm yesterday. After the expenditure of much money and labor the vast tract had been converted into a magnificent park studded with noble trees. It is fortunate that Mr. Duke is well able to restore the place.

PERSONAL.

Miss Annie Loyd, of Mercer avenue, has gone to Asbury Park to join a party of friends.

Dr. Walter Mansel, of Philadelphia, is visiting Dr. Charles L. Moore, of West Front street.

Miss Haxall, of Virginia, is spending the season with her sister, Mrs. Dudley, of Park place.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Brown, of Grove street, will spend the month of August in the Adirondacks, near Athol, Warren county.

Dr. Norman Probasco and Walter Probasco, sons of Dr. J. B. Probasco, of East Front street, left town today. Walter Probasco is en route for his home in Chicago, where he is in business, and Dr. Norman Probasco is going to Canada and later to the Adirondacks for his summer vacation.

Church Meeting Deferred.

The meeting of the Swedish Lutheran Church last evening for the election of trustees was adjourned indefinitely on account of the storm. The rain prevented all but a few of the faithful from attending. The annual conference and business meeting of the church will take place September 8. There will be six pastors from out of town present at this meeting.

Mr. Lindabury, Director.

R. V. Lindabury, counsel for the indicted North Jersey trolley officials, has been elected director of the new bank at Bernardsville, which will open on September 1.

J. B. DUKE'S FARM WRECKED

THE STORM DESTROYS THE WORK OF MANY YEARS.

Much Damage Done at Somerville and Nearby Places by a Tornado.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 23—A tornado which covered an area about four miles wide passed over the Raritan valley between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, uprooting trees and unroofing buildings. The tornado was preceded by a violent thunderstorm accompanied by hail. Hailstones of enormous size fell for ten minutes and did great damage to crops in the outlying districts.

The tornado struck the town without warning. It stripped awnings from buildings and filled the streets with limbs from the trees. The greatest damage was done in the country districts south of the Raritan river. On the estate of James B. Duke great trees were uprooted and broken into kindling wood. The great glass roof of the Duke conservatory was crushed.

A party of woman tourists from Newark who were riding about the estate in a stage-coach, were caught near the path of the tornado and had a narrow escape from falling trees. The tourists reached here late in the afternoon by driving across the fields, the roads being blocked by fallen trees.

Mr. Duke has spent many thousands of dollars in planting large trees on his estate and the work of years was undone in five minutes by the tornado. Hundreds of electric lights which illuminate the 2000 acre estate are down and the place was in total darkness last night.

At Roycefield Station, two miles south of the Duke farm, the tornado destroyed Hagerman's big hay press, unroofed a large brick dwelling house and tore down telegraph wires.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The regular communion service will be held at the First Baptist Church the first Sunday in August.

Twenty-seven members of the Rescue Mission conducted a service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, Tuesday evening.

Interesting services will be held at the Rescue Mission, tonight. The meeting will be led by Rev. J. R. Bryan, Mrs. John Manley will lead the music. E. H Gurst will render cornet solos.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Woods, of Somerville, who preaches at the First Baptist Church next Sunday, is considered to be one of the strongest preachers in the denomination. Before going to Somerville he had a charge in California.

A dispatch from New Haven, Conn., says that the Rev. Dr. Edwin S. Lines, recently elected bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Newark, will be consecrated October 15 in St. Paul's Chruch, New Haven, of which he has been rector since 1879.

There will be a special service and a rally at the Mt. Olive Baptist church on Sunday evening, when there will be an effort made to raise money with which to make improvements at the church. On Thursday evening, July 30, the thirty-second anniversary of the church will be appropriately celebrated.

ROOT AT SEA GIRT.

Secretary of War a Guest of Governor Franklin Murphy at the Camp.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camp Murphy, Sea Girt, July 23—Secretary of War Root arrived here last night for a twenty-four hour stay as the guest of Governor Murphy. Governor Murphy entertained the Secretary at dinner.

The Secretary of War will inspect the State rifle range this morning, on which an entire battalion of soldiers will be put to show the large number who may use the range at once. In the afternoon the First Regiment, First Troop, N. G. N. J., and the regulars and sailors in camp will be reviewed by Mr. Root, and in the evening he will leave on a special car.

The men who cannot get down here in September at the time assigned to the regiment for rifle practice have started to shoot on the range.

REMODELLING WOODEN HOME

LANDMARK ON SOMERSET STREET TO BE A BAKERSHOP.

The Dwelling Purchased by the Misses Goodwin—Its History.

The historic house on Somerset street formerly owned by Peter Wooden is being remodeled for use as a bakeshop and residence by the Misses Martha and Sophie Goodwin. The property was recently purchased by the Misses Goodwin and in a few days the building will again be ready for occupancy. The baking will be done in the old-fashioned brick oven in the house which, it is said, is almost a century old.

While remodeling the house it was discovered that some of the beams are of exceptionally hard wood and that they were hewn by band. The building is an old farm dwelling and was one of the first in North Plainfield. It is known that the house was standing when all that property between Lincoln place and Green brook was a cow pasture.

NINE HUNDRED EXCURSIONISTS

SUNDAY-SCHOOL PEOPLE JOURNEY TO ASBURY PARK.

Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Baptists Make Up the Number.

The annual excursion of the First Presbyterian, Congregational and Park Avenue Baptist Church Sunday-schools, of this city, and the Dunellen Presbyterian Church Sunday-school, today, was successful, there being about 900 people to journey to the seashore. There was one section composed of fourteen coaches and a baggage car, in charge of Conductor Knapp, who has taken several excursions to the seaside this summer.

There was little delay in leaving Plainfield, the train following the regular train going at 8:11. Each car was well filled and in some of them there was standing room only. The committee was divided, each church being represented. This is the committee: First Presbyterian Church—Robert H. Radford, A. V. Searing, Jr., E. J. Dunning, H. A. Pope, J. E. Burroughs, Harry Williams. Congregational Church—Louis I. VanAlstyne, Chas. Steiner, Harold Nomer, Morris J. VanArsdale, J. W. Robinson. Park Avenue Baptist Church—Joseph Hawkins, Harry Cuming, E. Frank Vail. Dunellen Presbyterian Church—Newton Apgar, A. A. Lake and C. B. Lake.

The excursion will leave Asbury Park this evening at 6:15 and should reach Plainfield between 8 and 8:30.

FRESH AIR HOME OUTING

CHILDREN AT NETHERWOOD HAVE ENJOYABLE TIME.

Spend Afternoon at Galvin's Park, Where They Ate Sweets and Played Games.

The children at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home were given an outing yesterday afternoon at Galvin's Park through the courtesy of the owner. The children enjoyed the afternoon and were feasted on cake and other sweets specially loved by little ones. They were taken to the park and brought back on the cars of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company, through the kindness of the local division superintendent, Phillip Maguire. R. H. Keenan, a grocer of this city, donated the fruit enjoyed by the children. The return trip was made at 4 o'clock.

The children were in charge of Miss Sara Currie, superintendent of the camp. She saw to it that all the little ones had a good time. Riding on the merry-go-round proved popular. Mrs. Irving Currier, of Norwood avenue, who has taken an interest in the home and is in charge of the donation department, was present and assisted in making the children happy. Mrs. Currier has been remarkably successful and has secured many donations to the home and has herself presented the children with a hundred gingham aprons. She is a New Yorker, who takes great interest in charity work.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ida Mills, of Elizabeth, is the guest of Miss Lizzie Smalley, of Craig place.

George Hill, of North avenue, has been sojourning at Asbury Park for a short time.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 26, "The Gospel in the Islands." Text, Isa. xli. 1.

"The isles shall wait for His law."

In the prophecy of Isaiah the mention of the islands is frequent in connection with the hope for the extension of the kingdom of Jehovah. At that time Cyprus was of importance, as it always was, in the commerce of the east with the lands around the Mediterranean sea. The Hebrews were never a seafaring people. The only maritime ventures they made were in the times of Solomon and Hezekiah, and the results never encouraged a repetition of the experiments. So for a Hebrew prophet to predict the acceptance of Jehovah's law by the commercial populations of the islands was a vast stretch of imagination and took hold of the far future. It would involve vast changes in conditions then existing in all departments of life.

It is singularly significant that the first real missionary enterprise of the early Christian church was to the island of Cyprus. Perhaps the very name of Paul was due to his tour of this island with Barnabas and the conversion of Sergius Paulus. The part which the islands have had in the evangelization of the world has not been small. What Cyprus was to the ancient world Britain and Ireland have been to the later ages.

The time was when Christian education was kept alive in the world more largely by the influence of the institutions of Ireland than by all other influences combined. For ages Britain has been the home of Christian culture and the center of evangelizing forces which have reached to the ends of the earth. When the history of missionary effort is written the islands will hold large place in the thrilling recital.

In modern times the story of the conversion of the south sea islands is thrilling beyond romance. The work of the present day is pressing, but should not be allowed to prevent the study of the story of the Christianizing of Hawaii from New England, of Tonga and Feejee and a score of other groups by the Wesleyan Methodists of England. The dawn of the day in Japan has come. Since Commodore Perry in 1854 opened Japan to the western world her advance in religious life has been second only in interest to her vast strides in political reformation.

The Philippines are now open to the gospel of Jesus, and the vast continental island of Borneo has just been entered. Our own Bishop Warne of India has planted Methodism in that almost unknown land.

Impressive as is the tale of China, India, Africa and the continents in their turning to Christ, the story of the islands is not less instructive and cheering.

As an Example.

His prayers should serve us as examples by reason of the absolute assurance of God's interest in us and tender concern for us on which they are based. He went to His Father in that childlike, trustful spirit which He has bidden us cherish. And the underlying mood was always that which came to the surface in that terrible hour of anguish in Gethsemane, "Nevertheless, not My will but Thine be done." It is noticeable how conspicuous in them was thanksgiving. True gratitude to God or man seeks expression. Their unselfishness also strikes us. Jesus did not think first and chiefly of Himself and of what He wished or did not wish. He loved to pray for others and His prayers for them reveal His longing for their highest, holiest welfare.—Congregationalist.

His Gifts.

Bounteous is Jehovah in his nature; to give is His delight. His gifts are beyond measure precious and are as freely given as the light of the sun. He gives grace to His elect because He wills it, to His redeemed because of His covenant, to the called because of His promise, to believers because they seek it, to sinners because they need it. He gives grace abundantly, seasonably, constantly, readily, sovereignly; doubly enhancing the value of the boon by the manner of its bestowal. Reader, how blessed it is, as the years roll round and the leaves begin again to fall, to enjoy such an unfading promise as this: "The Lord will give grace!"—C. H. Spurgeon.

Connected With Christ's Kingdom.

To be connected with Christ's great kingdom is to be connected with that which is not only great and good, but everlasting, and "of the increase of which there will be no end." And to be connected with it in this very way of extending its humanizing, saving influences among whole races and communities of men who "heretofore were not a people" and "had not obtained mercy," though it be attended with many privations and hardships and much self denial, is yet a work which the sons and daughters of the church should esteem as a privilege exceedingly great and precious.—Congregationalist.

God Answers Our Prayers.

But sometimes the answer is a declination, a wise refusal to give what we ask. He may not remove the thorn from the flesh. He may not restore us to health, but grant us the greater gift of faith and patience and the power to obey His will without a murmur. This is the better answer. He does not always make a show of us openly by crowning us with marked favors, so that we may say: "See here. See there," but He often rewards us in secret. The best things God does for us we cannot put a mark upon and label them so the world may see an answer to prayer.—Reformed Church Messenger.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 26—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—A mission study of South America.—Luke ii. 25-32.

South America, the less important of the two continents of the western hemisphere, is triangular in shape and is over 4,700 miles long and 3,000 miles wide. Its area is 7,000,000 square miles, and it has a coast line of 18,000 miles. It is nearly twice as large as Europe and contains one-eighth of the land surface of the globe. It is divided into fourteen countries, Uruguay, the smallest, being twice the size of Ireland. The population is composed of a mixed people of Spanish, Portuguese, Indian and negro blood. It is remarkable for its lofty mountains and noble rivers. The Amazon is the greatest of rivers, and the Andes mountains, with peaks of extraordinary height, extend for 4,500 miles along the entire western coast. The continent possesses every variety of climate, varied and luxuriant vegetation and great mineral wealth.

Mission work is greatly needed in South America. The natives in the southern part form a fruitful field for missionary labors, and in the northern countries, such as Brazil and Chile, where the blight of Romanism has been felt for centuries, there is great need that the true Christ be preached, "a light to lighten the gentiles." Ignorance and superstition exist, the character of the people is fickle, and great opposition is manifested on the part of the Roman Catholic church to the propagation of evangelical Christian truth. Persecution at times has been very bitter, and as a result of it missionaries have even lost their lives. But South America is advancing. Its climate and industrial richness are more and more becoming recognized, and as the continent is populated with different classes of people the governments will become more stable and the opportunities for increased successful missionary work will be enlarged. And until such times prayer and patient toil must be exercised by all who are interested in winning this splendid continent for Christ.

The South American Missionary Society of London first established Protestant missions in South America. Captain Allen Gardner, the founder of the society, first visited the continent for the purpose of establishing a Christian mission in 1838. He desired to work among the mountaineers of the north, but because of the opposition of the Roman Catholic priests he was compelled to go to the south. But his work was not very successful, and in 1850 he lost his life in fruitless attempts to establish a mission in Tierra del Fuego. Afterward the work was more successful, and missions were established on this island and among most of the countries of South America. In the last half century the Protestant churches of America have been engaged in mission work in the various parts of this vast continent. The work has been blessed of God, and in spite of the manifold difficulties in the way evangelical Christianity is making headway and will continue to do so under the blessing of God.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. ii, 8; cxxxv, 15-21; Isa. ix, 1, 2; xxxv, 1-7; xlii, 6, 7; lx, 1, 2, 3; Zech. ix, 10; Matt. xxviii, 19, 20; Acts i, 8; Rev. xxii, 17.

Denver Convention Chairman.

To successfully care for a great international Christian Endeavor convention is no "boy's play." It is work, genuine hard work, and on the shoulders of the chairman of the committee of arrangements rests a large burden of responsibility. The Endeavorers of Denver have been particularly fortunate in having so energetic a worker in the cause as Mr. William E. Sweet on whom to bestow the mantle of leadership. He is filling the high position with marked business ability and making it an assured fact that the delegates will be well cared for while they are in the Mountain City. Few Endeavorers in the world have served longer than he and none more faithfully or with more gratifying success. His state union has placed him over and over again in its leading offices and always he has measured up to the opportunity.

WILLIAM E. SWEET.

A "Christian Endeavor Rest."

Near the little town of Pierre, S. D., there has been established what is known in that section as a "Christian Endeavor Rest" for cowboys. This rest, or home, is sustained by the Congregational Christian Endeavorers of Pierre, consisting of but twelve members. It is a neat two story cottage, in which the Endeavorers maintain a reading room, dining room, bathrooms and laundry.

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

WHAT IS WORN.

Deep Collars a Distinguishing Mark of Smart Garments.

The deep collar or pelerine of lace is worn over plain blouses with strapped linen skirts, and these are quite smart and effective in a deep red or dark blue, the millinery repeating the light tone of the collar. The sack bolero accompanies the lawn and linen gown, and this is a most adaptable costume when completed by a thin blouse.

Tussore silk and tussore linen are the most useful fabrics for dust cloaks, but alpaca, when dressed in the soft, limp style, is also admirable, and the colorings most in vogue are the beige tint, a silvery green and a mignonette tint which is less pronounced than the reseda.

Where more decided effects are wished brighter tints are worn, but these must accord with the hat. For instance, an old rose alpaca edged with ruffled black ribbon has a few medallions of black lace and is to be worn with a large black hat over black or white gowns.

The collar has entirely disappeared from coats—that is, the high collar—for the cape effects now reign supreme, and no garment is smart without one of these. A voluminous sack shape is proper to all long garments. Applique trimmings are popular for these.

The cut shows a tailor made of checked wool goods.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

NOVELTIES IN DRESS.

An Attractive Green and Black Effect—A Useful Hat.

A very smart gown seen recently was of hand painted muslin, and from the knees to the feet there was a border consisting of trellis work of woven green ribbons and pink roses. This was much befounced underneath to give the necessary flare. The trellis work also appeared on either side of the bolero bodice, which was cut short at the back over a green spotted muslin blouse finished with a draped waistband of taffeta. The costume was completed by a hat composed entirely of green leaves over a foundation of tucked pink chiffon finished with two black velvet strings and a black rose resting on the hair, while another rose held the strings in place on the bodice. With this was carried a perfectly plain long handled black parasol with a green lizard crawling up the stick.

The Breton sailor shape will undoubtedly prove a favorite hat for boating.

A deep blue Breton shape in soft straw may be trimmed with white ribbon and wings and used with cream or navy blue gowns.

Belts are of infinite importance now, and some of the newer models are quite charming. The shaped belt with little tabs or tails is exceedingly modish, and a change of belt and chou often gives quite a different aspect to a black or neutral tinted gown. A gold tinsel belt is most useful, especially if made with tabs or arranged with a crossed front and tail back. It can figure on a blue, brown or black gown and is equally at home on white or pale colors, and no better finish to a plain slip under a coffee coat can be devised, even if a black or white skirt is worn. Even on cloth it is attractive and a flaked woolen trimmed with strappings of plain cloth should have a tabbed and stitched belt to match the strappings.

The tailor made hat to the left is of scarlet rough straw trimmed with a white bird.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

"He asked to go. I suppose—it runs in the blood," said the general, quickly, with a keen look from his blue-gray eyes.

"I think not, sir, but you will see Webb within a few days and he will tell you all about it. What I know is this, that Field was ordered to go and that he gave the major an order on Hay for two packages containing the money for which he was accountable. Field and Wilkins had had a falling out, and instead of putting the cash in the quartermaster's safe, Field kept it at Hay's. At guard mounting Hay brought the package to the major, who opened both in the presence of the officers of the day. Each package was supposed to contain $300 or $400. Neither contained $20. Some paper slips inserted between $5 bills made up the packages. Field was then far to the north and past conferring with. Hay was amazed and distressed—said that some one must have duplicate keys of his safe as well as of his stables."

"Why the stables?" asked the chief, pausing at the gate and studying the troubled face of the honored soldier he so well knew and so fully trusted. He was thinking, too, how this was not the first occasion that the loss of public money had been hidden for the time in just that way—slips inserted between good currency.

"Because it transpires that some of his horses were out that very night without his consent or ken. No one for a moment, to my knowledge, has connected Field with the loss of the money. Hay thought, however, it threw suspicion on him, and was mightily upset."

"Then his sudden departure at this time, without a word to anybody looks—odd," said the general, thoughtfully. "But he had no need of money. He's one of the wealthiest men in Wyoming. And she—his wife—needs nothing. He gives her all she can possibly want." By this time they were at the door. A lamp still burned dimly in the hallway, and Dade blew it out, as he ushered the general into the cozily-lighted dining-room.

"You'll excuse Mrs. Dade and Esther, I hope, sir. They are not up yet—quite overcome by anxiety and excitement—there's been a lot about Frayne the last two days—take this chair, general. Coffee will be served at once. No, sir, as you say, the Hays have no need of money—he and his wife, that is."

"But you suspect—whom?" asked the general, the blue-gray eyes intent on the troubled face before him, for Dade's very hesitancy told of some untold theory. The doctor and the aide had taken seats at the other end of the table, and dutifully engaged in low-toned conversation.

"That is a hard question for me to answer, general," was the answer. "I have no right to suspect anybody. We had no time to complete the investigation. There are many hangers-on, you know, about Hay's store, and, indeed, his house. Then his household, too, has been increased as perhaps you did not know. Mrs. Hay's niece—a very brilliant young woman—is visiting them, and she and Field rode together frequently."

The general's face was a study. The keen eyes were reading Dade as a skilled physician would interpret the symptoms of a complicated case. "How old—and what is she like, Dade?" he asked.

"The woman can answer that better than I, sir. They say she must be 24—Mrs. Hay says 19—she is very dark and very—handsome at times. Most of our young men seem to think so, at least. She certainly rides and dances admirably, and Mr. Field was constantly her partner."

The general began to see light. "Field was constantly with her, was he? Riding just by themselves or with others when they went out?" he asked.

"By themselves, sir. I doubt if any other of our equestriennes would care to ride at her pace. She rather outstrips them all. The major told me they seemed to go—well, every time he saw them, at least—up to Stabber's village, and that was something he disapproved of, though I dare say she was simply curious to see an Indian village, as an eastern girl might be."

"Possibly," said the general. "And, what did you tell me—she is Mrs. Hay's niece? I don't remember his having any niece when they were at Laramie in '66, though I knew something of Mrs. Hay, who was then but a short time married. She spoke Sioux and patois French better than English in those days. What is the young lady's name?"

"Miss Flower, sir. Nanette Flower."

The chief dropped his head on his hand and reflected. "It's a good 20 years, and I've been knocking about all over the west since then, but I'd like to see Mrs. Hay and that young woman, Dade, whether we overhaul Bill or not. I must go to Beecher at once."

"You will wait for the cavalry from Laramie, will you not, sir?" asked the captain, anxiously.

"I can't. I'll get a bath and breakfast and 40 winks later; then see Mrs. Hay and Bill, if he is back. They ought to catch him before he reaches Sage Creek. There are your couriers now," he added, at the sound of spurred heels on the front piazza.

The captain stepped forth into the hallway. A trooper stood at the front door, his hand lifted in salute. Another, in saddle, and holding the reins of his comrade's horse, was at the gate. A rustle of feminine drapery swept downward from the upper floor, and Dade glanced up, half dreading to see Esther's face. But it was his wife who peered over the balustrade. "I shall be down in ten minutes," she said, in low tone. "Esther is sleeping at last. How did—he—seem this morning?"

"Sleeping, too, but only fitfully. Dr. Waller is here," and then Dade would have ended the talk. He did not wish to speak further of Field or his condition. But she called again, low-toned, yet dominant, as is many a wife in and out of the army.

"Surely you are not letting the general start with only two men!"

"No, he goes by and by." And again Dade would have escaped to the piazza, but once again she held him.

"Then where are you sending these?"

"After Mr. Hay. He—made an early start—not knowing perhaps, the general was coming."

"Start!" she cried, all excitement now. "Start!—Start for where?" and the dressing sacque in aspen-like agitations came in full view at the head of the stairs.

"Rawlins, I suppose. I don't know what it means."

"But I do!" exclaimed his better half, in emotion uncontrollable. "I do! It means that she has made him—that she has gone, too—I mean Nanette Flower!"

CHAPTER XV.

Woman's intuition often far outstrips the slower mental process of the other sex. The mother who has to see a beloved daughter's silent suffering, well-knowing another girl to be, however indirectly, the cause of it, sees all manner of other iniquities in that other girl. Kind, charitable and gentle was Mrs. Dade, a wise mother, too, as well as most loving, but she could look with neither kindness nor charity on Miss Flower. She had held her peace; allowed no word of censure or criticism to escape her when the women were discussing that young lady; but all the more vehement was her distrust, because thus pent up and repressed. With the swiftness of feminine thought, for no man had yet suspected, she fathomed the secret of the trader's sudden going; and, carried away by the excitement of the moment and the belief that none but her husband could hear, she made that startling announcement. And her intuition was unerring. Nanette Flower was indeed gone.

PAPER MILLS BURN.

Fireman Lost His Life, Being Buried by Falling Wall.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 23.—The Woodland Paper mill, incorporated, situated on the trolley lines between Hartford and Manchester, has been totally destroyed by fire, and the loss is estimated by Superintendent J. T. Gamby at about $150,000.

One employee, William Haskins, a fireman, lost his life. A portion of a brick wall of the structure fell upon him while he was attempting to draw the fires in the building. He tried to accomplish his object, knowing that the building was doomed, but thought himself safe from immediate danger. A fellow fireman who was with him, after warning him of his danger, fled just in time to escape a similar fate. Haskins was buried beneath the ruins of the wall, and firemen and others worked hard to recover the body, which was done after considerable work. The dead fireman resided in East Hartford and is survived by a wife and five children.

The fire broke out in the stock room and was well under way before it was discovered owing to the inflammable nature of the contents. A line of hose was put into operation, and messages for help were sent up to Burnside. It became evident in the meanwhile that the structure would be doomed unless a fire engine could be got on the scene, and Hartford was communicated with. An engine drawn by six horses was instantly dispatched and succeeded in quenching the flames and saved a portion of the machinery from destruction.

The mill was of brick, the main portions being three stories high, and the walls of the main portion of the building all fell.

The workmen started to roll out quantities of the finished paper from the east end of the mill, but the creaking and groaning of the building warned them of their danger, and they had to give up. When the roof started to cave in the men fled.

Miss Amanda K. Jones, a stenographer, saved some of the records from the office.

The mill is located on the site of the old Hanmer & Forbes Powder mills and has been an industrial spot for three-quarters of a century.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

REPORT ON RIOT.

Commission to Trinidad Recommends Thorough Reorganization.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, July 23.—The report of the commission of inquiry which has been investigating the riot which occurred here, during which the government building was burned and a number of persons were killed, has been published.

It recommends the immediate prosecution of the rioters and those who incited the rioting, a thorough reorganization of the police force, the reconsideration of the waterworks ordinance by a select committee, the introduction of legislation treating with press offenses, the prohibition of the gathering of crowds in the immediate neighborhood of the legislative building during sittings and strict control over the selling and carrying of arms and ammunition.

The report also considers that the action of the police in firing on the rioters was amply justified, but condemns them for their treatment of two or perhaps three persons who were brutally bayoneted.

Detroit's $10,000 Stake Undecided.

DETROIT, Mich., July 23.—Sunset found the Merchants and Manufacturers' $10,000 stake for 2:24 class trotters, the feature of the Blue Ribbon meeting of the Detroit Driving club at the Grosse Point track, still unfinished, with two heats each to the credit of Wainscott, the decided favorite, and John Taylor. John Taylor's victory over Wainscott in the fourth heat after an accident in the third heat in which Taylor collided with two other horses, then kicked loose from the sulky and ran for three-quarters of a mile, was the surprise of the day and one of the most sensational heats in the history of the stake.

Cadillac Won Interlake Race.

TOLEDO, O., July 23.—The racing of the yachts at the Interlake Yachting association regatta, Put-In Bay, furnished another day of good sport. The race was five miles to windward and return, with a fourteen mile wind from the northwest and a lumpy sea. Once more the principal interest centered in the race between the Cadillac and Detroit. After a splendid exhibition of seamanship Cadillac won by two minutes and by winning two races captured a whole load of trophies, including a silver tea service, silver coffee urn, championship flags and cash prizes.

Sir Ellerslie Was a Bad Last.

NEW YORK, July 23.—As the special race between McChesney and Waterboy had been extensively advertised before it was declared off, there was a large crowd in attendance at Brighton Beach. The weather was very unpleasant and the track heavy. The Montauk stakes, for two-year-olds, the feature of the card, was won by Long Shot. The favorite, The Southerner, was second. Sir Ellerslie in the last race was quoted at 1,000 to 1 in the betting. He finished a bad last.

Clifton Forge Was Best Colt.

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—Clifton Forge by winning the feature of the Delmar card, a six furlongs sprint for two-year-olds, proved himself to be the best colt at the track. The fourth race, a handicap for two-year-olds, brought together the best youngsters at Delmar. Clifton Forge, who was made a strong favorite, trailed his field to the head of the stretch, where he came away and won easily by two lengths from Forehand, the second choice.

Raced In Mud at Fort Erie.

BUFFALO, July 23.—Rain and mud prevailed at Fort Erie again. The winners were all well backed. Amigari and Silver Dream were the easiest winners, both leading their fields from the start. Lou Hey, which ran in the colors of J. C. Ferris, Jr., fell dead after finishing in the fifth race.

Racing at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Warte Nicht and Ahola, the two extreme outsiders in the betting, ran one, two in the mile handicap, the feature at Hawthorne. Toah was third. The favorite, Schwalbe, heavily played, divided rear honors with Lucien Appleby and Bragg.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; light south winds, becoming west.

TURF.

Nief Apgar, of Somerville, has a horse named Klondike which is the admiration of local turf patrons. The animal negotiated a mile the other day in 2:08¼ without turning a hair.

Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, has lost a valuable horse, one of a $3,000 team which has won numerous blue ribbons at horse shows. The animal died of an affection of one lung.

GOLF.

The only event of any special interest on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course from now until Labor Day will be the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. This is due to the fact that so many of the members will be away. After Labor Day and continuing until December 1, there will be an attractive list of events.

TENNIS.

The finals in the men's singles at tennis will be played today on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club courts between Owen H. Fleming and G. F. Earl. W. S. Tyler defaulted to Fleming yesterday, thus placing him with Earl in the finals.

After the tennis tournament, men's doubles, scratch, on August 21, there will be no further events at tennis on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club courts until September 7, when there will be play for the Labor Day cups, mixed doubles, scratch.

FUNERAL DELAYED.

Carriages Going to Burial of Little Sarah Jackson Narrowly Escaped Being Crushed by Storm.

The storm of yesterday afternoon nearly succeeded in stopping the funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stonewall Jackson as the mourners were driving to Somerville for the burial. Several times along the route fallen trees delayed the procession and the drivers had difficulty in maintaining control of their horses frightened at the continual thunder. The services in Plainfield were conducted by Rev. Dr. E. L. Earp and the interment was in the family plot at Somerville.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss Guinee, of Hill & Shupp's store, will spend her two weeks' vacation at Brighton Beach.

—The Lane estate has been in the possession of that family since 1638 and not 1868 as stated in yesterday's Daily Press.

Lodge Entertainments.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, has appointed an entertainment committee to provide evenings of enjoyment for the members and their friends during the next six months. The first entertainment will be given in Eagle Hall, in Park avenue, next Tuesday evening. It will consist of moving pictures, illustrated songs, vocal and instrumental music. The committee in charge is G. T. Norris, chairman; A. C. Hoagland, secretary; Dr. C. M. Lucky, treasurer; R. D. Carver and F. Kohler.

Features of Trinity's Outing.

The special features about the annual excursion of Trinity Reformed Church and Marconnier Chapel Sunday-schools to Asbury Park on Thursday, July 30, will be that the excursionists will remain at the shore until 7 o'clock in the evening and that the excursion will go rain or shine. Those intending to go can make every preparation for the day knowing that there will be no disappointment.

Plainfield Day at Riverside.

July 23 and 24 have been set apart as Plainfield, Somerville, Raritan and Dunellen days at Riverside Park. Special rates have been arranged which bring the attractions of this popular resort within the reach of all. Tickets for the park and return including admission to the theatre and dancing are on sale by Carl Silbert, of Somerset street, for twenty-five cents.

FULL INSTRUCTIONS FOR LOCAL VOTERS

Pamphlet Issued Early on Account of the Special Balloting.

FOR THE TWO ELECTIONS

INFORMATION FOR THE BOARDS OF REGISTRY AND ELECTION.

Complete Instructions Issued — First Registry Date August 8, and Second One Month Later —All the Details.

Pamphlets, containing instructions as to the duties, times of meetings, and other information concerning the boards of registry have been issued from the Secretary of State's office. These pamphlets were sent out earlier this year because of the special election on the constitutional amendments, which take place September 22, and for which the first registry day will be September 8.

In August, on such day as they may agree upon between the first and tenth, the county board of election shall meet at the court house and organize.

Between August 1 and September 1, the Secretary of State shall notify the clerk of each county of such officers as are to be elected at the coming election, and the county clerk within 15 days of the receipt of said notice must deliver a certified copy of the notice to each township and municipal club in the county.

For August the instructions are to clerks and registry days and elections.

On September 1 the house to house canvass begins in election districts outside of cities having over 30,000 inhabitants, and must be completed on September 4.

Tuesday, September 8, will be the first day of registry in cities having over 30,000 inhabitants. The boards will sit from 1 to 9 o'clock. The boards outside of the cities hold their second meeting to revise their house to house registry canvass.

On the same day between 1 and 9 o'clock the primary election (under the new law) shall be held in every election district in the State.

September 15, between 1 and 9 o'clock p. m., the board of registry and election shall be in session for the purpose of making, altering and revising the registry of voters for the special election to be held on September 23, 1903.

September 19 the county board of elections shall be in session on that day, between 8 o'clock a. m., and 5 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of registering voters for the special election to be held on September 22, 1903.

September 22. On this date the special election on the constitutional amendments will be held, beginning at 6 o'clock a. m., and closing at 7 p. m. On the same date the county board of elections shall sit, between 8 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of registering voters for the speial election on this date.

October 6, the boards of registry and election in cities having over 30,000 inhabitants should hold their second meeting from 1 to 9 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of revising and correcting their registers.

October 19. The county board of elections may meet on this date to fill any vacancies that may exist in any of the boards of registry and election in cities having over 30,000 inhabitants.

On or before this date all certificates and petitions naming candidates to be voted for by all the voters of a single county, or more than a single political division thereof, or where the candidates are to be voted for upon the county ticket, shall be filed with the county clerk.

October 20. The boards of registry and election in cities having over 30,000 inhabiants shall have their final meeting from 1 to 9 o'clock p. m., for the revision and correction of registers.

October 27. Boards of registry and election, outside of cities having over 30,000 inhabitants, have their final meeting from 1 to 9 o'clock p. m., for the revision and correction of registers.

October 29. The county board of elections, shall sit, at their office, from 8 o'clock a. m., until 5 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of adding names to and erasing names from the registers of voters.

October 31. The county board of election shall hold its final meeting at its office, from 8 o'clock a. m., until 5 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of adding names to and erasing names from the registers of voters.

November 3, 1903—Election Day. Polls open from 6 o'clock a. m. to 7 o'clock p. m.

November 9. The county board of elections shall meet on this date, at 12 o'clock (noon), at the court house of the county, to discharge its duties as a county board of canvassers.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, has in his possession a valuable collection of photographs, taken by himself upon the visitation of Pawnee Bill's show to this city. The collection comprises photos of the various Nationalities with the show and also one of five Indian chiefs. An interesting picture is that of an Indian and his bride. Every one of the pictures is a good on and Mr. Doane is proud of them.

The current number of the Railroad Employe contains a poetic account of an experience which Baggagemaster John VanWart, of the Central Railroad, had sometime ago with Conductor Frank O. Webster, of North Plainfield, one of the popular veterans of the system. Here it is:

"The shades of night were falling fast,
When through Dunellen village passed,
A veteran hero, grim and gray,
Who that same morn had drawn his pay.

Unconscious of impending danger,
For he to fear was long a stranger,
He passed from honest toil to rest,
For all day long he'd done his best.

The shades of night likewise fell fast,
When through Dunellen village passed,
A swarthy demon, bent on crime,
Who hoped to tap the veteran's mine.

The shades grew deep and deeper fast,
When a tall tree old comrade passed,
A demon shout, 'Hold up you hands;
Hold and comply with my demands.'

'Begone, base villain, so will I,'
And comrade's heels began to fly.
In full retreat he left to fire a shot.
And never stayed to fire a shot.

The villain, thwarted, made retreat
Down old Dunellen's quiet street,
And never more will try such fun,
For comrade now has bought a gun."

It was at Grace Lake Mich.

A herd of degenerate youngsters—this breed always travels in herds—made a custom of rounding up at a certain corner of the town. These young loafers—you know the type—made a pastime of smoking cigarettes and aiming ribald jests at women pedestrians who were compelled to pass that way. One evening these fellows made a mistake. One of them fired an insult at the wrong woman. She was athletic. You could tell that by the way her shoulders were set. She walked with the air of one who knows her exercises. It was this woman of the gymnasium who became the target of the indecent observation. Whereat—There was something doing. She grasped the particular downy youth of the foul tongue by the throat. She shook him as your rat terrier would shake a rodent. And then she gave him such a beating as his father was never able, in his palmiest prime, to administer. The programme was not long, but it was lively right from the opening number. The sequel? The herd gathers occasionally. It ventures cigarettes. There are no more scintillations of coarseness. If need were, any woman could stampede the entire common herd by saying "scat!" Good for the athletic woman! May her tribe increase.—Paterson Evening News.

STATE LABOR LAWS COMPILED

COPIES OF THE VALUABLE PAMPHLET NOW BEING DISTRIBUTED.

Law Student Compiles Work for New Jersey Bureau of Statistics.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 23—The New Jersey Bureau of Statistics has just issued a pamphlet on the labor laws of the State. The work was undertaken under the direction of William Stainsby, former chief of the bureau, and was compiled by Franklin W. Fort, a student of the law and son of Justice J. Franklin Fort, of the New Jersey Supreme Court. Some amendments of the law enacted at the last session of the Legislature have been incorporated since the completion of the work, so that the pamphlet is up to date in every respect.

The various acts relating to labor and industry, which are grouped in the general statutes under the title Operatives, Labor and Mechanics' Lien, are brought together, and to these are added the statutes on the same subjects found in the annual session laws from 1897 to 1903—both years included. Such parts of the original acts as have been amended or repealed by subsequently enacted supplements are omitted.

That part of the work devoted to the mechanics' lien law and the law governing the relations of master and servant is stripped, so far as possible, of legal or technical phrases, and includes only those parts of interest to laymen as distinguished from lawyers.

In the mechanics' lien law all those sections which relate to the procedure in court or to similarly technical matters have been omitted. Only those sections have been included which are of direct interest to a mechanic, a material man, a contractor, a builder or a mortgagee, and suggestions are given in regard only to those steps which a man may safely take without legal advice.

The underlying idea of the whole work is to inform men of their rights and to point out how these rights may be secured. Copies of the pamphlet may be obtained of the department at Trenton.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The man found under Senator Kean's bed at Elizabeth was not a politician, though for a time the police suspected, because the intruder was in his stocking feet, that he was attempting to steal the Senator's shoes.—Newark Evening News.

The learned disquisitions on mosquito extermination in all the newspapers published outside of New Jersey seem to indicate an intensely practical interest in the subject. The truth is that not a State in the Union is free from this pest, and in many of them they are more numerous and more vicious than New Jersey mosquitoes have ever been known to be. This State has long had to bear unjustly the odium of being considered the especial home of the insect, but will even up matters if Professor Smith makes it the centre of the process of extermination.—Newark Evening News.

The voting machine prevents a ward heeler from fixing up a ballot and giving it to some ignorant man to vote, and that will be the first step toward honest elections. It is a serious question if a man should be permitted to vote if he cannot read the language of his adopted country. Many think we are leading to that—to an educational qualification for voters at general elections. Perhaps, however, the adoption of the voting machine will stimulate study of the language and customs of the country, and if it does that it will be a good thing in itself without taking into consideration the political effects.—Paterson Call.

THIRD BAND CONCERT DRAWS BIG CROWD

Feast Enjoyed by Lovers of Music Here and From Surrounding Towns.

HIAWATHA IS POPULAR

WILLIAM MURRAY'S BARITONE SOLO WINS APPLAUSE.

Albert C. Sweet As a Cornet Soloist Makes a Hit—The Programme in Detail—Held in City Park.

The last of the series of concerts at the City Park by Ben LaVere's band was also the best of the series. The first two programmes were excellent, the selections popular and skillfully played. Last night's programme surpassed both, in popularity of its numbers and the vim with which they were rendered.

A crowd of over three thousand people were present and the music was hugely enjoyed, if the liberal applause with which each selection was greeted may be taken as an indication. People came in large numbers from surrounding towns. There were two car loads from Bound Brook, another from Rahway, and delegations from all the other towns in the vicinity.

There is no doubt as to the amount of pleasure which the concerts contribute for the summer stay-at-homes. It is now up to the City Council to say whether there shall be any more, and certainly, if the city fathers consult the wishes of the people or heed the petitions which have been sent them over the signatures of some of the most prominent citizens, there can be no doubt that Plainfield will have a continuance of the concerts during August.

Mr. LaVere has been especially fortunate in the quality of the musicians and soloists whose services he has been able to command. Other places, such as Summit, have tried to secure the same soloists for concerts without success. Mr. LaVere deserves the thanks of the city for his disinterested work, and deserves the more substantial reward of an appropriation for further concerts.

The numbers on last night's programme that caught the crowd particularly were the overture, "The Helmet of Navarre," the medley, "Coming Thro' the Rye," the "Mocking Bird" and "A Hunting Scene." None of the selections from previous programmes was repeated except "Hiawatha," which was given by special request and which was twice encored.

The vocal solos by William Murray, baritone, were the most popular features. The only disappointing thing about Mr. Murray's work was his refusal to respond to enthusiastic demands for more. Mr. Sweet's cornet solo was also a favorite. This was the programme:

Part I—March, "Cosmos," Althouse; overture, "Lustspeail," Kela Bela; concert waltz, "Helmet of Navarre," Hirst; cornet solo, "The Vacant Chair," Rollinson, by Albert C. Sweet; medley, "Coming Thro' the Rye," von Tilzer; vocal solo, (a), "General Hard Tack on Guard"(b), "I'm Thinking of You All de While," Dresser, William Murray.

Part II—Descriptive, "A Hunting Scene," Bucolossi; popular, (a), intermezzo, "Anona," Vivian Grey; (b), idyll, "Hiawatha," Moret; selection, "Mocking Bird," Slone; march, "Congo Love Song," Cole and Johnson.

Little Traveler.

Miss Frances Mosher, twelve years old, returned yesterday afternoon from Cambridge, Mass., where she has been spending a week with relatives. She made the journey to and from Boston and New York alone, in each case, arriving at her destination without accident. She is the daughter of William Mosher, of New street, superintendent at Potter Press Works.

Cut by Glass Bottle.

George Loerch, of Warrenville, an employe of the New Jersey Bottling and Rectifying Company, of Somerset street, while at work filling bottles yesterday cut his hand severely by the breaking of a glass vessel. The cut extended from the fleshy part of the thumb to the back of the hand. Several stitches were taken.

GETTING EVIDENCE AGAINST SPEAK-EASIES

Somerset Street House Suspected as an Illegal Liquor Resort.

THE COUNSEL AT WORK

ACTION TO BE TAKEN AT NEXT MEETING OF BOROUGH COUNCIL.

Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed to Enlighten Councilmen on Blue Laws—Prosecutions to Follow.

War has been declared on speak-easies in North Plainfield. Each day information is being received by those members of the Common Council who are gathering testimony and when the ax falls there promises to be something doin' in some quarters.

It was said that the hand of the law is slowly but surely closing around a certain house near the upper end of Somerset street, the proprietor of which is suspected of selling intoxicating drinks on Sunday as well as at other times.

Evidence is already in the hands of the borough authorities, it is said, which would warrant closing the house but no action will be taken until the next meeting of the Common Council. At that time the report of the Corporation Counsel, Charles A. Reed, on the New Jersey blue laws and their application to the cases which exist in North Plainfield, will be received.

It is claimed that the proprietor of the house secures his stock on Saturdays. Sometime during the afternoon a heavily loaded wagon may be seen backing up to the place and unloading beer barrels, cases of beer and other drinks. The place is conducted in a "wide open" manner and, it is alleged, that intoxicating drinks are sold to boys still young in years. People living in the immediate vicinity have complained to the proper authorities and steps will be taken to stop the illegal traffic.

TRANSFER OF BUSINESS.

New York Painting and Decorating Company Succeeded by J. M. Cahart.

The New York Painting and Decorating Company, of Park avenue, owned by the O. A. Woolsey Paint & Color Company, of Jersey City, was sold yesterday to John M. Cahart, of West Front street. The new owner is a practical painter and paper-hanger and the business will be continued in a first-class manner. Mr. Cahart recently moved to Plainfield from Rahway. Ralph Chrystie, who has been manager for the New York Painting and Decorating Company, will remain in Plainfield about three weeks, settling up affairs, after which he will be placed in a larger territory by the Jersey City company. Since coming to this city Mr. Chrystie has made many friends and he has been a successful business man.

IMPROVING STREET.

Electric Light Poles Removed and Trees to be Cut Down.

The Electric Light Company has had employes at work on the upper end of Duer street for the past two days replacinfi the poles on that thoroughfare to conform with the new curb line preparatory to laying the new macadam. A new gutter is being laid. In order to do this it will be necessary to remove some of the fine large shade trees. Many of the handsomest on the street will have to be cut down so as to allow the new macadam pavement to be laid.

Prevention Better Than Risk.

No amount of home care can equal the protection which you are afforded in a well-equipped safe deposit vault. You can avoid unnecessary risk by leaving your valuables, trunks and silver chests at the City National Bank, where every facility which a modern bank can give in its storage vaults is afforded. Private boxes may also be rented. The safety which is thus provided can not be too highly valued.

JOHN OWEN STERNS, FATHER OF CENTRAL

Pioneer Superintendent of Road—Constructed Original Line to Somerville.

A SKETCH OF THE MAN

ENGINEER AND CONTRACTOR WHO BOUGHT IN THE ROAD.

Director of the System—Twenty Years Superintendent—Man of Business Sagacity — Railroad Erects Monument Over Grave.

Half a century ago a name which was recognized as an acknowledged authority on railroad matters in the then infantile world of steam transportation was that of John Owen Sterns, engineer, contractor, one of the builders of, and, for twenty years, superintendent of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and in this connection to Mr. Sterns can with all justice and propriety be accorded the title of "Father of the New Jersey Central," as to him, more than to any other individual connected with the inception, upbuilding and organization of this corporation can be credited the foresight which has since his death enabled that company to operate and expand along remunerative and satisfactory lines, while many other corporations which existed at this early day have long since ceased to the known by their then corporate titles but have been absorbed in the network of some great railroad system.

While the early history of the New Jersey Central and the Elizabethport and Somerville Railroads is of absorbing interest it is to be regretted that much of the data bearing upon this subject was destroyed by the burning of the general office building at Elizabethport many years ago.

John Owen Sterns descended from old Puritan stock and was born in the town of Billerica, near Boston, Mass., on August 3, 1805. He was one of a family of seven children and received such education as was available in those days at the village district school, working during vacation periods on his father's farm, which had descended from his earliest ancestors through his grandfather, the Hon. Isaac Sterns, an ardent patriot and a member of the General Assembly of Massachusetts. From his sixteenth to his twentieth year he was occupied in mechanical pursuits, after which he engaged in a subordinate capacity in the construction of the Blackstone Canal in Rhode Island, and later in the building of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal and the famous macadamized turnpike road from Harper's Ferry up the Shenandoah Valley to Smithfield.

In 1832 the then new industry of railroading attracted his attention and in that year he commenced his career as a railroad contractor by taking a sub-contract for building several sections of the Philadelphia and Columbia Railroad, and from that time he was continuously engaged in the construction of roads in different sections of the country, including the Philadelphia and Trenton, the Johnstown, Camden and Amboy, Philadelphia and Norristown, Elizabethtown and Somerville, Brooklyn and Jamaica, Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore, Andover and Somerville, Mass., and the Baltimore and Ohio, until his permanent connection with the Central Railroad of New Jersey in 1842.

The original line between Elizabethport and Somerville was constructed by Mr. Sterns and his partner, Coffin Colkett, at different periods, ranging between 1834 and 1842. Afterwards the road was leased to and operated by them, and still later, when the embarrassments of the company led to a foreclosure, the road was bought in by Colkett and Sterns, in 1846, and a new company organized of which Mr. Sterns was elected superintendent and made a member of the board of directors.

When the Somerville and Easton Railroad was organized to extend the line to the Delaware River, Mr. Sterns was active in the movement and was a member of the board of the new organization, and when the old and new companies were united, in 1849, under the corporate title of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, he retained his seat in the board, and his superintendency of the entire system to which the title of engineers was subsequently added.

Mr. Sterns died suddenly of heart failure at his home in Elizabeth, on

PLINY FISK MARRIES.

Miss Small, of New York, Becomes His Wife, the Wedding Taking Place in Scotland.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Edinburgh, Scotland, July 24—The marriage of Pliny Fisk and Miss Small, both of New York, took place here quietly early in the present month. Mr. Fisk's first wife, who resides in Plainfield, N. J., obtained a divorce from him several months ago, and she is now on the Continent with her children.

The reported marriage was confirmed this afternoon by The Daily Press at the office of Harvey Fisk & Sons, Nassau street, N. Y.

FATAL DASH INTO A POLE

HORSE FRIGHTENED BY THE NOISE OF AN AUTOMOBILE.

The Animal Broke Its Neck—The Owner of the Auto Is Unknown.

Frightened by a passing automobile yesterday afternoon, a horse belonging to Frederick W. Dealaman, of Somerset street, ran away. At Wilson's stone quarry at the upper end of Somerset street, the maddened animal crashed into a telephone pole and broke its neck, dying instantly.

The horse was purchased a few weeks ago from a local dealer and cost the owner $150. The name of the auto's owner is unknown.

The horse was being driven along Somerset street by Dealaman's brother. The young man went into a house on Somerset street to deliver some goods. He had no sooner reached the front gate when an auto went by at a furious rate. The horse took rfright and dashed up the street. In swinging from the roadway to a by path at the quarry, the animal ran full against a telephone pole. The shock broke the horse's neck and death resulted instantly. A deep gash was cut in the forehead.

THIS LITTLE GIRL A WONDER

FLORENCE KANE, AGED FOUR YEARS, SPEAKS FIVE LANGUAGES.

Talks German, French, Italian and Polish As Well As English—Interprets for Father.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kane, of Cottage place, have a daughter, Florence, aged four-and-a-half years, who is a linguist wonder. Although so young in years she has mastered the Polish, Italian, French and German languages and can speak and write them as fluently, and as well as the English language. These accomplishments are of great value to her father, who is a contractor and employs foreigners almost exclusively. Mr. Kane is unable to converse intelligently with his employes, but by the aid of his daughter, he has a most convenient means of communication. She can talk with the foreigners and then is able to give them such orders as her father may have for them. Almost every day Mr. Kane has his daughter with him.

The child has a remarkable retentive memory and through the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jones, of Richmond street, who speak several languages, she has been able to master these languages in a comparatively short time.

AFTER MUSIC HALL.

J. Edwin Hall, Formerly of This City, a Prospective Purchaser for Syndicate.

J. Edwin Hall, a veteran theatre manager, at one time manager for the old Amphion Hall, of West Second street, is in Plainfield today looking over Music Hall in the interest of a syndicate. His purpose is to ascertain whether it would be advisable to make the necessary changes and open the hall in the fall. A proposition has been made and after investigation Mr. Hall will report his findings to the syndicate.

SUBTERRANEAN POND FOUND AT QUARRY

Cave at Head of Somerset Street Lined With Beautiful Crystals.

MASSIVE STALACTITES

CAVERN FIFTEEN FEET HIGH AND A LIKE DIMENSION IN LENGTH.

A Blast of Rock Brings An Abundant Flow of Water—William Schorb Makes the Discovery—The Details.

Italians at work in Wilson's quarry at the head of Somerset street yesterday afternoon discovered a cave in which there is a good sized subterranean pond. The discovery brings to light a condition which has long been a mystery at the stone works.

A blast had been discharged when a volume of water suddenly flowed out of the side of the wall. The Italians, seeing the sudden rush of water uttered one exclamation, and made a hasty retreat for higher ground. In half an hour the flow of water ceased. and William Schorb, the engineer at the stone works, investigated the cause. He discovered the cave.

The sunlight flowing into the cavern made a beautiful picture. Stalactites and stalagmites of crystal reflected back the light making the sight one to remember. This morning a reporter of The Daily Press and Mr. Schorb explored the cavern. Large stalactites were found, many of them averaging six inches in circumference and fully three feet long. Stalagmites of pure crystal stood on the floor of the cave almost as tall as a man. The roof of the cavern is not less than fifteen feet from the floor and the part so far opened is a room fifteen feet long by about eight feet wide. What appear to be other openings into larger chambers are closed up by rock formations of crystal. It is believed that the cave extends much further into the rocky cliff.

In order to get to the opening which is not more than three feet wide the reporter and Mr. Schorb were hoisted into the aperture by means of a rope in the hands of two stalwart Italian laborers. The floor of the cave was covered with slime showing that the sudden burst of water was caused by a pond flowing away as soon as the walls which held it were torn asunder by the blasting. A sample of the crystal was secured by the reporter and by means of an ax in the hands of Mr. Schorb a sample of a stalactite six inches in circumference and two feet in length was obtained.

MR. CODDINGTON WINS.

Has Roselle Milkman Convicted of Violating Sanitary Law.

John Breidt, a milkman of Roselle, was defendant in the District Court, Elizabeth, yesterday, charged with peddling milk in Elizabeth, the quality of which was below the standard required by the State Board of Health, which is twelve per cent solids and eighty-eight per cent. fluids.

The case was tried before Judge Atwater and W. A. Coddington, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, represented the prosecution and John F. Brown, of Elizabeth, the defendant. The accused man was found guilty and fined the maximum penalty, $50.

CHURCH PICNIC.

Affair Held on Lawn of German Reformed Church.

The members of the German Reformed Church held a picnic yesterday afternoon and evening on the church grounds. The affair was in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society and the young people. Refreshments were served and the afternoon and evening was spent in playing games and listening to music. Mrs. Angerbauer was in charge of the arrangements.

DEDICATION SERVICE AT NETHERWOOD HOME

Rector Emeritus of Grace Church to Make Address at the Exercises.

MR. CHAPMAN IN CHARGE

FLOWERS AND AMERICAN FLAGS DESIRED FOR DECORATIVE PURPOSES.

L. H. Biglow, Jr., Will Receive New Building on Behalf of the Management—Mothers and Children to Participate.

All persons interested in the Netherwood Fresh Air Home are requested to send flowers or American flags to the Home any time tomorrow. These will be used in decorating the building for the dedication services to be held on Sunday. Flowers of any kind, large and small, will be acceptable. If the flags are marked they will be returned to their owners.

The dedication services will be held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the grounds near the Home. There will be a programme of unsual interest, including special music. George A. Chapman, an earnest friend of the work, will be in charge. L. H. Biglow, Jr., general manager of the Home, will receive the building in behalf of the management. Rev. E. M. Rodman will speak in behalf of the churches and pastors and Miss Sara Curry, matron, the mothers and children, will participate. It is hoped to make the occasion an impressive and memorable one and a cordial invitation is extended to all. At present there are 170 mothers and children at the Home.

OFFICERS OF MASS.

Arrangements Made by Father Egan for Requiem for Dead Pontiff.

A solemn high mass will be celebrated Monday morning at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock, in memory of the late Pope Leo XIII. The celebrant will be Rev. A. M. Egan, rector, and the deacon will be Rev. James Delahanty, curate. The sub-deacon will be Rev. Father Frederici, of Bloomfield. A brief eulogy of the Pope will be given by the rector and there will be special music by the choir of the church. The services will last about one hour. During the past few days the church has been elaborately draped around the altar and in the body of the edifice.

Bob Davis' Candidate?

"'The Stalwart Champion of the People,' 'The Fearless Exponent of Popular Sovereignty,' 'The Democratic Moses' and 'The Next Governor of New Jersey,' all one and the same individual in the person of Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, is billed to address four farmers' picnics next month. Perhaps Mr. Davis had heard of this fact when he counted Hudson County out of the running. It wouldn't be the first time that the Little Napoleon of Jersey City had picked out a favorite from Somerset County without consulting Mr. Smith."—Newark Evening News.

No Amputation for Him.

Henry Knight, colored, employed as a machinist at the Pond Machine Tool Works, suffered a painful injury to the second finger of his right hand, yesterday afternoon. He went to the hospital and had the injury dressed and the physician advised that the member be amputated to the first joint. Knight evidently became frightened for he did not return this morning for the amputation.

Cut Foot on Bottle.

Sidney Dorman, of Central avenue, severely injured his foot last evening, cutting it on a broken bottle. He was obliged to walk about half a mile to his home and every step that he took was marked by blood. He will be lame for several days to come.

Relieved From Agony.

A horse belonging to Kalman Rottberg, of West Third street, was seized with lock-jaw yesterday. The animal suffered intensely. Police headquarters was notified and the beast was shot by Patrolman Huff.

THE FISH STORY OF A SEASON

Plainfield Man Says He Has Caught a Forty-two Pound Channel Bass.

TO BE ON EXHIBITION.

PARTY OF TEN LANDED 61 BLUE FISH AND 94 WEAK FISH.

Exciting Day's Work Off Sandy Hook—Fish Upset Boat—Story Sounds Fishy, But Its Accuracy Is Vouched For.

Here is the fish story of the season. A forty-two pound channel bass has been caught by a Plainfield man. And the most remarkable fact of all is promised in the exhibition tomorrow of the fish itself in the show window of Clarence L. Thorn's bicycle store on Park avenue, where all doubters may see and marvel. What more could be asked by way of proof?

As announced in yesterday's Daily Press, Mr. Thorn, who lives at Almont place, North Plainfield, went to Boynton Beach with a party of ten friends with the intention of embarking for a few days of deep sea fishing at Sandy Hook. This intention they carried out to the letter, fully equipped to rob the ocean of its choicest inhabitants.

They made an early morning start, yesterday, and before nightfall had weighed down their boats with sixty-one blue fish and ninety-four weak fish. The star catch of the day was made about a mile and a half off shore by Mr. Thorn himself.

Mr. Thorn was chumming for fish in an ordinary row-boat with two others late in the afternoon, hauling in blue and weak fish as fast as he could let out his line, when he felt a tug that almost pulled his arms out of his sockets. The stout sea-line cut his hands, so swift, sudden and strong were the movements of the occupant of the other end. Mr. Thorn hung on like grim death and his companions pulled at the oars with all their strength to keep from overturning. But the fish, by an unexpected dash, whirled the boat around as though it were a mere chip of wood and in a minute all three of the men were in the water.

Mr. Thorn clung to the side of the boat with one hand and kept the other glued to his line. It was an exciting moment for everybody. The fish thought he saw his opportunity and made renewed efforts to break loose. Mr. Thorn knew he had something worth fighting for on the end of his line and was determined that his wetting should not be for nothing. He was able to maintain his hold until assistance came from two other boats nearby, whose occupants hauled Mr. Thorn and his companions aboard and relieved the now almost spent fisherman from his burden. Then the fish gave up the ghost.

The news of the battle and its result was telephoned to Frank Hedden last night by Mr. Thorn himself. A man named Boeseller went for the fish this morning. He will bring it to Plainfield tonight and it will be on exhibition at Mr. Thorn's store at 405 Park avenue any time after 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. If anybody still doubts the truth of this tale he has only to go and see for himself. If necessary the bass will be placed on the scales to remove the last lingering doubts of unbelievers.

BELKNAP SEES PRESIDENT.

Guest of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

Among the visitors to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, Wednesday, was Morris B. Belknap, nominated by the Republicans of Kentucky a few days ago for Governor. He is the son-in-law of John B. Dumont, of East Seventh street.

Wm. Totten to Wed.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of William H. Totten, of the Hotel Kensington, father of Patrolman James Totten, to Mrs. Mary Kneed, of Brooklyn, N. Y.. The event will be celebrated in Brooklyn, Sunday August 2.

Helping Church.

All persons having contributions to make for the proposed improvements to be made at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church are requested to send them to M. C. Dobbins, of Park avenue, treasurer of the fund. It is desired that $1,200 be raised.

Miss May LaForge, of New Brunswick, is the guest of the Misses Chandler, of East Fifth street.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Sam Clausen, of the Safe Works, was in Pittsburg yesterday on business.

Thomas Cundy has left on a Western trip in the interest of the Aluminum Press Company.

Harry Jones, of West Third street, has taken a position at the Potter Press Company's plant.

James Bolan, of the Pond Machine Tool Company, injured his hand severely beneath an iron casting yesterday.

Owing to the rush orders, the Pond Machine Tool Company is advertising throughout the country for machinists to work on their night gang. It seems to be hard work to get machinists to do night work during the summer months.

A strike of the inside electrical workers at Trenton was inaugurated yesterday by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The strikers are demanding a 44 hour week, with the wages at 41 cents an hour, the wages have heretofore been $3.50 per day with the nine hour schedule. The new demand is equivalent to an eight-hour day with half-holiday Saturdays.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Experienced smokers say the prize cigar of this city is made by M. C. Dobbins, of Park avenue and is known as the Yarra. He has a large assortment of pipes at all prices and at all trands.

Every day is a special one at S. Scheuer & Company's grocery and meat market, when goods are offered at such low prices that even those in the most moderate circumstances can afford to use the best quality of goods.

It is the quality of the goods that count and for that reason Chas. E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, guarantees all goods sold by him. He can do this because he knows that the quality will bear out his statement.

When a person is ill they need the purest and best drugs obtainable. If you trade with Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, you will not only get the best drugs, but you can rest assured they will be compounded accurately.

If there are any repairs to be made to the watch, or other articles of jewelry, L. Moraller & Son, of Park avenue, is the place to take it. Ten years of experience as practical watch repairers qualifies them to do any kind of work.

Have a look at Hodge's drug store. It is cool as an ice-berg. Once inside you will never be willing to leave until you have had a cold drink or an ice cream soda from his beautiful fountain. He uses only the purest of fresh fruit syrups and the most delicious of ice cream.

The sun pouring into a window will fade the carpet, make the room warm and uncomfortable and attract flies. An awning, which can be secured at Shirley & Johnson's on West Front street at small price, will do away with these discomfortures. Call at the store for bargains in trunks and dress suit cases.

Get the habit of buying only the best meats and fish. You will find it the truest economy in the end. Fred Endress, of West Front street, sells meats and fish at the same price as other dealers, but the freshness of his goods, the cleanliness and coolness of his store, and the careful examination which all his provisions undergo before leaving the store, attract numerous customers who can be satisfied nowhere else.

A Summer Paradise.

New Jersey is a pioneer State as a summer resort, and every nook and corner has some seductive attraction. The entire coast line is devoted to summer resorts of unequalled prominence, and the more noted watering places include Atlantic Highlands, Seabright, Monmouth Beach, Long Branch, Elberon, Deal, Allenhurst, Asbury Park, Spring Lake, Belmar and Point Pleasant, Beach Haven, Barnegat, Atlantic City, Sea Isle City, Ocean City and Cape May. The interior of Jersey also has many charming resorts, including Lake Hopatcong, Mauch Chunk, Glen Summit, Harveys Lake and Lehigh Gap. The story of these resorts is told interestingly in "Sea Shore and Mountains," an illustrated booklet, issued by C. M. Burt, Gen'l Pass. Agent, New Jersey Central, 143 Liberty street, and is sent upon receipt of 6 cents in stamps to any address. c is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. For Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

A Surgical Operation

CUP CHALLENGERS.

In Light Winds Old Shamrock For First Time Wins.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 24.—A fluke and a shift of wind cheated Shamrock III. out of a victory in a drifting race with Shamrock I. off Sandy Hook and gave the old boat the first victory she has ever gained over the new cup challenger.

The boats had drifted about nine miles of the run before the wind to the turning mark with just wind enough to keep them moving, when Shamrock I.'s sails filled with wind and for twenty minutes she slipped away, leaving her sister racer almost becalmed.

Beating back to the finish line a shift of wind gave the old boat an advantage. Shamrock I. gained five minutes by her good luck. She finished 1 minute 52 seconds ahead and beat the challenger by 3 minutes 50 seconds elapsed time.

Six Thousand Saw Birch Broom Win.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Amid the rousing cheers of the 6,000 persons who saw the race James R. Keene's Birch Broom, with Redfern up, won the Brighton Oaks, for three-year-old fillies, at Brighton Beach. Gravina was second and Eugenia Burch third. The winner, who had been racing in the west all summer, was shipped east especially for this race. The cheering commenced before the contest was finished. After Birch Broom had won it again began and continued until Redfern returned to the scales. Eugenia Burch was also an odds on favorite, closing at 2 to 5, with Gravina and Birch Broom equal second choices.

In Good Breeze Reliance Won.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 24.—In a race for a special cup the Reliance gave the Columbia the worst beating she has ever sustained in a contest sailed in a good whole sail breeze. Sailing over a course thirty-eight miles in length, nearly twenty of which were dead to windward, the new cup yacht finished 18 minutes 49 seconds ahead of the old champion. The Constitution went up to Bristol to have a new topmast put in and did not arrive here until too late for the race. The Reliance behaved handsomely in the rough water and outfooted and outpointed her rival all the time.

Mag Nolin Won Bell Stakes.

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—Mag Nolin at 8 to 1, Check Morgan and Mafalda finished in the order named in the Bell stakes at five and one-half furlongs at Delmar park. Mag Nolin and the favorite, Wreath of Ivy, led half way down the stretch, where Mag Nolin went to the front, Wreath of Ivy falling out of the race completely. Check Morgan finished second, coming from last place three-quarters of the way down the stretch. In the first race Lou Beach stumbled, throwing her jockey, McKinney, breaking his collar bone.

John Taylor Beat the Favorite.

DETROIT, Mich., July 24. — John Taylor, the gray gelding that ran away after an accident in the third heat of the Merchants and Manufacturers' $10,000 stake at Grosse Point and then won the fourth in impressive fashion, won the fifth heat and the race from Wainscot, the heavily played favorite. There were only two horses in the heat, the others having gone to the barn in accordance with the rules of the stake.

Tryon Won at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Tryon, backed from 7 to 2 to 16 to 5, won the Juvenile stakes at Hawthorne. Ed Corrigan's entry, St. Andrew and Requimis, finished heads apart in the order named two lengths behind the winner.

Negro Murderer Shot by Crowd.

BEAUMONT, Tex., July 24.—Policeman Walter Skensbury was fatally wounded by Mooney Allen, a negro, who was pursued by citizens and shot to death. Allen tried to shoot his wife. Policeman Skensbury appeared, and the negro shot him through the body. Allen then ran, and after a long chase he was killed by the crowd.

RECLAIMING OF THE PAPAL RIGHTS

Congregation of Cardinals Discusses the Policy of Supreme Authority of Pope and Orders Diplomatic Note Concerning It.

ROME, July 24.—From sunrise until sunset thousands passed before the body of Leo XIII. lying in state in the basilica of St. Peter's. It was originally intended that this opportunity to publicly view the remains should extend through three days, but the time is likely to be curtailed, and the funeral may occur Friday instead of Saturday night owing to the evidences that decomposition is setting in. This is due to the severe heat, from which no embalming, however perfect, could completely protect the body.

The will of the dead pope was opened at the meeting of the congregation of cardinals. It consists of thirty-six pages in the handwriting of Leo XIII. and leaves all the property of which he died possessed to his successor for the use of the church. To each member of his family he leaves a present to be chosen from the valuable objects in his apartment. Similar presents are bequeathed to his physicians. The total amount of the property which he left is not yet known.

The prevailing impression of those who passed the iron gates of the Chapel of the Sacrament to view the remains was one of intense pity combined with a certain sense of horror. The body was tilted up on the catafalque in order that all might see the terribly shrunken face. An ordinary skull in a frame of gold lying in the midst of a mass of red robes could scarcely have been more typical of death.

Except at sunrise, when the crush threatened a panic, all those who wished it had an opportunity of entering St. Peter's. During the day many of those who passed in stopped before the catafalque to say a hurried prayer. Hundreds of the women and even some of the men carried children in their arms.

An important political factor was introduced into the ceremony by the entrance into St. Peter's of Italian soldiers, who remain there to preserve order. Their presence there in such a capacity, unprecedented in the history of modern Italy, is important as an indication of better relations between the government and the Vatican, as it was by the consent if not by the desire of the Vatican authorities that they employed the troops of the Quirinal in papal territory.

Another feature which is causing comment along the same lines is the fact that Cardinal Oreglia in receiving a group of the city fathers of Rome who represented the Clerical party charged them to thank also their Liberal colleagues for the manifestations of sympathy which they showed during the illness of the pope.

The cardinal, continuing his conversation, indicated special satisfaction over similar manifestations coming from several constituted bodies of the kingdom of Italy, such as communal councils and provincial deputations, including that of Rome, which is presided over by Prince Felice Borghese.

"It is an unexpected tribute," exclaimed the cardinal, "which no one would have imagined twenty-five years ago."

Much interest attaches to the meeting of the congregation of cardinals. The most important matter before the meeting, however, was a proposition presented by Cardinal Oreglia to send a note to the diplomatic body accredited to the holy see for the purpose of representing to the powers the condition of the papacy since the loss of its temporal power and the transfer of the capital of the Italian government to Rome.

From what leaks out it appears that the proposition provoked considerable discussion and that Cardinals Steinhuber, Mathieu and Vives y Tuto favored the dispatch of a most energetic note concerning the question of reclaiming the papal rights. Cardinals Agliardi and Serafino Vannutelli, on the contrary, advocated a milder wording of this document, which, they contended, should maintain the historical pretensions of the holy see, but in temperate language.

The majority of the congregation decided to pursue a middle course and intrusted Cardinal Merry del Val with the duty of drawing up the document for submission to another meeting of the congregation. The note, when approved, will be presented to the diplomatic body signed by Cardinals Oreglia, Macchi and Netto, deans of the three orders into which the sacred college is divided.

Now that the pope's will has been opened the work of removing the things in his apartment which he bequeathed by the terms of the instrument has been begun. If the new pontiff desires to occupy the same apartment only the bedroom furniture will be changed. Following an ancient custom, however, the new pope would not take possession of the old apartment until several months after his election.

JAPAN IS EXCITED.

Russian Encroachments In Korea Stir Up Tokyo.

IF WAR IS TO COME, LET IT BE NOW

Better to Fight Than to Risk the Loss of Korea and Endanger the Standing of the Flowery Kingdom as a Power In the East.

TOKYO, July 24.—The Japanese are much excited because of further reports of Russian encroachments in Korea.

In connection with the maltreatment of Japanese timbermen by Russians on the Yalu river, Japan has notified Korea that if the government is unable to protect Japanese Japan will be compelled to take measures to protect them herself.

Warlike preparations are going on apace. The Japanese government is reported to be fitting out many liners for transport service. The fleets of war ships of Japan and the powers in the orient are still maneuvering in the gulf of Pechili and off Korea. Russian reenforcements are also arriving.

It was reported from Harbin that two mixed brigades, consisting of infantry, cavalry and engineers, were coming over the Transsiberian railway and an infantry regiment was following. The announced purpose of the coming of these troops was to test the transportation capacity of the Siberian railway.

It is said that Russia's retention of Manchuria, the increase of her fleet, the dispatch of re-enforcements to Manchuria, the southward movement of the occupying army in Manchuria and the defiant conduct on the Korean frontier alarmed the Japanese, many of whom are convinced that it would be better to fight now than risk the eventual loss of Korea and the relegation of Japan to a secondary place. It is said that the Japanese are accumulating stores and negotiating the purchase of ships of war, that a squadron is off Vladivostok, to which port Russian vessels have been sent as a precaution and that both fleets are ready for action at any moment.

A perusal of the Siberian press reveals the aggressive spirit of the Russian military party, that the Russians believe they will lose prestige if they give way now, with the result that their far eastern empire will be lost and Japanese influence will become predominant.

The appointment of Marquis Ito as president of the privy council is favorable to peace, but Russia must retreat or there will be very grave danger of war.

The Japanese believe that France and England will join in the expected conflict, which, diplomatists at Tokyo think, might, if once begun, continue for years, involving disastrous results to Japanese finance and the creation of a sort of Balkan difficulty in Korea. The Japanese have great confidence in the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., July 24.—Edward Ryan, a fifteen-year-old boy living in Sandy Hill, shot William Jones, a boy of his own age, in the forehead. Ryan had acquired a wild west spirit from reading dime novels and since July 4 had been the possessor of a revolver. He was standing at his own door when Jones went by, and Ryan called upon him to throw up his hands, at the same time pointing the revolver at him. The other boy did not obey, and Ryan pulled the trigger. He said afterward he did not know the revolver was loaded. Jones, although badly wounded, may recover.

Monetary Commission Ends.

BERLIN, July 24.—The conferences of the American and Mexican monetary commissions with the German representatives were concluded. The promptness with which the government appointed the German commissioners and their speed in dispatching business enabled the Americans to finish their work here in one week, whereas they expected to remain three weeks in Berlin. The Americans and Mexicans will proceed to St. Petersburg on Sunday.

McKeesport Tin Plate Plant Busy.

PITTSBURG July 24.—The Port Vue tin plate plant at McKeesport is running in full, a number of new men having been imported from Chester, W. Va. The strikers' pickets are encamped on the hillside overlooking the mill, but there was no attempt made to interfere with the workers, the advisory board of the Amalgamated association having instructed the men that order must be maintained.

Farmer Fatally Hurt, Horse Killed.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., July 24.—A team of horses driven by Robert Hamilton, a farmer, was struck by the Boston and Maine east bound passenger train at Eagle Bridge. Both horses were killed and Hamilton fatally injured. He was caught on a grade crossing by the horses balking, but had time to save himself. He was hurled forty feet.

Mortar Explosion at Sandy Hook.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., July 24.—A twelve inch mortar was blown to pieces at the Sandy Hook proving ground. The explosion demolished the mortar, and pieces of steel were scattered all over the Hook and the adjacent beach. The men who were about to fire the mortar were all behind bombproofs, and no one was injured.

Launch of Cruiser Galveston.

RICHMOND, Va., July 24.—The cruiser Galveston, which was under construction when the Trigg shipyards went into the hands of a receiver, has been successfully launched. Miss Ella Selay of Galveston acted as sponsor.

THE HORRORS OF WAR

Ciudad Bolivar Presents a Scene of Carnage.

BRAVERY WORTHY OF BETTER CAUSE

Ramparts Covered With Dead—Generals Pablo, Guzman and Vasques Made Prisoners—City Looks as if Cyclone Swept.

SOLEDAD, Venezuela, July 24.—Further particulars of the capture of Ciudad Bolivar state that after fifty-two hours of desperate struggle and horrible carnage, during which great courage was shown on both sides, the government troops had entire possession of the city.

The jail and the capitol were the centers of the most severe fighting, and many men were killed or wounded there. When those places were captured only a few blocks back of the capitol remained to be taken. At midnight the fusillade ceased, and the silence of death reigned all the rest of the night over Ciudad Bolivar. No living persons were then to be seen in the streets.

In the morning a correspondent followed General Rivas, the commander of the government troops, who met General Gomez, the Venezuelan commander in chief, near the capitol, and confirmed the announcement that the capitol, the jail and all the rest of the city were in the hands of the government soldiers.

General Gomez informed the correspondent that the resistance of the capitol had been of a nature worthy of a better cause, that each yard of rampart was covered with dead and General Nicholas Rolando, the last representative of the revolution, and his two lieutenants, Generals Pablo and Guzman, and General Francisco Vasquez had been taken prisoners.

No adequate idea can be given of the scene which Ciudad Bolivar presents. The city appears to have been swept by a cyclone accompanied by a conflagration.

Women Outwit Police.

CHICAGO, July 24. — Dennis and Latimore, said by the police to be two of the most expert safe blowers and bank robbers in the country, both of whom live in Chicago, have escaped from jail at Waukesha, Wis., through the cleverness of three women, it is believed. The jail delivery was planned in Chicago some time ago, and the local police had full information in regard to the plot. They were informed that the women had started for Waukesha with the saws and necessary tools. Despite this the Chicago women outwitted the sheriff, and the escape was executed without a hitch.

Death of F. W. Holls.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Frederick W. Holls, secretary of the American delegation to The Hague peace conference and more recently member of the international court, has died suddenly at his home at Yonkers of heart failure. Mr. Holls was born at Zellenople, Pa., July 1, 1857, was graduated from Columbia college in 1878 and studied also at the University of Leipsic. He was a delegate at large to the New York constitutional convention in 1894, member of the peace conference at The Hague from the United States in 1899 and more recently member of the international court.

Fighting Parson Shot Two.

MIDDLEBURG, Ky., July 24.—After killing one man and fatally injuring another, Robert Lee, a minister at Linnie, in Casey county, said grace at the jail table in Liberty. Lee became involved in a quarrel with Ellis Woods and the latter's son, and the shooting followed, in which the preacher proved himself more than a match for both of his opponents, for he succeeded in killing Woods and fatally wounding his son. The "fighting parson" was then arrested and taken to the jail at Liberty, where he peacefully returned thanks at the table with the other prisoners.

Rescued From Death In a Mine.

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., July 24.—Still alive, though in a complete state of exhaustion, John Nacavage, one of the men believed to have perished in a rush of water at Ellangowan colliery on Wednesday, was found by rescuers. When the water broke through into breast No. 15 Nacavage was swept into a heading above the water level. His fellow miners, Alexander Lynch, Peter Kleckner, Matthew Chefinski and Michael Yoncoski, are still entombed.

Farmer's Cruel Shot.

CARROLLTON, Ga., July 24.—News has reached here from Whitesburg that Robert Smith, a young farmer, has shot from ambush and killed his wife. They quarreled, and Smith whipped his wife. She left him and went to her father's house. It is supposed her father persuaded her to return to her husband, who shot her as she was on the way. A posse is hunting for Smith.

Alaskan Exhibit at St. Louis.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The interior department advised Governor Brady that First Assistant Secretary Ryan will confer with authorized representatives from Alaska at Seattle relative to the Alaskan exhibit for the world's fair at St. Louis.

Town of Landers Wiped Out.

GUTHRIE, Okla., July 24. — The town of Landers, with a population of 600, was wiped out by fire; loss, $200,000. Mrs. Jason Burgess was burned to death.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; light north winds, becoming variable.

Plainfield, N. J., July 24, 1903.

The Mt. Olive Baptist Church repair fund is worthy of a contribution.

"The chief end of an ad is to sell goods. Remember that nobody wants to buy from a smart Aleck. Talk close to business."

No. Mary Jane, when your husband spoke of a high ball on coming in late the other night he did not refer to Borelli's comet.

That news from China was premature. The American Government is still singing to Manchuria "open the door and let me in."

You can "count your many blessings" when you consider what a small tax rate you have to pay when living in such a progressive city as Plainfield.

So, Sir Thomas Lipton is to be a judge of the beauty of American girls. He differs from most Englishmen who confine themselves solely to passing upon their wealth.

An exchange speaks of Elbert Hubbard as the modern William Morris. Wonder in how many languages the English essayist would speak of that exchange for the slander.

The President has been discussing the financial question. That's what we're interested in. Vacation time is here and we want to know how to pay our bills and have a good time as well.

Old Geronimo has become a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Probably he is attempting to refute what has been commonly accepted as a truism—"the only good Indian is a dead Indian."

A man fell from the seventh story of the West End Trust Company building in Philadelphia the other day and actually sprained his ankle. And yet they talk about things moving slowly in the Quaker City.

Some of those wise men, commonly denominated astronomers, say that they see flashes of light coming from Mars and that it may be that the inhabitants there are attempting to signal us. Possibly they want some light on Pierpont Morgan, manager of the universe.

Printers' Ink, recognized as the standard journal for advertisers in this country, publishes in its current issue "The largest circulations in the North Atlantic States." In its table of New Jersey newspapers it says: "The Press has a larger circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield."

Because he remarked that his wife's coffee was not "like mother used to make," Thomas Barker, of Chicago, is now in a hospital suffering with a fractured skull. We do not suppose that this alleopathic treatment will be approved by the Ladies' Home Journal since Ruth Ashmore has quit her "side talks with girls."

In a paper on "What shall we do with our birds," delivered before the Salem County Board of Agriculture, Professor John B. Smith, who has gained reputation for his mosquito theories, recommended that sportsmen be allowed to kill robins. In his opinion they have become a nuisance by destroying the cherry crops. Mr. Smith will have his hands full in dealing with the mosquito and it will be well for him not to make a try after bigger game.

Just About Bedtime

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, billiousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowls, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

—As a result of a recent "kick-up" between the town commissioners of Somerville and the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company, the trolley tickets have been withdrawn and it will now cost you ten cents each, cash fare, to ride between Bound Brook and Somerville.

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet this evening and initiate several candidates.

The Scottish Thistle Club will go to Feltville tomorrow for a day's outing. Alexander Duff, chief of the clan, will be in charge of the arrangements.

At last night's meeting of Wetumpkah Tribe, I. O. R. M., several palefaces were adopted. Refreshments and a social time followed the ceremonies.

District Deputy John H. Becker and his staff of eight men, all of whom are members of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, were royally entertained last evening by the members of Rahway Lodge, I. O. O. F. The local men compled their circuit of installation for the year, last night, and the occasion was marked with a liberal feast and an evening of fun and social good fellowship.

At the convention of the Grand Lodge, B. P. O. E., held in Baltimore this week, these officers have been elected: Grand Exalted Ruler, Joseph T. Fanning, Indianapolis; grand esteemed leading knight, Chas. A. Kelly, Boston; grand esteemed loyal knight, Richard J. Wood, Sioux Falls; grand esteemed lecturing knight, C. F. Tomlinson, Winston, N. C.; grand secretary, George A. Reynolds, Saginaw, Mich., (ninth term); grand treasurer, Samuel N. Needs, Cleveland, grand tiler, Chas. W. Kaufman, Hoboken, (re-elected). Robert B. Brown, of Louisville, was elected to serve three years as trustee.

JOHN OWENS STERNS, FATHER OF CENTRAL

November 1, 1862, on the eve of his being elevated to the vice presidency of the company, leaving a wife and seven children a handsome competency, accumulated by years of active life and business sagacity, and an army of subordinates and friends who revered his memory as a kind employer and a faithful friend.

At a meeting of the board of directors, following his death, a committee, consisting of Chancellor Williamson, Frederick T. Frelinghuysen and William E. Dodge, were appointed to draft resolutions which were unanimously adopted to. These resolutions paid a high tribute to Mr. Stern's memory as a man and as an official, and provided that the treasurer of the company be directed to pay the funeral expenses and see that a suitable monument be erected over his grave in the Evergreen Cemetery at Elizabeth.

The funeral services were held in St. John's Church, Elizabeth, on the afternoon of November 6, and were largely attended by representative citizens from all over the State and employees and officials of the company. In his address the Rev. Samuel A. Clark, pastor of the church, paid eloquent tribute to Mr. Stern's memory as a citizen and a railroad official. In the latter connection he said:

"As a man of business Mr. Sterns was a model; eminently just in all his dealings. As a railroad official he always stood above suspicion and I am authorized to say, on the part of those be so faithfully served, that he never directly or indirectly made one farthing from the position he occupied which was in any way connected from them, and which did not legitimately belong to him.—Railroad Employe.

EDWARD IN IRELAND.

Reviews Troops and Naval Brigade In Phoenix Park.

DUBLIN, July 24.—King Edward reviewed 15,000 troops and 5,000 men of the naval brigade in Phoenix park. The weather was most favorable, bright sunshine permitting the wearing of summer costumes and the consequent color effect. When the ground was packed by tens of thousands of spectators it made by far the most brilliant scene of the many witnessed since their majesties' arrival in Dublin. It was the largest muster of troops ever seen at a review in Ireland. The Duke of Connaught was in command.

It was after midnight when the day's festivities closed. The king and queen held a splendid court at the castle in the famous St. Patrick's hall, which was gorgeously decorated and illuminated for the occasion. Their majesties entered the hall with all the accompaniments of state and took their places near the throne, which was the center of a brilliant group, including the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Earl Dudley and other high state officers in full uniform. There they received the most representative body of the Irish nobility and the Irish people which has been seen at the castle in many years.

Queen Alexandra wore a cream colored gown embroidered with gold. She wore varicolored jewels in the form of shamrocks, and her diamond ornaments were set in designs of rose, thistle and shamrock. The influence of the sovereigns secured a social union which English statesmen had vainly sought to attain. The Irish guards acted as a guard of honor, and the grand staircase was lined with lancers. It was a function of regal magnificence, and it was not until the last name on the list had been read out and the last debutante had made her courtesy that their majesties quitted the scene.

CONCILIATION BOARD MEETS.

Mine Workers Presented Charges of Discrimination Against Strikers.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., July 24.—At the meeting of the conciliation board the mine workers presented charges of blacklisting against the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company in the Panther Creek valley. The company is accused of violating both the letter and the spirit of the award of the strike commission by discriminating against men who took part in the big strike. It is alleged that several hundred men have been placed on blacklists by the company, while many others are unemployed.

Superintendent Luther of the Philadelphia and Reading Iron and Coal company had a list of grievances charging mine workers employed by his company with having violated the award of the commission. On account of the lateness of the hour these grievances were not considered.

The board decided that the laborers employed by contract miners are entitled to receive the 10 per cent increase awarded by the commission to the contract miners and shall also participate in the advance in wages on the sliding scale.

Cable Ship Iris at Victoria.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 24.—The cable steamship Iris, repair vessel of the Pacific coast cable board, has arrived here from England via Australia and Honolulu. The Iris will lay a short cable from Bamfield creek up Albert canal. The land wires on Vancouver island have been in constant trouble, and this cable is expected to remedy the difficulty. Later the Iris will pick up the Fanning island-Suva section of the big Australian cable to ascertain if there is any trouble on that section. Messages have been received indirectly recently from Suva, and it is feared there is trouble in that section of the cable.

Naval Lieutenant Reinstated.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The secretary of the navy has acted favorably on the case of Lieutenant James G. Doyle, formerly attached to the Kentucky on the Asiatic station. He was convicted by a court martial of drunkenness on duty and sentenced to lose thirty numbers in the grade of lieutenant, subsequently reduced to the loss of twenty numbers. On the ground that there is a reasonable doubt as to the guilt of the officer, the navy department has set aside the sentence and directed that Lieutenant Doyle be restored to his original position on the navy list.

Mrs. Barrington Granted a Divorce.

KANSAS CITY, July 24.—Mrs. Wilhelmina Grace Barrington was granted a divorce from "Lord" Frederick Seymour Barrington, who is now under indictment at St. Louis, charged with murder, in the district court at Kansas City, Kan. The decree restores to Mrs. Barrington her maiden name, Cochrane. She married Barrington in St. Louis, believing his representations that he was an English lord. Barrington did not contest the divorce suit.

Largest War Ship Launched.

LONDON, July 24.—The new battle ship King Edward VII., the largest in the world, has been successfully launched by the Princess of Wales at Devonport. Among those present were the Prince of Wales, Princess Henry of Battenberg and the lords of the admiralty. King Edward laid the keel plate March 8, 1902. The vessel will cost $7,500,000.

Grandees Honor Vanderbilt.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 24. — Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt during their stay here received much attention. They were dined by the Grand Duke Boris at the imperial palace, Grand Duke Vladimir was among the many notable persons present. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt were also entertained at dinner by the Grand Duke Michaelovich.

ROOSEVELT'S RIDE.

Presidential Party Made Thirty-five Miles In Less Than Four Hours.

SAYVILLE, N. Y., July 24.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by his eldest son, Theodore, is here visiting the president's uncle, Robert B. Roosevelt. The president and his son came from Oyster Bay on horseback, leaving that place at 2 a. m. They had with them on their ride two nephews of President Roosevelt. For more than two hours the little cavalcade rode through a night that was inky in its blackness, but shortly after 4 o'clock the dawn broke, and in a little while the sun was shining gloriously.

President Roosevelt on his favorite riding horse set the pace, Theodore junior riding the horse Wyoming, presented to the president by the citizens of Douglas, Wyo. The party arrived here a few minutes before 6 o'clock, riding directly to the home of Robert B. Roosevelt, about a mile from town.

The route followed by the president and his young companions led them through Huntington and Smithtown and past Lake Ronkonkoma. The ride under the circumstances was a hard one, the distance, thirty-five miles, being covered in less than four hours. On their arrival here it was discovered that the president's horse had withstood the journey badly. Indeed his condition is such that Mr. Roosevelt may return to Sagamore Hill in an automobile.

President Roosevelt was greatly shocked when informed of the sudden death of Frederick W. Holls. Mr. Holls was a close personal friend of the president and visited him at Sagamore Hill only a few days ago.

CONVICTS CAPTURED.

After Five Days' Liberty Sheriffs Get the Drop on Them.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 24.—After searching five days and nights, most of the time in a drenching rain, Warden Deyo and his officers, assisted by deputy sheriffs, policemen and civilians, have succeeded in capturing John Elliott and Edward Kennedy, two of the four escaped convicts, in the woods near Barnaby's Corners, on the road leading to Altona.

Peter James and John Collins, the other two, were also run down and captured about a quarter of a mile from the Rutland railroad station at Altona and less than a mile from where Elliott and Kennedy were taken. They were drenched by the rain, hungry and almost exhausted. When Keeper Severance got the drop on them with his rifle they quickly threw up their hands.

"Bobs" Will Come if He Can.

LONDON, July 24.—The statement cabled to the United States to the effect that the British cabinet had vetoed the proposed visit of Lord Roberts to the United States is as inaccurate as was the original announcement that Lord Roberts had definitely determined to make the visit. The truth is that the whole matter has always been indefinite. Lord Roberts has said and still says that he will visit the United States in the autumn if his duties will permit.

American Yacht at Copenhagen.

COPENHAGEN, July 24.—Allison V. Armour's yacht Utowana has arrived here from Kiel, where she has been undergoing the repairs sustained by her in a collision with the steamer Dobrogea in the Black sea just prior to her arrival at Kiel for the regatta. She will proceed to Helsingborg, Norway.

Russia Floats a Loan.

The Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

A New Make of Cluny Lace—Linen and Tussore Silk.

There is a new make of cluny lace in silk which is very effective for a trimming of plain voile frocks, and it is not at all expensive. A charming costume recently seen was in rose pink voile with a bolero of this cluny lace finished with a silk fringe. The bolero really formed a cape and collar in one with a pelerine effect and sleeves ending at the elbow. The gown was eminently suited to race meetings, country gatherings and similar occasions, and, although it was smart, it was very simple. The skirt was made with three plaits on each hip and five folds at the bottom of the hem. The blouse bodice under the lace bolero consisted of tiny box plaits on either side worn with a plain fawn leather band. The whole was surmounted by a neat black straw toque.

Linen closely resembling hopsacking is soft and does not crease readily. A good many tussores and silks of a similar nature are also used for ordinary wear. The ecru tints of tussore and linen require relieving with embroidery or colored ribbon.

The china silk negligee in the cut is trimmed with ecru lace, and the main portion is accordion plaited.

PRETTY EFFECTS.

Some Costly Frocks With Jeweled Lace—Simple Muslins.

A fichu stole or scarf of lace or embroidered lawn is a useful adjunct to any woman's toilet.

Very beautiful frocks are made of white kilted chiffon veiled with jeweled or spangled lace. These transparencies in evening wear are much in vogue in Paris. They are generally placed over a kilted underskirt of a contrasting shade. Such an idea is very picturesque for a ball frock.

Inexpensive muslins make very pretty evening gowns if chosen in dainty shades and carefully trimmed with inexpensive yellow insertion.

Very pretty are the new scroll patterns in black and white and red and white. These make up charmingly with the plain spotted muslin or lace fichu. The skirts of such frocks look well cut with five frills around the hem and only long enough to touch the ground. The sleeves should be very full. These dresses are not hard to make at home if one has a good pattern.

The illustration shows a pretty waist of black louisine silk trimmed with red and black embroidered bands.

A Body Blow to the Air Ship.

The resistance of the air to moving bodies of various shapes has been tested by M. Canovetti by attaching each form to a carriage sliding down a wire 400 yards long, one of whose ends was seventy-five yards higher than the other. From the time made with and without the load the resistance was calculated. It was shown that more power was necessary for driving an aeroplane through the air than for propelling an automobile of equal weight along a road and that the weight of engine necessary must make this form of air ship impracticable.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

Yet for nearly an hour she stood alone in her conviction. Her husband quickly cautioned silence, and, going forth, gave instructions to the couriers that sent them speeding for the Rawlins road. But at seven o'clock, Mrs. Hay herself appeared and asked to see the general, who was taking at the moment his accustomed bracer, tonic and stimulant—the only kind he was ever known to use—a cold bath. So it was to Mrs. Dade, in all apparent frankness and sincerity, the trader's wife began her tale. Every one at Frayne well knew that her anxiety as to the outcome of the battle on the Elk had well-nigh equaled that of the wives and sweethearts within the garrison. While her niece, after the first day's excitement, kept to her room, the aunt went flitting from house to house, full of sympathy and suggestion, but obviously more deeply concerned than they had ever seen her. Now, she seemed worried beyond words at thought of her husband's having to go just at this time. It was mainly on Nanette's account, she said. Only last night, with the mail from Laramie, had come a letter, posted in San Francisco the week before, telling Miss Flower that her dearest friend and roommate for four years at school, who had been on an extended bridal tour, would pass through Rawlins, eastward bound, on Friday's train, and begging Nanette to meet her and go as far at least as Cheyenne. Her husband, it seems, had been hurriedly recalled to New York, and there was no help for it. Nanette had expected to join her, and go all the way east in late October or early November; had given her promise, in fact, for she was vastly excited by the news, and despite headache and lassitude that had oppressed her for two days past, she declared she must go, and Uncle Will must take her. So, with only a small trunk, hastily packed, of her belongings, and an iron-bound chest of the trader's, the two had started before dawn in Uncle Bill's stout buckboard, behind his famous four-mule team, with Pete to drive, and two sturdy ranchmen as outriders, hoping to reach the Medicine Bow by late afternoon, and rest at Brenner's ranch. Confidentially, Mrs. Hay told Mrs. Dade that her husband was glad of the excuse to take the route up the Platte instead of the old, rough trail southeastward over the mountains to Rock creek, for he had a large sum in currency to get to the bank, and there were desperadoes along the mountain route who well knew he would have to send that money in, and were surely on the lookout to waylay him—or it. Ever since pay day two or three rough characters had been hanging about the store, and Hay suspected they were watching his movements, with the intention of getting word to their comrades in crime the moment he started, and it was almost as much to steal a march on them as to oblige Nanette, he so willingly left before it was light. The Rawlins road followed the Platte valley all the way to Brenner's, and, once there, he would feel safe, whereas the Rock creek trail wound through gulch, ravine and forest most of the distance, affording many a chance for ambuscade. Of course, said Mrs. Hay, if her husband had for a moment supposed the general would wish to see him, he would not have gone, adding, with just a little touch of proper, warlike spirit, that on the general's previous visits he had never seemed to care whether he saw Mr. Hay or not.

All this did Mrs. Dade accept with courteous, yet guarded interest. They were seated in the little army parlor, talking in low tone; for, with unfailing tact, Mrs. Hay had asked for Esther, and expressed her sympathy on hearing of her being unnerved by the excitement through which they had passed. Well she knew that Field's serious condition had not a little to do with poor Esther's prostration, but that was knowledge never to be hinted at. Dade himself she did not wish to meet just now. He was too direct a questioner, and had said and looked things about Nanette that made her dread him. She knew that, however austere and commanding he might be when acting under his own convictions, he was abnormally susceptible to uxorial views, and the way to win the captain's sympathies or avert his censure, was to secure the kindly interest of his wife. Mrs. Hay knew that he had sent couriers off by the Rawlins road—a significant thing in itself—and that couriers had come in from the north with further news from Webb. She knew he had gone to the office, and would probably remain there until summoned for breakfast, and now was her time, for there was something further to be spoken of, and while gentle and civil, Mrs. Dade had not been receptive. It was evident to the trader's wife that her lord and master had made a mistake in leaving when he did. He knew the general was on the way. He knew there was that money business to be cleared up, yet she knew there were reasons why she wanted him away—reasons hardest of all to plausibly explain. There were reasons, indeed, why she was glad Nanette was gone. She was glad Nanette was gone, because Field, wounded and present, would have advantages over possible suitors absent on campaign—because all the women and a few of the men were now against her, and because from some vague, intangible symptoms, Mrs. Hay had satisfied herself that there was something in the wind Nanette was hiding from—her benefactress, her best friend, and it seemed like cold-blooded treachery. Hay had for two days been disturbed, nervous and unhappy, yet would not tell her why. He had been cross-questioning Pete, "Crapaud" and other employes, and searching about the premises in a way that excited curiosity and even resentment, for the explanation he gave was utterly inadequate. To satisfy her, if possible, he had confided, as he said, the fact that certain money for which Lieut. Field was accountable, had been stolen. The cash had been carefully placed in his old-fashioned safe; the missing money, therefore, had been taken while still virtually in his charge. "They might even suspect me," he said, which she knew would not be the case. "They forbade my speaking of it to anybody, but I simply had to tell you." She felt sure there was something he was concealing; something he would not tell her; something concerning Nanette, therefore, because she so loved Nanette he shrank from revealing what might wound her, indeed, it was best that Nanette should go for the time, at least, but Mrs. Hay little dreamed that others would be saying—even this kindly, gentle woman before her—that Nanette should have stayed until certain strange things were thoroughly and satisfactorily explained.

But the moment she began, faltering not a little, to speak of matters at the post, as a means of leading up to Nanette—matters concerning Lieut. Field and his financial affairs—to her surprise Mrs. Dade gently uplifted her hand and voice. "I am going to ask you not to tell me, Mrs. Hay," she said. "Captain Dade has given me to understand there was something to be investigated, but preferred that I should not ask about it. Now, the general will be down in 15 or 20 minutes. I suggest that we walk over to the hospital and see how Mr. Field is getting on. We can talk, you know, as we go. Then you will breakfast with us. Indeed, may I not give you a cup of coffee now, Mrs. Hay?"

"DELIVERED IN PERSON TO MISS FLOWER, WHO MET HIM AT THE TRADER'S GATE."

But Mrs. Hay said no. She had had coffee before coming. She would go and see if there was anything they could do for Field, and would try again to induce Mrs. Dade to listen to certain of her explanations.

But Mrs. Dade was silent and preoccupied. She was thinking of that story of Nanette's going, and wondering whether it could be true. She was wondering if Mrs. Hay knew the couriers had gone to recall Hay, and that if he and Nanette failed to return it might mean trouble for both. She could accord to Mrs. Hay no confidences of her own, and had been compelled to decline to listen to those with which Mrs. Hay would have favored her. She was thinking of something still more perplexing. The general, as her husband finally told her, had asked first thing to see Hay, and later declared that he wished to talk with Mrs. Hay and see Nanette. Was it possible that he knew anything of what she knew—that between Hay's household and Stabber's village there had been communication of some kind—that the first thing found in the Indian pouch brought home by Capt. Blake was a letter addressed in Nanette Flower's hand, and with it three card photographs, two of them of unmistakable Indians in civilized garb, and two letters, addressed, like hers, to Mr. Ralph Moreau—one care of the Rev. Jasper Strong, Valentine, Neb., the other to the general delivery, Omaha?

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

A NEW WONDERLAND

Comparatively Recent Discoveries in British Columbia.

The Greatest Waterfall in the World—Where the Waters Flow Both Ways—Wonderful Mountains, Canyons and Glaciers.

British Columbia is offering to the scenic-seeking tourist newer and greater attractions than almost any other section of the American continent at the present time.

In a way British Columbia is older than our own northwest or west. It was being settled by white men from old England before we had wrested California from the hands of the

THE TOKAKAKAW FALLS.

Mexicans. For years a trunk line of railway has run through the very center of it, but the people have known practically nothing of the natural marvels which it contains other than those which could be seen from the windows of a railway train. Then came a few inquisitive men, scientific explorers, such as Prof. Wilcox, of Washington, who broke away from the beaten path of the railway to find new wonders.

How little was known of this country away from the line of railway until quite recently may be imagined from the fact that the wonderful Yoho valley was not discovered until some four or five years ago, and yet it is almost within a stone's throw of the railroad. Here in this little valley is the Tokakakaw falls, the highest waterfall in the world, ten times higher than Niagara. An enormous volume of seething, boiling water rushes over the precipice on the far side of the narrow gorge and shatters down the rock side in clouds of foam, a sheer drop of 1,346 feet, with a broken, boiling cascade for another 500 feet. Glaciers can be seen banking the surrounding precipices and feeding this great torrent.

Equally as wonderful is the Yoho canyon, with its perpendicular walls rising hundreds of feet above the stream that rushes and roars through its rocky bed. Twin falls is another of the scenic wonders but recently brought to light, and which are excelled by the Tokakakaw only, either in point of beauty or magnitude.

Mount Assinaboine, which Prof. Wilcox has thoroughly explored, offers many wonderful attractions, as does also all of that wonderful mountainous country just south of the Canadian national park at Banff.

West of Banff, as the tourist follows the windings of the Bow river to the summit of the Rocky mountains, he passes one after another of the sights whose grandeur will leave a picture indelibly stamped upon the mind. And then at the summit is that always remarkable curiosity of rivers flowing both ways. Within a few yards of each other is the Bow and the Kicking Horse flowing to the oceans, the Bow to carry its waters to the broad plains and on across to the Atlantic; the Kicking Horse to follow its wild course through canyons and over precipices until it meets the Columbia at Golden. Here flowing northward to pass around the Selkirk mountains.

The Selkirk mountains, with their great glaciers and mountain streams; the Frazier river, winding through a canyon for hundreds of miles, all of these afford but an idea of still greater wonders that lie in this truly marvelous province of Canada, which has as yet not been half explored, but which is adding new attractions for the scenic lover each year.

WALTON RESENTED INSULT

POLICE MAGISTRATE DISCHARGED HIM AFTER HEARING STORY OF ARREST.

The Police Captain Acted Ugly—Was Discharged by the Magistrate.

Lester R. Walton, of Fifth avenue, who underwent arrest rather than be mulcted for an ill smelling dinner at the Surf House in Coney Island was discharged by the police magistrate at that place yesterday. Walton resented insulting language used by the head waiter and proprietor of the place and willingly went to headquarters, where he found a police captain who would not even allow him to communicate with his wife, who was with him when the altercation took place. His father arrived on the scene within two hours and young Mr. Walton was released until the hearing. Mr. and Mrs. Walton are visiting her relatives in this city. He now proposes to call the attention of the proper authorities to the treatment he received in the police station on the Island.

AMUSEMENTS.

Luna Park, at Coney Island, has been improved with every day, and now it stands as it will for this season, with as many large amusement features as have been before offered in any two expositions. The metropolitan dailies are unanimous in the words of praise, all of them conceding that no previous exposition has been as complete.

Proctor's Twenty-third Street house will have an excellent bill, starting Monday next. The programme will be headed by Mrs Odell Williams and Company in a vaudeville absurdity entitled, "Big Sister's Beau." The "Watermelon Trust," composed of several very clever singing and dancing comedians from the neighborhood of Thompson street, will be an added feature. Reed's acrobatic Boston bull terrers; Leslie Brothers, musical comedians; Russell and O'Connell, Irish comeidans; Lenore and St. Claire, comedians.

Consul, the chimpanzee, at Bostock's great animal arena, Coney Island, continues to amaze his trainers with his phenomenal intelligence. His latest intellectual exhibition is to write his name on a new typewriter just purchased for him. Whether the effect is accomplished by trickery or by the exercise of some feat of training, certain it is that the little fellow inserts a sheet of paper in his machine when called upon to do so, strikes the keys just as a human might, and then draws forth the typed letters of his name correctly spelled.

LITERARY.

In the August McClure's is a fine story by James Weber Linn, whose novel, "The Chameleon," brought him to notice as an author of much promise. "The Girl at Duke's" is a love story of the plains that shows the author to be at home in the far west among the scenes and types of the Arizona desert. It is one of the best stories in an unusually good fiction number.

Dr. Holmes had an odd liking for ingenious desk accessories in the way of pencil-sharpeners, paper-weights, pen-holders, etc. The latest contrivances in this fashion—probably dropped down to him by the inventor angling for a nibble of commendation—were always making one another's acquaintance on his study table. He once said to me: "I'm waiting for somebody to invent a mucilage-brush that you can't by any chance put into your inkstand. It would save me frequent movements of humiliation."—Thomas Bailey Aldrich in the August Century.

—Jacob Fass, proprietor of the Paris Cloak Store, is conducting a clearance sale of summer dresses, shirt waists, skirts, etc., at very low prices, preparatory to taking an inventory next week. Those seeking bargains can now find them at this store.

HOW IT CAME BY ITS NAME

STORY CONNECTED WITH THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE ALIS CLUB.

A Typographical Error in Title—Known As the Ahs—The History of the Club.

"It was all a mistake," is the invariable reply of Manager John G. MacLaughlin to the many queries as to the origin of the name of the Alis Club. While the Alis Club itself is not yet a year old, the name Alis has long figured in local amateur athletic circles and is well known through this section of Jersey. Manager MacLaughlin's reply tells the secret of the naming of that little organization of young men which formed the nucleus for the present flourishing club.

It was nearly eight years ago when a little gathering of young men, then pupils in the City High School, organized a football team with Roy T. Phillips as captain. They wanted to name it and, in a spirit of fun, gave the title "Ahs" to their organization. A Daily Press reporter learned of the organization and was supplied with full particulars.

The article was properly written but the typesetter made a mistake. He took the hurriedly written "Ahs" for "Alis" as that reporter had a habit of failing to dot his i's and the account of the organization so appeared. At first the organizers were inclined to find fault but the more they heard the name the better pleased they were with it and the final result was that the name "Alis" was adopted.

Under the title of the Alis A. A., the club grew and its football attained the dignity of junior champion of Union. The players from that team gradually won the places on the old Plainfield A. A.'s crack eleven. Then the Plainfield A. A. retired from activity and the Alis boys placed Plainfield's representative eleven on the gridiron.

Although the Alis A. A. possessed an organization, it was not until this year that the name was attached to a club of the importance which the Alis Club has now attained. The old organization was allowed to die and the Alis Club was an entirely separate club. The name still remains, however, and promises to become even more generally known throughout the State as the promoter of good honest sport.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Justice Vincent W. Nash was at Cold Springs, N. Y., yesterday in attendance at the funeral of Mrs. William Dyos of that place who died Tuesday. Mrs. Dyos was a former resident of Plainfield.

—Athletes eat fruit in great quantities because it is a muscle builder. Fruit in summer is much healthier than meat. At Neuman Brothers all the fruit in season is on sale, including huckle berries, black berries, peaches, plums, oranges and bananas.

—A party consisting of Mrs. J. F. Auten and daughter, Dorothy, of East Front street, Miss Fanny Chandler and Miss Chandler, of East Fifth street, Mr. and Mrs. William Banks, Miss Josie Banks and Miss Beekman, of East Second street, and Miss May LaForge, of New Brunswick, had a pleasant time, Wednesday, at Midland Beach. The trip was made by trolley.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

A little fellow living in the West recently wrote a letter to his grandfather in this city, and after telling what a good time he had on July 4, sent his love to his grandmother, concluding with "goodbye and God bless you—if He don't I will." The chap is about 9 years old.

One of the most original spellers in this part of the country has decorated a board in front of the Babcock building with a striking example of his art. In front of the part of the building in which carpenters and plasterers are at work is this sign in highly irregular characters: "PoSatevlY No aDmeTanse." Why wouldn't a few signs like this placed in conspicuous positions make good advertising? Certain it is that almost everybody who goes by the Babcock building has a good look and a good laugh at the work of the artist with the fine disregard for mere spelling. It is respectfully suggested that some one of the more progressive firms that advertise correspond with the orthographer without delay, with a view to engaging his services.

Herbert W. Bowen, Minister to Venezuela, a brother of Henry E. Bowen of this city, was really graduated from Yale University with the class of '03, although the class with which he finished his course was graduated a quarter of a century ago. When Prof. Bernadotte Perrin on commencement day recommended Minister Bowen for an honorary degree as well as his long-delayed B. A. degree, he said that Mr. Bowen could have had his B. A. degree at any time during the last twenty-five years that he chose to take it.

To the members of the class of '78, Mr. Bowen's class at Yale, Prof. Perrin's remarks recalled an incident in Mr. Bowen's career which many had almost forgotten. The reason that Mr. Bowen did not get his degree for twenty-five years was that he had a wrange with Prof. Edward Salisbury Dana just before graduation, and refused to apologize when requested to do so, preferring to lose his degree rather than recede from the position he took in the mater.

Since Mr. Bowen has come into prominence various versions of the affair have been related, some of the tales representing him as snowballing Prof. Dana, and thereby incurring the wrath of the young professor and through him the displeasure of the whole faculty. The story, as told by a member of the class of '78, is that the trouble arose over the discussion of a secret society matter.

It was in June and young Bowen had successfully passed all his examinations and was waiting for commencement, when one evening he was siting on the old Yale fence discussing, among other things, senior societies in the college. Although one of the popular men of his class he had not made a senior society, and he was speaking disparagingly of the system when Prof. Dana came along.

Prof. Dana had been out of college only half a dozen years and was a member of Scroll and Keys. As he passed, young Bowen made some particularly caustic remark and Prof. Dana hearing it took exception to the criticism. The two got into a warm discussion, and Bowen knocked the professor's hat off.

The story of the affair immediately was circulated about the campus, and Bowen was called before the faculty. He was told that Prof. Dana asked for an apology and that he would be expected to make it before he could receive his degree.

Mr. Bowen refused to apologize, saying that he had nothing to apologize for, insamuch as Prof. Dana got into the squabble himself. The faculty then told him that when he was ready to make the apology he would receive his degree. Mr. Bowen left college without attending commencment.

Catarrh of the Stomach.
When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. CORNERSTONE LAYING TO BE GREAT EVENT

Committee Announces Complete Detail for Exercises at Elizabeth.

THE STONE IN POSITION

AFTER PARADE THE CEREMONIES WILL COMMENCE AT COURT HOUSE.

Banquet to Follow—Masonic Fraternity to Escort Officers of Grand Lodge—Datter's Band Engaged—Other Details.

Workmen are engaged in putting the finishing touches on the cornerstone which was placed in position in the new court house building at Elizabeth yesterday, preparatory to the exercises next Thursday.

On the side of the stone which faces Broad street have been cut the figures "1903," while on the Rahway avenue side will be the figures "1811," the latter indicating the year in which the old court house was constructed.

A meeting of the committee to make arrangements for the cornerstone exercises was held yesterday afternoon in the office of County Collector Wood, and the final arrangements were completed, as far as possible.

The invitations to the county officials, mayors of the various municipalities, chairmen of the township boards, the press and others, have been sent out.

Datter's band has been engaged, and will head the procession of Free Mason from Masonic Hall in the Kean building to the court house. Here a large platform will be constructed, on which will be seated the officers of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, and invited guests.

The various lodges of Free Masons in the city and county have been requested by their various presiding officers to assemble in the hall of Washington Lodge, in the Kean building, at 10:30 o'clock on Thursday morning, to act as escort to the Grand Lodge. Members of the fraternity are asked to wear frock coats and dark trousers.

At 11 o'clock, on the arrival of the procession at the court house, the following will be the order of exercises, as agreed upon by the committee:

Overture by the band.
Address by Director J. Frank Hubbard.
Ode by the Cathedral Quartette.
Prayer by grand chaplain.
Ode by quartette.
Ceremony of laying the cornerstone by Grand Master W. Holt Apgar.
Invocation by grand chaplain.
Delivering of the Masonic implements.
Ode.
Oration by Hon. Foster M. Voorhees.
"Star Spangled Banner" by band.
Benediction by grand chaplain.

At the conclusion of the exercises the Masonic fraternity will escort the officers of the Grand Lodge to the Kean building, where the lodge will be closed in due form.

At 1 o'clock the officers of the Grand Lodge will proceed to the assembly room of Jacob's Theatre, which will be appropriately decorated with palms and flags, and here the banquet will be served.

The presiding officer will be United States Senator John Kean, who will make a brief address. Rev. B. M. Bogan, of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Rahway, has accepted an invitation to offer the prayer.

A number of brief addresses will be made, and among those who are to speak, in addition to Senator Kean, are Judge Vail, Director Hubbard, of the Board of Freeholders; Surrogate Parrott, Sheriff Coriell and County Collector Wood.

The invitation to the banquet must of necessity be limited, and have been forwarded to Judges VanSyckel and Vail, members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders and Mayors of the various cities in Union County, County officials, officers of the Grand Lodge, chairman of the various township boards, representatives of the press, the public schools, fire and police departments. About 100 hundred invitations have been issued. There will be no organizations invited.

The committee make this announcement in order that there may be no misunderstanding. The banquet will occupy the early part of the afternoon, and Datter's band, will play selections between the speeches. Russ & Son will serve the banquet.

The committee having in charge the exercises in connection with the laying of the cornerstone is composed of Director Hubbard, Freeholders Farrell, Brucklacher, McCandless, Adams, King, Clerk Ryno and County Collector Wood.

CHARLES M. BURT'S STRIDE TO THE FRONT

General Passenger Agent Twenty-Five Years in the Business.

BEGAN AS AN AUDITOR

ORIGINATED THE SCHEME TO CONDUCT "THE SUBURBANITE."

Commenced Railroading in 1882—Later Made a Chief Rate Clerk and Now General Passenger Agent.

A young man who has made his mark in the railroad world, and who in official circles is considered one of the most thoroughly competent passenger men in America, is Charles Munson Burt, general passenger agent of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, says the Railroad Employe.

Although a young man, declares this excellent publication, Mr. Burt has been twenty-five years in the railway business. He first began in the auditor's department of the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad, familiarly spoken of as the N. Y., P. & O. In 1882 he left railroading for a brief time to take a position in the United States Quartermaster's Department, but before the year was out he was in the employ of the West Shore Railroad as rate clerk.

In 1888 he was made chief rate clerk in the Trunk Line Passenger Association. He afterward held this same position, but in 1896 the Supreme Court decided that the regulation of passenger rates by these associations was illegal, which caused their dissolution. Hence Mr. Burt's efforts in these directions came to naught. It resulted, however, in transferring him to New England. In 1899 Mr. Burt became general passenger agent of the Fitchburg Railroad, and later, when the Fitchburg was absorbed by the Boston and Maine, he became the assistant general passenger agent of that road.

With this valuable New England experience, an experience which naturally familiarized him with the transporting of large numbers of people on quick running trains and at short intervals only, the opening was wanting to bring him into some of the large railway systems. The death of General Passenger Agent Baldwin of the Central Railroad of New Jersey made the opening required. He was quickly asked to take Mr. Baldwin's position, and has since filled it in a most satisfactory manner.

The New Jersey Central is one of the leading passenger carrying roads of the country and especially does this apply to the suburban business, which has grown phenomenally since Mr. Burt assumed the helm of the passenger department in April, 1900. He saw the possibility of building up a great and profitable business for his company in this connection, and he went to work along the proper lines to secure a result which has not only proven satisfactory from a financial standpoint but which has placed Mr. Burt in the front ranks of the general passenger agents of America.

One of Mr. Burt's most happy ventures in connection with the upbuilding of suburban business was the publication of the Suburbanite, an illustrated monthly magazine of genuine merit, which is distributed gratuitously throughout the residential sections of New York City, as well as along the line and which is bringing satisfactory returns, as can be attested to by the house owners and real estate agents of every city and town between New York and Somerville, the entire distance being one of the most beautiful and desirable sections for suburban residence in the United States.

In the organization and management of the working force under his direction Mr. Burt employes the same sensible and liberal methods which so prominently characterizes the present management of the company, with the result that every employe is a willing worker and gives his best efforts in the interests of the corporation which affords him employment.

GROVER CLEVELAND MAY ATTEND OUTING

Distinguished Guests Expected at the Annual Picnic.

AT POINT VIEW GROVE

JUDGE ALTON PARKER MAY BE A GUEST.

Detailed Programme for Affair in August — Believed That Eight Hundred Will be Present—Martine to Talk.

A number of distinguished guests will accompany the Elizabeth Democrats on their sixth annual outing which takes place at Point View Grove, Thursday, August 27. The committee feels confident that ex-President Grover Cleveland and Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, and James E. Martine, of this city, will be the special guests of the day.

Last year over 600 persons enjoyed the outing, and the advance sale of tickets, now on, indicates that a much larger number will go this year. One of the features of the outing will be the big stock of eatables and drinkables on board the boat, which will be dispensed by a large corps of experienced waiters, neatly attired. As heretofore, the outing will be under the direct management of the Elizabeth Democratic City Committee. The badge which the committee has selected for the occasion is of unique design, and makes a splendid souvenir.

Arriving at the grove dinner will be in order, the menu will be elaborate. After dinner the big chief will retire to their council chambers, smoke the pipe of peace, and lay plans for next fall's campaign. The young braves will adjourn to the running track and participate in open games, among them being a sack race, potato race, three-legged race, obstacle race, 100-yard dash, tug-of-war and baseball game. Each brave who is successful in the respective competitions will receive from his parent chief a handsome gold medal.

TRIED SUIT ON IN COURT

"MAYOR" SMITH SHOWED JURY BASEBALL CLOTHES DIDN'T FIT.

Lost in Contract Case Against Harry Dreier at New Market—Will Appeal.

"Mayor" William B. Smith, of New Market, caused a hugh sensation in Justice R. P. F. Von Minden's court at New Market, yesterday, by trying on a baseball suit and exhibiting himself in it to the jury. He was attempting to prove to the court and jury that the baseball suits which he had bought for his team of Harry Dreier, the sporting goods dealer of this city, did not fit. His appearance certainly bore out the truth of his words and nearly convulsed a crowded courtroom with laughter.

Nevertheless, the genial "Mayor" lost his case. He tried to prove that each member of his team was supposed to pay for his own suit, although the order for them had been placed with Dreier by himself. The jury couldn't see it, however, and after ten minutes deliberation returned through the foreman, Owen C. Wilson, a verdict for full amount and costs in favor of Dreier, the plaintiff. Nine witnesses were heard. Counsellor William Newcorn represented Dreier, and W. S. Angleman conducted the case of the defendant.

Smith has decided to appeal the case and it will be brought up again probably at the next session of the Court of Common Pleas.

Ladder Made Trouble.

A wagon belonging to Henry Bohl, carpenter, capsized on Somerset street yesterday afternoon and frightened several horses standing near by. A long ladder protruded over the tail board, and as Bohl tried to turn around it struck a pole and overturned the wagon. Bohl was thrown to the ground but was not injured.

Violated Ordinance.

Riding bicycles on the sidewalk brought a number of boys into the city court this morning. Each was given a warning and released on suspended sentence. This is the list of offenders: H. S. Pope, Edward Kranse, Harrison Fahn, Harold Robert, Florence M. Bowman, Ogden Rogers and Clifford Randolph.

Hit Him in the Eye.

Herman Klinsmann, the son of the baker of that name on Harrison avenue, was struck in the eye yesterday afternoon by a stone thrown by a playmate. The wound is serious.

THE PLAINFIELD DOGS ARE UP AGAINST IT

Poisoners Have Been Working Overtime for the Past Six Week.

CANINES OF VALUE

AUTOMOBILES ALSO HVVE CLAIMED NUMEROUS VICTIMS.

Said That Many Dogs Go to Their Death by Eating From Garbage Cans—Latter Are a Menace to Health—Police Investigated.

The ranks of Plainfield dogs have been sadly depleted during the past month. Automobiles and poisoners have done their deadly work among the canines, and the muzzle law has made their life additionally miserable. To live and die "like a dog," at least in Plainfield, is not an enviable lot.

Yesterday a woman complained to the police that her valuable fox terrior had been poisoned. This is only one of a score of cases which have been brought to the attention of the police during the past five or six weeks, and in almost every instance the dog has been wholly harmless and greatly valued by its owner. Some of the dogs have been poisoned by strychnine, others by rough-on-rats. One was given ground glass in its food.

The police have investigated the cases but have obtained no definite information as to the identity of the rascal who is at work. They have ascertained that the poison which is used has not been purchased in Plainfield. It is their theory that some of the dogs have been allowed to nose around garbage cans in back yards, and that poison has been placed in the cans. At any rate some of these swill cans appear to be a decided menace to health. They are usually not covered, and often their contents are allowed to stand for weeks. Unless the Board of Health takes action in regard to them, they are likely to endanger the health of humans as well as dogs.

The automobile also has claimed numerous victims among the dogs, driven by persons who have been travelling close up to, if not beyond, the speed limit.

W. S. FREDERICK'S CASE SURPRISES THE DOCTORS

Over Eighty Per Cent. of Exposed Surface Now Covered by Successful Grafts.

SACRIFICES OF CUTICLE

COMPLETE LIST OF THOSE WHO HAVE BARED THEIR ARMS.

Dr. Albert Pittis' Success—Mr. Frederick Will Soon be a Well Man—The Story of the Accident at Graceland.

According to an estimate of his physician, over four-fifths of the destroyed skin on the body of Wilson Frederick, of Dunellen, has been replaced by cuticle contributed by men in this city and elsewhere since the skin grafting operation was commenced some months ago. The operation is still going on at intervals in Muhlenberg Hospital and the recovery of the injured man is now assured.

The case is one that has proven the fallacy of an accepted theory in medical science, heretofore it being the general belief that if one third of a person's skin was destroyed death would surely result. One half of his skin was burned to a black crisp by dry steam in the fatal wreck at Graceland on January 27 and the man is now in good physical condition.

To his attending physician Dr. Pittis as well as to those who have contributed the necessary cuticle for the skin grafting operation, Frederick owes his life. His Masonic brethren, fellow employes in the United States Express Company and other chivalrous friends donated the necessary skin. These men compose a roll of honor. The Daily Press is enabled to publish a complete list of all those who have made such contributions up to the present time and here it is:

THE PUBLIC SUPPORT WANTED FOR A BAND

Why it is Impossible to Give Concerts Under Present Conditions.

TALENT THE VERY BEST

BUTTONS, BAD MONEY, BEER CHECKS AND POOL CHECKS CONTRIBUTED.

Praise is Very Plentiful, But Real Financial Aid is Scarce—What is Needed to Make Concerts a Success.

Everybody has been praising the excellent work of Ben LaVere's band, especially in the last concert of the series. But praise doesn't come high, and when you touch a man's pocketbook for a more substantial evidence of approval you are up against something quite different. Among the contributions for the support of the band which have found their way into the collection boxes have been numerous bad or mutilated coins, a large supply of buttons, several pool checks and beer checks good in bar rooms in Rahway, Westfield and other towns from here to Elizabeth and New Brunswick.

Mr. LaVere announces that he intends calling his organization the Plainfield Band. Its services will be available on all occasions when a band is desired for public or private purposes.

The character of the talent in the band is indicated by the fact that nearly every musician in it is a soloist who has been employed by the Edison Company to play for its phonographic records. Everybody has heard Albert Sweet's cornet reproduced in every complete set of records. Other members of the band who have played to the phonograph are George Schwagart, cornet, Nicholas Schell and Luther LaVere, trombones, Frank Young and William Tuson, clarionets, William Frank, bass horn, and George Agner and Frederick Faulhaver, drums.

ITALIANS RELEASED.

Justice Huff Fails to Hold the Assailants of Dominico Ondrada—Trial Yesterday.

Justice Huff yesterday dismissed the case against Salvatore Merola and Alesandro Strepitos, charged with having assaulted Dominico Ondrada, July 12 on Lake street. Ondrada was severely cut by razors in the hand of assailants supposed to be the accused. He appeared in court to testify himself, but as he was the only witness, the Justice did not feel justified in holding the defendants for the Grand Jury. Counsellor Newcorn represented the defendants.

O. F. C. MEET.

Organization to Hold Important Session in Hotel Kensington.

The dry goods firm of Woodhull & Martin is doing a great deal this season to make the lives of people comfortable. The goods carried in every department represent the best to be found in the market and the prices are within the reach of all. The housefurnishing goods department is the centre of attraction these days, where so many useful articles needed in the home can be found. This firm also contracts to erect awnings, window shades, guaranteeing entire satisfaction. The carpet department is well worth a visit.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Earl of Pawtucket," with the beginning of next month, will finish its two hundredth performance at the Manhattan Theatre, New York. The event will take place with a Wednesday matinee on August 5. Sir Thomas Lipton, a fellow countryman of Lawrence D'Orsay, has signified his intention of being present on the occasion. He will be accompanied by the sailing masters of the Shamrocks and by General Corbin, General Chaffee and a number of the officers of the New York and Atlantic Yacht Clubs.

Sig. Creatore, who is to be heard at Riverside Park all next week, matinee daily commencing Tuesday, with his great Italian Band, met with unusual success during his engagement at the Pittsburg Exposition for two weeks in September. The Exposition has been running for 14 years, and although it rained every day he was there, Creatore drew people enough on several of the days to break all previous records.

Pain's remarkable pyro-spectacle, "Last Days of Pompeii," continues its prosperous season at Manhattan Beach. The high diver, who drops head foremost from the top of a pole one hundred feet high, into the mimic Bay of Naples, a body of water about four feet deep, is the new and reigning sensation. A troup of Arabs added to the programme are winning laurels in acrobatic feats.

—The sale of the household goods of the late Isaac Randolph estate was held at 514 Madison avenue, on Thursday and was a success. There was a very large attendance of buyers and all the goods were sold at big prices. Leifke & Laing were in charge of the sale and P. H. Latourette was the auctioneer.

Miss Rosemond Rogers, of this city, is visiting relatives at Somerville for a few weeks.

TWENTY MINUTES AHEAD.

Shamrock III. Squares Herself For Defeat by Old Challenger.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 25.—Shamrock III. more than squared accounts with her pacemaker, Shamrock I., for the beating the challenger suffered in the last race. Sailing over a twenty-nine mile course, the cup hunter beat the old boat 8 minutes and 11 seconds running ten miles to leeward, 5 minutes and 10 seconds beating ten miles to windward and 7 minutes and 19 seconds in a reach of nine miles, 20 minutes and 40 seconds in all. The challenger's victory running to leeward was flawless.

Beating back Shamrock I. suffered a little of her loss in a calm streak and in reaching more heavily from the same cause. Nevertheless the victory was fairly earned except that the difference between the two boats was exaggerated by the disadvantages the old boat suffered.

The new boat fairly walked away from the other running across. Coming back Shamrock I. again suffered by a soft spot in the wind, while the challenger demonstrated the yachtsman's saying that it is the fastest boat that gets there first and gets the best breeze.

Birch Broom's Win Protested.

NEW YORK, July 25.—G. B. Morris, who ran second with Gravino in the Brighton Oaks on Thursday, has protested the stakes, claiming that Birch Broom, the winner, had been racing in the west under the name of S. W. Street. Birch Broom won the Oaks under the name and colors of James R. Keene. She is properly registered with the Jockey club, and probably no action will be taken. Hyland was the only successful favorite to win.

Grand Opera at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Grand Opera, racing for the first time on a western track, won the third race at a mile and a sixteenth at Hawthorne. The eastern horse led from flag fall to finish and covered the course in 1:45 4-5, winning easily. The mile was run in 1:39 4-5 and had the colt been called upon he could have equaled the track record time. Bessie McCarthy finished four lengths in front of Little Scout for second place.

Ada D. Was Defeated.

HOLYOKE, Mass., July 25.—The closing day of the July meeting here proved a bad one for favorites, every race going to an outsider. The sensation of the day was the defeat of Ada D. in the 2:20 pace. The Colonel, owned by Millionaire George Whitney of Lebanon, N. H., had no trouble taking the race in straight heats.

Canadian Won London Prize.

BISLEY, England, July 25.—In the rifle contest J. A. Simpson of Toronto won the Corporation of the City of London prize, given by the city of London, which is open to single entries by Indian and colonial volunteers.

Kanawha Wins Lysistrata Cup.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.—The steam yacht Kanawha, owned by H. H. Rogers, won the race for the Lysistrata cup offered by James Gordon Bennett over a sixty mile course, finishing 4 minutes 48 seconds ahead of the Norna.

Fitzkanet Beat Miss Mae Day.

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—Fitzkanet, with the good price of 5 to 1 against him, won the feature of Delmar's racing. Although he got off last he ran around his field and won very easily from Miss Mae Day, the favorite, in the good time of 1:14.

Southern Foundry Destroyed.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 25.—The Southern Foundry and Machine company's plant was destroyed by a blaze which started in a work room. The total loss is $60,000.

AT SAGAMORE HILL

President Roosevelt Returns From His Equestrian Trip.

USED WESTERN MODE TO SAVE HORSES

Received General Tracy and New Bishop of Cebu and Discussed Condition of the Church In the Philippines.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 25.—President Roosevelt has arrived at Sagamore Hill from Sayville. He left Lotos Lake, the country home of his uncle, Robert G. Roosevelt, at 4 o'clock in the morning, accompanied by his eldest son, Theodore junior, and his two nephews. Their trip consumed seven and a half hours.

President Roosevelt explained that he and his little cavalcade on their return journey had followed a western practice of riding an hour and then walking an hour in order to prevent the horses from suffering from the heat and fatigue. Thus the trip had consumed much more time than was expected. All of the horses were in fine condition when the party arrived at Sagamore Hill.

During the journey the president frequently was greeted by farmers and others whom he passed, and often he stopped to greet them and exchange a few words. It was a ride that appealed strongly to the president as well as to his youthful companions.

The president received General Benjamin F. Tracy, former secretary of the navy, accompanied by the Rev. Thomas Augustine Hendrick of Rochester, N. Y., a recently appointed bishop of the Catholic church. After his consecration, which will occur in Rome soon after the expiration of the stated period of mourning for Pope Leo, Bishop Hendrick will proceed to the Philippine Islands, where he will assume the duties of the bishopric of Cebu.

Bishop Hendrick called on the president to discuss with him conditions in the Philippine Islands, especially those directly affecting the Catholic church. He told the president that it would be the particular effort of the four American bishops appointed recently for service in the Philippines to build up in the archipelago a high class native priesthood. It was the belief of the authorities of the Catholic church, after an exhaustive investigation, that the solution of many problems of both the church and the state in the Philippine Islands was dependent in a great measure on the creation of a native priesthood. During the Spanish regime in the islands every possible obstacle was placed in the way of the education of native Filipines as priests. The Catholic church, as stated by Bishop Hendrick, now will encourage the education of native priests. Seminaries will be established in the islands, both new institutes and old ones re-endowed, and every facility will be accorded natives who desire to study for the priesthood.

In addition the suggestion of Father Edward Vattmann, chaplain of the Twentieth United States infantry, that Filipino priests be brought to this country to complete their education at the Catholic university at Washington and other institutions in this country will be followed. By this means the native Filipino priests will familiarize themselves with American methods and American ideals. The services of such a body of trained priests, it is pointed out, will be of incalculable value not only to the Catholic church, which has to contend with the Aglipay movement, which already includes several hundred thousand Filipino Catholics, but also to the American government in the islands. It can be said that both President Roosevelt and Secretary Root are in hearty sympathy with the proposed effort, because they realize fully its importance to the United States government.

Later Secretary of the Navy Moody arrived at Sagamore Hill on a tug from the Brooklyn navy yard. He came to discuss with the president some departmental matters, including, it is understood, the report respecting the increase of the navy. It is believed that with the approval of the president Secretary Moody will recommend the construction of several additional battle ships and a number of scout ships, vessels of comparatively light draft and great speed.

Colombians Want the Canal.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 25.—A strong reaction in favor of the ratification of the canal treaty seems to be occurring throughout Colombia. From all the principal cities and from Cauca, the largest department of the republic, prominent citizens have telegraphed congress requesting that the treaty be ratified.

Guardsmen Injured on Trolley.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 25.—Nearly forty of the Emmet guards of this city, returning from annual camp duty at South Framingham in a trolley car, were injured in a rear end collision at Northboro. It is not thought any of the injuries will be fatal. Most of them are slight.

Soldiers Die From Heat.

BUDAPEST, July 25.—Advices from Herzegovina say that during a maneuver march of an infantry regiment from Trebinye to Bilek 470 men were the victims of the extraordinary heat, that nineteen died and forty are expected to die.

New York Sick Children at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 25.—The contingent of ten children from the New York Post Graduate hospital sent here to be benefited by the climate have arrived at St. Faith's school, where they will pass the summer.

WILL RUSSIA LEAVE?

Failing to Withdraw Her Forces, Japan Will Act.

OCTOBER TO BE THE TIME LIMIT

Russian Diplomats Say That Their Government, Acting In Good Faith, Will Not Oppose Opening of Ports.

LONDON, July 25.—Japan has decided to observe the plan of waiting and watching Russia advocated by Great Britain. In the meantime she will urge China to carry out the assurances given to the United States respecting Manchuria and will endeavor to obtain the opening of additional ports.

Japan intends to do nothing till October, when the final evacuation of Manchuria must occur. The failure of Russia to withdraw from Manchuria would be followed by a serious move on the part of Japan.

The Russian embassy here regrets the confusion which has arisen in consequence of the publication of the report that Prince Ching, head of the Chinese foreign office, had written to Minister Conger, refusing to open ports in Manchuria. The Russian officials believe, with Washington, that the note was sent before China gave her assurances, and they assert positively that Russia intends to carry out to the letter the assurances she has given and that she will not interpose obstacles in the way of China observing her pledge to Secretary Hay.

The attitude of Japan and the warlike tone of the majority of the Japanese press have attracted much attention in official circles here. It is declared by the best informed people that there is no likelihood of war, certainly not upon Russia's initiative. It is stated that Russia has every motive for desiring peace, chiefly for financial reasons, with which is wound up a desire for extensive domestic reforms which the government considers to be the most efficacious manner of disarming internal discontent.

It is believed to be impossible from the Russian viewpoint for Japan to embark in a contest with Russia single handed, and it is not thought she will secure the material support of Great Britain or the United States. Nevertheless, Russia is taking every precaution to strengthen her military and naval position in the orient, believing this to be the surest means of discouraging Japanese aggression.

Church Ownership In Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 25.—All the municipal rights in the church buildings at Guayama, Arroyo and Salinas have been ceded by the municipal authorities of those towns to the Catholic church. The question of the ownership of the Catholic church buildings has been disputed ever since the United States took over the island, Spain under the old regime claiming title to the edifices, which, however, were maintained out of the municipal funds. The action taken by the municipal authorities of these three towns follows the lines recommended by Governor Hunt, and it is believed that the same policy will prevail throughout the island, thus settling this disturbing question.

To Make Naval Service Attractive.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—With a view to making the naval service as attractive as possible to enlisted men and lessening visits to dives and desertions the navigation bureau is now working on a scheme for the establishment of recreation halls and grounds in navy yards and stations. One of the most complete projects so far unfolded within reasonable price came from the Norfolk navy yard. This plan makes provision for a football grounds, baseball diamond, grandstand, cinder track, swimming pool, a recreation hall costing $25,000, with gymnasium and library, dance hall and smoking room.

Fitzsimmons-Gifford Wedding.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Robert Fitzsimmons, actor and pugilist, has been granted a license to marry Julia May Gifford, the actress. The ceremony will take place today at Miss Gifford's hotel. Fitzsimmons gave his age as forty-one and that of the prospective bride as twenty-three.

Girl's Death Being Investigated.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., July 25.—The death of Alice Fox under peculiar circumstances in a doctor's office on Tuesday is being investigated by the district attorney's office. Coroner Tarbell refused to divulge what the autopsy developed, and it is probable that an inquest will be held.

Moranne and Mas Were Not Seen.

PARIS, July 25.—Five witnesses examined in connection with the Fair will case declared that they had not seen Moranne and Mas, the cyclists who testified in New York that they were the only witnesses of the tragedy or near the scene of the accident.

Forger Sentenced In London.

LONDON, July 25.—W. E. Ashton, describing himself as an American journalist and author, convicted of forging checks for $2,000 in the name of Laird, Scholes & Co. of Philadelphia, has been sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

Sentence Said to Be Dismissal.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The case of Assistant Paymaster Delane, court martialed for financial irregularities, has gone to the president, and it is understood the sentence is dismissal.

Old Lighthouse Keeper Dead.

OSWEGO, N. Y., July 25.—Captain George Greenfield, for fifteen years lighthouse keeper at this port and for twenty years previous a well known lake vessel captain, has died of paralysis, aged seventy years.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Decrease In Labor Disputes.

NEW YORK, July 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The tenor of dispatches from nearly every section of the country indicates that there is less than the customary midsummer dullness in business, and collections are more prompt than usual. These facts alone should stimulate confidence as to the future, irrespective of the fully average outlook for crops and gradually decreasing labor disputes. A large proportion of the unions have signed a working agreement with the employers in the building trades of this city, and fully half the men have returned to work. This method of operation promises immunity from many delays and expensive struggles in the future. As yet no traffic congestion is reported, but blockades are anticipated when grain begins to come forward freely.

Earnings of railways reported for July exceed last year's by 12.9 per cent and those of 1901 by 24.1 per cent. Farm work still retards retail distribution of merchandise in western sections. Chicago reports trade very active for the season and manufacturing industries crowded with orders. Clothing sales have surpassed last year's at Baltimore and payments are unusually prompt. Woolen mills and shoe shops are busy at Boston, but Fall River spinners curtail output. Wool is firm at Philadelphia, and clothing manufacturers are well employed.

Foreign trade at this port for the past week shows a gain of $2,569,209 in value of imports as compared with the same week last year, while exports decreased $502,022. Wall street was again badly demoralized, many securities reaching new low records. Loans were called, and the liquidation was forced. Bank exchanges at New York for the week fell 13.9 per cent below last year's and 6.1 per cent below 1901, while at the other leading cities there were gains of 9.3 and 18.4 per cent, respectively.

Weather returns for the week show better than average progress, and confidence in the grain yield grows stronger. Prices tend downward as a rule for the leading cereals, with less than the customary speculative opposition. Quotations still appear to be above the views of many foreign consumers, yet export inquiries increase, and there is expectation of a free outgo later in the season. Compared with the exports a year ago, there appears a striking decrease for the week, wheat and flour being shipped to the extent of only 2,767,782 bushels against 3,045,518 bushels last year. Still more noticeable is the decrease in western receipts to 3,053,450 bushels from an aggregate of 6,645,451 bushels a year ago. Arrivals of corn were more nearly maintained, 2,601,880 bushels comparing with 2,800,945, while 1,371,783 bushels were exported against 46,191 bushels last year.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for July amount to $7,308,973, of which $4,358,177 were in manufacturing, $2,391,348 in trading and $559,448 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 191 in the United States against 208 a year ago and 19 in Canada compared with 17 last year.

Ferdinand's Flight Denied.

VIENNA, July 25.—The report that a revolution had broken out in Bulgaria and that Prince Ferdinand had fled are semiofficially characterized here as unfounded. It is explained that tomorrow is the anniversary of the death of Prince Ferdinand's father and that the immediate object of his present journey is to visit his grave at Coburn, which is Prince Ferdinand's annual custom. It is said that the rumors of the prince's flight have some basis and that it is probable he has left the country till the existing excitement subsides.

Nolan Was Acquitted.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Pugilist Walter R. Nolan, who three years ago was a prominent aspirant for the welter weight championship, was acquitted of the murder of Robert Warke, a one armed switchman. The killing of Warke followed the acquittal of one of Nolan's friends who had been on trial for murder. Nolan and others while celebrating encountered Warke, whom they commanded to cheer. Warke refused, and Nolan, it was charged, shot the switchman dead.

Three Burned In a Brewery Vat.

BUTLER, Pa., July 25.—Julius Finn and George Friel of this city and Amile Yost of 445 West Thirty-seventh street, New York, were perhaps fatally burned in an explosion at the Butler brewery. The men were painting the interior of a stock vat in the cellar of the brewery. The glass bulb of an electric light was broken, igniting the vapors in the vat, and the men's clothes caught fire.

Russia to Catch Salmon.

TACOMA, Wash., July 25.—With cheap labor and no restrictions, the Russians, it is announced, are preparing to engage in salmon fishing on the Siberian coast on a large scale. They will be sharp competitors for the trade now controlled by the Alaskan salmon canneries. The canneries will be established at Pankara and Barankroff bays, on the Siberian coast.

Rabies In Montgomery.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 25.—The state board of health has taken stringent measures to suppress the alarming spread of rabies among horses and cattle in the town of Montgomery. Cattle are still dying there. It has been ordered that all the dogs in the town shall be muzzled or confined.

WALL STREET FAILURES.

F. J. Taylor and W. L. Stow & Co. Suspend.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The failure of Talbot J. Taylor & Co. has been announced on the Stock Exchange. Talbot J. Taylor is a son-in-law of James R. Keene.

W. L. Stow & Co. also announced their failure on the Stock Exchange. They were interested in a pool in Mexican Central.

It was a veritable "Black Friday," and, although the market rallied very decidedly at the close and the general situation in the minds of some was much improved, a great many persons having interests in the street went home in anything but a cheerful frame of mind.

It was freely predicted that trouble even more serious was impending. From trustworthy sources it was learned that three or more commission houses had been "squeezed" almost to the bursting point.

The best information is that the insolvent firms had comparatively few outstanding commitments, and these, it is believed, were settled privately on the floor.

Shot Women From Ambush.

LAKE CITY, Colo., July 25.—Mrs. Anna Bailey and Mrs. Mary Woods were shot from ambush about a mile from town when returning from Lake Shore. Mrs. Bailey is mortally wounded, and Mrs. Woods is in a serious condition. The assassin, who was concealed among rocks on the mountain side, fired a charge of buckshot at the women as they drove past. The charge struck Mrs. Bailey on the side of the face, neck and shoulders, cutting her windpipe, tearing away part of her nose and destroying one eye. Many of the pellets penetrated Mrs. Woods' body. The shooting caused the horse to run away, and both women were thrown out of the buggy, receiving further injuries. Mrs. Woods' husband, who had quarreled with her, has been arrested and is being held for investigation.

Missing Cashier Arrested.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 25.—Oliver T. Sherwood, the missing cashier of the Southport (Conn.) National bank, who is charged with embezzling the funds of that institution, was arrested here upon the request of United States Consul Gudger. He has agreed to return to the United States on the ship sailing next Tuesday and will be accompanied by the detective who discovered him here. Had he refused to return it would have been necessary to send extradition papers to Bogota, and the alleged embezzler would have been obliged to remain here in a very uncomfortable jail for at least four months. From Canada Sherwood went to Bocas del Toro, Colombia, where he posed as a physician, and here also he had patients under treatment. His office was in the most central part of the city.

Vesuvius a Magnificent Sight.

ROME, July 25.—Mount Vesuvius, which for some time has been moderately eruptive, has grown more active during the last few days. Lava from the crater has overflowed to the extent of 750 feet, but is confined to the upper part of the mountain, as it cools and its movement grows slower as it flows down. It leaves the crater in one stream about 250 feet wide and then divides into small rivulets. At night the eruption presents a magnificent spectacle, as burning showers are emitted which rise to a great height. The authorities say there is no danger and that the eruption is unimportant.

Boy's Body Found Mutilated.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Andrew Sipperly of 1168 Hoe avenue found the body of a boy without head and arms floating off Oak point. The boy was about seven years old, three feet tall and weighed seventy pounds. There was no shirt on the body. The propeller of some boat, the police think, mutilated the body.

HIS RESTING PLACE

The Body of Leo to Be Buried In St. Peter's Tonight.

COTTI MAY BE THE NEW PONTIFF

Final Interment Will Be at St. John Lateran—The Conclave of Cardinals Will Assemble on Aug. 1.

ROME, July 25.—The body of Leo XIII. lay in state in the basilica of St. Peter's while about 30,000 people passed before the catafalque. This is probably a slight increase over the number who viewed the remains on any previous day, and the augmentation was doubtless due to the widely circulated reports that this would be the last occasion upon which the public would have an opportunity of looking upon the body of the beloved pontiff. The fears expressed by the Vatican authorities concerning decomposition appear to have been exaggerated.

With impressive ceremonies the body will be interred tonight in a sarcophagus at St. Peter's, where it will remain until taken to its final resting place in the Church of St. John Lateran. Italian soldiers again preserved order inside St. Peter's, where there is a repetition of the scene and crowd which have occurred since the body has been lying in state.

The day was notable for the solemn masses celebrated for the repose of the soul of the late pontiff at St. Peter's.

Interest is now largely engrossed with the coming conclave and its result. The gossip of the day may be summed up briefly by saying that Cardinal Gotti's chances of election seem to have improved in comparison with those of other cardinals who have been mentioned as likely to succeed the dead pontiff, although there still exists a strong feeling that some one hitherto scarcely talked of may wear the tiara.

Much comment was excited at the Vatican by a drive which Cardinal Oreglia took through the Vatican gardens. The workers in the more quiet precincts of the gardens were startled when they saw the well known papal carriage approaching surrounded by Swiss and noble guards. Their hearts jumped as they saw the face of the cardinal looking out at them. The camerlingo did not appear to be satisfied with what he saw. He shook his head, exclaiming dismally:

"What decay! What neglect! I could not remain shut up in this melancholy place. I should die in a year."

The gossips of the Vatican now wish to know if this meant that the cardinal would not accept the papacy, which seems practically impossible, or, accepting, would refuse to be the voluntary, traditional Vatican prisoner. It seems that the more probable interpretation of his remarks would be that, if made pope, he would institute changes.

The congregation of cardinals has not yet decided whether the note which the sacred college intends to address to the powers concerning the situation of the papacy at Rome shall be presented when the reception of the diplomatic body occurs. The diplomatists accredited to the holy see will be presented by M. Martins d'Antas, the minister from Portugal, who is dean of the corps. Mgr. Merry del Val will reply as acting secretary of state.

At the meeting of the congregation Cardinal Satolli asked when the conclave would be opened. Cardinal Oreglia replied that he thought that on the evening of Friday, the 31st, all the cardinals might enter their cells and be ready for the first meeting of the conclave Aug. 1.

Mgr. Farabulini, the famous Latinist, whom Gladstone often consulted and of whom the German emperor requested advice concerning Latin, has been selected to write the oratio brevis, the Latin eulogy, upon the late pontiff, which will be buried with him.

The congregation also heard the secret reports received from the nuncios at Vienna, Paris, Munich and Madrid. It approved the charity bequeathed by Leo to the poor.

The Italia sees alleged confirmation of the story that Cardinal Gibbons had succeeded in transforming Cardinal Richard, the archbishop of Paris, into an opponent of Cardinal Rampolla in the alleged fact that Cardinal Gibbons did not leave Cardinal Richard while in Paris, that they left together for Rome, traveled together and will lodge together at the house of the order of St. Sulpice. As a matter of fact only the statement that they will lodge together is true. It is known that they did not start for Rome together. Cardinal Richard is coming via Modane and Cardinal Gibbons via St. Gothard pass. The latter is expected here tomorrow.

Cardinal Oreglia is increasing in favor daily, even in government circles, where it is remembered that it was through his efforts that the propaganda of the Vatican adhered to the request of the Italian government to establish an apostolic prefecture in Erithrea.

The report that Mgr. D. J. O'Connell, rector of the Catholic university at Washington, was obliged to leave Rome on account of his electioneering for Cardinal Gibbons is pronounced absolutely untrue.

The Socialist paper Avanti, having published a story to the effect that Leo XIII., while archbishop of Perugia, had had too intimate relations with the Countess Gallapa, a married woman, the latter has brought suit against the paper for libel.

The attitude of the Avanti toward the Vatican is shown by the fact that on the day following the pope's death the only discordant note in the eulogies of the Roman papers was struck by that organ, which said:

"We Socialists, without disdain, but with indifference, pass before this corpse and await the new enemy."

When the dust comes blowing in the doors and windows, it is time for Mr. Keeley to bear in mind the sad refrain "The water wagon is the place for me."

It is costing the people of Trenton $50,000 to place wires underground. There have been some underground wires at Trenton which have cost the State more.

Don't forget there is a baby camp on the mountain where little ones are made happy during the season. It costs money to run the institution and consequently the City Union of King's Daughters will be glad to receive contributions.

War is declared between the people of Somerville and the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company and the fight promises to be a lively one. At present the trolley people are on the aggressive, but it remains to be seen whether the company or the people constitute the higher power.

Don't let anyone tell you how to vote at the special election in September. When it comes to a question of amending the State Constitution the voter should decide according to his judgment and party affairs should be forgotten. It is the duty of the voter to thoroughly aquaint himself with the provisions of the amendments, so that he may vote intelligently.

Attention has been called to the large number of heavy trucks, carts and wagons of all sorts that are permitted to congregate on East Second street and to remain there for indefinite periods at the will of the drivers. The matter has been commented upon particularly from the fact of the location of fire headquarters in the centre of the street.

Judging from the length of time some of the trucks are allowed to stand on the street, it looks as though the owners are making it a convenience—using it, in fact, for a stable. Some of the drivers allow their horses to stand in one spot as long as from 10 in the morning until 2 in the afternoon, and they do it day after day. Further and most important point of all they neglect to tie their horses.

At times during the day, there are from twenty to forty horses lined up along East Second street with nine out of every ten unhitched. Unless the practise is stopped, there will be an awakening some day, and it will be a rude one.

It needs only a word to indicate the danger. A sudden alarm of fire, the plunging of the fire horses out of the station, the clanging of the gong, and about half of the horses would be all over the road. Even if the animals did not move, there would be hardly room enough for the fire horses to make the turn into the road and up the street without a collision resulting.

Miss Daisy Conover, of Pittstown, is visiting relatives in Plainfield for a few days.

Fred Rapp and Henry Kinast, of Newark, were entertained yesterday by the former's cousin, Charles Schanz, of Park avenue.

Then There Is Mention of Some of the Things That Are Yet to Come.

—Tier's ice cream is well known for its purity. It makes are freshing, cool and tasty desert for Sunday dinner. All flavors are to be had, including vanila, chocolate, strawberry, raspberry, Neapolitan and Harlequin.

—Harry A. Connett, of East Fifth street, has resigned his position at the Richmond street freight house. He has been in the employ of the Central Railroad for seventeen years. He is to take up his residence in New York city.

—Several members of Camp Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., and Nathan Hale Society, G. A. R., of Somerville, enjoyed a trip to West Point this week. They were the guests of the commandant at the Military College.

—H. H. Kingston, General Traffic Manager having resigned to engage in other business, that office is abolished by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. The general passenger agent and the general freight agent will report to the second vice president.

—President George F. Baer, of the Reading Railroad, was a recent visitor to Duke's farm at Raritan. While there he had a conference with James B. Duke regarding the location of sidings to the extensive farms of the wealthy Somerset county resident.

—The whistles about town that proclaim the hours of 12 and 5 have been blowing ahead of time for the past few days. According to Western Union time, they have sounded about a minute and twenty seconds before they should. The trouble probably lies in the fact that something has been wrong with the wires.

—Patrolman John Huff made one of his record shots Thursday evening when he killed a horse belonging to Henry Roffburg, of East Third and Richmond streets. The animal was suffering from lockjaw caused by "black water" in the feet. Some time ago a large nail became wedged in the hoof and the horse became poisoned and defied medical attention.

PERSONAL.

Patrolman Arthur McGinley and Maurice Higgins left for ten days vacation yesterday.

Isaac Schwed, of Fairview avenue, left yesterday afternoon for a vacation trip to in the Adrondacks.

Mrs. Keep from out of town is visiting at the home of her brother, H. P. Reynolds, of Washington avenue.

Raymond P. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, has returned from a visit at the home of friends in New York.

Mrs. Wm. E. Dunn, of Norwood avenue, has returned from an extended stay at the West End, Asbury Park.

Mrs. Eli Long and family, of Grove street, have gone to Penn Yan, N. Y., to spend the remainder of the summer.

Miss Carrie Mehl, of West Second street, has returned from Cairo, N. Y., where she has been visiting at the home of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chandler, of Somerset street, have returned from Asbury Park, where they have been stopping for a short time.

To the Shore.

Fair weather has thus far smiled on the Sunday-school excursions from this city to the shore, and it surely can be expected that when the Trinity Reformed Church and Marconnier Chapel Sunday-schools go to Asbury Park, Thursday, July 30, that the day will be fine. However, the excursion will go rain or shine and on the return the train does not leave the shore until 7 o'clock.

Payment Received.

Matthias O. Mitchell, of this city, a twin brother to George Mitchell, of Somerville, has received $1,000 from the Prudential Insurance Company, on an overlapsed policy which he upheld for twenty consecutive years. The brother received a check for a similar amount.

Invitations Out.

The invitations have been issued for the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the new court house at Elizabeth on Thursday. They are extended by Capt. J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, director of the Board of Freeholders.

WASH GOODS AT CUT PRICES.

The time has come to close out all our Wash Goods. We want to make the closing-out process quick and effective. We have made prices low enough to accomplish the desired result. It is for you to profit by the following reductions:

At 15c—"Suisse Plumetis," a beautiful Embroidered Muslin, remarkably effective for Summer Costumes. Former price was 25c.

At 15c—Heavy Cotton Shepherds Plaids of Black and White. Quite as effective as the wool goods at 1.00 yard.

The Special White Goods are selling rapidly. We have only a few of the 10c ones left. At 15, 20 and 25c we still have a good assortment. All of these are sample pieces at ⅓ regular prices.

At 10c—All over 15c Aureole Batistes. Fine sheer goods in excellent patterns. A fair assortment left.

At 19c—Our 25c Egyptian Tissues. Too well known to need comment.

At 25c—All our 50c Silk Ginghams, of which we have remarkably pretty styles. These goods wash and wear well and are the best value in Wash Goods we offer.

INVISIBLE LACING CORSETS—Now being demonstrated at our Corset Department. These corsets are marvels of beauty and comfort. No eyelets to rust, silk lacings only used, guaranteed not to break, no lacings inside to annoy wearer, no lacings to show through the lightest fabric. Price—1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00 and 2.50.

HUNTING FOR PEARLS

New Industry of Upper Mississippi and Its Branches.

Fresh Water Specimens Formerly Considered Worthless But More Recently Have Made "Clammers" Rich.

"Clammers," lucky and unlucky ones, of former seasons together with numerous recruits, are once more busy along the upper Mississippi and its tributaries, seeking in muddy waters the fortune for which they have not in other callings been able to claim as their own. At the first sign of the spring thaw they left the towns which are their winter headquarters and took up their abode near the clam beds. Clamming is one of the new industries of the northwest. It was only a little over a dozen years ago that some fisher men on the Sugar river, a Wisconsin stream, discovered that fresh water clams contained pearls. These were pretty, but considered of little or no value. They were merely curios prized by the finder, but without a market value. After a time, however, a few came to the attention of a jewelry firm in Milwaukee who had the hardihood to invest considerable money buying up the specimens the firm considered of value. About this time occurred the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago, and here the general public was first introduced to the fresh water pearl. The finest of the pearls on exhibition brought $250. That pearl cannot now be purchased for six times that price. Since then much larger and better pearls have been found. One is at this moment being held by a certain firm of jewelers for the sum of $20,000.

It is with the hope of finding such pearls that the clammers start out each season to their work. And the work that is required of the pearl fisher certainly needs the promise of a large reward. The fisherman starts out in the morning in a flat-bottomed scow-like appearing boat and rows up river to the clam bed. He generally lives not far away either in a tent on shore, or in a houseboat. Arriving at the clam bed he drops one of the two "drags" which he carries. These drags are long bars to which are attached short strings or chains which carry the hooks. By means of a sort of under-water sail the clammer obtains sufficient power to propel his boat and drag the hooks over the river bottom. The clams lie with their mouths to the current and simply allow ttheir food to float to them. With everything else that comes their way they close with a life-and-death grip on the hooks of the pearl fishers. Especially fine catches are made when the water is muddy after a hard rain, for those are the days when the clams bite most freely. When it is thought that enough clams have been taken on the hooks the drag is lifted and placed on a stanchion on one side of the boat. From a similar stanchion on the other side of the most the other drag is taken and the process is repeated.

The clammer's afternoon is usually spent in camp at the extremely disagreeable task of "boiling out." The clams are placed in water in a tank. Then a fire is kept underneath long enough to cook the meat so that it will drop out of the shell. Then the clams are shoveled onto a table where the search for pearls and the grading of the shells begins. The luck comes when a good pearl is found, but the fisherman is sensible enough to get his living from the surer profit that comes out of the shells, of which there are some 50 varieties. These are made into pearl buttons and bring from $15 to $20 a ton.

When a fisherman is lucky enough to find his pearl he must be shrewd enough to know its value. Buyers ply their trade right on the scene of the fishing, and it is related that one pearl fisher sold for a paltry three dollars a gem that afterwards was sold for $1,200. The fact is that there is a fortune in pearl fishing not only for the lucky and hard-working finder, but also for the judicious buyer.

RIDING A BUCKING STEER.

Called by One Who Knows More Difficult Than Sticking on a Bucking Broncho.

"A bucking broncho," said the retired cowboy, according to the Chicago Inter Ocean, "is generally considered the hardest proposition to ride in this land, but until a man has tackled a bucking steer he has not realized all the possibilities of the gentle art.

"Out in the cow country they have just begun to learn the art, and it is really an art. None of the wild west shows has yet got hold of the few fellows who have mastered the straddle and seat, and until they do their congresses of rough riders will not be complete.

"You can cinch a horse up until there is little possibility of the saddle's slipping, but it can't be done on a steer.

"The steer-riding fad had its start down in Texas, where the animals are wild enough to suit even the most exacting cowpuncher, and it is now being introduced farther north. A puncher's playtime is often long enough to give him a chance for such experiments, and some of the more skillful have got it down to a fine point.

"But the hombre who thinks it is an easy task to stick to a wild boy who knows enough to do the grand buck and pitch is down for an experience he will carry in his book of remembrance for a long time."

STOLE THE WRONG BAG.

Sad Ending to the Romance of a Young Eskimo Who Loved His Enemy's Daughter.

The duke of the Abruzzi has brought back with him from his polar expedition a number of Eskimo stories, reports the New York Tribune.

One of these concerns a young Eskimo who loved the daughter of an enemy. The two huts of these persons were close together, but one night the terrific cold ripped a great crevasse in the ice, and the young man's house was left isolated.

A gorge 100 feet deep and 20 feet wide separated it from the igloo, or hut, containing the girl, but there was a narrow bridge of ice left across the crevasse, and this, the young man found, would bear his weight.

Eskimos sleep in bags. The lover decided that he would that night cross the ice bridge, steal the maiden he loved bear her to his hut, and then break down the bridge, so that he and she together might enjoy their honeymoon unmolested.

He planned very successfully. He crept, in the dead of night, into his enemy's hut; he snatched up the maiden in her sack without awaking anyone; he bore her over the ice bridge safely, and then he opened the sack to embrace his bride. But, beholding its contents, he gave a loud cry. It was not the maiden, but her father that he had stolen.

PLANT WITH DEADLY ODOR.

Sumatra and Java Have Vegetable Products That Disseminate Death.

There are criminals among plants as well as among animals and human beings. Those that have the most sinister reputation are known as death plants, which are found only in the volcanic districts of Java and Sumatra, says Nature. The plant's appearance quite belies its name, for it is really very attractive, being a low growing shrub with long thorny stems covered with beautiful broad leaves. The upper surface of these leaves is a vivid emerald, while the lower surface is a brilliant scarlet. The flowers are great white bell-shaped blossoms, which exhale a sweet and deadly perfume.

The death plant grows in the most fertile spots, but all about it the ground becomes barren of vegetation and neither bird nor beast may come within a wide radius of it. They know better, but rash man, with no warning instinct to guide him, will occasionally linger too long in its vicinity, enchanted by its delicious and heavy fragrance, until he experiences the distressing effects of his imprudence—a blinding headache, which, if he still remains, will be followed by temporary deafness, convulsions of muscles of the face and insensibility.

Right of the Reel.

A negro preacher down south has discovered the real cause of the recent volcanic disasters. He says: "De earf, my friends, resolves on axels, as we all know. Somefin' is needed to keep the axels greased; so when de earf was made, petrolyum was put inside for dat purpose. De Standard Oil comp'ny comes along an' strax dat petrolyum by borin' holes in de earf. De earf stix on its axels an' won't go round no more; den dere is a hot box, just as ef de earf wuz a big railway train—and den, my frien', dere is trouble.

International Hen Meet.

An egg-laying contest will be the next international event. Twenty-one of the best hens in this country lately sailed from San Francisco, to compete for a year with an equal number of Australian hens. The Australian government paid the traveling expenses of the American poultry, and at the end of the year will buy six of the hens at $25 apiece. The others will be disposed of by public auction.

Wonderful Burden Bearer.

The cargador, or carrier, of Mexico is a remarkable individual. Nothing seems too bulky, nothing too heavy for him to carry, and it is wonderful how he manages not only to lift, but to balance his cumbersome loads.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

Yellows, Scarlets and Pinks Modish. The Useful Cape Collars.

The wide collar is a boon to amateur dressmakers, for it covers up a multitude of sins.

Challies in quaint pompadour designs make up charmingly and are very useful for cool evenings.

The parasol of the moment is most attractive, with its long handle a la Pompadour, very often incrusted with gems and its chine silk inserted with medallions of lace. The simplest parasol of all has a plain silk cover with rows of ribbon woven in black on a light ground in graduated widths and a long, plain colored handle.

Foulard, the old fashioned fabric, has given way to voiles and a still softer make of silk. For dull days cloths trimmed with taffeta as well as a firmer make of canvas and spotted voile are greatly to the fore.

There is a growing tendency toward brighter tints, especially in a soft make of cloth. Scarlet still carries the day, and yellows, pinks and brilliant blues are all tremendously in request.

A wrinkle now resorted to by all the leading blouse specialists is a chiffon veiling to silk underslips, not the costly and hot taffetas of heretofore, but good washing quality, the chiffon lending a soft appearance to any lace that may be inset, while it enhances to an immense extent the value of a muslin blouse.

The picture shows a walking costume of gray. The hat is of white with a scarlet feather.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

MILLINERY MODES.

The Indispensable French Sailor. Some Dressy Hats.

The French sailor is indispensable to the smart woman's wardrobe. The prettiest this year is of rough yellow straw trimmed simply with a wreath of foliage or velvet balls.

Hats of ecru straw are often simply trimmed with an application of coarse lace with ends hanging on one side.

The new tailor made hat tilts up in front and fits closely at the back and sides. It is trimmed only with loops and knots of ribbon.

For dressy wear nothing can equal a hat of white tulle trimmed with a single ostrich plume, although rough straw also looks well for the same purpose.

The ever useful toque of black straw is relieved by the pompon or nigret of black and white and black rough straw. French sailors are tastefully trimmed with blackberries and their shaded foliage.

A SAILOR SHAPE

The transparent hat of lace is not seen so much this year, and the stiff shapes of straw seem to have the preference over millinery made of more fancy materials.

The advent of colored hosiery cannot fail to have been remarked, several shades of dark blue and some amazingly pretty reds, spotted and clocked with black, predominating. There is a rumor that these will be worn with white shoes. White shoes at best are a doubtful acquisition, their one saving grace being found in white silk or lace hosiery. The colored fancy, though, is reasonable with the walking suit provided they are privileged to find completion in neat black French kid or patent leather shoes. Nor is the notion of all unpleasing of colored hosiery worn with white frocks, these perchance repeating the tone of some trifle in the hat.

The chic sailor shape in the illustration is trimmed with two shades of teal and pink roses.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

"Yes, that pouch brought in by Capt. Blake had contained matter too weighty for one woman, wise as she was, to keep to herself. Mrs. Blake, with her husband's full consent, had summoned Mrs. Ray, soon after his departure on the trail of Webb, and told her of the strange discovery. They promptly decided there was only one thing to do with the letter—hand or send it, unopened, to Miss Flower. Then, as Blake had no time to examine further, they decided to search the pouch. There might be more letters in the same superscription.

But there were not. The first one they had already decided should go to Miss Flower. The others, they thought, should be handed unopened to the commanding officer. They might contain important information, now that the Sioux were at war, and that Ralph Moreau had turned out probably to be a real personage. But first they would consult Mrs. Dade. They had done so the very evening of Blake's departure, even as he, long miles away, was telling Kennedy his Irish heart was safe from the designs of one blood-thirsty Sioux; and Mrs. Dade had agreed with them that Nanette's letter should be sent to her forthwith, and that, as Capt. Blake had brought it in, the duty of returning the letter devolved upon his wife.

And so, after much thought and consultation, a little note was written, saying nothing about the other contents of the pouch itself. "Dear Miss Flower:" it read. "The enclosed was found by Capt. Blake some time this morning. He had no time to deliver it in person. Yours sincerely. N. B. Blake."

Note and enclosure were sent first thing next morning by the trusty hand of Master Sanford Ray, himself, and by him delivered in person to Miss Flower, who met him at the trader's gate. She took it, he said, and smiled, and thanked him charmingly before she opened it. She was coming out for her customary walk at the hour of guard mounting, but the next thing he knew she had "scooted" indoors again.

And from that moment Miss Flower had not been seen.

All this was Mrs. Dade revolving in mind as she walked pityingly by the side of the troubled woman, only vaguely listening to her flow of words. They had thought to be admitted to the little room in which the wounded officer lay, but as they tiptoed into the wide, airy hall, and looked over the long vista of pink-striped coverlets in the big ward beyond, the doctor himself appeared at the entrance and barred the way.

"Is there nothing we can do?" asked Mrs. Dade, with tears in her voice. "Is he—so much worse?"

"Nothing can be done just now," answered Waller, gravely. "He has had high fever during the night—has been wakeful and flighty again. I—should rather no one entered just now."

And then they noted that even the steward who had been with poor Field was now hovering about the door of the dispensary and that only Dr. Waller remained within the room. "I am hoping to get him to sleep again presently," said he. "And when he is mending there will be a host of things for you both to do."

But that mending seemed many a day off, and Mrs. Hay, poor woman, had graver cares of her own before the setting sun. Avoiding the possibility of meeting the general just now, and finding Mrs. Dade both silent and constrained at mention of her niece's name, the trader's wife went straight homeward from the hospital, and did not even see the post commander hurrying from his office, with an open dispatch in his hand. But by this time the chief and his faithful aide were out on the veranda, surrounded by anxious wives and daughters, many of whom had been earnestly bothering the doctor at the hospital before going to breakfast. Dade much wished them away, though the news brought in by night riders was both stirring and cheery. The Indians had flitted away from Webb's front, and he counted on reaching and rescuing the Dry Fork party within six hours from the time the courier started. They might expect the good news during the afternoon of Thursday. Scouts and flankers reported finding "travois" and pony tracks leading westward from the scene of Ray's fierce battle, indicating that the Indians had carried their dead and wounded into the fastnesses of the southern slopes of the Big Horn, and that their punishment had been heavy. Among the chiefs killed or seriously wounded was this new, vehement leader whom Capts. Blake and Ray thought might be Red Fox, who was so truculent at the Black Hills conference the previous year. Certain of the men, however, who had seen Red Fox at that time expressed doubts. Lieut. Field, said Webb, had seen him, and could probably say.

Over this dispatch the general pondered gravely. "From what I know of Red Fox," said he, "I should think him a leader of the Sitting Bull type—a shrewd, intriguing, mischief-making fellow, a sort of Sioux walking delegate, not a battle leader, but according to Blake and Ray this new man is a fighter."

Then Mrs. Dade came out and bore the general off to breakfast, and during breakfast the chief was much preoccupied. Mrs. Dade and an aide-de-camp chatted on social matters. The general exchanged an occasional word with his host and his hostess, and finally surprised neither of them, when breakfast was over and he had consumed the last of his glass of hot water, by saying to his staff officer: "I should like to see Mrs. Hay a few minutes, if possible. We'll walk round there first. Then—let the team be ready at ten o'clock."

But the team, although ready, did not start northward at ten, and the general, though he saw Mrs. Hay, had no speech with her upon the important matters uppermost in his mind during the earlier hours of the day. He found that good lady in a state of wild excitement and alarm. One of the two outriders who had started with her husband and niece at dawn was mounted on a dun-colored pony, with white face and feet. One of the two troopers sent by Dade to overtake and bring them back, was turning a blown and exhausted horse over to the care of Hay's stablemen, as he briefly told his story to the wild-eyed, well-nigh distracted woman. Six miles up stream, he said, they had come suddenly upon a dun-colored cow pony, dead in his tracks, with white feet in air and white muzzle bathed in blood; bridle, saddle and rider gone; signs of struggle in places; no signs of the party, the team and wagons anywhere.

"And no cavalry to send out after them!" said Dade, when he reached the spot. Old Crabb was called at once, and mustered four semi-invalid troopers. The infantry supplied half a dozen stout riders, and, with a mixed escort, the general, accompanied by Dade and an aide-de-camp, drove swiftly to the scene. Six miles away they found the dead pony. Seven miles away they encountered the second trooper, coming back. He had followed the trail of the four-mule team as far as yonder point, he said, and there he was met by half a dozen shots from unseen foe, and so rode back out of range. But Dade threw his men forward as skirmishers; found no living soul either at the point or on the banks of the rocky ford beyond; but, in the shallows, close to the shore, lay the body of the second outrider, shot and scalped. In a clump of willows lay another body, that of a pinto pony, hardly cold, while the soft, sandy shores were cut by dozens of hoof tracks—shoeless. The tracks of the mules and wagon lay straight away across the stream bed—up the opposite bank and out on the northward-sweeping bench beyond. Hay's famous four, and well-known wagon, contents and all, therefore, had been spirited away, not toward the haunts of the road agents in the mountains of the Medicine Bow, but to those of the sovereign Sioux in the fastnesses of the storied Big Horn.

Jackals in India.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $50 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get fair and square treatment. Second, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, leave word and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

NEW ENGLAND THRIFT.

Careful Management Is a Part of the Temperament of the Massachusetts People.

The proportion of men and women who retire on small competencies is doubtless greater in Massachusetts than in any other state in the union, unless it be Pennsylvania, which is the other state of Dr. Benjamin Franklin's residence. But a man who has even the most robust respect for the thrift of the people of Massachusetts must be surprised to learn from the report of the state's bureau of labor statistics that there are more than 45,000 such persons—28,000 men and 17,000 women. Two-thirds of them are native-born, too. The making of such an investigation was characteristic of Massachusetts, says World's Work.

But it tells volumes about the careful management that is part of the New England temperament. The New Englander studiously saves and he invests prudently, and when old age comes, or he has a wish to rest, he is willing to stop work and to adjust his life to his income; and he generally leaves a legacy also to his children. Anyone who has lived in different parts of the United States has had many occasions to observe what this official report confirms—that the native New Englander has learned the art of living considerably below his income better than any other man among us.

WANTED HIS CLIENT HELD.

Lawyer Who Defended a Hard Case Was Afraid He Might Meet Him on the Road.

Almost any lawyer will undertake the defense of a prisoner accused of crime and will use his best endeavors to secure his acquittal. Assistant District Attorney Osborn, of New York, tells of a North Carolina attorney who was practicing in a backwoods mountain district.

While he was waiting for his case to be reached the trial of a notorious highway robber who had been caught red-handed was called. The prisoner had no counsel and the presiding judge requested the distinguished lawyer to defend him. The trial lasted two days and to the court's astonishment the jury returned a verdict of acquittal. As the prisoner was about to be discharged the lawyer stepped up to the judge and requested a few words in private.

"What is it?" asked the court.

"I would ask your honor," replied the lawyer, "to have the prisoner detained in jail to-night. I have to cross a lonely field on my way home, and the rascal happens to know that I have money about me."

SHE CHEERS THEM UP.

The "Cheering-Up Lady" Is a Functionary Who Tries to Make Folks Happy.

On the order books of the Woman's exchange in this city, it appears, is a worker known as "the cheering-up lady." She is kept busy all the time. It is her function to visit lonely homes, to play cards with venerable widows or spinsters, to read, talk and "look pleasant."

Here should be a laborer never failing to be worth more than her hire. Professional mourners we no longer know nor wish to know; of professional cheerers-up it should not be possible to know too many. We bespeak serious rivalry for this old lady who looks pleasant. Here is the happiest combination of business and philanthropy. She exhibits an idea worthy of indefinite extension through an infinite variety of clients.

There is no culture more important or pressing, says the New York World, than that of the smile which means good cheer.

THE APACHES OF PARIS.

Young Ruffians Throw Dice to Decide Who Shall Commit Wanton Murder.

American visitors to Paris are terrorized by the misdeeds of the numerous gangs of rowdies, called Apaches, infesting the boulevards, says a recent report. The official police reports as follows on their latest outrage:

Six young Apaches, finding themselves without money to stake at cards, decided that the loser should stake his life and—some one else's. A 16-year-old rowdy lost the game, and walking out from the cafe, about 11 o'clock on Sunday night, jumped at the throat of the first person coming his way, driving his long knife in between his shoulders and killing him instantly. As it happened a number of policemen were in the neighborhood and the whole gang were arrested. The state will move that all six be guillotined as a warning. The victim was a bookkeeper, 24 years old, married and the father of two children.

The Carnation Industry.

The carnation industry has risen to considerable importance during the last ten years. As 2,500,000 of young carnation plants are sold each year and florists produce an equal number which are not sold, the entire production of young carnation plants approximates 5,000,000 per annum. These plants are grown under glass during the winter time for cut flower purposes, producing an annual average of more than 100,000 blooms.

DANTE DRAMATIZED

Sir Henry Irving Presenting the New Play in London.

The Great Actor Fits the Part Perfectly, But the Play Is Considered Weak—A Series of Wonderful Tableaux.

What is probably the most ambitious effort at dramatization during the past generation, or even more, is the presentation of "Dante" by Sir Henry Irving in London. Anyone who has seen Irving in classic tragedy can well imagine him in the part of Dante, and though the play is weak in many ways, he gives to it a stamina simply by his representation of the author of the "Inferno."

"Dante" is not one play but many, and to none of them does the poet properly belong. He is always in the play, but never of it.

The prologue gives the tragedy of Ugolino, starved to death in a tower prison in Pisa with his children and grandchildren. Dante appears to protest against the inhuman sacrifice of innocent children, and is excommunicated for his pains. The first act is in effect a new version of Paolo and Francesca; the second gives the story of Nello's unfaithful wife; the third is nothing but a series of effective tableaux of the infernal regions; and the last is a grim picture of an evil man's dying moments.

All these episodes are bound together by a string of the slightest. The story of Dante's guilty love for Pia, Nello's wife, and the fortunes and misfortunes of their child, Gemma, runs like an undercurrent beneath all the various disconnected incidents that make a mosaic surface for the play. Such continuous story as there is is never strong enough, however, to bear the weight of extraneous matter that is imposed upon it. Consider it as a play, and the verdict must be that seldom has anything more futile than Sardou's

A SCENE FROM "DANTE."

"Dante" been deemed worthy to face the footlights.

That Sir Henry would look the part he had to play could never be doubted—indeed, it was probably the idea that he could not fail in appearance to seem the very man himself that led to the inception of the play. And anticipation has, in this respect, been fully justified. The Dante of the death mask, of Giotto's portrait, of Dore's marvelous illustrations, lives and moves upon the stage in the person of Sir Henry Irving. The strong, ascetic face, with eyes sunk deep beneath cavernous brows, the dominant nose, the lips set close and stern, are all there. It is no fault of make-up if this Dante does not altogether prove convincing—for it is not quite convincing, after all.

It is hardly necessary to say of any play produced by Sir Henry Irving, with his able stage manager, Mr. Loveday, that the mounting was as perfect as it well could be. Few things finer, pictorially, can ever have been seen across the footlights than the tableau in the prologue when the archbishop of Pisa, a splendid figure in his gorgeous vestments, surrounded by a group of guards, monks and acolytes, solemnly excommunicates Dante before the tower in which Ugolino and his children are being done to death by starvation. The first scene—an open place on a height near Florence, with the city seen beyond flowering orchards—is hardly less beautiful. As the curtain rises Giotto is seen painting a portrait of a slender girl who leans against a marble column in the foreground, while groups of gayly-appareled young men and women dance, sing and pass jest and compliment to and fro among each other around. It looks like a bit from Boccaccio made animate.

A convent church interior follows, and then, after a glimpse of the Campo Santo, we come to the great "Inferno" scenes, of which so much has been written. As far as the impossible may be achieved, it has been achieved in these. The fiery graves especially are effective enough in their horrors to make material for a thousand nightmares, and the "Circle of Ice" is even more grimly impressive.

The final scene is full of color and light, and is in itself a welcome relief from the scenes of the underworld, notwithstanding the tragic happenings that take place in it.

SPORTING NEWS.

AT BAT.

Ramsey, the phenomenal pitcher on the High Bridge baseball team, has a record this season of striking out 114 opposing batsmen in eight games. Manager John Owens and "Doc" Doyle, of St. Mary's team, made recent visits to High Bridge hoping to land this pitcher for the local team. They were unsuccessful.

SLEEP RUDELY BROKEN.

Horse Attached to a Street Organ Was Awakened From Doze by Stone in the Ribs.

"Ketcha da ma horse! He smasha da organa!" cried two Italians last evening as they ran down Richmond street in the wake of a runaway horse attached to a cart on which was a hand organ. The East End colony of Italians joined in the chase and captured the horse within a block from where it started. No damage was done.

The organ was playing "Please Go Way and Let Me Sleep" and the horse was just dozing off on the "third lap" when some small boy threw a stone. The impressive part of the song was being put into practice by the tired animal just at that time. The little children were singing something about "sleep being such a treat" when the stone struck the horse somewhere in the neighborhood of the fifth rib and the animal, flinging up its heels, gamboled merrily down the street. Excitement reigned for a few minutes.

Over in Hunterdon.

The Annandale correspondent of the Clinton Democrat has this to say this week regarding two Plainfielders: "Percival Browne and wife, of Plainfield, drove into town last Wednesday afternoon and, after partaking of refreshments and a good night's rest at the hospitable home of John Y. Hackett, they started on their journey for Washington, Belvidere and other places. They seemed to be favorably impressed with the location and surroundings of our town, as they talk of spending two or three weeks with us on their way home from the trip."

Dr. Zelie Here in Sept.

Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, the new pastor of the Crescent Avenue Church, will preach his first sermon here Sunday, September 20. The new parsonage in Park avenue near Crescent avenue, is being made ready for occupancy and Mr. Zelie's household goods have been brought there.

NEW CABLES IN OPERATION

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN PLAINFIELD AND FAR DISTANT LANDS.

Postal Telegraph's Proposed Improvement Now a Fact—Its Story

The Postal Telegraph Company's new Commercial Pacific cable was opened this morning, making direct communication with the islands of Hawaiian, Ladrone and Philippine, and China, Japan and Korea and San Francisco.

The cable touches points heretofore missed by cable, and saves one-half day's time between Hong Kong and the American shore. The Postal Telegraph Company now has a direct wire between New York City and San Francisco, which loops Plainfield, bringing this city in constant touch with the far east, making it possible to forward a message and receive an answer, from the Orient in less than 6 hours, where it formerly took 2 days. The completion of this cable reduces the rate between this city and China from $1.63 to $1.22, and makes the Postal Company the pioneer cable company of the world.

C. E. A. Heywood in Charge of the Local Delegation—The Weather Has Been Good—Plainfield vs. Newark.

The second party of Plainfield's campers arrived last Thursday at Camp Wawaywanda, the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp in Orange County, and there are now 114 boys enjoying a vacation at Lake Wawaywanda. Twenty-one of these—nineteen boys and two leaders—are from this city. Those there are C. E. A. Heywood and Francis K. Anderson, leaders; Graff W. Simmons, Henry Pound, Chester Denton, Harry Gilmore, William Heath, Frank R. Martin, William Caldwiel, Ray Pugh, B. McClintock, P. McClintock, Russell Conroy, Martin Dewey, F. Clyde Doane, George Rittenhouse, David C. Fairchild, William Bliss, Stuart Freeman, Howard Freeman and G. Stuart.

Baseball is extremely popular and a series of inter-city games is being played. The Plainfield team won from the Newarks last Friday 21 to 19. Howard Freeman and Byron McClintock won second and third places in the swimming races. In the high jump, Howard Freeman, Stuart Freeman and Martin Dewey were the winners. In the 100-yard dash, Byron McClintock and Howard Freeman won first and second place. A baseball cup is offered to the association scoring the greatest number of points. This must be won three successive years before becoming association property. A swimming trophy is also offered.

PERSONAL.

At the Shore.

These Plainfielders registered at Asbury Park hotels yesterday: Coleman House, Bernard Brady; Nassau Hall, James Fleming and Barber Fleming: Imperial, Herbert Hand, Miss Hand, Miss Gahagan and Daisy Gahagan; St. James, J. P. Owens.

Mr. Perrin Back.

Charles Perrin, president of the Perrin Freres Cie glove fabtory, returned on the Oceanic, Wednesday, after a four months' visit with his parents in France. Mr. Perrin also visited England and Germany in the interests of the firm.

Push and energy are excellent things in their way, and their importance can scarcely be over-estimated. Still there is a possibility that they may be overdone. It is undoubtedly better to wear out than to rust out, and the wearing process, if not carried to extremes, will be slower than the other, and much more satisfactory. But, on the other hand, it is probably better to have the grass grow under your feet than over your head. The trouble is that it is very difficult to hit the golden mean. Some men work too hard and others do far too little, and there seems to be no feasible method of evening things up. But moderation is desirable even in the race for wealth. It will no pay a man to kill himself for the sake of getting rich in a hurry.—Printers' Ink.

WEAPONS FOR NEW JERSEY

STATE SHARE OF MAGAZINE RIFLES AND CARBINES.

Apportionment of 3,730 Rifles—Gun Slings, Bayonet Scabbards.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 25—By direction of Governor Murphy, Captain Armstrong, of the quartermaster-general's department, went to Washington Monday with a requisition for the United States magazine rifles and carbines to be issued to New Jersey under the Dick law, passed at the last session of Congress.

Captain Armstrong was authorized to fill in the requisition of the actual number of articles to which the State is entitled according to the figures furnished by Captain J. K. Miller, U. S. A. He was also authorized to urge on the War Department an immediate issue of the new arms. As a result of the trip of Captain Armstrong, an order was issued Monday by the federal authorities to issue from the Springfield armory these arms: Three thousand, seven hundred and thirty United States magazine rifles, thirty-calibre; 170 United States carbines, thirty-calibre. These arms are of the model of 1901. The order also authorized the issue of these arms from the New York arsenal; 3,750 gun slings and bayonet scabbards; 170 cartridge belts, cavalry.

From the Waterbury arsenal 3,750 cartridge belts will be issued for infantry uses.

SCOTCH PLAINS, 8; ST. MARY'S, 4.

Fully 1,500 enthusiastic rooters gathered around the Scotch Plains diamond, Saturday afternoon, and saw the crack St. Mary's team, of this city, defeated by a score of 8 to 4. For seven innings the game was the fastest and most exciting of the season. Carr, the St. Mary box artist, pitched good ball until the seventh inning allowing but three hits, one of these a home run by McManus. In the seventh the 'Plains boys got their batting clothes on and hammered Carr for one three-bagger, three two-base hits and one single, scoring six runs. St. Mary's scored twice in the fifth, and crossed the rubber twice again in the eighth. At the beginning of the eighth it looked as though the the visitors would tie the score, but the 'Plains team braced after allowing two tallies.

The score by innings:

HOPE HOPELESS.

The only feature about the game of baseball between Alis and Hope Y. M. A. on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, was that the Alis boys were able to make runs whenever they wanted to and their opponents were weak both at the bat and in the field. They made any number of errors in the field and altogether they seemed to have a case of stage fright. On the other hand Alis batted well and put up a fast fielding game. The final score was 15 to 9 in favor of Alis.

The snap was taken out of the game in the first two innings when Alis made a total of 12 runs, six in each inning. Hope opened the game by making three clean hits off of "Warry" MacLaughlin in the first inning, but after that the hits were few and far between. "Warry" had perfect control of the ball and he was well backed up by a player from the Pearsall's of Jersey City, it being impossible for Page to play on Saturday. Special features of the play on the part of Alis were the two one-handed catches, one by Lederer, in left field and the other by Henriques at second. The latter gave a fine exhibition of base stealing, at one time stealing second, third and almost reaching home.

Ryan, the new third baseman for Alis, was not as fast as his colleagues in the infield and his throwing to bases was only fair. Hope, a younger brother of Sam. Hope, the former Alis pitcher, occupied the box early in the game, but later was replaced by a better pitcher. Sam. Hope was on the bench, but would not go in the box. "Smiling Jimmie" Montross played second base for Hope.

DUNELLEN, 12; CLINTON AVENUE, 9.

The Clinton Avenue nine met defeat at the hands of the Dunellen A. C. on the latter's grounds Saturday afternoon by a score of 12 to 9. Dyer, the Clinton Avenue slab artist, struck out twelve men, but received poor support. Ettinger, Dunellen's regular pitcher, was batted out of the box in the second inning, and Giles, in his place, pitched good ball for seven innings. The batteries were: Dunellen A. C., Ettinger, Giles and Bowman. Clinton Avenue, Dwyer and Herman.

MANY VISITED WILSON'S CAVE

HARD CLIMBING NECESSARY TO OBTAIN ADMITTANCE.

Falling Rocks Make Exploration Dangerous—Stalactites Taken As Souvenirs.

Many people visited the cave recently discovered in Wilson's quarry yesterday. A few of the more agile young men gained admittance by dint of hard climbing and were rewarded for their efforts by securing several fine specimens of curiously shaped stalactites and stalagmites.

The cavern has been stripped of the more beautiful formations by the employes of the quarry who have sold them to persons seeking souvenirs. Dr. Moldenky, who lives in the mountains, has purchased from William Schorb several very large and almost transparent stalactites. He will add them to his collection of minerals.

Owing to the danger of rocks falling from the roof of the cave only a few people have explored it to any extent. The water drips through the roof and rocks of various sizes are continually being loosenen.

The mouth of the cavern, as already told in The Daily Press, is about ten feet above the base of the cliff and it is only by hard climbing that the entrance to the cave can be reached. Several young men have ruined their clothes by slipping down the precipice.

PREPARING DEFENSE.

Dr. Van de Water Intends to Compel Mr. Watt to Detail Charges Against Him.

Rev. Dr. George R. Van De Water, of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, is making active preparations, through his counsel, for his defence against the attacks that have been made upon him by Commodore Archibald Watt in the suit and countersuit with the latter's wife, Adele Watt, of Rockview terrace, this city.

Notwithstanding repeated rumors that the action would be abandoned in New York State to avoid a scandle, it is said that Dr. Van De Water's counsel has issued papers for an application to compel Mr. Watt to furnish a bill of particulars specifying in detail the times and places wherein it is alleged Mr. Van De Water was guilty of misconduct with Mrs. Watt. These charges have been denied by both Mrs. Watt and Dr. Van De Water.

TAKES FATAL DRINK OF CARBOLIC ACID

Four Years Old Boy Dies After Suffering Several Days From Poisoning.

JAMES BROWNING'S SON

OUT OF MOTHER'S SIGHT WHEN HE FOUND THE BOTTLE.

Physicians Quickly Summoned, But Work Was Unavailing—Funeral Services Tomorrow —Interment at Hillside.

William Browning, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Browning, of Watchung, died on Saturday, the result of drinking a quantity of carbolic acid on Wednesday last. The child's mother was using the acid for cleaning purposes and while she went into another room, she left the bottle standing on the kitchen table uncorked. The lad climbed up on the table and got a quantity of the acid down his throat. His screams attracted the attention of the mother. Two physicians were summoned and for a time it was thought the lad would survive. His mouth and throat were badly burned.

The funeral services will be held from the house tomorrow morning and the interment will be at Hillside.

CHORAL SERVICE.

Feast of Music at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church Service.

A special service of praise was held last evening at the Crescent Avenue Church. There were special selections by the organist and by the church quartette as well as some excellent solo work by the soprano and tenor and a tenor and bass duet. The service was in charge of Rev. Francis Brown, of Union Theological Seminary, who preached an excellent sermon.

SALE OFF.

D. C. Ivins & Co., End Negotiations and Will Continue Business.

Plainfield, N. J., July 27th, 1903.
Editor, The Daily Press:

There seems to be a report around town that we have sold our lumber and masons' material business to J. D. Loizeaux & Co. While we had some negotiations looking to that end, the deal was not consummated, and we are now in the lumber business on a more extensive scale than ever.

We have made a general reduction in prices on lumber of all kinds, cement, lime, and wall plaster cement. We take this opportunity to state also that we are well supplied with hickory wood, Lehigh and Cannel coals, and we are in a position to supply the public with the best of goods at the lowest prices.

EDWIN S. HOOLEY & CO. FAIL

(Special Dispatch to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 27—Announcement was made this morning that Edwin S. Hooley & Company have failed as a result in a sharp decline in stocks on Saturday. The Evansville and TerreHaute Railroad Company's shares dropped ten points while the DesMoines and Fort Dodge Railroad Company's stock fell twenty-one points. In both of these the brokers had heavy investments. The failure of the firm is said to be complete according to reports from Wall street. It is understood that Mr. Hooley will issue a statement either late this afternoon or early tomorrow.

The news is much regretted in this place where Mr. Hooley is held in high esteem. At his home in Washington Park, it was learned this morning that both Mr. and Mrs. Hooley were away and that nothing could be said regarding the misfortune.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Hooley said to a reporter for The Daily Press: "I generally have made good and expect to now. That is all I wish to say."

REQUIEM MASSES FOR DEAD POPE

Services in St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Catholic Churches.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS

REVS. ANDREW M. EGAN AND WILLIAM MILLER CELEBRANTS.

List of Assistant Officers of the Mass—Fine Music Rendered —Services Held by Orders of the Bishops.

In accordance with instructions sent out last week by Bishop McFaul, of the Trenton diocese and by Bishop O'Connor, of the Newark diocese, directing the priests in the various Catholic Churches to hold special services of requiem for the late Pope Leo XIII, special solemn high masses were held in the local Catholic Churches this morning at 9 o'clock.

Father Miller at St. Joseph's Church in North Plainfield was assisted by Father Dietrich, of Bound Brook, deacon; Father Tyrell, of Rahway, as sub-deacon; and Father Dunphy, of Dunellen, as master of ceremonies. A discourse on the life of the Holy Father was delivered by Father Dunphy.

St. Mary's R. C. Church was crowded with devout Catholics who attended to pay tribute to the memory of the dead Pontiff. The services were impressive and the music rendered by the choir was especially fine. Father Egan was the celebrant, Father Delahanty, deacon and Father Fredericks, of Bloomsbury, sub-deacon.

Mt. Park Inn Sold.

In order to protect his property against any possible invasion by a trolley park, F. de L. Hyde, president of the Union County Investment Company, last week purchased from the French estate by a foreclosure on a third mortgage the grounds and property on Watchung mountain known as Mountain Park Inn. The deed has not yet been passed. Although Mr. Hyde purchased about 135 acres he has only kept between 80 and 100 acres. The rest he has conveyed to the estate.

Hurling Bricks.

A man hurled a brick through the plate glass window of the Italian fruit dealer's store on Somerset street in the Spencer building, yesterday afternoon. It is said that the fellow was one of the regular habitues of the place and became involved in an argument with the proprietor. No arrest was made.

Do You Know.

If we did not advertise you would not know that Kirby's cigar store is located at 106 Park avenue, where you can obtain a cool glass of Watchung Spring ice water, (free) and buy a 5, 10, 15, 25 cent cigar that will give you pleasure to smoke. Cigars at wholesale and retail. 7 27 5

In the play-off for the consolation cup in the championship tournament Walter Peterson defeated Leighton Calkins.

RESULTS IN WESTFIELD.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 27—There were two events on the Westfield Golf Club course Saturday, one the regular monthly handicap, which was won by R. I. Townley and the other the continuation of the qualifying play for the President's competition. In the later Townley and M. L. Fouquet were the two successful contestants. A week ago C. E. Halsted and J. A. Woodward qualified, making eight men still in the game. This preliminary play is to continue for eight weeks, after which play for the President's cup will begin by those qualifying.

These were the scores on Saturday: R. I. Townley, 96, 13—83; M. L. Fouquet, 97, 11—86; L. B. Jackson, 11, 527—88; H. Talbot, 118, 30—88; F. P. Condit, 102, 14—88; R. H. Stern, 119, 30—89; F. G. Harris, 117, 25—92; W. J. Bogert, Jr., 103, 8—95; S. V. Brewster, 126, 27—99.

RENOVATING CHURCH INTERIOR

IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE AT THE CHURCH OF THE HOLY CROSS.

Oak Floor in Chancel—Decoration Work—Services in Parish House.

The extensive repairs being made to the interior of the Holy Cross Church are now well underway and are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The new church ceiling has been almost completed and at an informal meeting of the church vestry held yesterday two shades of brown were decided upon for the painting of the walls and ceiling. The body is to be a light brown color and there will be a red brown stripe for decoration. The combination of colors is exceedingly pleasing to the eye.

It has been decided to lay a new oak floor in the chancel and all varnished work on seats, choir-stalls and rails will be re-polished.

The necessary slowness of the repairs will make it impossible to again hold services in the church until the middle of September. The early morning communion celebrations and the afternoon services have been done away with and the morning service held in the Parish House is now the only one of the week.

HANDSOME HOMES SOLD.

Colonial and English Houses Disposed of by A. D. Thompson at Private Sale.

A. D. Thompson has recently sold two handsome properties on Belvidere avenue to out-of-town parties. Sidney S. Schuyler, at present a resident of Cranford, and a member of the New York Stock Exchange, has purchased the large Colonial house on the corner of Belvidere avenue and Charlotte road, and will take up his residence there early in September. Albert B. Davies, a New York coffee merchant, has become the owner of the English house, and will soon make his home at Netherwood. The erection of these properties has done much to improve Netherwood, not only in the attractive appearance of the houses themselves, but as furnishing an inducement to first class citizens to locate here.

Narrow Escape.

George Hunter, a colored driver for the Plainfield Cab Company, nearly shot himself in the hand yesterday morning at the office of the company on North avenue. He was unloading a revolver when the weapon was discharged. The day book, which was lying open on the desk was ruined by the bullet. It plowed diagonally through two thirds of the thickness of the volume. The bullet was found near the back cover.

It's a Boy.

A young son has arrived to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, of Brooklyn. Mrs. Fletcher was formerly Miss Laura Emmons and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Emmons, of Jackson avenue.

NETHERWOOD HOME DEDICATED YESTERDAY

Dr. Rodman, Miss Currie, L. H. Biglow Participated As Did Some of the Inmates.

PRAYER, SONG, SPEECH

LETTER FROM A. C. MORGAN, DONOR OF THE BUILDINGS, READ.

Mr. Morgan Given a Vote of Thanks —Meeting Interrupted by Storm—Character of Work of the Home —Inmates of All Nationalities.

Dedicatory services were held yesterday afternoon at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. It was originally planned to hold the meeting on the lawn surrounding the buildings to be dedicated but a thunder shower approached and the services had to be held indoors. Two hundred visitors attended and saw for themselves the good work which is being done for New York's poor.

Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, rector emeritus of Grace Episcopal Church, delivered the dedicatory address, speaking on behalf of the local churches. The work was explained and the good already accomplished reviewed.

The leader of the meeting was L. H. Biglow, who presided in the absence of George A. Chapman, who was detained on account of illness. A half hour song service was held. Scripture reading was conducted by Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, and a prayer delivered by Rev. George B. Shaw. Mr. Biglow spoke the words of welcome.

D. M. Torrey read a letter from Alexander C. Morgan, who purchased the buildings and started the work [of the home as a cost of $7,000. The letter stated that Mr. Morgan, who is a relative of J. Pierpont Morgan, the great financier, regreted his inability to be present. Mr. Torrey explained that, at the death of his wife, wishing to become interested in some charitable work of the kind, Mr. Morgan volunteered his services to Miss Currie in her mission of mercy and care for the denizens of the New York tenements.

G. E. Hall, the assistant manager of the Home, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Morgan for his generosity and suggested that a suitable testimonial be drawn up, engrossed and presented to Mr. Morgan. This motion was carried with much enthusiasm.

When the storm had cleared away the meeting adjourned to the lawn where Miss Currie, the matron, illustrated the character and scope of the work. In the camp are now 170 mothers and children. Included in this number are representatives of all nationalities: Irish, Hebrews, Italians, Germans and Americans predominating. Miss Currie said that in spite of the cosmopolitan aspect of the camp, peace reigns within it from one week's end to the other. The wonderful transformation in the moral condition of the inmates of the home she commented upon particularly.

Spiritual teachings form a large part of the work at the camp and special prayer and praise services are held each evening. These are under the auspices of the various Christian Endeavor Societies in this city, Elizabeth, Cranford, Westfield and other places.

The committee in charge of the services yesterday were: L. H. Biglow, chairman; G. E. Hall, Miss Ella Benedict, D. M. Torrey, Miss Sara Currie and Miss Florence Hawkins.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon's services was the part taken by the inmates of the camp. Little Willie Ponsford sang two solos and Olga Cramer, a two-year-old tot, sang a song. Some of the women and men at the home read verses and otherwise participated.

At Asbury Park.

The following Plainfield people registered at Asbury Park hotels Saturday: W. M. Runyon and wife, Clifton House; Nelson Runyon and wife, F. T. Astron and wife, Marguerite Astron, and Mrs. Charles VanWenhol, The Lakeyn; Hughes Fawcett, The Knickerbocker.

New Sprinklers.

Two extra sprinkling carts, formerly used in this city, have been called into service again and are now used in connection with the six new ones.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dunn, of Norwood avenue, entertained a party of friends at dinner yesterday. Covers were laid for ten.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

The careful housekeeper is a searcher for bargains. P. H. LaTourette, the Somerset street auctioneer, will conduct several sales at his store during this week. Great bargains will be offered in household utensils and furniture.

B. J. Schreiner makes a specialty of ice cream sodas at his store at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. Great care is always used in filling prescriptions and only the purest drugs are used. He has a full and complete line of toilet articles.

Whenever you buy your breads, cakes, pies, ice cream, etc., of John Wirth, of West Front street, you are sure of being treated right. He will give you exactly what you ask for and the very best that can be made. His bakery is modern in every equipment.

If you want samples of the work of the Belleview Avenue Nursery Company, you have only to look at some of the most beautiful estates in the city. Wherever you see especially beautiful shade trees and bushes you may be reasonably sure that they were supplied by the Belleview Nursery.

One cannot really enjoy his summer outing fully unless he is provided with proper headgear. If you have not arranged for this essenital part of your outfit there is still a chance by going to Bonn's millinery. You can make your selections of outing hats there from a large and exclusive stock.

Why trade at other stores when at Neuman Brothers one can secure staple and fancy groceries at prices far below those set by their competitors. Fruits and vegetables at this time of the year are made a specialty. Rockdale creamery and print butter and Rockyford melons are articles which are especially recommended by Neuman Brothers this week.

There should be no hesitation about going to Riverside Park. A characteristic of the resort is its freedom from ruffianism so often found in other parks in this vicinity. Manager Walsh enforces order at all times. At the theatre, New York talent from Keith's circuit is always to be seen and heard. Creatore, the great bandmaster, will be there this week.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—J. D. Loizeaux, of East Second street, is laying the foundation for a frame dwelling on Hillside avenue.

—Miss Martha Goodman and her sister, who have been having the old Peter Wooden house on Somerset street repaired, will move into the place today. A brick addition has been built on the northern side of the house and in it they will sell pastry and cake.

—The front of the new engine house in North Plainfield is rapidly taking on a finished appearance. The work, which is in charge of John H. Snyder, is being rushed and it is expected that the house will have a roof over it by the first of October. The front is made of a combination of Indiana sand stone and Jersey pressed brick.

The Foundation of Health.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Up the Hudson.

On July 30, August 19, and September 3 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run its usual midsummer excursions to the "Upper Hudson," under personal escort. Special excursion tickets will be sold on those dates for regular trains arriving at Jersey City prior to 10:05 a. m., good to return on same day on any regular train leaving Jersey City after arrival of steamer. A stop will be made at West Point, giving those who disembark an hour and a half at that point, and enabling them to view the United States Military Academy. In order to insure an early return, no stop will be made at Newburgh, although the steamer will run to a point off that city and there turn. Round-trip rates: Princeton, $2; New Brunswick, Metuchen, and Perth Amboy, $1; Rahway, 80 cents; Elizabeth, 75 cents; Newark, 50 cents. Proportionate rates from other points.

FATAL TRAIN WRECK.

Twin City Limited and Fast Freight Meet in Head on Collision.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 27. — Two trains met in a head on collision on the Chicago Great Western railroad, and four men were killed and about twenty-five or thirty passengers injured.

Fred Horton, the only passenger who was killed, was said to have been standing in the vestibule of the front sleeper talking to a friend and was instantly killed, while his friend escaped injury.

The two trains were the Twin City limited and a fast freight. The limited was running as a first section from Oelwine, Ia., to Minneapolis. The second section consisted of an excursion train running from Des Moines to Minneapolis and was three hours behind time.

The fast freight, south bound, received an order at Dodge Center reading that the second section of the passenger train was three hours late, and the crew evidently misread the order and attempted to make Vlasaty siding, between Dodge Center and Hastings, Minn., thinking that it was the limited that was late. Meanwhile the limited was pounding along at regular speed and met the freight head on just after the limited had rounded a curve at Vlasaty.

The baggage and buffet cars were completely wrecked and turned crosswise of the tracks. The first sleeper back of the buffet was badly smashed in the forward end, and the four rear cars remained intact on the track.

These cars were used to bring the dead and injured to St. Paul and Minneapolis, where the injured were given surgical attendance. None of the passengers was seriously injured, but cuts and bruises were freely distributed.

Union of Servia and Bulgaria.

VIENNA, July 27.—A plot to bring about a union of Servia and Bulgaria which involves the deposition of Prince Ferdinand and the substitution of the Karageorgevitch dynasty, and which would also incidentally result in the settlement of the Macedonian question, is reported as being hatched here. A secret meeting was recently held at Belgrade of Bulgarian parliamentarians, prominent Servians and Macedonians, at which the details of the scheme were agreed upon. The plotters are said to have argued that such a united kingdom could overthrow Turkey, end the Macedonian troubles and guarantee a greater future both for Servia and Bulgaria.

General Wade Takes Command.

MANILA, July 27. — Major General George W. Davis has transferred the command of the department of the Philippines to Major General James F. Wade. General Davis having been retired for age. General Davis' last act was to review all the troops in and about Manila. He will sail for San Francisco on the transport Sherman. The records in the case of First Lieutenant Hamilton Foley of the Fifth cavalry, who was court martialed on charges involving the embezzlement of soldiers' money and other financial irregularities, have been forwarded to Washington. The records indicate dismissal.

Dwight Lawrence Dead at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 27.—Dwight Alden Lawrence, one of the most widely known Republicans in the country, died in this city after a long illness. He had been librarian of the state senate since 1894. Mr. Lawrence was a personal friend of all the Republican leaders of national or state prominence in the last thirty years. He was on intimate terms with former Governor Alonzo B. Cornell, Roscoe Conkling and Thomas C. Platt. He was born in Albany on Aug. 2, 1843. He was the son of Alpheus L. and Almira C. Lawrence.

Corbin's and Lipton's Short Stay.

WEST POINT, N. Y., July 27.—Arrangements were made here for the entertainment of Adjutant General Corbin and Sir Thomas Lipton, but when their yacht arrived they remained just long enough for Colonel Mills and Colonel Treat to get aboard and then steamed up the river to Newburg. They returned later and after witnessing dress parade again started down the river for New York.

A Birth and a Suicide.

NEW YORK, July 27.—There was one birth and a suicide on board the French line steamer La Bretagne during the voyage from Havre. The suicide was an Italian steerage passenger named Camillo Spino, who plunged from the rail into the sea. The man was apparently demented.

Post Office Robbed.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 27.—The post office at Waynesville, N. C., has been robbed of all its contents. The amount secured is not known, but the postmaster was forced to send to Asheville for a supply of stamps.

Thrown From Motorcycle, May Die.

KINGSTON, N. Y., July 27.—J. B. Coons, a bicycle dealer of this city, was thrown from his motorcycle on Albany avenue by the breaking of a piston, falling on his head. His recovery is doubtful.

A Good Year For Hay.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., July 27.—Reports from the States and Canada to the Hay Trade Journal indicate that the hay crop will be fully up to the average yield and of much better quality than usual.

A PANIC IN PANAMA

Attempt to Arrest Governor Mutis and Senor Guerra.

COBOS MAY ASSUME COMMAND.

Soldiers Surrounded the Governor's Residence While Trying to Capture Him—Office of El Lapiz Was Raided.

PANAMA, Colombia, July 27.—Not since the days of the last revolution, when at attack upon the city by the Liberals was feared, has there been such a panic in Panama as has just occurred. The office of El Lapiz, the organ of the Liberal party on the isthmus, was visited by some officers of the general staff of the army, who destroyed the day's edition of the newspaper. One of the directors was slightly wounded, but managed to escape.

As the office of the newspaper is situated in a very populous district, the news spread rapidly. In the Santa Anas neighborhood, where most of the Liberals reside, sentiment rose to a high pitch, and a few of the prominent people counseled retaliation. They took no action, however.

The next event came like a bombshell. A company of soldiers, apparently under the orders of General Vasquez Cobos, commander of the national forces, surrounded the residence of Governor Mutis, but the governor and his wife, who is an American lady, having been warned a few minutes before the arrival of the troops, succeeded in escaping.

General Huertas, commander of the battalion of Colombia, when he learned of the El Lapiz incident repaired to headquarters, where he found General Cobos, and, according to current reports, the latter ordered General Huertas to remain in quarters. Exactly what has taken place is unknown, but it is said that Dr. Aristides Arjona, secretary of the government; Fernando Arango, chief of police, and Efraim Navia, a member of the departmental superior tribunal of justice, are under arrest, the latter for trying to argue with General Cobos the illegality of his action.

An attempt is also said to have been made to arrest Senor Guerra, secretary of finance, but he refused to accompany the officer who went to his house to arrest him, and when the officer returned with soldiers to effect his capture Guerra had departed.

The only civil official on the street was Mayor Ossa. Governor Mutis spent the night at the British consulate, but it is reported that he will take refuge in the American consulate. United States Consul Gudger made several unsuccessful attempts to secure an audience with General Cobos, who is a brother of the minister of war.

It is reported that General Cobos offered the governorship to different Conservatives, who refused to accept, and that he himself will assume civil command.

It is said that Consul Gudger attempted to send a cablegram to Arthur M. Beaupre, the United States minister at Bogota, but that the agent refused to accept the message, claiming that the lines were interrupted, in spite of the fact that it is known that press messages were being accepted. It is thought that perhaps orders to refuse messages to Bogota have been issued to the cable company by the military authorities. It is reported that Dr. Arjona and Judge Navia have been set at liberty, but that Chief of Police Arango remains under arrest.

The Colombian battalion attended church in a body as usual, but the condition of affairs is very serious. Governor Mutis is virtually a prisoner. Undoubtedly General Cobos will issue later a proclamation giving the reasons for his actions, which up to this time are unknown.

The national government in certain quarters is being held responsible for much of what has happened, because the soldiers have not been paid for some time and Governor Mutis declined to give more of the money of the department of Panama for national expenses, arguing that the central government owes the department over $2,000,000, besides having obligated the department by a recent decree to pay the salaries of all civil national employees.

The refusal of Governor Mutis is the origin of the discord between the civil and military authorities. Violent articles written in El Lapiz against what the Liberals call the assassination of General Victoriano Lorenzo, the leader of the guerrillas during the recent revolution, who was court martialed and shot May 15, precipitated events. El Lapiz has also been publishing a series of articles openly advocating the autonomy of the isthmus.

The effect of what is now going on upon the Colombian congress, it is believed, will be favorable to the canal treaty, for the enemies of the treaty, it is further believed, will be easily convinced of the necessity of certain clauses which it contains in regard to the control of this zone.

A dispatch from Colon says that the city is perfectly quiet, as the coup on the part of General Cobos against Governor Mutis of the department of Panama is known only to a few here. Further developments are expected very soon. General Luis Maria Gomez, governor of this province, has been called to Panama.

Prince George a Degenerate.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 27.—A specialist in the treatment of backward children at the command of the imperial government examined and observed Prince George, the eldest son of King Peter Karageorgevitch of Servia, who is now sixteen years of age, and has reported to the emperor that the boy is a degenerate.

THE DANVILLE RIOT

Mob Lynched a Negro Who Had Shot a White Man.

WRECKED CITY PRISON TO GET HIM

Crowd of Five Thousand Men After Hanging Murderer Were Fired Upon by Jail Guards—City Now Under Military Protection.

DANVILLE, Ill., July 27.—This city is in the throes of a race riot. One negro, J. D. Mayfield, a refugee from Evansville, Ind., who shot and killed Henry Gatterman, white, has been lynched by a mob of 600 men, who were later fired upon by the sheriff, three men being wounded. The mob was clamoring for the life of another negro named James Wilson, who has confessed to a brutal assault on Mrs. Thomas Burgess, the wife of a farmer at Alvon, Ill., just north of here.

Mayfield met his fate while the mob was on the way to lynch Wilson. The angry throng was passing down East Main street when the negro became involved in an altercation with some of its members. They started after him, and he pulled a gun, firing into the crowd.

Henry Gatterman, a young butcher who had recently returned from Fortress Monroe, fell mortally wounded and expired in a few seconds. The negro turned and fled, but was caught by the officers within a block of the scene of the tragedy and hurried to the police station, with the mob in hot pursuit, temporarily diverted from their march to the county jail.

The officers, with their prisoner, took refuge in the city building, barricading themselves behind the door of one of the offices. They could not check the mob, however, for it secured a long pole and tried to batter down a section of the wall and the door, both of which were very thin. On account of the overwhelming numbers of the mob it was useless for the officers to resist.

After securing battering rams it took the mob about half an hour to wreck the city prison, the negro being found hid in a safe. He was pulled from the safe, struck with sledges, knocked down, jumped upon and stamped to death. A rope was placed around his neck, and his lifeless body was dragged three blocks through the streets to the scene of the shooting. An effort was made to hang the body to a telegraph pole, but the rope broke. The mob, which by this time numbered 5,000, then dragged the body to the jail and burned it. Then the mob proceeded to the county jail and charged it. The sheriff and deputies after warning them to desist fired, wounding several members of the mob, some fatally.

The mob was especially wild in its anger against a negro turnkey. After the fusillade it recoiled for a few minutes, but immediately preparations were made for another attack. A message was sent to a mining camp at Westfield to bring over dynamite to blow up the jail, and the mob leaders were notified that two miners had started for the explosive.

Company K, a colored troop, has its headquarters here, and the officials have prepared to call it out. Leaders of the mob declare they will try to kill the entire company if it comes out.

While waiting for the miners who were expected to bring the dynamite from Westfield the mob marched up and down in front of the jail stoning it and firing shots at random.

Wilson was interviewed in the jail. He said he was the man who visited the Burgess farm, and he admitted that he had attacked Mrs. Burgess, but denied that he had criminally assaulted her. The sheriff implored the mob to let justice take its course, but he was interrupted by shouts from the mob members of which loudly declared their determination to have the negro's life sooner or later.

The city is now under military protection, and there have been no further disturbances. Four companies of the Seventh Illinois infantry have arrived from the state camp at Springfield. They are under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Clasby, who has doubled the guard of militiamen about the jail. One hundred sentries now form a cordon around it.

Adam Murray, who was fatally wounded by a charge of buckshot in the head during the charge on the jail and now lies dying at St. Elizabeth's hospital, is a miner from Westville and his friends are revengeful. It is known that inflammatory talk has been widespread among the miners.

Arrested For Theft of Diamonds.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Henry Cozzins a cashier in the purser's office on the steamer Northland, has been arrested here on a warrant sworn out by his uncle, John Hamilton of Buffalo charging the theft of $2,800 worth of diamonds. A week ago he spent the night at his uncle's house in Buffalo and the day after he left Hamilton discovered the loss of his wife's diamonds. Hamilton beat his nephew to Chicago by train and swore out warrants for his arrest.

Island Comes Back.

WINSTED, Conn., July 27.—The "floating island" on Lake Garfield has been blown back to where it broke away from its moorings over thirty years ago. Prior to 1870 the island was a good, steady, stay at home kind of an island, but it soon acquired the roaming habit and took several journeys during the next few years.

Congressman Foerderer Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Congressman Robert H. Foerderer of the Fourth Pennsylvania district is dead at his home in Germantown, a suburb of this city. He had been ill for some time from a complication of diseases. Mr. Foerderer was born in Germany in 1860.

MISERERE WAS SUNG

While Leo XIII.'s Remains Were Placed In Tomb.

AN ELABORATE BURIAL CEREMONY

The Sarcophagus Containing the Body of the Late Pope Bore the Words, "Leo XIII., Pont Max." Cardinal Gibbons Arrives.

ROME, July 27.—The body of Leo XIII. has been interred in St. Peter's, where it will remain until removed to the Church of St. John Lateran, chosen by the dead pontiff as the final repository of his remains. The cardinals, who met in the Vatican, entered the chapel choir, waiting there for the arrival of the procession, Cardinal Oreglia, the camerlingo, holding the keys of command.

Cardinal Rampolla as archpriest of the basilica was waiting outside the gates of the Chapel of the Sacrament in his violet robes surrounded by the chapter of the cathedral.

To the strains of the "Miserere," which wailed through the lofty church, and preceded by a glittering cross held aloft the procession, carrying candles and torches, slowly left the chapel and went into the church, passing the bronze statue and beyond the shrine of St. Peter.

After a slow progress around the church the cortege arrived at the chapel choir, the bier being so carried that the dead pope entered head first, according to the ceremonial. The chapel from semiobscurity flashed into the brilliancy of the suddenly turned on electric light.

The bier bearing the body of the pontiff was received by Cardinal Oreglia. It was placed in the center, backed by an altar with a beautiful image of the Madonna, before which were burning four immense candles in silver shafts.

The body was sprinkled with holy water, absolution was given, and the foot of Leo XIII. was kissed for the last time by Majordomo Cagiano and Count Camillo Pecci. The majordomo then covered the venerable features and hands with a white silk veil bordered with gold. Over this the prefect of ceremonies spread a large red silk veil which covered the whole person. The body was then placed in the sarcophagus bearing the simple words, "Leo XIII., Pont Mox."

Cardinal Gibbons has arrived here accompanied by Father Gavan, his secretary. He was received at the station by Mgr. Kennedy, rector of the American college at Rome, and Father Hertzog, procurator general of the order of Sulpicians. They drove to the Sulpician House, where mass was celebrated. Being tired and the hour being already late, Cardinal Gibbons did not attend the meeting of the cardinals. Later he drove to the Vatican and paid his respects to Cardinal Oreglia, who received him most cordially. He had a friendly conversation with the latter, in which the camerlingo informed Cardinal Gibbons of the leading decisions made by the congregation with reference to the conclave. Cardinal Gibbons will receive no one except cardinals until after the conclave.

Some Italian bookmakers here proposed to conduct public betting on the chances of the papal candidates, and in order to obtain permission to do so offered to doate their gains to charitable institutions. The government, however, promptly refused the request.

Ambassadors at Memoriam Mass.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 27.—Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at the Catholic church here in memory of Pope Leo XIII. and was attended by the representatives of the French, Italian and Austrian governments. The church was draped in mourning. Among those present were the French ambassador, M. Jean Jusserand; the Italian charge d'affaires, the Austrian minister, Baron von Griska, their ladies and several attaches.

Thirty-three Women Burned.

LONDON, July 27.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail sends a report to the effect that near the village of Schalajifka, in the district of the Don, thirty-three female field laborers were burned to death in a barn, where they had locked themselves to escape molestation by male laborers, who in revenge fired the barn and callously watched the burning without heeding the shrieks of the victims.

Japan Wants Peace.

PARIS, July 27.—It is said that the Japanese prince Inpahama is coming to Paris charged with a mission from the emperor of Japan to ask the mediation of France between Russia and Japan. A high official of the Japanese legation denies that the prince is charged with any such mission and adds that Japan only wants peace, but is determined to enforce her rights.

Mount Tacoma Again Ascended.

CHICAGO, July 27.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Tacoma, Wash., says: H. M. Sarvant of Tacoma and Dr. W. M. Betts of New Orleans have just returned from an ascent of Mount Tacoma. This is the first time in four years that the big rock has been scaled, as the ascent is growing more difficult every season.

Plainfield, N. J., July 27, 1903.

Yesterday's New York papers contain the announcement of the marriage of a prosperous young merchant of Wales by the name of Dliddgim. Hw ntrstng!

President Roosevelt has had a little heart-to-heart talk with Bristow at Oyster Bay. Bet the "father of his flock" ordered a good allcopathic dose of reform for the postoffice department.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home is a local institution which should receive strong financial aid as well as firm moral support. A great working is being done there for little ones of New York's "other half."

Where did all those mosquitoes go that paid us an unwelcome visit a short time since? Scientists say that the pesky little critters enjoy the game of sucking blood for about a month. If this be so some other people have them as boarders at present.

It is singularly appropriate that Captain J. Frank Hubbard should be selected to make the opening address at the county court house corner stone laying ceremonies. His service as a freeholder, both as to length and to merit, is probably unsurpassed in the history of New Jersey.

Can't something be done to insure the permanency of Ben LaVere's band? It is indeed unfortunate that Plainfielders do not have enough local pride in this respect. Just think of the disgrace of it. When we need a band for a Decoration Day parade or at any other time, we have to import one from some little place like Raritan.

The Elizabeth Democrats hope to have the pleasure of Former President Cleveland's company at their annual outing. The former leader of Jefferson's idolizers does not seem to be dead politically by any means. Would it be a peculiar spectacle to see the party endorse him at the next presidential convention, considering how strongly it repudiated him in 1896. Stranger things than that have happened.

Sea Girt is fast becoming the rendevous for a mutual admiration society. The "big guns" who frame the laws while enjoying a little outing there look with pride at the State's defenders, while the latter are glad to go through their stunts for the sake of having an opportunity of gazing upon the great ones who devote so much time in hustling bills through the Legislature—never allowing them to get lost in the shuffle.

PERSONAL.

An Umbrella Factory

In our West Show Windows may be seen an Umbrella Factory, fully equipped, with skilled operators at work making new umbrellas and repairing old ones. This is one of the most interesting window displays yet thought of. It was originated by the Worcester Mass. Umbrella Company, makers of the Celebrated "Heart Brand" Umbrellas, and has proved a stupendous drawing card wherever exhibited.

Special Values in Umbrellas will be offered all this week during the exhibition. An unusual large assortment will be displayed.

HEART BRAND UMBRELLAS MADE BY WORCESTER UMBRELLA CO. WORCESTER MASS. U.S.A.

If your umbrella needs a little cobbling such as a new rib, a new cover or a new handle, bring it in and have it made as good as new at trifling cost. If you have a valuable handle which you would like remounted it will be done in a most satisfactory manner and at reasonable cost. At any rate do not fail to see this most unique and interesting exhibition of Modern Umbrella Building.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The Greenbrooks defeated the Eagle Eyes yesterday morning on Greenbrook diamond before a large and enthusiastic crowd of rooters. The score was 6 to 3. This makes a victory for each of the teams out of the series to be played.

The Dunellen A. C. defeated the Clinton Avenue team Saturday by the score of 13 to 9. The boys were anxious to win and repay the Clinton Avenue team for the defeat they administered to the locals last year.

The Watchung Baseball team defeated the Silver Leaves, of Piscataway Saturday by a score of 10 to 8. The game was closely contested throughout and batted in the two necessary runs.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Come a seven, Big Joe, buy baby new shoes, crap, oh! and sundry other remarks awoke the quietness of Officer Guerrier's midnight watch at the Park avenue crossing Saturday night. An investigation by the officer found two of Plainfield's colored poplation engaged in their favorite game of crap in a quiet and secluded corner near the hotel. The officer took them to headquarters. When arraigned before Judge Clark, Sunday morning, they gave the names of Ramsey and Williams. The Judge thought $5 apiece and costs would teach them a needed lesson.

A party of fishermen from the village went to Seawaren Saturday night to spend the early morning hours fishing for weak fish. No one had thought it necessary to engage a boat in advance, so the local followers of Izaak Walton spent the night fighting mosquitoes along the shore of Staten Island Sound until the first trolley in the morning.

The trolley service for the ball game on Saturday afternoon was as usual. One car, nearly filled before reaching town, was offered to accommodate between 500 and 600 people. The amount fo fares lost by the conductor's inability to collect in such a crowd would more than pay for expenses incurred by the running of several extra cars.

The township officials have declared war on crap shooting which has had full sway on the outskirts of the town for some time past. Roy Snyder, of Westfield, paid the township $5 and costs for a little indulgence in rolling the bones near Galvin's Park, Friday night. Officer Sargeant, of Westfield, made the arrest.

The pump, which has been doing service for nearly a century in front of the Scotch Plains Hotel, has been relegated to a back yard. It has been replaced by a neat little hydrant connected with city water. This is much more convenient, but the good cold water of the old well will be sorely missed.

The Berkely Heights Social Club ran a dance and "rough house" in the large hall at that place, Saturday night. During the night several fights between a gang from Summit and the local residents kept the thing lively enough for all.

"Chick" Cruzius, after an illness of two weeks, was found at his old place at short in Saturday's game. As usual "Chick" played without an error, and his presence in the game seems to put new life in the team.

It is reported that several hundred dollars changed hands on the ball game Saturday. All we know is that the rooters for Scotch Plains have been spending money recklessly ever since the game.

A number from the village interested in the work of Miss Curry, at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, attended the dedication exercises held at the Home on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The trolley company ran cars yesterday under an eight-minute schedule, but this could not begin to accommodate the travelling public during the early evening hours.

"Simeon's Experience," was the topic discussed by the B. Y. P. U. at their weekly meeting held last night in the parlors of the church. Miss Lizzie Nicholl led.

McManus lined out a home run, a three bagger, and a clean single in Saturday's game against St. Mary's, and then Westfield said Mac couldn't hit the ball.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stillger and children, of Roselle, spent Sunday with Mr. Stillger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stillger, of Front street.

Mrs. Frank Putnam and children, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frenz, of Westfield avenue.

J. Rothstein, a resident of the borough, is detained at home by injuries received in a runaway accident at New York, on Friday.

The long drawn out auto case of the Township against Unger is to be called again at 2 o'clock today in Judge Clark's court.

Miss Nancy Wade led an interesting weekly meeting of the Epworth League at the Methodist Church, Sunday night.

A number of local and Plainfield ball players, played the Berkely Heights team at Berkely yesterday afternoon.

EDWARD LEAVES DUBLIN.

A Kindly Message Issued to the Irish People.

DUBLIN, July 27.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra have left Dublin, accompanied by Princess Victoria and their suite, on their way to Newtownards, County Down, where they are now visiting the Marquis of Londonderry at his Mount Stewart residence.

A message from King Edward to the Irish people expresses deep appreciation of the loyalty and affection with which the king and queen were surrounded during their stay in Dublin and says his majesty trusts that in God's providence the Irish may enjoy blessings commensurate with the warmth of their hearts.

The royal train, drawn by an engine decorated with garlands of flowers, arrived at Newtownards without any noteworthy incident, excepting that the country people crowded every vantage point along the line and cheered the passing train. The welcome which their majesties received at Newtownards was equally warm, if not so extensive, as the greeting accorded them in Dublin.

The little town was gayly decorated, and its streets were filled with cheering crowds. The Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry and the county and muncipal officers met the king and queen at the railroad station, and the royal party drove to Mount Stewart.

King Edward, accompanied by Lord Londonderry, visited Lord De Ros and drove to the town of Stranford, where he was acclaimed by crowds which had gathered despite the wet weather.

Mr. Wyndham, who is a universal favorite, was cheered in Dublin almost as warmly as the king himself, and in his unavoidable absence from the house of commons he received at the same time congratulations from all benches, the chief of the Irish Nationalists and representative Irish landlords, the leader of the opposition and the leader of the house uniting in expressing their grateful sense of Mr. Wyndham's capacity and tact.

THE KEARSARGE TRIAL.

She Arrives at Bar Harbor—Made 2,900 Miles in Nine Days.

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 27.—The United States battle ship Kearsarge has arrived at Bar Harbor and dropped anchor in the upper harbor. All day the shore path had been thronged with people, anxiously watching the eastern horizon for the first glimpse of the famous ship, and she was greeted with cheers as her immense hull appeared out of the mist in the east. Coming at full speed the ship entered the harbor and passed the other ships of the squadron at anchor, then proceeded to the upper harbor, where the battle ship Illinois, with Admiral Barker on board, was anchored.

Captain Hemphill said of the trip: "We left the Needles at 1:25 p. m. on Friday, July 17, covering the distance of 2,900 miles in nine days four and a quarter hours, an average speed of 13.16 miles an hour.

Three Killed by Lehigh Express.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 27.—Joshua Butler, a farmer, his wife and infant child were struck by the east bound Black Diamond express on the Lehigh Valley railroad while driving across the tracks at Port Bowkley, six miles from here, and all three are dead. The horse was also killed and the carriage demolished. The occupants were hurled fully 100 feet, the woman's death being instantaneous. The babe was tossed over the locomotive and was found lying in the tender on top of the coal. It was still alive, but died a few moments later.

Professor Climbs Mount Hungabee.

MONTREAL, July 27.—Professor H. C. Parker of Columbia university and two Canadian Pacific Swiss guides, Christian and Hans Kaufman, have conquered Mount Hungabee. This peak, close to the continental divide at the head of Paradise valley, has been considered the most difficult in the northern Rockies, with the exception of Mount Deltaform, which is as yet unconquered. Professor Parker found the elevation of the summit to be 11,500 feet.

Edna Wallace Hopper to Wed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—It is stated that Edna Wallace Hopper and Stephen B. Elkins, Jr., are engaged to be married. Mr. Elkins, who is supposed to be yachting along the Atlantic coast, has been in the city for several days. He met Mrs. Hopper at Portland on her return from British Columbia and accompanied her to this city. It is said that the wedding will occur in the near future.

Hamburg Liners to Call at Dover.

DOVER, England, July 27.—As a result of the visit and tests made by Herr Albert Ballin, director general of the Hamburg American Steamship line, and other officials of the company, who arrived here on the company's new steamer Prinz Sigismund, the directors of the line have decided to make Dover a port of call.

Denounced Sunday Excursions.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 27.—Bishop Hoban vigorously denounced Sunday excursions and commanded all Catholic organizations to desist from conducting them in the future. The denunciation has caused much concern to a number of Catholic organizations which have arranged for Sunday excursions this summer.

Victim of Auto Accident Dead.

KINGSTON, N. Y., July 27.—Harry Turck, who was injured in an automobile accident at Saugerties road crossing on the West Shore railroad, in which his companion, Clarence Sherwood, was killed, died at the Kingston City hospital without regaining consciousness.

WORLD OF SPORT.

American Cup Yachts Will Race All the Week.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 27.—Toddy begins a week of hard racing for three American cup yachts. According to the present arrangements the yachts will sail five races, three of which are the official trial races for the selection of one of the ninety footers to meet the Shamrock III. in the international regatta for the America's cup off Sandy Hook next month, and the other two events come in the Newport series.

Chicago Beat St. Louis.

CHICAGO, July 27.—In four of the five innings that the locals scored in the National league game Rhoades started them off with passes. Stolen bases and bunched hitting followed the wildness in each inning. A low throw and Hackett's long three base drive alone saved the visitors from being shut out, as they could do nothing against Wicker with men on bases. Chicago, 9; St. Louis, 1.

St. Louis Wins Opening Game.

ST. LOUIS, July 27.—St. Louis defeated Cleveland in the opening game of the series here despite some heavy batting on the part of the visitors. Sievers kept the hits fairly well scattered. Good base running helped St. Louis. St. Louis, 5; Cleveland, 3.

Pittsburg Wins From Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., July 27.—Cincinnati's inability in the National league game to field slow hits in the seventh inning and Corcoran's error gave Pittsburg the game. Pittsburg, 5; Cincinnati, 2.

SUNDAY AT OYSTER BAY.

President Listens to Eulogy of the Dead Pope by Dr. Hageman.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 27.—The president, Mrs. Roosevelt and all their children except the youngest boy attended service yesterday in Christ church. The Rev. Dr. Washburn was absent, and his place was taken by the Rev. Dr. J. Winthrop Hageman.

During the sermon Dr. Hageman spoke of the death of the pope, which, he said, meant a great deal for the Christian world, for it had brought the various denominations closer together than they had ever been before and had thus marked a step forward in the work for which Pope Leo had so long worked and which he favored so strongly, the reunion of Christians the world over. While the world had suffered a severe blow by the death of the great churchman, his very death had worked for good.

Fortunes Have Shrunk $100,000,000.

NEW YORK, July 27.—It is said by conservative men and by men who most closely follow the trend of affairs in Wall street that the estimate is made that the Rockefeller family fortune has shrunk $100,000,000 in value under the influence of the recent slump in securities. The apparent loss to the friends of J. Pierpont Morgan has been great. William C. Whitney and those who are allied with him have suffered reverses that have hurt. John W. Gates and the other members of the "Chicago crowd" are nursing wounds that will be long in healing. James R. Keene admits a loss of $1,500,000.

Negro Shot Dead by White Man.

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., July 27.—Thomas Dorsey, a negro steamboat cook, was shot and instantly killed yesterday by George McDaniel, white. McDaniel and Dorsey lived a few doors apart, and as McDaniel was nearing home he met Mrs. Dorsey, who said that her husband had driven her from home with threats to kill her. At this moment Dorsey appeared with a fence picket in each hand and assaulted McDaniel. The latter backed a short distance, pulled a revolver and shot Dorsey through the heart. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Revolutionary General Honored.

THOMASTON, Me., July 27.—Beneath the spreading branches of a stately elm tree, near where once stood the grand old historic mansion Montpelier, the home of General Henry Knox, a handsome bronze tablet in memory of General Knox has been unveiled. General Knox was the first secretary of war under President Washington, besides having been prominent in the Revolutionary struggle.

Great Lumber Trust Forming?

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The Bulletin says E. H. Harriman and James J. Hill are uniting in a great timber deal whereby they, with a number of associates, will control the lumber market of the world. They are securing large tracts of forest land in northern California and Oregon through their agents, who have been for some time quietly buying property on the coast.

Japan Will Not Remove Wires.

YOKOHAMA, July 27.—M. Pavloff, the Russian minister to Korea, having objected to the Japanese telegraph line from Seoul to Fusan, which was constructed prior to the Russian line, the Korean government asked Japanese Minister Hayashi to remove the line. The latter firmly declined.

Charged With Wife Murder.

BALTIMORE, July 27.—John H. Seibold, fifty-six years old, is locked up here charged with having caused the death of his wife, Elizabeth, aged fifty-two. It is alleged that he beat and kicked the woman. She became unconscious and died en route to a hospital.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Visits Empress.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 27.—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt was presented to the empress of Russia at the imperial palace at Peterhof, which is fifteen miles from St. Petersburg, on the gulf of Finland. Mr. Vanderbilt is cruising alone on his yacht in the Baltic sea.

The Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth. 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

FOR WARM DAYS.

Hats of Rough Straw—Pretty Linen Costumes.

Cherries and currants are quite popular on the rough outing hats, and hats in burnt or champagne straw are decorated with a little coarse lace and clusters of foliage.

Linen canvas makes up charmingly with touches of ingrain embroidery and smart strappings. The pale pastel blue looks well with dark blue and yellow embroidery on a white background. Biscuit canvas is charming with red embroidery. Little tasseled motifs are shown in cotton for wash gowns, and the pale biscuit and beige tints accord well with the coarse lace used on such costumes.

Although the blue gown trimmed with green is no longer modish, yet a pale green lawn or batiste gown is charming with a blue hat, and the prettiest blue hat is of rough straw, with plenty of light grass green foliage and blue silk cornflowers. A gown of pale blue green cambric is also effective with a deep willow green straw trimmed with pale blue forgetmenots and a deep purple iris or two.

The ruffle is no more, but last season's cape ruffle with longer ends is the fashionable "stole" of the present season. Three or four frills headed with lace or a flat collar put on to form a heading is sufficiently deep to widen the shoulders in the accepted style, and with long ends decorated with frills, ruchings or ribbon, and sometimes with all three, the stole is complete. Some of the newest stoles have capes with numerous frills, and these are already copied in common lace and will have but a brief reign. Flat stoles of ostrich and marabou feathers are very handsome. These have many tails and are altogether fussy and becoming.

The illustration shows a sailor of beige colored straw trimmed with cherries. JUDIC CHOLLET.

GRASS LAWN AND ALPACA.

The Former Makes Smart Dresses and the Latter Model Coats.

An unlined coat of white alpaca is pretty for sailing or seashore wear.

Motoring coats are very smart in pale biscuit or ivory shades, with a chic little collar of velvet, white moire or white kid.

The craze for red is growing in favor. There is a good deal of distinction to it, and its wearing qualities are good. The deeper shades are the most fashionable and also combine best with the ecru tints in straw which are the fad this year.

A good many Parisian dressmakers are turning out skirts of plaited grass lawn with blouse bodices and large collars, adding at the neck and waist a touch of grass green or old rose. These are sure to have a fair share of popularity, owing to the rage for biscuit and fawn shades.

Grass lawn can look very charming for a simple frock, combined with entre-deux of coarse lace around the hem of the skirt and a wide lace collar.

Panne or plush ribbon, fancy and brocaded, is accounted a novelty and is quite a host in itself for trimming purposes. A belt of it worn the other day was in a rich shade of green, with a delicate gray cloth costume, fastening in front through an immense square buckle of plain dull gold. These buckles, by the way, large, massive and severely plain, carry the mind back to the Stuart period. They are details accounted smart in Paris and seem to fit in with peculiar aptness to the style of the gathered skirt and waist bodice. Black belts with these great dull gold buckles are immensely chic and are to be worn with all manner of toilets, silk alike with cloth.

The picture shows a simple waist of blue and white foulard trimmed with embroidery. JUDIC CHOLLET.

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

CHAPTER XVI.

In the full of the September moon the war bands of the Sioux had defied agents and peace chiefs, commissioners and soldiers, and started their wild campaign in northern Wyoming. In the full of the October moon the big chief of the whites had swept the last vestige of their warriors from the plains, and followed their bloody trails into the heart of the mountains, all his cavalry and much of his foot force being needed for the work in hand. Not until November, therefore, when the ice bridge spanned the still reaches of the Platte, and the snow lay deep in the brakes of the coulees, did the foremost of the homeward-bound commands come in view of old Fort Frayne, and meantime very remarkable things had occurred, and it was to a very different, if only temporary, post commander that Sandy Ray reported them as "sighted." Even brave old Dade had been summoned to the front, with all his men, and in their place had come from distant posts in Kansas other troops to occupy the vacant quarters and strive to feel at home in strange surroundings.

A man of austere mold was the new major—one of the old Covenanter type, who would march to battle shouting hymn tunes, and to Christmas and Thanksgiving chanting doleful lays. He hailed, indeed, from old Puritan stock; had been a pillar in the village church in days before the great war, and emulated Stonewall Jackson in his piety, if he did not in material prowess. Backed by local, and by no means secular, influences he had risen in the course of the four years' war from a junior lieutenancy to the grade of second in command of his far eastern regiment; had rendered faithful services in command of convalescent camps and the like, but developed none of that vain ambition which prompts the seeking of "the bubble reputation" at the cannon's mouth. All he ever knew of southern men in antebellum days was what he heard from the lips of inspired orators or read from the pens of very earnest anti-slavery editors. Through lack of opportunity he had met no southerner before the war, and carried his stanch, Calvinistic prejudices to such extent that he seemed to shrink from the closer contact even then. The war was holy. The hand of the Lord would surely smite the slaveholding arch rebel, which was perhaps why the Covenanter thought it work of supererogation to raise his own. He finished as he began the war, with unalterable conviction that the southern president, his cabinet and all his leading officers should be hung and their lands confiscated to the state—or its representatives. He had been given a commission in the army when such things were not hard to get—at the reorganization in '66, had been stationed in a Ku Klux district all one winter and in a sanitarium most of the year that followed. He thought the nation on the highroad to hell when it failed to impeach the president of high crimes and misdemeanors, and sent Hancock to harmonize matters in Louisiana. He was sure of it when the son of a southerner who had openly flouted him, was sent to West Point. He retained these radical views even unto the twentieth anniversary of the great surrender; and, while devoutly praying for forgiveness of his own sins, could never seem to forgive those whose lot had been cast with the south. He was utterly nonplussed when told that the young officer, languishing in hospital on his arrival, was the son of a distinguished major general of the confederate army, and he planned for the father a most frigid greeting, until reminded that the former major general was now a member of congress and of the committee on military affairs. Then it became his duty to overlook the past.

The general had to leave for the front without seeing Mrs. Hay. More than ever was it necessary that he ever, must have joined the party on the way, and from here—where with the wagon was found Hay's stout box, bereft of its contents—in four different directions the pony tracks of little parties crossed or climbed the spurs, and which way the captives had been taken, Capt. Billings, the commander, could not determine. What the Sioux hoped he might do was divide his force into four detachments and send one on each trail. Then they could fall upon them, one by one, and slay them at their leisure. Billings saw the game, however, and was not to be caught. He knew Bill Hay, his past and his popularity among the redmen. He knew that if they meant to kill him at all they would not have taken the trouble to cart him miles beforehand. He dropped the stern chase then and there, and on the following day skirted the foothills away to the east and, circling round to the breaks of the Powder as he reached the open country, struck and hard hit a scouting band of Sioux, and joined the general three days later, when most he was needed, near the log palisades of Old Fort Beecher.

Then there had been more or less of mysterious coming and going among the half-breed hangers-on should be afield, for this exploit showed that some of the Sioux, at least, had cut loose from the main body and had circled back toward the Platte—Stabber's people in all probability. So, sending Crabb and his little squad across the river to follow a few miles, at least, the trail of the wagon and its captors, and ascertain, if possible whither it had gone, he hurried back to Frayne; sent messengers by the Laramie road to speed the cavalry, and orders to the colonel to send two troops at once to rescue Hay and his niece; sent wires calling for a few reinforcements, and was off on the way to Beecher, guarded by a handful of sturdy "doughboys" in ambulances, before ever the body of the second victim was found.

And then, little by little, it transpired that this mysterious war party, venturing to the south bank of the Platte, did not exceed half a dozen braves. Crabb got back in 36 hours, with five exhausted men. They had followed the wheel tracks over the open prairie and into the foothills far to the northwest, emboldened by the evidence of there being but few ponies in the original bandit escort. But, by four in the afternoon, they got among the breaks and ravines and, first thing they knew, among the Indians, for zip came the bullets and down went two horses, and they had to dismount and fight to stand off possible swarms, and, though owning they had seen no Indians, they had proof of having felt them, and were warranted in pushing no further. After dark they began their slow retreat and here they were.

And for seven days that was the last heard, by the garrison, at least, of these most recent captives of the Sioux. Gentle and sympathetic women, however, who called on Mrs. Hay, were prompt to note that though unnerved, unstrung, distressed, she declared again and again her faith that the Indians would never really harm her husband. They might hold him and Nanette as hostages for ransom.

BETS ONLY FOR FUN.

Playing the Races Is Woman's Very Latest Diversion.

Gotham Society Leaders Like the Excitement of the Track and Cheerfully Lose Sums of Generous Proportions.

Men who have been played the races for years are commenting on the indifference now displayed by the New York women at losing money at the track.

"Judging from appearances," said one the other day to a Sun reporter, "she seems to be just as happy when she is losing money as when she is winning. The excitement of the experience is what she is after, not a tangible result in dollars and cents. The attitude of the fashionable woman at the card table and at the races is entirely different, and yet for the life of me I can't see why.

"When horse-racing first became popular in and around New York," he went on, "the few venturesome women who took a hand at betting were likely to become hysterical over the loss of a good-sized sum, and it took them days to recover from the disappointment. Does anyone ever see a fashionable woman nowadays weeping over her losses at Morris Park or Sheepshead? Even novices plunging for the first time see their money take wings without turning a hair. Their indifference is not assumed, either."

As evidenced by the Morris Park races, the woman with scruples about betting is no more, or, if she does exist, she keeps away from the track. Almost without exception, the women there bet—bet on every race, in sums from one dollar to a hundred, occasionally even going a good deal higher than that.

A large percentage of these women go every day, bet every day, lose and win every day, and so far as can be ascertained, very few come out winners in the end.

This is what a woman well known in society had to say on the subject the other day:

"I am devoted to horse-racing. As a sport, I think it has no equal. I generally attend the Sheepshead and Morris Park races, and as many of the Saratoga races as I can, and I always bet. I have been doing this for nearly ten years, and I wouldn't miss the fun for anything.

"I AM DEVOTED TO RACING."

"Make money by it? On the contrary, my fun never costs me less than $200 a year, in spite of the fact that perhaps I know as much about horses as the average woman can know. To be sure, I never try for inside tips from sporting men, who are supposed to have information, for I find the uncertainty of it all one of the most fascinating features of horse-racing.

"Almost every woman has a pet pleasure, for which she is willing to spend more than for anything else. Mine is betting on horses, for which I 'squander,' as my husband calls it, between $200 and $300 every year. I never get off under $200.

"On some days I make a lot of money, only to lose it the next, and in the end I am pretty well 'cleaned out,' as they say at the track.

"If I could not afford to lose the money I would never go near a race-track. The experiences of the majority of my woman friends who do go in for racing are the same as mine. In fact, we all make up our minds to lose, not to win.

"There may be women who in the long run make money at playing the races, but I don't know them. In my opinion, the only way to come out a winner is, immediately, the very instant, one makes a lucky haul, to scurry away from the track as fast as possible, and stay away."

The Boss Girl of Kansas.

The Oxford (Kan.) Register says that Gene Showalter, of that town, is the typical Kansas girl. Although but 16 years old, she taught the biggest school in the county during the past school year. After school closed she went home and helped her father plow for oats. Then she made a lot of clothes for herself. Now she is taking a little vacation in the form of a term at a teachers' summer school.

Sparrows Were His Mascot.

On his way from Paris to Monte Carlo an English gambler chanced to occupy a compartment in a railroad car with five negroes. He considered this a favorable omen, and when he arrived at the Casino he risked five louis on black at the fifth table and let his stake stand for a run of five. Black won five times in succession, and his winnings amounted to about $620.

We pay 3 per cent. interest on small balances ($200. or more). Such an account is subject to check.

PLAINFIELD BOY MEETS KING

LUCIUS T. KOONS AT THE BANQUET TENDERED BY EDWARD VII.

Koons Making a Tour—He Visits Ireland and Will France and Germany.

Possibly there is but one Plainfielder who holds the honor of having met King Edward VII. That person is Lucius T. Koons, of Sandford avenue, who is travelling abroad and who was at Dublin, Ireland, last week when His Majesty landed on his visit to the Irish people. The meeting took place at an informal luncheon on Thursday given to the King's officers and it was though one of these, Lieut. Edward H. Benjamin, an officer in the British army, and a favorite of the King when Prince of Wales, that the meeting was arranged. Lieutenant Benjamin is Koon's uncle.

The young traveller, who is one of a party of three, was especially fortunate in being at Dublin this past week and will proceed on his trip Tuesday. He has secured passes through the fortress of Gilbraltar and will spend a day at that stronghold before proceeding on his trip.

He will return to this city about the middle of September after having had an extensive trip through France, Germany, Italy, Africa, and the Holy Land.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

The tool makers of the Edison Company's plant, of East Orange, are on strike.

Fred Beekman is in New York setting up an auto-press for the Campbell Press Company.

Thomas Chamberlain, of the Potter Prses Company's Works, visited friends in Elizabeth yesterday.

Rufus Larew, of West Second street, has taken a position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

Many machinists of this part of New Jersey are being deluded by false reports of plenty of work in the South.

Charles Maull, shop foreman at the Federick & Ayers Company's plant, has returned after a week's sojourn at Cape May.

John Korner, of Brooklyn, formerly of the Pond Machine Tool Company's night gang, visited relatives in this city yesterday.

Leving Dominick, who was injured at the Potter Press Company's plant a week ago, was out for the first time Saturday. He will be compelled to use crutches for some time.

The South Jersey glass manufacturers are scouring the State for help. They are contemplating opening plants the first of September, and they find it a hard matter to secure help.

J. B. Higgins, of the Potter Press Company's plant, returned home yesterday with a large catch of fish, and a good mess of crabs. Mr. Higgins says fishing is good at Boynton.

The Manganese Steel Safe Company is rushing through a large vault for the Windsor Banking Company, of Fifth avenue, New York. On St. Patrick's Day the Windsor Hotel, one of the largest hostelries in New York, was completely destroyed by fire. A large building has just been completed on the same site, and the ground floor will be occupied by the Windsor Banking Company. The concern signed a contract with the Manganese Steel Safe Company for a large vault to be ready by the first of October. The safe company expects to ship it within the next two weeks.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The regular communion service will be held at the First Baptist Church Sunday, August 2.

The work of improving the Mt. Olive Baptist Church has already begun. It is planned to have the edifice painted and papered inside.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of East Orange, will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist Church during September, if he can so arrange his other work.

The fifteenth anniversary of the W. C. T. U., of Westfield will be celebrated August 31, and the Plainfield Union has been invited to be present.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Wilson Memorial chapel, assisted by the Endeavor Society from the Scotch Plains Baptist church, will have charge of the service at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, on Wednesday evening. On Friday evening the Epworth League of the First M. E. church will be in charge.

Authorized Collectors.

These compose a committee to solicit aid for the expense of building the new kitchen at Hope Chapel: Mrs. Margaret Sweeney, Mrs. F. A. Weber, Mrs. J. Britton Higgins, Mrs. George Wallace, Mrs. Ferdinand Denckla, Miss Mary Duvere, J. Fred Wharton, Edward Young and John Cose.

Tendered Surprise.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell was tendered a reception by the members of Calvary Baptist Church, Friday evening, when he was presented with a purse.

BOYS GOING WRONG EARLY

TWO EIGHT-YEAR-OLD LADS ARRESTED FOR ATTEMPTING BURGLARY.

Thirteen Offenders in Court Today—"Scrap" at Hotel Rosell—Warner Gave Officer Fight.

Patrolman Totten and Special Officer Ayers had their hands full Saturday night arresting Samuel Warner, who was causing a general disturbance in front of police headquarters. Warner was "nabbed" after a struggle, together with Michael Gleason, and both were arraigned this morning before City Judge Runyon for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Warner, whose previous record was good, was released on suspended sentence. Gleason, who had a bad record, was released also in consideration for his family.

Barney McNevin, Edward Dooley and John Sheehan indulged in a free fight in the Hotel Rosell Saturday night. Sheehan was the ring leader and the most blameworthy and was fined $8. Sentence was suspended in the case of the other two.

Two of the youngest offenders who have claimed police attention this year answered to a charge of attempting to break and enter. They were Frank Green and David Friedman, each eight years old. Last night they were caught by Patrolman Messler inside of McDonough Brothers' coal office on Madison avenue which they had entered by breaking the window with an axe. They also entered Ayers' paint shop, but obtained nothing in either place. The Judge today reprimanded their parents for allowing the boys to run in the streets, and suspended sentence.

Edgar Freeman, Alfred Shoulein and Jackson Hedgeman made their excuses for riding bicycles on the sidewalks. The Judge was lenient. Clifford Randolph, a colored boy, "up" for the same offense, was lectured severely for trying to evade the truth but he too experienced the clemency of the court. Richard Campbell was released Saturday on suspended sentence for the like offense.

Two other cases completed the long list. Raphael Zoppy has been drinking heavily and threatening to kill his wife. The latter failed to appear against him, however, and the Judge was obliged to release him. The case against Antonio Arietano, charged with being careless in the use of a revolver, was adjourned at the request of counsel, William Newcorn.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Trenton has a policeman who has a lawless record of twenty years, and has three times refused promotion at advanced salary. The Baltimore American suggests that he be sent as a Utopican exhibit to the St. Louis Exposition.—Elizabeth Journal.

New Jersey enjoys the very comforting distinction of possessing the largest cranberry acreage in the country. From its 8,356 acres were picked last year 230,221 bushels of the toothsome accompaniment of the roasted meleagris gallopavo for which Rhode Island is famous. If Jersey and Little Rhody should combine what a Thanksgiving feast they could get up.—Newark Evening News.

Colonel Anthony R. Kuser, of Trenton, himself an expert rifle shot, has added another trophy to those within reach of the marksmen who shoot under the auspices of the New Jersey Rifle Association at Sea Girt. He has presented a silver cup to the association to be competed for annually during the fall matches, the winner to have his name engraved on the cup, and in addition to have his choice of a silver cup valued at $100, or $100 in cash.

The prizes are given for rapid-fire shooting, ten entries of five shot each at a disappearing target, the five shots to be fired within a period of thirty seconds, the five highest scores of each individual to count. The match will be open to civilians as well as to members of the army, navy and National Guard. Colonel Kuser's gift will be an incentive to the development of the most difficult branch of marksmanship.

Accuracy with speed in using the rifle is the most essential requisite for the fighting man, and opening the contest for this rapid-fire trophy to civilians is most wise. Anyone may be called upon to take his place beside the professional fighting men of the army or navy in the event of war, and to be able to shoot straight and often in a given time will be found a most useful accomplishment. It wins battles.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

Of the several designs of voting machines submitted to the State Commission that is to select the eighty-one with which Jersey is to experiment in the fall, only three have thus far been approved. Two of the three are offered by home corporations that had no existence six months ago. In fact, one of them was incorporated in April and the other in May of this year, both after it had been settled that the State was to invest money in the experiment of voting by machinery.

Of course this was business enterprise. At first there was hope that several hundred thousands of dollars would be spent in supplying machines for the entire State, and this will account for the two batches of speculators going to the trouble and expense of incorporating for they are only agents of established concerns. Visions of big commissions were rather rudely dissipated when the Legislature economically decided to buy only enough machines to give each member one for his entire constituency, but at the prices asked about $40,000 must be paid out and that ought to yield a little spending money.

As voting machines in various parts of the country have proved their value by turning in an infallibly accurate vote on the instantaneous plan as soon as the polls closed, about the only merit in the Legislature's caution in taking them up is the opportunity afforded of selecting the best type of machine, for the commission proposes to try several varieties for purposes of comparison. Some extra life will probably be injected into the preliminaries of the fall campaign when the Senators and Assemblymen tackle the job of assigning their single machine to the polling places.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

If the efforts of the Firemen's Relief Association of Plainfield are successful, an old man, known as "Tinker" Smith, who has had a peculiar part in the history of that city and its fire department, will shortly go into the home for aged firemen at Boonton. The association has enlisted the services of a nephew of the old man, and he is working to gain the latter's consent to the institution. To the firemen, Smith holds a most unique position in their lore. Long before Plainfield was anything but a village, Smith was the only fire department the place had. He was in the hardware business, and it was from this that his sobriquet of "Tinker," by which everybody knew him, grew. This was about sixty years ago, when there was no fire protection of any sort in the place. Then an old hand engine was purchased, and the civic mission of Smith was made plain. In front of his store he kept a string of tin pails hanging, and the villages found it the most natural thing in the world to use them whenever there was occasion to keep the machine full for use at a blaze. The string of tinware became a recognized part of the village government, and "Tinker Smith's pails" were to every intent and purpose the only fire department in the place. The pails were used for many years. Smith went out of business in 1868, and retired to a farm in Washington Valley, where he now lives, a feeble and almost helpless old man of eighty-two. His life would be much easier and more comfortable in the home and all the old firefighters in Plainfield are anxious to see him in it. The old man is inclined to oppose the change in his surroundings, but it is hoped that his nephew will argue him into acquiescing in the plans of the men who have his interest at heart.—Newark Sunday Call.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will hold an entertainment tomorrow evening for the members and friends.

—John Reach, of Richmond street, a laborer at the Pond Machine Tool works, was injured while at work this morning. He was taken to the hospital and several stitches taken in a wound in the forehead.

—It was reported here this morning that a trolley car on the Rahway division of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway lines was struck by lightning yesterday afternoon. The car was filled with people bound from this city to Rahway but none was injured. None of the trolley officials in this city knew of the incident when questioned this morning.

At Rifle Range.

About forty members of Company K, under command of Lieut. John M. Lewis, left yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for Sea Girt, where they will spend today on the rifle range. An effort will be made to have a large percentage of the members qualify and good results are expected. The Company will return home this evening.

Raising Funds.

The rally in the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, yesterday, was very successful. There was received in cash $209 and subscriptions amounting to $225 were made, making the total amount realized about $539. There still is a balance of $451 needed and Pastor Jackson hopes to raise this by August 25.

Less Noise.

On several local trolley cars worn out wheels have been removed and new ones put in their place. The change is greatly appreciated by persons who have been troubled by the noise made by the flat-wheel cars.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Several citizens were much amused one day last week in watching the antics of some small boys with a boat in Stony brook under the Greenbrook road bridge near Duer street. The lads induced some of their girls friends to get in for a ride. The latter jumped at the chance and four of them embarked at once. One of the lads dived from a rock, unseen by the feminine passengers and swimming under water came up beneath the boat, upsetting it and dumping the four girls, dressed in their Sunday frocks, into the water. A life saving crew was organized on the spot and the passengers taken to shore. They chimed in a chorus of thanksgiving for deliverance and wound up by saying that "Boys were horrid things, anyhow."

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. SCHOOL AUTHORITIES MAY SUE COUNCIL

The Borough Board Possible Plaintiff to Recover Money Due for School Tax.

NO ACTION AT PRESENT

SIMILAR CONDITION NOW PREVAILS IN THIS CITY.

Doings of North Plainfield Board of Education—A Steel Ceiling for Watchung School—Financial Statement.

That suit will be instituted between the Board of Education of North Plainfield and the borough of North Plainfield for the payment of certain unpaid school taxes amounting to about $2,400, seems possible judging from the attitude of the members of the Board of Education at last night's session. Although the members decided to lay the matter on the table until the next regular meeting, John Valiant, the chairman of the finance committee seems to be decided on collecting the money now overdue. According to the opinion of the Corporation Counsel, it must be paid, as the new school law distinctly says the Board is entitled to it.

Present at the meeting were President James R. Joy, Clerk R. M. Fountain and members, Woodruff, Overton, Burtis and Valiant. The chief item of business was the discussion of the collection of the back school taxes from the borough which embrace the years 1898 to 1902. As told in The Daily Press the amount is a little over $2,400. A demand was made some time ago to the Common Council to pay the bill as it was recently discovered that the Board was entitled to the full amount of the unpaid taxes whether they were collected or not. At the last meeting of the Council no action was taken beyond moving to forward the opinion of Corporation Counsel Reed and a statement of the action taken by the Council on the matter to the Board. It were these which were received last evening.

While, in Mr. Reed's opinion, the school law, as revised in 1901, says that the Board is entitled to the money and should have it, he practically says that the Council will not pay the bill until ordered by the courts so to do. He states that the only practicable method by which the Board can collect the money under the circumstances is by testing the legality of the statute by an issuance of a mandamus compelling the Borough Collector to pay over the amount which would result in a test case.

Several members spoke on the matter. John Valiant said that he was prepared to take issue with Mr. Reed. The State law, he contended, was right and proper and the Board would demand a strict observance of the statute. Continuing he said that the Board was not responsible for the present laws and that the attitude assumed by the Council was to keep the tax rate on one side of the government down at the expense of the other side. "The citizens have to pay the bills, anyway, and it would not be an additional burden whether the amount was paid now or at any time in the future," said he.

Mr. Valiant said that while he had no feeling in the matter and did not want to have any friction with the government, he did not intend to retreat from the position he had taken in the matter and intended seeing it through.

A portion of a letter from Mr. Townsend, who was absent, was read by Mr. Valiant in which Mr. Townsend states that in a conversation with Mr. Abbott, on the present condition in this city, the latter said the reason why the point had not been raised in this municipality was because the Board did not wish to antagonize the city government.

The matter was laid upon the table after considerable discussion. It will be taken up again at the next meeting when all the members will be present. Other matters were then discussed.

Prices for the installation of a new ceiling at the Watchung School, were received. A stamped steel ceiling will cost $165 and a ceiling over iron lath $155; wooden lath, three coats of plaster, $90. It was decided to have the first named ceiling installed. Work will be started at once under the direction of the building and grounds committee. The arrival of the winter supply of coal was announced and provisions were made for the carting.

Bills amounting to $1,301.91 were ordered paid. One thousand dollars will be borrowed by the President and Clerk, on demand, with which to meet the bills. The Collector's report showed: Receipts, $496.25; disbursements, $94.73; balance, $401,53. An executive session followed the public meeting.

ROMANTIC LOVE STORY ON TWO CONTINENTS

Frank Haurand, of This City, Leads the Love of His Youth to the Altar.

COURTED IN GERMANY

A RECEPTION TO BE HELD IN THIS CITY ON THEIR RETURN.

Miss Borneman Followed Haurand to This Country—Were Married in Philadelphia—To Reside Here.

A page of a romantic love story enacted in two countries was closed yesterday morning in a Philadelphia church when Frank Haurand, of this city, and Miss Mary A. Borneman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Borneman, of Philadelphia, were married.

In the little German village of Bornemburg, which was named after Miss Borneman's ancestors, the bride and groom of today played together as children. Side by side they studied in school, as next door neighbors their hours of recreation were spent in each others company and together they grew to manhood and womanhood. Frank Haurand secured a position in the village in a mercantile house.

One day, a relative of Mr. Borneman returned from America with wealth and position. He told of the great wealth of this country. His golden stories of the fabulous wealth of America were the means of causing Mr. Borneman to come across the seas in search of a fortune. Nothing was ever heard of the family of Borneman in the village again.

Frank came to this country and located in Plainfield with his brother Henry. He had given up the sweetheart of his youth for dead. In a moment of dejection he enlisted in the volunteers at the time of the Spanish-American War and fought bravely in Cuba. There he won honorable mention as a sharpshooter.

At the close of the war his mother came to this country to visit her sons. While here she visited friends in Philadelphia. By accident she learned that the long lost Borneman family lived nearby. A few days after the meeting of two lovers the wedding date was announced for July 27.

Yesterday in St. Alphonso's R. C. Church, Philadelphia, Rev. Father Stommel made the two man and wife. Miss Elizabeth Haettel was the bridesmaid and Anthony Borneman, Jr., was the best man. Harry Kennedy and Dr. John Borneman, of Brooklyn, were ushers and the flower girls were Misses Rose Borneman, a sister of the bride and Miss Emma Quickmire.

A short wedding trip will be enjoyed and upon their return they will reside on Somerset street, North Plainfield.

Frank Haurand is the manager of his brother's cafe on East Front street. He is a well known member of the Independent Gun Club and is identified with several lodges in this city.

Upon their arrival in this city a reception will be held in their honor at their newly furnished flat on Somerset street when a family reunion between the members of both families will take place.

D. C. Ivins & Co., End Negotiations and Will Continue Business.

Plainfield, N. J., July 27th, 1903.

Editor, The Daily Press:

There seems to be a report around town that we have sold our lumber and masons' material business to J. D. Loizeaux & Co. While we had some negotiations looking to that end, the deal was not consumated, and we are now in the lumber business on a more extensive scale than ever.

We have made a general reduction in prices on lumber of all kinds, cement, lime, and wall plaster cement. We take this opportunity to state also that we are well supplied with hickory wood, Lehigh and Cannel coals, and we are in a position to supply the public with the best of goods at the lowest prices. COLORED LINE DRAWN AT GALVIN'S PARK

Only Admitted to Resort One Day in the Week in the Future.

REASON FOR EXCLUSION

CHANGE DEMANDED BY PATRONS OF THE PLEASURE GROUND.

White People Not to be Allowed in Park on Thursdays—A Statement by the Proprietor of the Resort.

NOTICE!

"Collored People, Tursday Only"

This is the sign appearing at the entrance of Galvin's Park, which warns the colored folks that their presence is not wanted at that resort. It proved to be a staggerer too, because on Sunday last a balloon ascension was advertised to take place and if there is anything that a colored man likes to see is a fellow in glittering tights sailing heavenward on the swinging trapeze. The sign caused some trouble until its meaning was made plain.

Early Sunday afternoon the people began to gather at the park in large numbers. Two stalwart men stood guard at the rustic gates and passed in the white folks but refused admittance to the colored patrons. Some men tried to force their way in with the result that the aforementioned stalwart men "talked business" with them and finally pursuaded them to leave peaceably. Only four colored men succeeded in gaining admittance and they did not remain on the grounds long.

"Hugh, wha dat mean," said one young woman as she was stopped as she was about to enter the gates, "Is de Jim Crowe law gwine to be unforced in dis yere State too? Tis is de wus I eber saw," and she walked away to board a car for Coney Island.

Many others made some such remark and went away. Peace reigned at the park all day Sunday.

Mr. Galvin was seen yesterday and was asked why he excluded the colored people from the park. He said: "I have received many complaints from my patrons that there were too many colored people in the park. I decided that I would give them one day here for their own use when all white people will be excluded from the grounds. I regret that such a course is necessary but the patrons of the park demanded it."

NOTHING IN THE COMPLAINT

MAJORITY OF BOROUGH HEALTH BOARD TO REVOKE ACTION.

Convinced That There Was No Nuisance on the Property of William L. Saunders.

A special meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Health was arranged to be held last week to reconsider the action previously taken regarding an alleged nuisance on Former Mayor William L. Saunders' property, the call being signed by three of the five members of the board, namely, Joseph O. Osgood, Dr. D. C. Adams and John G. MacLaughlin. Dr. Adams was unable to be present and the meeting could not therefore be held.

Three of the five members of the board are convinced that they were mistaken and are now in favor of retracting the action taken at the July meeting, it being reported at that time that manure heaps were located in the rear of Mr. Saunders' property on Rockview avenue so that they would drain into Stony brook. Notice was sent to Mr. Saunders and he was convinced that the report was without foundation. There were manure piles in the rear of his stable, but the former mayor declared that they were so located that they could not possibly drain into the brook, a wide strip of sand and gravel separating them from it. Accordingly the members of the board were invited by Mr. Saunders to inspect the condition of affairs for themselves which the majority did and found it as already stated.

U. S. SENATOR KEAN TO BE AT BANQUET

One Hundred Men Invited to Feast Following Corner-Stone Laying.

LIST OF THE SPEAKERS

SHORT ADDRESSES BY JUDGE VAIL, JUSTICE VANSYCKEL AND OTHERS.

Board of Freeholders Having Charge of Affair to be Held in Jacob's Theatre—Father Brogan to Offer Prayer.

Following the laying of the corner-stone for the new $600,000 court house at Elizabeth on Thursday morning, there will be a banquet at Jacob's Opera House to be given by the Board of Freeholders in behalf of Union County. The city and county officials, distinguished citizens of the State and the Grand Lodge of F. and A. M., as well as the editors of Union County will be present. Covers will be laid for 100.

Senator John Kean will preside at the banquet and make a brief address. Prayer will be offered by Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, of Rahway, president of the State Catholic Diocesan Union. There will be short speeches by County Judge Vail, Surrogate Parrot, County Collector Wood, Sheriff Coriell and Director Hubbard, of the Freeholders. Supreme Court Justice Bennett VanSyckel, Chancellor Magie and Senator Dryden have been invited to attend the affair.

Among the participants in the exercises will be County Collector Edward M. Wood, of Elizabeth, who projected the new court house and who pushed the scheme through. Other participants also prominently identified with the new structure will be Freeholder John Farrell, of Rahway; Freeholder Jacob Brucklacker, of Elizabeth, and County Director J. Frank Hubbard, of Plainfield, who with County Collector Wood constitute the special building committee having charge of the erection of the new court house, which will take about two and a half years to finish.

The committee having charge of the arrangements for the cornerstone laying consists of Director Hubbard, Freeholders Farrell, Brucklacher, Adams, King, MacCandless, County Collector Wood and S. Rusling Ryno, clerk of the Freeholder Board.

AWNINGS ABLAZE.

Fire Caused by Sparks From a Tinker's Furnace—The Damage Was Slight.

Sparks from a tinker's furnace caught on three of the awnings of the City National Bank building yesterday afternoon and caused an unimportant blaze. The awnings were destroyed and window frames burned. Damage $25 to $50; insured.

It was noted that the department apparatus was a few minutes late in responding to the alarm. This was due to the fact that a telephone message had been received just previous to the summons stating that box 41 was being moved and that an accidental alarm might be expected. Consequently when an alarm did follow immediately, Assistant Chief Jennings waited until the alarm rang in for a second round before responding.

WORK ON SYNAGOGUE.

Specifications Issued Today—Bids to Be Opened and Contract Awarded Next Week.

Specifications were given out this morning for the new synagogue to be erected by the Congregation Children of Israel. A meeting of the committee in charge of the construction of the new tabernacle held a meeting this morning in the store of S. Taub, on Somerset street. The bids will be opened next week and the contracts will be awarded at that time.

Sunday-School Teachers Meeting.

The meeting of the Sunday-school teachers at the Seventh-Day Baptist Church, last evening, for the study of the lesson was the last meeting for the season. In the fall they will be resumed. Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, teaches the lesson and the meetings have been of great help to all the teachers.

PLAINFIELD VISITOR A GLOBE TROTTER

Nebraska Woman Rests Here on Her Eight Thousand Miles Journey.

ON TO JOHANNESBURG

ROMANCE IN THE LIFE OF MRS. LILY RASOR, OF CENTRAL CITY.

Making Present Trip With Her Two Young Sons—The Story of Her Travels—Her Husband in South Africa.

Eight thousand miles is a long distance to travel. Even the experienced globe-trotter might well hesitate before undertaking so wearisome a journey. Yet that is the distance that Mrs. Lily Rasor, of Central City, Nebraska, has travelled twice already and expects to cover again within the next few weeks.

Mrs. Rasor has been spending two weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. Geo. Surtridge, of East Seventh street, preparatory to leaving New York next Thursday for South Africa. She makes the trip with her two small boys, aged four and six years respectively, and goes to meet her husband, George Rasor, who is the superintendent of a gold mine in Johannesburg.

She sails on the steamer Saxon-French from New York and will be five weeks on the water before arriving at Capetown whence she will travel 1,100 miles by rail to Johannesburg. Including the distance of 1,700 miles from Central City, which she left July 1, to New York, the total miles foot up 8,000.

Eight years ago, Mrs. Rasor made the same trip, then with all the joy of anticipation of a young girl going out to meet and marry her betrothed, who had left her years before and with whom she had become engaged by correspondence. Her husband sought and found his fortune, and the young couple lived happily with their two little boys and prospered until the outbreak of the Boer war, when all the women and children of Englishmen and foreigners were forced to quit the country. Then Mrs. Rasor left for her girlhood home in Nebraska where she has remained four years until setting out on her present journey. The joy of the reunion of the husband, wife and children which will follow the tedious sea and land trip may be imagined.

KING JOHN HAS THE D. T.S

WISHES TO LIFT PLATE FROM HEAD TO SHOW ALCOHOL'S EFFECT.

Leading Character in Borough Police Court—Now Bound for Morris Plains.

"I am a king! A real king! See, Judge I carry a crown all the time" and John O'Brien, lifted away the matted hair on the top of his head and exposed to the view of Recorder Doud in the borough court last evening a silver plate. He offered to unscrew it to show the recorder the true effects of alcoholism on the brain but the recorder decided that he did not wish to take any lessons in freak physiology at that time and told the man to keep his "hat on."

John O'Brien hails from Troy, N. Y. He said he left there on the good ship "Nancy Billings," a mud scow bound for New Brunswick, loaded to the bulwarks with brick that is, the scow was loaded. Arriving in Brunswicktown he touched up strongly on some of the "mainbrace splicer" there and came to this city. He obtained employment with W. C. Mundy, a borough mason. "Somerset hops" and "Jersey Lightning," across the brook, has made the man mentally unbalanced and he will probably be sent to Morris Plains today.

Settled Death Claim.

SERIOUSLY INJURED BY FALL FROM CAR

Miss Margaret Totten Steps From Trolley Car as it Started in Motion.

ON HER WAY TO WORK

WOMAN RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS FOR OVER AN HOUR.

A Physician Hurriedly Summoned—Taken to Her Own Home—She Will Recover—Hipp Was Conductor of the Car.

Mrs. Margaret Totten, aged sixty-two years, a widow living at 62 Watchung avenue, was knocked down and severely injured by a trolley car at the corner of Clinton avenue and West Front street yesterday afternoon. She was rendered unconscious for over an hour during which time Dr. Fritts worked over her steadily. She was removed to her home and is now in a precarious condition.

Mrs. Totten is a nurse and was on her way to the home of Mrs. Pound, on Clinton avenue and West Third street, where she is engaged at present. She boarded a trolley car at Park avenue and rode as far as Clinton avenue, when she signaled the conductor to stop. He did so and as she was just stepping off the running board the conductor is said to have given the signal to go ahead. The car started, throwing her to the ground with much force.

Passengers rushed to Mrs. Totten's assistance and found that the woman was severely injured and was unconscious. Dr. Fritts was called and he had the woman taken into the home of Bennet Brittin nearby. There she regained consciousness after the wounds had been dressed.

Just as the woman was being removed to the hospital, her daughter, Mrs. Edward Terry, arrived and took her mother to her own home on Watchung avenue. Dr. Zeglio was also called in at the home of the woman and said that her spine was strained. The car was in charge of Motorman James Hip.

K. OF C. AT THE SHORE.

R. C. Church Fraternal Order to Celebrate Embarkation of Columbus.

The anniversary of the embarkation of Columbus from Palos, Spain, will be celebrated by the Knights of Columbus of New Jersey in Atlantic City on Monday, August 3. John A. O'Keefe, of this city, is a member of the committee of arrangements for the affair. A large number of local Knights attended a convention last year and probably many of them will be on hand next Monday. It is expected that members of the order from other states will join in the festivities, and an elaborate programme has been arranged for their entertainment.

U. S. Team Homeward Bound.

With the Palma trophy packed away in a box conspicuously marked and proudly wearing the medals recenly won, the American rifle team left Bisley Saturday morning for London, where they went aboard the steamship Lucania for this country. The team has presented to Col. Bruce a silver loving cup as a token of esteem.

Mrs. McLochlan Dead.

At the home for Incurables at Fordham, N. Y., Eliza McLochlan, for forty years a nurse and faithful friend in the family of the late Mahlon Vail, died yesterday. She was in the eightieth year of her age. The funeral services will be held at the residence of the family in Park avenue, Wednesday, at 4 o'clock.

Undertaker Hedden Officiates.

Frank Hedden's old dog "Colonel" died last night after fifteen years spent amid the scenes of this life. Old age is given as the cause of death. The funeral will be from his late residence this afternoon. The services will be in charge of Frank Hedden and the interment will take place in the back yard.

Richard is Himself Again.

Richard Meeker evinced a disinclination to riding his bicycle on the street yesterday, his preference for the sidewalk landing him in the city court this morning. Richard was more mild than his name and the Judge compassionately suspended sentence.

Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope Chapel, left yesterday for Jamestown, N. Y., to join his family. He will be away about six weeks.

WESTFIELD ACCIDENT JUST HALF YEAR AGO

Six Months Have Elapsed Since the Terrible Wreck Occurred.

TWENTY-THREE KILLED

LIST OF INJURED INCLUDED APPROXIMATELY ONE HUNDRED.

Night of Suspense Followed by Day of Awful Realization—Commendable Action of the Railroad Company.

It was just six months ago last evening that the citizens of the city and borough were shocked upon receiving the sad news of the railroad disaster on the New Jersey Central at Westfield, when twenty-three people, mostly Plainfielders, were killed and nearly a hundred persons from this city and vicinity, were more or less seriously injured. It was the worst calamity that has befallen Plainfield in all its history.

No one in Plainfield at the time will ever forget that night of intense anxiety when hundreds of people flocked to the North Avenue station to obtain what news they could of the relatives and friends who were on the ill fated train, while others hastened to Westfield in the hopes of learning more quickly the terrible tidings. People ran here and there not knowing where to turn and all were fearful lest some one in their family was numbered among those dead or injured. That night of awful suspense was followed the next day by the terrible truth. When Plainfield awoke to a realization of the catastrophe it was days and weeks before the people recovered from the shock.

Now that six months has passed the accident is occasionally brought to the minds of the general public in one way or other. Much to the credit of the New Jersey Central, a majority of the claims for injuries have been settled satisfactorily and many death-claims have also been adjusted. Within the next few weeks the balance of the claims will be settled. Thus will pass into Plainfield's history an event which will be remembered as the worst misfortunes that has been thus far recorded here.

FOSTER'S COSTLY RIDE.

A Flying Trip on a Special Train From St. Paul to New York City.

J. Hegeman Foster, a New York broker, and a frequent visitor to this city, where he has relatives residing in the borough, was in St. Paul on Sunday when he received a dispatch from New York stating that he was wanted at once. He started without a minute's delay, his only hope of reaching Wall street in time for the Stock Exchange opening yesterday morning was in catching the Twentieth Century flyer, but the general superintendent telegraphed him that the flyer could not be held.

A half hour after reaching Chicago he was transferred to a special train and at Holland, six miles from Toledo, Mr. Foster overhauled the Twentieth Century train and he reached New York just before 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The trip to Toledo from Chicago cost him $235 or $1 a mile.

Rev. Mr. Baker's Thanks.

Rev. H. H. Baker, in the last issue of the Sabbath Recorder, in an article written by himself, thanks those who took part in the recent remembrance of his birthday anniversary at the Seventh-Day Baptist church. He refers pleasantly to the several letters received in honor of the event and of the part taken by Rev. G. B. Shaw, pastor of the local church.

Talk on Holy Land.

President Gardiner, of Salem College, Virginia, will give an illustrated lecture on his trip to the Holy Land in the Seventh-Day Baptist Church tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Mr. Gardiner will exhibit his own views taken while on the trip. An offering will be received for Salem College.

Two-Color Press.

The Aluminum Press Company shipped a two-color press to New York yesterday. The machine is the first of its kind that has been built this year and was made expressly for the Gough-Wilhelm Company, New York publishers. The machine was taken to New York on the large trucks of Wm Hand & Son.

The best way to keep track of the bargains at Lederer's store is by watching his advertisements in The Daily Press. In his ad he states what goods he has to offer and also states the price. A call convinces one of the bargains. A detailed statement of all his bargains would fill a page ad. See his offerings for yourself.

There was a large crowd at Hill & Shupp's store yesterday to take advantage of the many bargains offered in wash goods, fancy, ribbons, men's wear, porch rockers, millinery, as well as in the domestic department. Today another special sale is being held when an opportuniy will be given to householders to get desirable goods.

July Clearing Sales
Assortments are so badly broken that to advertise specific articles, with any assurance that they'll last more than a few hours, is absolutely out of the question. Aisle tables all over the store are filled with bargains of a kind probably never before equaled, even here, and the losses involved are enormous. Inventory will be taken within a few days, and there are innumerable lots that we do not intend to count if half, less than half, and in some instances one-third former markings will bring about a clearing.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years, I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back and relieved my other difficulties. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

Hunter Raine Won at Jamaica.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The midsummer meeting of the Metropolitan Jockey club was ushered in at Jamaica under favorable conditions. Although there were two stake features the chief interest centered in the running of the Glendale handicap at a mile and a furlong, which was won by Hunter Raine. W. R. Condon made the early pace. In the stretch Hunter Raine and Rochampton closed and in a driving finish Hunter Raine gained the decision by two lengths from the favorite, Rochampton, who in turn was three-quarters of a length in front of W. R. Condon. Rochampton pulled up lame, and it is doubtful if he will race again this year. Hazelwood, under Bullman's hustling ride, won the Youthful stakes for two-year-olds. After a miserable run of the favorite, Oom Paul, in the sixth race the stewards called Gannon, his rider, into the stand. Gannon said he was unable to make the horse run. He finished last by nearly an eighth of a mile. The stewards will investigate the race.

Thirty Footers Have Accidents.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 28.—A series of accidents befell the thirty footers while racing for sweepstakes. The Vaquero, sailed by Harry Payne Whitney, was put out of the race by her mast going by the board. The stick broke off near the middle and, with sails and rigging, went over to leeward. While the Vaquero was being towed ashore the Barbara, sailed by Winthrop Rutherford, carried away her starboard spreader and was compelled to withdraw from the race. Carolina and Breeze had it out over the full eight mile triangular course, the former winning by thirteen seconds. Raccoon was third.

Glassful Wins In a Gallop.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The July Selling stake at Hawthorne was won in a gallop by Glassful. Orsina finished second, a length and a half in front of Serge. Atlantico, backed from 15 to 1 down to 10 to 1, won the first race by a nose from the favorite, My Gem. Louisville, at 20 to 1, captured the fourth race; Optional, at 12 to 1, took the fifth.

Miss Mae Day Won at Delmar.

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—Miss Mae Day won the feature at Delmar park under wraps in the fast time of 1:47½, half a second above the track record.

"Freedom" and "Slavery."

ST. PETERSBURG, July 28.—The Novoe Vremya has printed a cartoon representing Uncle Sam driving an automobile over two negroes, his right hand wielding a whip and his left supporting the stars and stripes, with the mottoes "Freedom" and "Slavery."

CARDINALS IN ROME

Many Favor Angelo di Pietro as Leo's Successor.

GIBBONS GETS A WARM WELCOME

Irish Representative Said of Gibbons That No American Would Care to Spend the Rest of His Life In the Vatican.

ROME, July 28.—Almost all the cardinals of the conclave have now arrived. Their time has been mainly occupied with lengthy meetings of the congregation. In well informed circles Cardinal Angelo di Pietro, prodatary of the late pope, is being talked of as a compromise candidate in the event that Cardinals Oreglia, Gotti, Rampolla or Serafino Vannutelli is unable to secure the necessary votes. Should Di Pietro be elected pope he would, it is said, be the representative of the Rampolla-Gotti faction and yet would be fairly acceptable to all.

Cardinal Michael Logue, archbishop of Armagh, who, with the exception of Cardinal Gibbons, will be the only English speaking cardinal in the conclave, has arrived from Ireland. He said he believed that the successor to Leo would be quickly chosen. In his case perhaps the hope is father to the thought, as he said he did not look forward with a great degree of pleasure to being shut up in the Vatican during the present hot weather. Speaking of Cardinal Gibbons, the Irish cardinal paid him a glowing tribute, though, like all the prelates here, he held out no hope that the American cardinal had the remotest chance of election.

"Indeed," said Cardinal Logue, "I think Cardinal Gibbons would be a subject for commiseration if the selection should devolve upon him, for no American would care to spend the rest of his life confined within the precincts of the Vatican."

The Irish cardinal expressed the opinion that the question of sending a note to the powers protesting against the treatment of the Vatican by the Italian government should be left to the next pope.

At the meeting of the congregation fifty-two cardinals were present, and all noticed the exceptionally cordial reception accorded to Cardinal Gibbons, who was visibly touched by it. He thanked all his colleagues and embraced Cardinal Satolli. The American cardinal has given no indication of his predilection in regard to the election of the new pope and has refused to see any journalist.

Cardinal Ciriaco Maria Sancha y Hervas; the archbishop of Toledo, delivered a short address to the cardinals in presenting the condolences of the royal family of Spain. The Spanish people remember with affection the predilection of Leo XIII. for Spain and the help their country received during difficult moments from the deceased pontiff, who, being the godfather of King Alfonso, was considered by all Spaniards a beloved father who watched their destiny. Cardinal Oreglia thanked the Spanish cardinal in the name of the sacred college, making himself the interpreter of the satisfaction which the cardinals felt over the noble words and high sentiments which he had expressed.

Each of the cardinals during the conclave will have a suit of apartments comprising four rooms, made up of three bedrooms, one for the cardinal, one for his conclavist and a third for his servant. The fourth room will be used as a saloon or dining room, according to circumstances.

Several of the cardinals proposed, in view of the extreme heat, to celebrate mass during the conclave in the Pauline chapel early enough every morning to complete the morning balloting in the Sistine chapel by 11 o'clock.

A press representative has paid a visit to the cell which Cardinal Gibbons will occupy during the conclave. When the lots for apartments were drawn the American cardinal drew No. 5, the modest apartment of Commendatore Puccinelli, the master of the house. It is a few steps up from the ground floor on the left of the noble staircase entering from the court of San Damaso. The bedroom of the cardinal is decorated with paper of an ordinary yellowish gray, and it contains a small black iron bed, a marble top dressing table, a small writing desk, an armchair, an iron clothes stand, a little, high, movable mirror framed in iron and wood and a prie dieu at the side of the bed. Over the bed hangs a picture of a Madonna. Adjoining this is the room of the conclavist, which is smaller, with about the same furniture except that the chairs are more simple, with cane bottoms, and with a mirror and clothes pegs attached to the walls. A smaller room, with a camp bed, is for the use of the servant. The fourth room will be of little use, as it is without a window. The apartment is lighted with electricity. It will probably be very warm, as it has a full southern exposure.

A proclamation has been posted in the streets of Rome inviting citizens to attend the annual commemoration of the death of King Humbert, which will take the form of a procession through the streets to the Pantheon. Early in the morning of July 29, under the auspices of patriotic and other societies, the Italians will visit the tomb of Humbert at the Pantheon and decorate it with flowers. Commemorative exercises at the capitol will follow. For this event King Victor Emmanuel and the queen will return to Rome tomorrow. The ecclesiastics view the approaching ceremony with some alarm, believing that the anticlericals may take advantage of the opportunity to make a counter demonstration against the sympathy exhibited all over Italy in connection with the death of the pope.

BREAK FOR LIBERTY

Convicts In Fierce Fight Kill Guards and Escape.

STATE TROOPS ARE IN PURSUIT.

Prisoners at Folsom, Cal., Arm Themselves, Seize Their Keepers and, Using Them as a Shield, Get Away.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 28.—Thirteen desperate prisoners confined in the Folsom penitentiary made a successful break for liberty at the breakfast hour. After a fierce fight in the captain's office, during which a turnkey was fatally stabbed, a guard was killed and another officer was wounded, the convicts seized arms and ammunition and, using the warden and other officers as shields, escaped. State troops ordered out by Governor Pardee have gone in pursuit.

William L. Cotter, a guard, was cut in the abdomen; died five hours later.

C. J. Cochrane, turnkey, was stabbed in the back; will probably die.

W. C. Palmers was cut in the head.

The convicts made their break for liberty about 7 a. m. They went to the office of R. J. Murphy, captain of the guard, and seized Warden Wilkinson, his grandson, Harry Wilkinson; Captain Murphy and several other officers and guards. A desperate fight took place. The convicts were armed with knives and razors, and with these they assaulted Warden Wilkinson and his officers. The warden's clothing was slashed into shreds with a razor, but the blade did not touch the flesh. Turnkey Cochrane fought the convicts with a chair, raining blows upon them right and left. Finally he was felled by a knife thrust in the back. Guard Cotter was disemboweled by a cut in the abdomen, and he died about noon. Palmers was severely cut in the head. The floor of the office was covered with blood.

The officers were easily outnumbered and were soon relieved of their arms. Then, using the officers as shields, the convicts started for the armory, on the outskirts of the penitentiary grounds. They passed a Gatling gun on one of the walls, but the guards were afraid to shoot at the convicts for fear of killing the prison officials.

When the armory was reached officers there attempted to interfere, but were quickly overpowered, and the convicts, after fortifying themselves further with rifles, knives, pistols and ammunition, made a dash for the country.

Convicts, each armed with a rifle, marched one on either side of Warden Wilkinson, who was threatened with death if he made an attempt to escape, and the officers were told that if any of the pursuers took the life of one of their number they would retaliate, life for life. At Mormon bridge, about a mile from the penitentiary, the warden, his grandson and Captain Murphy were released and sent back. The others were marched along with the convicts.

Farther on the convicts went to a farmer's house, seized his four horse team and wagon, stripped the house of all its portable valuables, took the farmer with them as a driver and headed for Bald mountain. Evidently it is their intention to reach Alabaster cave, situated near this mountain.

Among the officers carried off by them is General Overseer McDonough. Some fears are felt for his safety, as he bears the especial ill will of the convicts.

Edward at Belfast.

BELFAST, Ireland, July 28.—The welcome extended to King Edward and Queen Alexandra at the capital of Ulster was marked by the same enthusiasm which has followed their progress through Ireland. The city was elaborately decorated and thronged with sightseers, and the streets were lined by 10,000 troops, 2,000 blue jackets and 5,000 police.

All Quiet at Danville.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 28.—Adjutant General Scott had a conversation by telephone with Lieutenant Colonel John M. Closby, commanding the First battalion, guarding the jail at Danville, in which Colonel Closby said all was quiet in that city, that the mob had dispersed and that the work of repairing the jail was progressing.

Mount Vernon Sewer Murder.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., July 28.—Gottfried Eichel has identified the body of the woman found with a cord tied tightly around her neck in a sewer in this city as that of Mrs. Gussie Ebelt, his stepdaughter. The police of White Plains have arrested Martin Ebelt, the woman's husband, and charged him with having murdered her.

Railway Wreck In Scotland.

LONDON, July 28.—Thirteen persons have been killed and a score injured in a railway accident at Glasgow, where an excursion train from the Isle of Man crashed into the buffers at the station. Two cars were telescoped in the crash. Among the killed were all the members of one family.

Four Victims of Shooting Affray.

ROLLA, Mo., July 28.—In a shooting affray at Arlington, twelve miles south of Rolla, four persons were wounded, and two of them will probably die. The fight was the result of an old grudge. The fatally wounded are Perry Andres, a guide on the Gasconade river, and J. W. McDowell.

Farm Machinery Maker Dead.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., July 28.—Peter Wolf is dead after a lingering illness at his home here, aged seventy-seven. He was well known among farm machinery manufacturers throughout the country.

RELIANCE IS CHOSEN

Iselin's New Yacht Will Defend America's Cup.

HER SUPERIORITY ACKSOWLEDGED

Committee Decided That No More Trial Races Are Necessary, as the New Defender's Showing Entitles Her to the Honor.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 28.—After the race between the Reliance, Constitution and Columbia, in which the former boat again demonstrated her superiority over the other two, the challenge committee of the New York Yacht club selected the Reliance as the defender of the America's cup.

It was also decided to discontinue the trial races, as the committee did not feel that more were necessary. There were present at the meeting Commodore Bourne and Messrs. Forbes, Cormack and Robinson of the cup committee, as well as C. Oliver Iselin, managing owner of the Reliance; E. D. Morgan of the Columbia and August Belmont of the Constitution.

Messrs. Morgan and Belmont were perfectly satisfied with the choice of the committee. They are both of the opinion that the Reliance is the fastest of the trio and after the committee had announced its selection heartily congratulated Mr. Iselin and wished him the best of luck.

When Mr. Belmont came ashore he said, "I guess the agony is all over."

From the showing of the three boats during the season there was no doubt, it being the general opinion that the Reliance was fairly entitled to be the defending vessel. In every race she has crossed the finish line ahead and has lost but few events on time allowance. It is probable that the defender will proceed to Bristol for a thorough overhauling and then go to New Rochelle.

Bribe Money Sent to Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The secretary of war has sent to the treasury department a box of cigars and $100 which was received from the department of Texas. It appears that Colonel Clem, chief quartermaster of the department, found the box of cigars on his desk and upon opening it discovered that it was from a contractor who was doing some work under the quartermaster's supervision. In the box was the money. The colonel was very indignant and referred the matter to General Fred Grant, commanding the department. The contractor acknowledged sending the cigars by a messenger boy, but said he did not know anything about the money.

Cause of Panama Coup.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Dr. Herran, Colombian charge d'affaires here, having received no official information from his government regarding the troubles at Panama, was not prepared to express an opinion as to the situation there. An opinion expressed outside the Colombian legation concerning the affair at Panama is to the effect that the government at Bogota had determined to obtain a firm hold on the Isthmus in view of the rumors of a feeling of unrest there due to the uncertainty as to the fate of the treaty.

Serious Fire In Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 28.—The large Eighth street market house in this city has been totally destroyed by fire. The structure was four stories high. The first floor was used as a market, the second floor was occupied by the executive officers of the Dupont Powder company, and the Bowe Carriage company used the third and fourth floors. The loss is estimated at $100,000, partly covered by insurance. The carriage company is the heaviest loser.

Monterey a Total Wreck.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 28.—The British steamer Monterey, which went ashore near St. Pierre-Miquelon, is going to pieces owing to a fierce gale which is raging. The steamers Grand Lake and Algerine have left here to assist in salving the cargo and freighting the cattle aboard to Sydney. The Monterey has 50,000 sacks of flour aboard which, it is feared, cannot be saved.

Bloomingdale Cottage Burns.

KINGSTON, N. Y., July 28.—A cottage owned and occupied by Bloomingdale Bros. of New York at Fleischman's, near Catskill, was burned to the ground. It is thought the fire was started by young men who were smoking on the veranda. But for the prompt work of the fire department and neighbors other cottages would have suffered. The loss is $30,000.

Best Workmen Emigrating.

VIENNA, July 28.—A report by the chief industrial inspector of Austria shows that the labor situation in this country is greatly depressed, many factories running on short time and the families of the industrial classes suffering. The most capable workmen, particularly the machinists and metal workers, are emigrating to England and America.

Conference on Needed Reforms.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 28.—A conference will be held here shortly at which the recent manifestations of the mob spirit in this country will be discussed. Men of note will deliver addresses on feud assassinations, lynching and labor riots, their cause and the means to stamp them out.

Child Drowned While Wading.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 28.—Julia E. Rice, thirteen years old, daughter of James J. Rice of Worcester, was drowned at Jefferson. She was wading with other children and fell into a deep hole.

The automobile is fast supplanting Patrolman Higgins as a dog killer.

With salt, ammonia and alcohol, Dr. Charles W. Littlefield says he can create life. Snakes?

The announcement to the effect that a baseball player "hurt two of his ankles" is interesting. Wonder what happened to his other ankles.

Edouard A. Martel, a celebrated, physicist, declares that the earth is getting dry. Still there is a refreshment you can get "out of the wood."

President Roosevelt has been invited to a clam bake. He should be right at home with clams for if anyone comes in contact with them in political life it is the chief executive of the nation.

It was just a half year ago last night that the terrible wreck occurred at Graceland, bringing untold affliction to this city and general sorrow throughout the State. Twenty three precious lives were lost and at least ninety wrecked to some degree by that awful disaster.

Chautauqua County, Kansas, pedagogues must refrain from courtship and marriage durirg the school term, according to a contract which the school directors compel them to sign. Goodness sakes, haven't the people out there heard of the strenuous man's epistle on race suicide?

We suggest to Mr. Keeley and the street department that at least two of those water wagons be kept constantly at work in the business section of the city. People congregate more thickly in that portion and for that reason as well as for the additional fact that the merchants are compelled to keep the doors of their business houses closed that the dust should be kept laid.

General regret was expressed in this city yesterday when the news came that Edwin S. Hooley's firm had failed. Except to the few that follow the stock market the announcement was entirely unexpected. It was indeed surprising to see how fast the news spread about the streets. Go where you would it was the topic of discussion and Mr. Hooley should be proud of the fact that nothing but words of sincere sympathy were expressed by his fellowtownsmen, who esteem him as a public spirited citizen. The entire community hopes that he will quickly recover his position in the financial world.

The New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals has been laying low this summer awaiting the possible reorganization of the court by the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendments. The reason for the inaction it is claimed is that the reorganization of the court would mean the rearguing of many of the cases and consequently few of the judges have availed themselves of the opportunity to work.

Should the proposed amendments providing for an independent court of appeals prevail the new court will find itself confronted at the outset with at least fifty cases submitted in June with a prospect of not less than eighty or ninety additional cases on the calendar of the November term. On the other hand, should the amendments fail of adoption, the present court of errors will likely have to pay dearly for its summer vacation.

An Umbrella Factory

In our West Show Windows may be seen an Umbrella Factory, fully equipped, with skilled operators at work making new umbrellas and repairing old ones. This is one of the most interesting window displays yet thought of. It was originated by the Worcester Mass. Umbrella Company, makers of the Celebrated "Heart Brand" Umbrellas, and has proved a stupendous drawing card wherever exhibited.

Special Values in Umbrellas will be offered all this week during the exhibition. An unusual large assortment will be displayed.

HEART BRAND UMBRELLAS MADE BY WORCESTER UMBRELLA CO. WORCESTER MASS. U.S.A.

If your umbrella needs a little cobbling such as a new rib, a new cover or a new handle, bring it in and have it made as good as new at trifling cost. If you have a valuable handle which you would like remounted it will be done in a most satisfactory manner and at reasonable cost. At any rate do not fail to see this most unique and interesting exhibition of Modern Umbrella Building.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The boldness of the chicken thieves who have visited this section a great deal of late, reached a climax last Thursday night when forty spring chickens were taken from the henery of Howard Bird in West Dunellen. The thieves visited the place shortly after midnight and after silencing the dog with some meat captured the game without interruption. They evidently intended to go into the business on a wholesale plan as they used a wagon to carry off the chickens. As yet no trace of the culprits has been discovered.

An automobile, running at about twenty-five miles an hour, struck a bicyclist at the curve on North avenue, Sunday evening. The machine came around the curve without giving any warning and after striking the man and hurling him into the ditch, ran right on through town without stopping. Fortunately the bicyclist was struck a glanced blow and received notihng more than a shaking up. It is about time the borough got after these autos with an ordinance limiting their speed.

FIRE CAUSES DEATH.

Guests Have Narrow Escapes—Shock Kills Owner's Wife.

NORFOLK, Va., July 28.—The big Nags Head hotel at the North Carolina ocean resort of that name has been totally destroyed by fire. The hotel had 140 guests, and all were saved, though Mrs. John Z. Lowe of Norfolk, wife of the proprietor, died afterward as the result of excitement. Mrs. Lowe had been a sufferer for some time from heart trouble.

The guests lost practically all their effects, and some even lost what cash they had on hand, leaving them destitute.

The crew of the United States life saving station near by rendered all possible assistance, and the guests were cared for at the life saving station and by cottagers near by. Nags Head is on a strip of land consisting of a solid sand bank about half to three-quarters of a mile wide, with Albemarle sound on the east and the ocean on the west.

Manchurian Trade Treaty.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—While there has been a lull in the Manchuria negotiations, it is stated that up to this point satisfactory progress has been made, and there is every reason to believe that before the 1st of September next a treaty will be ready for signature which will define the trade opportunities of the United States in Manchuria. An authorized statement on the situation is as follows: "The question of the opening of new localities to trade in Manchuria has been in substance satisfactorily arranged with the Chinese government, and nothing remains to be settled but the question of the date when said localities shall be opened. This naturally will be subsequent to the exchange of ratifications of the treaty in which the opening is agreed upon."

Japanese Newspaper Man Held.

SHANGHAI, July 28.—Counsel has appealed to the foreign ministers for advice on the subject of the request of the Chinese officials that Chinese editors arrested on charges of sedition should be turned over to Chinese jurisdiction. Some of the ministers hold that the treaty ports cannot be used to shelter native newspapers which attack the government. Several reformers have been arrested at Peking, the most prominent of whom is the correspondent of an Osaki (Japan) newspaper.

British Steamer's Narrow Escape.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—The British tank steamer Baku Standard, from Tyne, arrived here with a hole in her bow as a result of a collision with an iceberg. The British tanker was steaming slowly over the Grand banks off Newfoundland during a dense fog when an iceberg about 200 feet high loomed up dead ahead. The engines were reversed, but before the steamer could be diverted from her course the bow struck the submerged portion of the iceberg.

Boat Fireman's Skull Fractured.

CLAYTON, N. Y., July 28.—Robert Coleman, fireman on the steamer America, was killed while the boat was in port at Kingston, Canada, with an excursion from the Thousand islands. He was standing on the cylinder of the engine tightening a nut when his wrench slipped and he fell, fracturing his skull.

Jealousy Caused Fatal Stabbing.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Because he thought Matteo Aieto was paying too much attention to his wife Michael Davati stabbed with a stiletto and killed Aieto in the latter's room at Davati's boarding house. Davati was arrested.

"El Mocho" In Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—General Jose Manuel Hernandez, the recently appointed Venezuelan minister to the United States, has arrived in Washington.

RAILWAY MEN SPRUCED UP.

Trainmen Must Always Appear as Dapper as Strollers on the Boulevard.

One railroad company with offices in Chicago has long made the study of etiquette one of the duties of its trainmen. The men must not swear, nor use slang, nor be peevish, nor discourteous, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Erie Railroad company now comes along with still a newer idea. The trainmen must always appear as dapper as a stroller on the boulevard. They must keep their shoes well shined. Their clothes must fit them faultlessly, and, most of all, there must be creases in the trousers of every uniformed employe of the road.

Down in Indiana, at a division point, three of four tailors are kept busy pressing uniforms. Both in Chicago and at the other end of the run bootblacks are employed to keep clean the "boots" of the employes.

The idea of making a dapper-looking company out of the employes is new to Chicago, although the idea has been tried in the east for several weeks. At Jersey City six tailors are constantly employed and the bootblacks are kept busy.

Each employe is given two tickets, one of which passes current with the tailor, while the other is as good as a dime with the bootblacks. Each employe is told to use the tickets freely, to look well all times, and not to be bashful about asking for new tickets when the old ones are gone.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

Bankers and Errand Boys Stand Side by Side in Baseball Season.

The baseball fever is no respecter of persons. The broker with the high hat and the bank account and the barefooted boy stand side by side and eagerly await the next inning. But there is some little interest when it comes out that the fever that comes with the first game reaches the dignified ecclesiastic. But if does, and it sometimes goes very high, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

One day last summer, when the leading teams were running very close, a reporter called on Cardinal Gibbons to ask him some questions regarding the pope's encyclical which had recently been published. The cardinal granted the interview and the reporter left the room. He was going down the steps when his eminence, leaning over the landing, called out:

"Have you heard to-day's score?"

"Yes," said the surprised reporter, "it was 2 to 3 and in our favor."

"Good," said the cardinal, with a smile, "that put us two points ahead, doesn't it?"

The reporter didn't know, but he realized that the cardinal knew a great many things that he didn't know.

WHAT "MAGNET" COMES FROM

Interesting Information Concerning the Source of the Word So Commonly Used.

Thousands of years ago a mineral having the strange power of attracting iron was found in the country anciently called Magnesia, in Asia Minor. The name of this country has given us the word "magnet," says an article "About Magnets," in St. Nicholas. This mineral, which is now called the lodestone (not loadstone), attracted attention of the curious, and it was discovered that a piece of iron which had been rubbed with the lodestone acquired the same power of attracting iron; in other words, the piece of iron became a magnet. It was afterward found that such an iron or artificial magnet could be used like the lodestone itself to convert other pieces of iron into magnets by rubbing. Still more recently a mode of making magnets by means of electricity was discovered, that is, by wrapping a piece of insulated wire many times around the bar and then causing a current of electricity to pass through the wire. The familiar small toy magnets are simply steel bars which have been rubbed a few times against powerful magnets.

Uses of Shark Fins.

In some countries walking-sticks are manufactured from shark fins. From the skin of the animal is obtained a leather suitable for making sword-grips and many fancy articles. Sharks abound on the coast of Nicaragua, and Mr. Gottschalk, the United States consul at San Juan del Norte, suggests that the fins, backbone and skins might with advantage be imported into the United States for industrial purposes. The killing of sharks is encouraged by the Nicaraguan fishery laws, and there appears to be no export duty on any industrial product derived from them.

Private Entrance for President.

The president of the United States will have a private entrance for himself and family in the fine new railroad station now being constructed in Washington. Mr. Cleveland used to escape the crowds by having his driver take him to the forward ends of the trains, instead of entering at the front of the station, but even this refuge is no longer practicable, so the private entrance has been arranged.

Whis Wagons Scare Cattle.

A farmer complains that his cattle grazing in fields near a motor-frequented highway, instead of fattening, are growing thinner and thinner from fright.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.
FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

A GIRL'S SUCCESS.

How Louise Dodge Managed a Musical Festival.

Southern girls go north to seek and win success in newspaper and other fields; northern girls go south for the same purpose, and also attain the goal of their quest. It is a good blending of the people at the geographical poles of this nation. It makes them know each other better, consequently like each other better. Girls make admirable messengers of peace and good will.

A few years ago a northern girl of the best type, Louise Frances Dodge, removed to Florida. Her parents had settled there some time before, her father being a Presbyterian minister and in charge of a congregation near Tampa. The daughter tarried behind to complete her education, which she did at the University of Michigan, after being graduated from the normal department of the University of Nashville. At Ann Arbor she was one of the editors of the college daily, which, though she did not know it, was the breaking in for the work that was before her.

After leaving college she joined her parents in Florida, where, as she says, she "began writing of things in which I was especially interested—toward the upbuilding of the state." Rather an unusual subject for a girl to be interested in, that was. But in the Dodge family is an ancient patent of land rights given to one of her ancestors, who was a brigadier in the Revolution and the friend of Washington. The document says the patent was issued to General Ebenezer Learned, "who did valiant service for the public good and encouraged his heirs and successors to continue in like virtue and noble conduct."

Continuing in like virtue and noble conduct, therefore, his great-great-granddaughter became very early interested in the public welfare. Her girlish letters on the "upbuilding of the state" were published in a Florida newspaper. Girlish though they were, they spoke the power and spirit of the woman. Awhile after she wrote them Miss Dodge went to Tampa to visit friends, and while there she was invited to become a member of the staff of a daily paper—and there she is at present.

Technically Miss Dodge's post is that of society editor of her paper, but she has broadened her mission till it includes all that goes to the bettering and beautifying of Tampa and that part of Florida. This is what newspaper women and all other women in America might do and ought to do in their respective localities, but too often do not.

Miss Dodge became society editor of the paper some two years ago and at once felt that on her it was incumbent to give good justification to all the people of Tampa for her selection. She widened the duties of society editor to take in the schools and public institutions of Tampa. She founded a musical club and an art club. She herself is a singer of fine gifts.

Part of the labor of love she imposed on herself was to visit personally the Tampa schools and report items concerning them that interested the public in their progress. She made a tour of the schools about once every six weeks during all the last school year.

The largest of her undertakings, however, were the planning and successful carrying through of a Tampa May musical festival. Tampa needed an orphans' home. Miss Dodge resolved to start a fund for its establishment. To this end was the musical festival. It lasted through three days, and Miss Dodge arranged its programme and every detail and managed it herself. The exercises included a children's concert, old folks' concert and a military and minstrel matinee. It was the first May musical festival Tampa had ever given, and it went off with a whirl. At its close, when all its affairs were settled, Miss Dodge laid down several hundred dollars as a starter for the orphans' home fund. Considering the size of Tampa, this was an admirable result.

Then the young lady dropped back into the public spirited society editor. But the people of Tampa appreciate so well her good work for them that they cannot speak too highly in her praise. Miss Dodge has now in hand a project for the erection of a free drinking fountain for her city.

She says modestly of herself that she is not so much literary as interested in public affairs and that she was drawn to newspaper work primarily because it offered so many opportunities for being widely useful.

Miss Carmelita Beckwith is now advertising manager of the publicity department of a leading electrical and illuminating company in New York. She receives a handsome salary and is proving her worth. Miss Beckwith has been a newspaper writer and reporter.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Robert Company.

They might take for their own purposes his wagon, his mules and that store of money, but his life was safe, yes, and Nanette's too. Of this she was so confident that people began to wonder whether she had not received some assurance to that effect, and when Pete, the stable boy driver, turned up at the end of the first week with a cock and bull story about having stolen an Indian pony and shot his way from the midst of the Sioux away up on No Wood Creek, on the west side of the hills, and as having ridden by night and hidden by day until he got back to the Platte and Frayne, people felt sure of it. Pete could talk Sioux better than he could jabber English. He declared the Indians were in the hills by thousands, and were going to take Hay and the young lady away off somewhere to be held for safe keeping. He said the two troops that, never even halting at Frayne, had pushed out on the trail, would only get into trouble if they tried to enter the hills from the south, and that they would never get the captives, wherein Pete was right, for away out among the spurs and gorges of the range, 50 miles from Frayne, the pursuers came upon the wreck of the wagon at the foot of an acclivity, up which a force of Sioux had gone in single file. Many warriors it would seem, however, must have joined the party on the way, and from here—where with the wagon was found Hay's stout box, bereft of its contents—in four different directions the pony tracks of little parties crossed or climbed the spurs, and which way the captives had been taken, Capt. Billings, the commander, could not determine. What the Sioux hoped he might do was divide his force into four detachments and send one on each trail. Then they could fall upon them, one by one, and slay them at their leisure. Billings saw the game, however, and was not to be caught. He knew Bill Hay, his past and his popularity among the redmen. He knew that if they meant to kill him at all they would not have taken the trouble to cart him miles beforehand. He dropped the stern chase then and there, and on the following day skirted the foothills away to the east and, circling round to the breaks of the Powder as he reached the open country, struck and hard hit a scouting band of Sioux, and joined the general three days later, when most he was needed, near the log palisades of Old Fort Beecher.

Then there had been more or less of mysterious coming and going among the half-breed hangers-on about the trader's store, and these were things the new post commander knew not how to interpret, even when informed of them. He saw Mrs. Hay but once or twice. He moved into the quarters of Maj. Webb, possessing himself, until his own should arrive, of such of the major's belongings as the vigilance of Mistress McGann would suffer. He stationed big guards from his two small companies about the post, and started more hard swearing among his own men, for "getting only two nights in bed," than had been heard at Frayne in long months of less pious post commandership. He strove to make himself agreeable to the ladies, left lamenting for their lords, but as luck would have it, fell foremost into the clutches of the quartermaster's wife, the dominant and unterrified Wilkins.

Just what prompted that energetic and, in many ways, estimable woman, to take the new major into close communion, and tell him not only what she knew, but what she thought, about all manner of matters at the post, can never be justly determined. But within the first few days of his coming, and on the eve of the arrival of Gen. Field, Maj. Flint was in possession of the story of how devoted young Field had been to Esther Dade, and how cruelly he had jilted her for the brilliant Miss Flower, "her that was gone with the Sioux." The differences between her stout, veteran liege and the smooth-faced stripling had given her text to start with. The story of the money lost had filtered from her lips, and finally that of other peccadilloes, attributable to the young post adjutant, whom, as she said, "The meejor had to rejuice and sind to the front all along of his doin's in gar'son." Dade was gone. There was no man save Wilkins to whom Maj. Flint felt that he could appeal for confirmation or denial of these stories. Dr. Waller was his senior in the service by ten years at least, and a type of the old-time officer and gentleman of whom such as Flint stood ever in awe. He preferred, therefore, as he thought, to keep the doctor at a distance, to make him feel the immensity of his, the post commander's station, and so, as Wilkins dare not disavow the sayings of his wife, even had he been so minded, the stories stood.

Flint was thinking of them this very evening when Dr. Waller, happening to meet him on his way from hospital, briefly said that Gen. Field should be with them on the morrow. "He leaves Rock Creek to-night, having hired transportation there. I had hoped our lad might be in better spirits by this time."

The major answered vaguely. How could a lad with all these sins upon his soul be in anything but low spirits? Here was a brand to be snatched from the burning, a youth whom prompt, stern measures might redeem and restore, one who should be taught the error of his ways forthwith; only, the coming of the member of the military committee of the house of representatives might make the process embarrassing. There were other ways, therefore and however, in which this valuable information in the major's possession might be put to use, and of these was the major thinking, more than of the condition of the wounded lad, physical or spiritual, as homeward through the gloaming he wended his way.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

PRONUNCIATION OF "GOLF."

Scotchman Who Played the Game in 1838 Is Distressed by Varied English Accents.

A Scotch golfer who played golf in 1838, before the railway era and long before the English took up the game, writes the London Times that the English are mispronouncing the name of the national game in a way that distresses him. He proceeds to say that among gentlemen who had been in England or India, and were free from the pronounced Scotch accent, the game was called "gofe," by caddies and those speaking a broad Scotch it was "gowf." The phrase, "folk play golf," was pronounced by gentlemen "foke play gofe," "gofe" rhyming with "loaf." By caddies it was pronounced "fowk play gowf." There was a third pronunciation, but it was an affectation, "goff." Those who so pronounced it here were supposed to speak high English, avoiding the broad pronunciation of the letter "a," a prevalent Scotch substitute for "e."

"E" used short is "i," thus, "heftpest sivin," for half-past seven. This peculiar dialect is greatly admired by my fellow countrymen, he says, and was known to them as Edinburg English, but even in the unsounded "l" in golf could they have foreseen what the actual future mispronunciation of the English on taking up the game would have been with what joy would they have called it "gawlf." It would have seemed to them "so English."

AN INCORPORATED FAMILY.

The Fairbanks, of Dedham, Mass., Hold a Reunion with Interesting Results.

The scale of business being prosperous and leaf-lard in brisk demand, the tribe of Fairbanks thought itself warranted in holding a reunion last August at the Fairbanks homestead, in Dedham, Mass., Jonathan Fairbanks was the original American ancestor, and from him are descended 4,000 American families, says Harper's Weekly. The reunion turned out to be interesting and successful, and one of its results is the recent filing of articles of incorporation of the Fairbanks Family in America, as a society for historical purposes, to hold property, preserve records and objects of family interest and promote the education of its members in subjects relating to their family history. The society will buy the Dedham homestead and make that its headquarters, and will doubtless raise as large a fund as is necessary to provide a sufficient annual income to carry on its work. The project seems adapted to furnish a good deal of lawful and innocent entertainment at small cost, and is likely to commend itself to other families that are scattered over the United States.

WHERE TRAMPS LUXURIATE.

Summer Cottages on the Atlantic Coast Used by the Hobos as Winter Quarters.

All along the Atlantic coast, from Florida to Maine almost, there are scores of summer hotels, with the cottages annexed to them, sheltering guests who pay neither for rent, food nor fuel. They have no smiling and effulgent clerk to bid them welcome and put their valuables in the safe; no bell boys at the call; no waiters to tip; no telephone connection with a near-by livery stable. Their names are not published in the newspapers. They seek seclusion, not notoriety. They keep themselves warm without fires; for where there is a fire there is generally smoke, and smoke would betray them. When darkness falls their day is done, for light shining through the shuttered windows would soon make them homeless, or transfer them from a hotel to a jail.

All this, reports an eastern exchange, is on the authority of a tramp who has been through the mill, as he expressed it to a constable in Connecticut a few days ago, when confronted with an opportunity of going to work for the state or telling his tale and getting out of the state to save the constable's reputation.

"THIRTY POISONOUS PLANTS."

Government List Which Includes Many Varieties Supposed to Be Harmless.

Send to the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., for free pamphlet entitled "Thirty Poisonous Plants." Every one who loves to roam in fields and forest should know the poisonous plants, says "Nature and Science," in St. Nicholas. It is very fortunate for those who are found of rambling through the fields and woods that most of the plants in that government list are poisonous only when eaten. Nearly all cases of skin poisoning are from poison ivy or poison sumac.

It will doubtless surprise many who read this pmaphlet of "Thirty Poisonous Plants" to learn that the lady-slippers or moccasin flowers are included in the list. A poisonous oil similar to that of poison ivy is secreted in the leaf hairs, especially at the fruiting season. The leaves and flowers of the lily-of-the-valley are also poisonous when taken internally. The taste, however, is very bitter, so no one is likely to eat them.

The beautiful mountain laurel is so often eaten by sheep, resulting in their death, that the farmer calls it sheep-laurel, or poison-laurel.

Record Life-Saver.

It is claimed that the record for life-saving is held by Joseph Langlois, a Chicago policeman, only 37 years old, who has rescued at least 100 persons from drowning.

RUSSIA AT NEWCHWANG.

Exportation of Wheat Has Been Stopped by Russian Governor.

PEKING, July 28.—The Russian administration of Newchwang has stopped the exportation of wheat to Japan. The export of grain from Chinese ports is illegal, but the Russians heretofore have ignored the law. During the past week the Japanese obtained many shiploads from Newchwang, apparently preparing for war contingencies. Several ships were employed in bringing wheat from Shanghai and southern ports to Newchwang, where it was transshipped as a direct export. The prohibitory order was issued by the Russian officials last Thursday.

General Kondradovitch has been placed in charge of six armored commercial boats and the navigation of the Liao river, which is construed here as another sign of Russia's intention to retain Newchwang and the command of the river. Great numbers of Russian civilians and soldiers' families, it is reported, are being brought to Manchuria, it is believed in pursuance of a comprehensive plan to rapidly colonize the province. At the present rate there will be almost 100,000 Russian civilians in Manchuria, including Port Arthur and Dalny, before the date fixed for the final evacuation next fall.

Hawaii's Proposed Loan.

HONOLULU, July 28.—The treasury department at Washington has replied to the communication of Governor Dole, who makes a request for information regarding the attitude of President Roosevelt toward the proposed Hawaiian loan of $2,400,000 for public improvements passed by the recent extra session of the territorial legislature. The treasury department asks for a detailed account of the territory's finances and the necessity for the proposed loan. The requested statement is now being prepared, and will be soon forwarded to Washington.

Auto Kills Italian Child.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 28.—William H. Richards, a machinist, is held in bonds of $1,000 by the police at the request of Coroner Mix pending an investigation by the latter into the death of Catherine Veleca, a three-and-a-half-year-old Italian girl. According to Richards, the child darted in front of his machine so suddenly that he could not avert the accident, which occurred in front of the child's home on Chapel street. Three men who were with Richards at the time of the accident fled when they saw that the child was dead.

Race Trouble at Blue Ridge.

ROANOKE, Va., July 28.—Serious trouble is threatened between the whites and blacks near Blue Ridge. Several nights ago a colored woman was whipped by a party of white men for insulting a woman during the absence of her husband. This angered the negroes to such an extent that they have been arming themselves. Several blacks came to Roanoke and purchased guns and ammunition. A telephone message says the whites are armed, and considerable excitement exists.

Light on Hotel Tragedy.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The bodies of the man and woman who were found dead in the Morton House, the man shot through the heart and the woman through the neck, have been identified by Hugo Quittner, a musician, who said that the woman was his wife Bertha and the man an old friend, Charles Weiss, all of Schenectady, N. Y. Quittner said he knew no reason why Weiss should have shot Mrs. Quittner and then committed suicide.

Prince Chimay In Auto Upset.

MEZIERES, France, July 28.—Prince Joseph of Chimay and Caraman, whose former wife, the Princess of Chimay (Clara Ward of Detroit, Mich.), eloped with Rigo, a Hungarian musician, in 1896, met with a serious automobile accident near the village of Roeroi while trying to avoid a cyclist. The automobile was overturned and the mechanician was killed. The prince, who was seriously injured, was conveyed to a neighboring house.

President Kimball Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—F. J. Kimball, president of the Norfolk and Western Railroad company, has died at his home in Radnor, Pa., near here, aged fifty-nine years. He had been in ill health for a month. As a mark of respect for the dead president every wheel on the entire Norfolk and Western system will be stopped for ten minutes during the hour of his funeral.

Exonerated the Militia.

RICHMOND, Va., July 28.—The Manchester grand jury has brought in a report exonerating the militia from blame for the killing of Luther Taylor, who was shot while attempting to escape from military custody while the troops were on duty here recently for the preservation of order during the street car strike.

Pleaded Guilty of Peonage.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 28.—In the United States circuit court here James H. Todd and Anderson Hardy pleaded guilty to charges of peonage against them and were fined $1,000 each. Hardy was returned from Texas, where he had gone recently to make his home, to stand trial.

Jett and White In Court.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., July 28.—Curtis Jett and Thomas White, charged with the Marcum assassination, were brought into court guarded by six deputy sheriffs. Many visitors are in the city, and the court room was packed.

Tin Plants Import Employees.

PITTSBURG, July 28.—A number of new men from Cleveland have been introduced into the McKeesport tin plate plant at Port Vue and the officials claim that the tin mills were running full turns.

SPORTING NEWS.

LINE FLIES.

"Tommy" Burns, formerly pitcher for Safe Works in the local city league, is now doing the twirling for the Mortons in the Paterson city league.

The tabulated score of the Scotch Plains-St. Mary game published in yesterday's Press, gave St. Mary's team 11 base hits and Scotch Plains 16. It should have been St. Mary 4 and Scotch Plains 9.

The baseball game, Saturday, between St. Mary and Hope Y. M. A., will be the only one of the big contests in this city. Alis will play Westfield at Westfield, and Scotch Plains will meet the Aeolians at Scotch Plains. All three games should be good ones, as the teams are evenly matched.

GOLF.

An interesting three-ball golf match was played last Sunday at the Rockaway Hunting Club, Cedarhurst, L. I., between Edward Erickson, formerly of Plainfield; Joe Lynch, of the Rockaway Hunting Club, and Charles Kirchner, of Central avenue. Eighteen holes were played the scores being Lynch, 82; Erickson, 85; Kirchner, 84.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The blunder by which the tuberculosis home bill failed to pass the Legislature, although the appropriation of $300,000 was duly ordered, is one of the inevitable results of too hasty and careless lawmaking. Unless legislative methods improve, it will be necessary for every interest desiring new legislation to have a slick lobbyist to attend to its business. These lynx-eyed gentlemen never sleep while the Legislature is in session, and are about the only persons who can guarantee that there has been no slip-up in the progress of pet measures which it has been possible to put through the legislative mill.—Trenton Advertiser.

Frank Nickerson, of the Poster Press Company's works, returned yesterday, after a week's visit with relatives at Spring Valley, N. Y.

Two of the largest engines in the world have just been completed by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, to be sent to the St. Louis Exposition. The cylinders are 22 inches in diameter by 28 inches stroke; the driving wheels are 80 inches in diameter, and the working steam pressure is 220 pounds to the square inch. The engine is carried on twelve wheels, a forward truck, six connected driving wheels and a trailer beneath the firebox. The total weights on the driving wheels is 141,700 pounds. On the front truck the weight is 36,800 pounds, and on the trailing wheels 41,500 pounds, the total weight of engine being 219,500 pounds. The total weight of the engine and tender is about 374,600 pounds. The tender, which has a capacity of 8,400 gallons of water and 9 tons of coal, is the largest yet built by the Baldwin company.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., will hold a communication this evening and confer the Master Mason degree on one candidate.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., will go to Atlantic City on Thursday, August 13. The occasion is the great State Field Day and thousands of Juniors from all parts of the State will gather at this popular resort.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, met last evening and, despite the summer period, there was considerable business of interest. There was a very large attendance of members and much pleasure expressed over the initiation of six new members, four applications for membership and the promise of four more applications. The council was visited by Grand Superivisng Deputy Grand Colyer, of district No. 6, and another Grand Lodge officer. The meeting was one of the best held in many months.

Escaped Serious Accident.

Car. No. 61, of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central New Jersey Stree Railway Company was struck by a train on the Port Reading road last night. The passengers were shaken up but no one was hurt except the motorman, D. J. Callahan, of Roselle.

HE INSURED THE MAYOR

INSURANCE AGENT FORCED HIS HONOR TO TAKE OUT A POLICY.

Gained Admittance to the Doctor's Presence by Stating He Needed Medical Help.

The clever methods of life insurance agents have long been a source of wonderment, but it is left to a local representative of a big insurance company to capture the prize for playing his cards successfully. His Honor, Mayor O. L. Jenkins, was the victim of this agent who was determined to insure the doctor's life. Four visits were made to the Mayor's home, and each time the agent met with a disappointment.

For his fifth and last attempt, the wily solicitor played his plans carefully. He assumed a bold front, rang the door bell and informed the maid who answered that he was sick and wished to consult the doctor. The latter, hearing this, could hardly refuse to see his visitor, who was accordingly admitted, though with many misgivings. After entering the office, the agent cooly informed the Mayor that his ailment consisted of a sore desire to insure his life.

His Honor with difficulty refrained from throwing his tormentor out of the window, but controlled himself when requested to name his charge for an office visit. The information was given, the agent agreed to pay up and to put in the time talking life insurance. This he did to such good effect that the much badgered Mayor finally consented to adding a few hundred dollars to the insurance he was already carrying.

And now the successful agent throws out his chest, shows his list with the name of Plainfield's chief executive at the head, and rakes in further victims and further dollars.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The regular covenant meeting will be held in the First Baptist Church, tomorrow evening.

President Gardiner, of Salem College, Virginia, will occupy the pulpit at the Seventh-Day Baptist Church, Saturday morning.

The First M. E. Church auditorium is to be refurnished with new carpet and cushions and meanwhile services will be held in Vincent Chapel.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck and family, of West Front street, left today for Elizabethtown, Essex county, N. Y., where they will remain until September 1.

Advices from Lincoln, N. J., state that an unusual religious awakening has struck that place. On Sunday two young women at the Sunday-school session arose and publicly determined to lead Christian lives.

There will be an ice cream, cake and candy sale at the rectory of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, tomorrow afternoon and evening from 4 to 10 o'clock. The rectory is on the corner of Ravine road and Berkeley avenue.

Dr. Henry VanDyke, of Princeton, who was to have preached last Sunday in the Presbyterian Church, Morristown, was taken suddenly ill at the home of James Piles in that place, and was unable to fill the engagement. The illness is not a serious one, but will detain Dr. VanDyke for several days.

Services have been arranged for at Trinity Reformed Church during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck. The first three Sundays in August there will be no evening service, but A. P. Tulp, of Rutgers Theological Seminary, now supplying Marconnier chapel, will preach in the morning. The last two Sundays in August the church will be closed for cleaning and repairs.

THE FORUM.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

Plainfield, N. J., July 28, 1903.

Dear Editor:—

Perhaps the following will be a bit of news for your paper. Last Sunday on my way to Inwood, L. I., I started to catch the 8 o'clock train from Plainfield for New York. In the railroad depot I met Marty O'Loughlin the young golfer acting as caddie master at the Hillside Club. I asked him where he was bound for with his golf clubs and he said Inwood, L. I. I said I was going there also. We were going down to see Ed. Eriksen, who formerly was professional golfer at Hillside and whose place Marty now holds. On our way down we decided to arrange a match. It happened that a party by the name of W. C. Thacher, of New York, was also going to see Eriksen. Marty and I decided to play against Ed. Eriksen, now professional at the Inwood Club and W. C. Thacher, of New York. In other words it was Plainfield against New York.

Well we immediately started out after lunch. We played thirty-six holes and Plainfield came out four up on the match. Marty on his first round equalled the record for the nine holes held by Eriksen which is forty-six strokes. My score for the first nine was fifty; Eriksen's, forty-nine; Thacher, fifty-three. It is a very difficult course and very sporty. The distance is over 3,000 yards. Sandy soil with a lot of trouble in the shape of long grass on all sides.

I may add without boast that I am quite a golfer (professional rank.) I have charge of Spalding's wholesale golf department of New York. Thacher has charge of the retail golf department same firm. He also figures in the professional ranks. It was a regular professional match without any money up. Just a friendly match. Both Thacher and I are well acquainted with all the golfers, both amateur and professional in the United States. We visit all the important matches. I have an application in to join the Westfield Club. I may state that I get jobs for professionals each year by the dozen. I got Eriksen at Hillside and I also got him the Long Island job. If you ever want golf news, I can give you a lot of it. I am constantly bothered at business by golf reporters from the New York Sun and Herald. I know them all and many a golf story I give them.

Chas. Kirchner,
740 Central street.

For the interest of the firm we work for, I was over to Baltusrol Golf Club the entire week during the open championship, making myself friendly amongst the players. Of course it was all done with a view for business. I came to live in this city last August. I married a Fanwood girl August 6, 1902. You wrote up our wedding at the time. I am now a tax payer in Plainfield, own my own little house on Central street.

If you don't care to use this tear it into pieces and deposit it in your large editor's waste paper basket with the turned down writing of the local poets.

Plainfield, July 25, 1903.

Editor, The Daily Press:—

Noting the article in today's issue "The Plainfield Dogs are up against it," will say, I think you take the wrong view of the case in sympathizing with the owners of said dogs, and the sympathy should be on the side of the public. If these dogs were not running at large, which is against the law I believe, and decidedly against public welfare and comfort, they would not be eating poisoned articles picked up where the dogs have no right to be, nor be run over by automobiles which they take special delight in running in front of and snapping at.

There are entirely too many loose dogs around this town, and I for one am only too glad when their ranks are thinned, for the best of them are of no use to anyone but their owners, who should keep them strictly on their own premises.

In the neighborhood of Watchung avenue and Seventh street, there are dogs running loose, which are large enough to over power anyone should they be so disposed, and no one knows where they may be and the sooner they are put out of the way the better, and the dog catcher certainly ought to be after them.

FIRE DEPARTMENT A CREDIT TO CITY

Plainfield Justly Proud of Its Firemen and the Apparatus They Use.

ANNUAL REPORT ISSUED

STATISTICS AS TO THE PRESIDENT CONDITION OF DEPARTMENT.

Chief Doane and His Assistants Able Fire Fighters—Some of the Machines Used in Battling the Flames.

Plainfield is justly proud of her fire department. Its efficiency is unquestioned; its equipment is complete and up to-date; its personnel is admirable; and its affairs are directed by a chief and an assistant chief in whom is rightly reposed implicit confidence.

The city has been remarkably free from fires during the past two years. For 1902, if the destruction of the Babcock building be excepted, the total damage resulting from fires was $9,240 24. Including the Babcock fire it was $127,564.24. Insurance covered most of the loses.

The report of the chief, T. O. Doane, for the year 1902, has just been issued in pamphlet form. It contains much that is of interest, and the data presented is correct up to date. No changes have occurred since the report was issued.

It is announced that the annual force of the department consists of forty-one officers and men, one chief, two assistant engineers—one on call, six drivers of apparatus, one tillerman, one driver of chief's wagon, five hose and pipe men, one engineer of steamer, on call, one veterinary surgeon, on call, four foremen, on call, ten privates, on call.

The three houses used by the department are owned by the city. The headquarters building on East Second street is occupied by No. 1 Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1 Chemical, No. 2 Hose Company, Chief's wagon, and exercises wagon. The engine house on West Second street is occupied by No. 1 Steamer and No. 1 Hose Wagon. The house on West Fourth street, opposite Darrow avenue, is occupiedl by No. 3 Hose Wagon, the Combination Chemical and Hose Wagon, and No. 2 Truck.

The following apparatus is in service: Third size double pump Amoskeag steamer, 600 gallon capacity; Hayes Aerial turntable hook and ladder truck, 65 feet extension ladder; three hose wagons; double 35 gallon Holloway combination chemical and hose wagon; double 60 gallon Holloway chemical engine; eight three gallon Holloway extinguishers; iron frame hook and ladder truck, on call; exercise wagon; Chief's wagon, new; Chief's wagon, old.

The water supply consists of 301 hydrants, 5,700 feet of hose are in use, and eleven horses are trained for the service. The fire alarm telegraph system is modern in every respect.

There were eighty-seven alarms in 1902, an increase of eighteen over the preceding year. The causes of fires ranged from the deadly cigarette and tramps to gas explosions and fireworks. Chimneys and defective flues caused most of the trouble and locomotive sparks and children with matches were the next most frequent means of conflagration.

The Chief recommends in his report the building of a new house in the eastern part of the city and the purchase of additional hose, and more horses. He also states that several extra hydrants are needed.

Local Counsel for Connecticut Man Injured at a Barnum & Baily Performance.

Hetfield & Hetfield, of this city, are lawyers for a Connecticut man who has brought suit for $5,000 damages against Barnum & Bailey's circus. Edward McMahon is their client's name. McMahon, who lives at Norwalk, Conn., attended the "greatest show on earth" when it was exhibiting at Bridgeport, Conn., and while he was shelling peanuts on the top row of the bleachers the seat gave way and hurled him to the ground along with other spectators. Mr. McMahon is still in the General Hospital at Bridgeport suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg.

SEVEN COUNCILMEN TO BE BALLOTED FOR

List of Municipal Officeholders Whose Terms Expire This Fall.

POLITICAL SITUATION

PRESIDENT BUCKLE OF THE COMMON COUNCIL MAY SEEK RETIREMENT.

Collector No Longer Chosen by the People—Some Justices of the Peace to be Elected—Work Accomplished by Council.

From present indications the local campaign this fall will be a quiet one. The principal contest will be in the election of seven Councilmen, that number from the present body retiring this year. Those whose terms expire are J. F. Buckle, president; W. L. Gloak, from the First ward, chairman of the license committee and member of the police, finance and alms committees; Jan. vanHerwerden, from the Second ward, member of the streets and sewers, fire and buildings and lights and trees committees; Leslie M. Daniel, from the Third ward, chairman of the finance committee and member of the fire and buildings committee; Robert L. Lee, from the Fourth ward, chairman of the fire and buildings committee and member of the auditing committee; Clarence L. Murphy, from the Fourth ward, chairman of the lights and trees committee, and member of the finance and license committees; E. E. Pray, from the Second ward, chairman of the auditing committee and member of the streets and sewers, finance, lights and trees and alms committees.

As Mayor O. L. Jenkins was elected to his office a year ago, he still has a nother year to serve. Collector Smith is now out of the hands of the voters, it will be up to the Common Council to fill that office and there is every reason to believe that Mr. Smith will be continued as tax collector for another year.

There may possibly be a few Justices of the Peace and constable to elect, but aside from these the ticket will be a small one. It is yet a trifle early to determine upon those who are expected to take the nomination for members of the Council. President Buckle will no doubt retire. He has served the city continuously as a Councilman for several years and he has given a great deal of his time to its interset. Prior to the present year he acted as chairman of the police board and was also a member of most of the impotrant committees. His judgment has been considered fair and to the best interests of the city and as a presiding officer he has had the respect and admiration of the whole Council.

Mr. Gloak is also one of the older member and whether he will want to return for another year is not known at present. Like Mr. Buckle, he has been very faithful in his attendance and in looking after such work as has been assigned to him. As chairman of the alms committee this year, much improvement is noted in that department.

As for Mr. VanHerwerden there is a probability that he will retire from the Council. He has many private duties at present which call him away from the city most of the time. He was talked of for the position of president this year, but the fact that he is out of town so much led to the selection of Mr. Buckle.

Although Robert Lee has served the Council several years, he is one of the younger members and has been actively engaged in looking after the interest of the city, especially as regards the fire department. He is spoken of as a candidate for re-electon and he has many friends who would like to see him serve another term. This is also true of Clarence L. Murphy, another of the younger members. The experience thus far gained by Mr. Murrphy has had a tendency to fit him still better for the position of Councilman.

Leslie M. Daniel is still another one of the younger members who is quite likely to return, according to rumor. His knowledge of matters of finance makes him a valuable member and he has been thoroughly devoted to his work for the city.

It is possible that E. E. Pray may be a candidate for re-election, although his increasing business obligations may cause him to change his mind. During the first part of Mr. Pray's service he was inclined to be quiet and watch the other members, but during recent part he had been more aggressive. It was through his efforts that the Council took up the matter of street sprinkling and made municipal sprinkling a fact.

Of all the members much could be said as to what they have done, for during their service they have been progressive and introduced many improvements, notably the Gamewell police patrol system, while the sanction of the plans of the Board of Education for a new High School, should not be overlooked.

It seems to be the general opinion that during the past year Plainfield has been well governed and that it has more to show for the money expended than any other city of its size.

PLINY FISK HOME AGAIN

RETURNS WITH HIS BRIDE ON KAISER WILHELM DER GROSSE.

Sketch of Miss Eleanor Small Who is Now Former Plainfielder's Wife.

Pliny Fisk, of the banking firm of Harvey Fisk & Sons, at 29 Nassau street, with his bride, formerly Miss Eleanor Small, of New York, arrived yesterday aboard the North German Lloyd liner KaiserWilhelm der Grosse. Mr. Fisk was married about four weeks ago in Edinburg, Scotland. His first wife touring Europe with her children.

Mr. Fisk had not only the imperial suite, but the captain's room, but later found that the finest suite aboard might be obtained and took it.

Until her excursion to Europe in the winter. Miss Small, who is an only child with an independent fortune, lived with her parents in the Sevilla apartment house at No. 117 West Fifty-eighth street, New York. Her acquaintance with Mr. Fisk began two years ago.

"We shall probably know more about the minor facts later," said Cyrus Small, the bride's father, a member of the coffee firm of Mackey & Small, at No. 90 Front street, yesterday. "I am able to tell you now, however, that they were married at a Protestant Episcopal Church in Edinburgh, and that the wedding was attended by a large party of friends. They had my full blessing and consent."

Statement to the Public.

To correct an impression held by a number of persons, the officers of the First National Bank desire to state that Mr. Edwin S. Hooley, who recently failed, is not a Director of the bank, he having resigned as Director on April 6th, last.

We wish to state further, that the failure of Mr. Hooley, and of his firm, E. S. Hooley & Co., does not in any way affect the bank.

EDMUND R. TAYLOR ADDRESSES FRIENDS

Interesting Letter From City Missionary Now Sojourning at Clifton Springs.

TELLS OF A TREATMENT

WHAT SULPHUR SPRINGS CAN DO TO REPAIR INFIRMATORY.

Story of a Fire in Country Town—Tale of a Beautiful Lake—Where Fishing is Good—Other Details.

Chief Doane and Assistant Chief Jennings, of the Fire Department, have received this interesting letter from Edmund R. Taylor, of East Fifth street, who, with Mrs. Taylor is spending the season at Clifton Springs:

"Clifton Springs, N. Y.,
July 24, 1903.

"Chief T. O. Doane, 'Brother' Jennings, and other friends in the Department:

"Good morning—

"I have often thought of you 'fire laddies' during the past two months and resolved to send you a note at least. We are glad to report that we, Mrs. Taylor and myself, are both better and hope to return to Plainfield in about six weeks. From here we go to southern Ohio, my wife's old home—the annual visit to the old folks.

"If none of you were ever here a visit would be very interesting. The baths, of which there is hardly an end, are the chief means of treatment as scarcely any medicine is given. The sulphur springs are very strong and persons living within a mile of them never have the malaria, even though they do not drink the water; the fumes seem to do the work. I thought at first that I could not get used to them but I found I did. At first you think you smell an ancient egg, but after a while you become fond of the water.

"Our favorite baths are 'salt rubs' electro-thermal, and static electricity. I will give you a lesson in salt rubbing if you want it. This plan has been established over fifty years and they give free treatments to those boarding outside of the sanitarium building proper, if one is able to come to the bath-room and take them. The plant cost $750 000. The bath rooms were rebuilt eight years ago at the cost of $35,000. They are all of marble and nickle.

"They do fine surgical work here too—hardly a day passes but some one is cut up and repaired. The people taking treatment number from about 200 in winter to 700 in summer and it is the only 'industry' of the town (1700 population.)

"Some come when it is too late, get discouraged and commit suicide. Last week there were two to shuffle off the mortal coil, one by hanging and the other by turning on the gas; but 'the powers that be' hush up the facts or a dozen nervous wrecks might try to join the majority by doing the same.

"We had a fire here last Monday which I wish you might all have seen. The refuse of tar from the gas plant took fire on the surface of a small brook that runs through the town. The brook was not burned up, but was badly scorched and has been confined to its bed ever since. At one time it looked as though the culvert over the stream and the high road might go, as well as a clover patch near by—the clover still holds a fiery red hue. It is the first time that I have heard of a landscape burning. The village 'Hose Line Co.,' turned out as did the whole town and there was spontaneous confusion for an hour or so. The water works here are fine but the hose is about as light as that worn by the ladies.

"I wish all the boys could go over to Lake Canandaigua, near here, for a day's outing. It is about sixteen miles long and from one-half to one and one-half wide. The banks are usually bluffy, and for miles you can see nothing but vineyards. The lake is deep, in many places 400 feet deep, and the beach is covered with lime rock filled with fossils of shells, fish, and plants, showing that this is one of the oldest rock formations on this continent. The water is a greenish blue and with the sunlight, and shadows of floating clouds, is beautiful beyond description. It puts one in mind of an opal or emerald in a beautiful setting.

"They tell us the fishing is fine here. Deep trolling and lake trout can always be had, bass too are abundant. The brook fishing is done with a 'fly' but as I do not know how to 'cast' them I have not tried my luck.

"But I am afraid you are getting tired of this 'note' so I will close with a verse or two that have been helpful to me since I have been sick

"'Then brush the cobwebs out of your eyes
And smile
Look straight into the face of the world
And grin
If it knocks you down, just try again,
And don't grieve over what 'might have been'
But smile'

"'Let sunshine and gladness illumine thy face
'Twill help some one else to 'keep sweet,'
Do trouble oppress thee, let God be thy stay,
'Tis easy to sigh, but 'tis better to pray,
Thy sunshine will come in His own blessed way,
So trustingly try to keep sweet.'

"With kind regards to all 'the boys' from both Mrs. T. and myself

"Sincerely yours,
"E. L Taylor."

CAN'T REMOVE DIRT FROM THE STREETS

Water Company Unable to Restore Scotch Plains Thoroughfares.

THOMAS DOUD TALKS

SUPERINTENDENT EXPLAINS WHY CONCERN SEEMS NEGLIGENT.

Agreement Made With Township Committee Prevents Company From Finishing Job—Much Discussion on Subject.

Charges have been made that the water company, after laying its pipes in Scotch Plains, did not fulfill its contract by putting the street in the condition it was originally found. Superintendent Thomas Doud when seen about the matter this morning said:

"The contract read the roadway must be put in the same condition that it was before the piping was laid. As we went along laying pipe the trenches were filled up and the surplus dirt was laid aside to be carted away.

"Mr. Clark came to me while we were removing the dirt and said that the Township Committee wanted the dirt used on the Scotch Plains streets for repair work. I told him that we would use it as he directed and he then said that he wanted a Scotch Plains man to have the work. This I acceded to. The Scotch Plains man got the job and the work was started.

"It was never finished because their supply of money ran out and when we finished laying the pipe I left the dirt on the roadway where it was because William R. Codington, the counsel for the township, issued written instructions to me not to remove the dirt since it was to be used only on Scotch Plains street work.

"A Scotch Plains man got the contract to put the streets we damaged in repair and to use the surplus dirt, if he wanted to, in the repairs of other streets in the village. For this work the water company offered him a certain sum of money but before the work was done his funds gave out and the work has never been completed. We cannot remove the dirt because we have been forbidden to do so. The township, not the Water Company, is responsible for the condition of the streets."

E. S. HOOLEY TO RESUME

NORTH PLAINFIELDER MAKES EXIT AS HEAD OF TERRE HAUTE.

Road Now Controlled by Rock Island-Frisco People Who Went Gunning For It.

As a result of the failure of Edwin S. Hooley & Co., the Evansville & Terre Haute Railroad, of which Edwin S. Hooley, of North Plainfield, was president, has passed into the Rock Island-Frisco camp. The deal was carried through late yesterday afternoon, within a few hours of its conception, and B. F. Yoakum, at a hastily called meeting of the board of directors, was elected a director of the company and president of the road, to succeed Edwin S. Hooley.

It was reported early yesterday in Wall street that a bid had been made for control of all the common stock of the Evansville and Terre Haute owned by Edwin S. Hooley & Co., and Edwin S. Hooley individually. The offer was made, it was stated, on the basis of $50 a share. The actual transaction, however, and the terms of the deal were not concluded until late yesterday afternoon.

It is said in Wall street that Mr. Hooley is in a fair way to resume business.

Fishing at Barnegat.

Wm. H. Kirch, contractor, of Duer street, is giving his employes an outing today and if they do not return home this evening with a big string of fish it will not be his fault. There were eleven in the party, including John Ross and Fred Kirch. The start was made this morning at 2:30 o'clock for Barnegat, and it is not expected that the party will reach home before 9 o'clock this evening.

COSMOPOLITAN LIFE AT NETHERWOOD HOME

All Races Make Up Happy Family at Plainfield's Fresh Air Camp.

"MOTHER" CURRY'S WORK

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS TO BE FOUND FAR FROM THE TENEMENTS.

Humor and Pathos a Mixture Found at Institution—Some Funny Incidents—Compliment to the Matron.

To appreciate the amount of good that is being accomplished by the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, one should visit the camp personally, inspect its beautiful surroundings, take a glimpse of its interior, neat and homelike, and talk with its able, enthusiastic matron. And then for a more convincing proof, look at the children themselves, German and Jew, Italian and Irish, rolling in the grass, digging in the dirt, playing games, laughing and shouting and drinking in the pure air, as Nature intended they should. Glance at the mothers, contentedly sewing in the shade of a big elm. Think of the wholesome food, the clean beds to sleep in, the thought and sympathy given towards their moral well-being; for Miss Curry, the matron, brings light to the minds of mothers and children as well as health and strength to their bodies.

And then for another minute, imagine a crowded New York tenement, the noisome orders of the street, and noise and dirt, with the fruit in the cart of a passing vendor about the only glimpse of nature afforded. Think of the wretchedness of the homes, and the vice, and then consider that the inmates of the Netherwood Home are brought from the most vicious as well as the most destitute classes. Look again on the happiness and health of the children, the rested faces of the mothers cleared in some cases from marks of vice and shame, and say whether or not this work is worth while.

Nor is the influence of the Home confined to the two weeks allowed the visitors. It spreads. The mothers who come to the camp teach their friends, when they return, the virtues of cleanliness and decency. The husbands and fathers who visit the camp Sundays are taught the meaning of family and home life. The influence grows often subconsciously and perhaps is the greater for that reason.

The amount of ignorance displayed by the children, many of whom have never been beyond their own block, is amusing, although there are elements of pathos mixed in. One small girl requested "Mother" Curry to "look at the big pussy cat with the wooden sticks on its head." She had reference to a cow. Another youngster, seeing the birds and listening to their songs, was much alarmed over the fact that so many had escaped from their cages. Even the older people display an astonishing lack of familiarity with the lore of the woods and the fields, as illustrated by one old woman who was discovered in a listening attitude with her ear to the ground. Asked what she was doing, she replied that she "wanted to hear the corn grow."

Perhaps the most heartfelt compliment that Miss Curry has ever received with reference to her work came from the father of three little ones who were cared for at the Home. This man, who had lost his wife, could hardly find words to express his gratitutde. "Why," said he, "just think of it. If it hadn't been for you and this camp, I might have had to marry again."

No Railroad Park.

A report has been in circulation for several days that the New Jersey Central is trying to purchase the property on Fourth street and Park avenue, extending to the railroad, for the purpose of making a park. The report is that all of the property can be secured except that occupied by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company and the Miller building. Investigation proves the rumor to be untrue, and that the railroad company is not anxious to get the property.

Campers Return.

A party of young men from this city, composed of Jack Wearen, James Apgar, William Apgar, Jack Madden, Jack Dow, Haze Apgar, John Apgar, Thomas Apgar and Willian Williams, have returned from a pleasant outing on the second mountains.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Be humane. Keep the flies off your cows. You can do it by buying some "cow ease" of J. O. Hansen, of East Front street. Besides keeping away the flies and vermin it increases the flow of milk.

Why do women send their dressmaking to New York when right here is this city first class ladies' tailors are to be found. S. Hirsch, of 430 Watchung avenue, is prepared to do dress making in the latest styles and at lowest prices.

When you buy milk and cream of Wm. Lindsay & Son, of Mountain avenue, you get the best dairy products, obtained under strict sanitary rules and with the approval of the Board of Health. There is no better milk anywhere than that sold by this firm.

Have one on me, and let it be a glass of grape juice from the fountain of T. S. Armstrong on Park avenue. It is really the most cooling and the most satisfactory summer drink that is sold. When you take one, you want another, and no amount of them will harm any one.

Many think that "when ignorance is bliss it is folly to be wise" in the purchase of groceries. Much depends of pure table supplies. The health of the family is at stake. R. W. Barnes, of Park avenue, makes a specialty of securing only the purest of stock. Trade there and be content.

"There was a man from our town, and he was wondrous wise, he jumped into a brambled bush and scratched out both his eyes." History does not say, however, that he went to Carl Silbert's optical store on Somerset street to have glasses fitted. There he showed his wisdom. Do thou likewise.

Although the New York Painting and Decorating Company's business in Park avenue has just purchased by J. M. Cahart, this does not mean that the standard of work will be lowered. On the contrary the superior grade of work done by this house will be continued and the new proprietor will be pleased to quote you figures on either painting, decorating or papering.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, August 2, 1903. Round trip $1.50, children, 75c. from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switch-back you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful little cascades, caverns and like attractions. 7 27 td

PERSONAL.

Robert T. Johnson and family, of Park avenue, have rented a cottage at Belmar.

Miss Grace Webster, of East Third street, is spending her vacation in Providence, R. I.

Miss Trottie Smith, of Belvidere avenue, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is slowly improving.

Mrs. David Angerbauer and daughter, Marion, of Liberty street, have gone to Saratoga for the summer.

Scott Foster and family, of New York, are stopping at the home of D. N. Groendyke, of Mercer avenue.

Mrs. John Swan, daughter of E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, has gone to Lake George to spend a few weeks.

Miss Bertha Manning has just returned from Elizabeth, where she spent a most enjoyable week with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin, of Jersey City, who have been spending a week with Plainfield relatives, have returned home.

Thus far there has been no noticeable change in the condition of Daniel T. Clawson, who is detained at his home in Brook avenue, with typhoid fever.

William Ross, of Hose Company No. 3, has returned from his vacation and Louis Dunavan, of the same company, commenced his vacation of ten days yesterday.

Among recent registrations at the Coleman House, Asbury Park, are the names of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Holland, J. E. Ray and F. L. C. Martin, of Plainfield, who were on an automobiling trip.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. Rhea, Coppell Tex. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Lumbermen at E. W. McClave & Son, of Harrison, are on strike.

Caesar Grove, of the Potter Press Company's plant, is visiting friends in Brooklyn.

The bakers' strike, which caused much trouble last week in Newark, was settled yesterday.

The scarcity of laborers in Millville is causing much anxiety among the manufacturers and contractors.

The Buell system, patent fire extinguisher, has just been installed in the plant of Walter Scott & Company.

C. H. Beach, of Cornell, is spending his college vacation working at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

Charles Yeager, of the Potter Press Company's plant, who has been detained at home by illness for the past two weeks, is slowly improving

Walter Scott & Company is overrushed with work and the concern is arranging for a night gang. As soon as enough machinists can be secured the night gang will be started.

The strike of ship carpenters and jointers of Camden, for a nine-hour day at thirty-four cents an hour, is practically over, all but thirty of the strikers having returned to work at the ship yards, or secured work elsewhere.

Alfred Berry Marsh narrowly escaped having his hand amputated at the Potter Press Company's works yesterday. Young Marsh was working about a gear-cutting machine when his hand slipped and was caught between the cutter and the gear. But for the timely action of "Al" Matthews, foreman of the gang, Marsh's hand would have been severed.

A Surgical Operation

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. For Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Eugene O'Reilley and Patrick Muldoon, of this city, went to Keasbey Monday for a fishing trip. They brought home a fine catch of weak fish.

—Patrolman George Lunger went to New York yesterday, where he will undergo an operation at the Flower Hospital for a trouble of long standing.

—Do your eyes tire when reading in the evening? A pair of glasses such as we make will remedy the trouble. Glasses guaranteed. Stiles & Co., Philadelphia Eye Specialists, 107 East Front street, Plainfield, every Thursday.

—Captain Rogers, of Engine Company No. 3, Elizabeth and William Pester, of the Elizabeth Fire Department, were in this city, Sunday. They visited fire headquarters where they were entertained by Chief Doane and Assistant Chief Jennings. They expressed pleasure at seeing the headquarters kept in such good condition.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Runyon, of Arlington avenue, are home from a pleasant outing.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. West, of West Fifth street, are visiting relatives at Friendship, N. Y.

Mrs. Henriques, of New York, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow, of Prospect place.

The Misses O'Keefe, of New Haven, Conn., are visiting their brother, John O'Keefe, of South avenue.

Miss Nell Messinger, of North avenue, left today for Mt. Pocono, Pa., where she will be the guest of friends for the rest of the week.

Matthew P. Cashin, of West Sixth street, will go to Wappinger's Falls, New York, on Saturday and return home on Monday with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Chapman and son, of Stelle avenue, will leave town on Friday to enjoy their summer outing. They will return about the first of September.

There Are Some Simple Remedies indispensable in any family. Among these, the experience of years assures us, should be recorded Painkiller. For both internal and external applications we have found it of great value: especially can we recommend it for colds, rheumatism, or fresh wounds and bruises.—Christian Era. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Price 25c. and 50c.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY

Two Factions Join Hands and Issue an Address.

GOVERNMENT FOR AND BY THE PEOPLE

National Authorities to Issue All Money, Run Postal and Telegraph Lines and Advocate Use of American Ships For Trade.

DENVER, Colo., July 29.—Amalgamation into one party has been effected by the two factions of the People's party in national conference. The following address was issued:

"The manifest unrest which everywhere appears in the nation demonstrates the dissatisfaction of the American people with the present management of government and argues the necessity of the reform forces coming together in united action at the ballot box to obtain proper legislation whereby the right of the people to self government may be had for themselves and for their posterity. Therefore we, the Populists of the United States, having this day at the city of Denver united forces with the distinct understanding that all past differences as to policy shall be and now are permanently settled, and experience having demonstrated the futility of any attempt to secure the enactment of our truth either through the Republican or Democratic parties, we believe the time is now at hand when the United People's party should declare itself emphatically opposed to any affiliation with either of these parties and unqualifiedly in favor of national political action.

"Our fundamental principles are known to all Populists and are nowhere better stated than in that immortal document enunciated at Omaha July 4, 1898. However, for the benefit of the uninformed we declare our unyielding adherence to the demands for (a) a money, whether stamped on gold, silver or paper, to be coined and issued exclusively by the government and made a full legal tender for all debts, both public and private; (b) a system of transportation and the transmission of intelligence owned by the public and operated by the government at the cost of service; (c) land for use rather than for speculation, and abolition of alien ownership of land; (d) American ships for American foreign commerce, without a cent of subsidy.

"And as an open door for all economic reforms we urge the rule of the people through the optional referendum and initiative and the recall of derelict officials.

"Confident in the justice of the principles here set forth, firmly confident that their triumph in government would be for the best interests of the people, we call upon the patriotic citizens of this country to join with us in bringing about their enactment into law. With these principles firmly established equal justice would prevail, special privileges would be eliminated and ours would be, as patriots everywhere desire, a government of the people, for the people and by the people."

Cotton's Visit to Lisbon.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Rear Admiral Cotton, commander in chief of the European squadron, now on a visit to Portugal, has sent the following cablegram to the navy department from Lisbon: "Myself, commanding officers and personal staff have been received in special audience by the king of Portugal. Luncheon was given us by the king at Cintra, preceding which we were presented to the queen in special audience. The queen, our minister and some of the cabinet ministers were present at the luncheon. Tonight dinner will be given us by minister of marine at the arsenal. The king will visit my flagship on Saturday."

Blue Nile Expedition.

MARSEILLES, July 29.—Advices from Addis Abeba give further details of the abandonment of the Blue Nile expedition headed by W. N. MacMillan of St. Louis, which was attempting to explore the course of the Blue Nile for the purpose of finding a practicable trade route to the Mediterranean. The advices say that an attempt was made by the British government to relieve the expedition. A steamer was sent from Khartum. It reached Roseises, 150 miles above Sennar, on the Blue Nile, where it was stopped by the exceptionally low water and failed to meet the expedition.

Accident at Old Saugus.

SAUGUS, Mass., July 29.—The first serious accident at Old Saugus since the opening of the two weeks' race meet came when the trotter J. T. fell in the stretch in the 2.25 trot and his driver, William Duntley, was seriously injured. Duntley suffered from bruises on his face and head and will be laid up for several weeks. In the left over pacing event Jessie S. took the first heat and the race. Favorites won in all the other classes.

Payne Will Resume Duty.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 29.—Postmaster General Payne, who is cruising along the north Atlantic coast in the revenue cutter Onondaga, will visit the president tomorrow or Friday. He will return to Washington from here and will resume his duties in the department next Monday. It is understood that Mr. Payne's health has improved materially since he left Washington.

Scottie Won Fighting Finish.

BUFFALO, July 29.—The track was at its best at Fort Erie. Scottie won the feature event in a fighting finish with Soothsayer and Talala. Albula equaled the track record in the six furlong event.

NAVAL MANEUVERS.

Programme For Display of War Ships In Action.

WILL BE INSPECTED BY PRESIDENT

A Mimic Hostile Fleet Will Attempt to Enter Anchorage Near Cape Ann In the Face of Fire From Defending Squadron.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—An elaborate programme for the maneuver of the combined north Atlantic fleet off the coast of New England and Long Island sound during the month of August has been prepared at the navy department. The general features for the movement of the ships will be worked out by the department, leaving to Admiral Barker, the commanding officer, the numerous details incident to the maneuvers.

From the 3d to the 10th of August the search problem will be developed between Eastport and Cape Ann. This will include an effort on the part of a presumably hostile squadron to enter an anchorage ground in the face of the defending fleet. Following this there will be a cessation of two days, during which the combined fleet will proceed to Long Island sound and anchor abreast of Oyster Bay on the night of Saturday, Aug. 15.

They will remain there during Sunday, and on Monday they will be reviewed and inspected by President Roosevelt. From about the 22d to the 29th of August there will be joint demonstrations by the combined fleet against the batteries at Portland, Me. These will continue day and night, and all the arts of mimic warfare will be resorted to by the men-of-war to gain safe entrance into the harbor. Umpires will decide on the merits of the contest.

When the summer maneuvers are concluded the ships will go south and begin a season of target practice at Gay Head, in the vicinity of Martha's Vineyard. This will consume the first week in September, and at its conclusion the ships will disperse to the various navy yards for repairs preparatory to their winter cruise in the West Indies. More than thirty vessels are expected to participate in the maneuvers.

Two Killed In Drunken Fight.

GILLETTE, Wyo., July 29. — In a drunken quarrel among a number of Italians at Felix, Wyo., two men were killed and another so badly wounded that he will probably die. Joe Datri and Dominick Eggie got into an altercation, and Datri struck Eggie over the head with a bottle, inflicting a severe scalp wound. Eggie stabbed Datri three times, inflicting fatal wounds. Frank Bellagalla and Nick Eggie, a brother of Dominick, then entered the fight, taking opposite sides. Bellagalli shot and instantly killed Nick Eggie. Dominick Eggie and Bellagalla then exchanged several shots, the latter being killed and the former badly wounded.

Who Will Be Baseball Champions?

PITTSBURG, July 29.—President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg team of the National Baseball league announces that if Pittsburg wins the National league pennant the winner of the American league pennant will be challenged to a series of eleven games to decide the championship of the world, the conditions being that the winner receive 75 per cent of the gate receipts and the loser 25 per cent, the winner also to visit the west and the coast as world's champions and the losers to remain at home.

Home Rule For Hawaii.

HONOLULU, July 29.—At a session of the home rule convention ex-Delegate Wilcox urged that congress be memorialized to grant Hawaiian independence. He also strongly favored the establishment of a government for the islands similar to that of Cuba. It is probable that a petition embodying the views expressed by Wilcox will be prepared for presentation to congress by Delegate Kalanianole. Such an appeal would doubtless receive the signatures of many natives.

Plainfield, N. J., July 29, 1903.

Senator Platt has started a presidential boom for Senator Aldrich. At the last report the hot air was leaking out of the boom at the rate of fifty ironical editorials a second.

The batteries of the War and Navy Departments have been firing away at the methods used by Clara Barton in the administration of Red Cross affairs. From present indications it seems that the woman whose name has been coupled with that society's history for so many years will have to go. It is hard to get at the merits of the controversy so partial are the accounts.

It is reported that cases are piling up in the State's Court of Errors and Appeals. It should be noted, however, that the judges are not working overtime. Foxy game. Must have gotten some advice from Matt Quay as to how to bluff the people. When the time for the special election on the Constitutional amendments rolls around we may expect to hear great tales concerning the way the court has been overburdened.

That actions speak louder than words is verily true in the chivalrous sacrifice of the local members of the ancient society of Masons, who have helped to save the life of a fellow. Had it not been for the timely offering of cuticle an afflicted brother, Wilson Frederick, would probably have departed this life long ere this. As it is he lives and the public must now pay a tribute to Masonry. The example brings to mind a poem published in a recent number of the Masonic Standard:

"Here's a sentiment worthy to keep in your mind
As you travel through life, for it's true you will find.
That you're not so much valued by what you may say.
As by what you may do in a practical way;
For unless you perform what you say you can do,
Grave doubts will arise that you're honest and true.
Though your voice be as sweet as
the song of the birds,
Remember that actions speak louder
than words.

"Nor would I discourage the message that cheers,
Or the prayers, or the blessing of sympathy's tears;
They are always in order, they help in their way
To hasten the dawn of millennial day.
But a little more gold sandwiched in with your prayers
Would banish more tears and lighten more cares.
Though your voice be as sweet as
the song of the birds,
Remember that actions speak louder
than words."

FINAL PLANS ISSUED; CORNERSTONE EVENT

All in Readiness for Elaborate Ceremonies at New Court House.

TROWEL FOR DIRECTOR

CAPTAIN HUBBARD TO RECEIVE TOOL USED IN LAYING STONE.

Details of Ceremony and Plans for Banquet—Treasures for Cornerstone—Masonic Orders.

Officers and members of Jerusalem Lodge, No 26, and Anchor Lodge, No. 149, intending to witness the cornerstone ceremonies at the new court house in Elizabeth have been instructed to meet in Masonic Hall at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The orders issued to members of the Masonic fraternity are to have members of the various lodges assemble in Masonic Hall, in the Kean building, in Elizabeth at 10:30 o'clock, when the Grand Lodge of the State, with Most Worshipful Grand Master W. Holt Apgar, of Trenton, as the presiding officer, will be opened in due and ancient form.

At 10:45 o'clock, headed by Datter's band, the Free Masons will proceed to the site of the new court house, where at 11 o'clock the exercises will take place These will include an address by Director Hubbard, an oration by former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, laying of the cornerstone, music by the band, etc.

In the cornerstone will be placed a copy of the Bible, coin, a copy of the original act creating the court house commission, a copy of the Journal containing plans of the new court house, copies of city and county papers, proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, names of members of the Board and of the commission, and other documents.

The silver trowel with which Director Hubbard will spread the mortar is in possession of County Collector Edward M. Wood, and is kept in his safe, and on it is engraved this inscription: "This trowel was used by Captain J. Frank Hubbard to lay the cornerstone of the Union County Court House at Elizabeth, N. J., July 30, 1903." The oak handle of the trowel is tipped with silver, and contains the following inscription: "This handle was made from wood taken from the Union County Court House, erected 1811; demolished 1903."

The trowel, after it has been used by Director Hubbard, is to be presented to that official not only as a memento of the occasion, but in recognition of his long and valued services as a member and official of the Board.

At the conclusion of the exercises in connection with the laying of the cornerstone, the Grand Lodge will be escorted in procession Masonic Hall. Here the Grand Lodge will be closed in due form, and the grand officers will proceed to the banquet.

A grand stand has been erected on Broad street, facing the court house. On this will be seated all the invited guests of the Freeholders, all of whom are to attend the banquet in the evening. On the front part of this former Governor Foster M. Voorhees will stand to deliver his oration, which will probably be heard by thousands of people from all over the county who will gather in Elizabeth on this memorable day.

All of the members of the Grand Lodge will wear their regalia during the ceremonies. W. Holt Apgar, Grand Master of the New Jersey Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, will preside. He will be assisted by the other members of the Grand Lodge.

Great preparations have been in progress to make the banquet a most successful affair. The floor of the opera house has been covered over entirely with a platform, laid on top of the orchestra chairs and parquet. The theatre will be elabortely decorated by Laggren, of East Grand street with flags and bunting. There are to be four long tables at which will be seated 150 guests. Among this number will be Senator John Kean, who is to preside and make a brief address; Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, of Rahway, president of the State Catholic Diocesan Union, who will offer prayer; Benjamin A. Vail, judge of the Common Pleas; Surrogate George T. Parrot, Sheriff B. Frank Coriell, County Collector E. M. Wood and Director Hubbard, who will also make addresses. Among those who have been invited are Supreme Court Justice Bennet VanSyckel, Chancellor Magie and Senator Dryden; Mayor Patrick J. Ryan and the Mayors and Chairmen of all the cities, boroughs and township committees; forty members of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, Superintendent of the County Schools William J. Shearer, Comptroller A. B. Carlton, contractors and others. It is also hoped that several Congressmen, including the Hon. Charles N. Fowler, may be present.

PARTNERSHIP DISPUTE ENDED

AFFAIRS OF THE WATCHUNG KNITTING MILL AMICABLY SETTLED.

Basis of Settlement—The Factory to be Reopened in the Near Future.

After a year of dispute among the partners of the Watchung Knitting Company a settlement has been amicably made. The dispute between the partners dates from June, 1902. Henry Drossin, one of the firm, applied to the Court of Chancery for a receiver. He was represented by Codington & Swackhamer while the other partner, Leo J. Studley, who was presented by Winfield S. Angelman, resisted the appointment. A receiver was asked so that an accounting could be secured.

The Court refused to grant the application but ordered that the goods be held until the Master in Chancery could secure an accounting. After that much testimony was taken before Special Master Nelson P. Runyon. Drossin claimed that his partner, Studley, owed him $670 as his share in the parnership. Studley paid Drossin $200 for his claim and took the goods and the machinery, which is valued at $1,000. The opposing litigants each paid their own costs.

It is understood that Mr. Studley will reopen the factory in the near future.

The Foundation of Health.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

An Umbrella Factory

In our West Show Windows may be seen an Umbrella Factory, fully equipped, with skilled operators at work making new umbrellas and repairing old ones. This is one of the most interesting window displays yet thought of. It was originated by the Worcester Mass. Umbrella Company, makers of the Celebrated "Heart Brand" Umbrellas, and has proved a stupendous drawing card wherever exhibited.

Special Values in Umbrellas will be offered all this week during the exhibition. An unusual large assortment will be displayed.

HEART BRAND UMBRELLAS MADE BY WORCESTER UMBRELLA CO. WORCESTER MASS. U.S.A.

If your umbrella needs a little cobbling such as a new rib, a new cover or a new handle, bring it in and have it made as good as new at trifling cost. If you have a valuable handle which you would like remounted it will be done in a most satisfactory manner and at reasonable cost. At any rate do not fail to see this most unique and interesting exhibition of Modern Umbrella Building.

FREEDOM'S PORTCULLIS UP

THE EAGLE CASTLE ENTERTAINS ITS FRIENDS IN ROYAL FASHION.

Vaudeville Performance—The First of a Series of Entertainments—The Committee.

The first of a series of entertainments under the auspices of the good and welfare committee of Freeedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, was given last evening in the rooms in Park avenue. There were fully two hundred members and their friends present to enjoy the excellent programme presented.

The affair opened with an overture, piano and violin, by Miss Lottie Conger and C. Mead, respectively, after which there were soprano solos by Mrs. C. M. Nagle, recitations by Miss Leivers, songs and dance by Master Willard, illustrated songs by H. J. Martin, assisted by Mr. Willard, popular selections on the piano by Mr. Willard, a soprano solo, "The Homeland," by Miss Florence Bennett.

The programme concluded with a serpentine dance by Mrs. Willard and an address by Dr. C. M. Luckey, of Freedom Castle. Ice cream and cake were served under the direction of the committee in charge consisting of G. T. Norris, chairman; A. C. Hoagland, secretary; Dr. C. M. Luckey, treasurer; Raymond D. Carver and F. Kohler. Other entertainments of a similar character will be given from time to time throughout the winter.

Who Fired the Shot?

A mystery of the East End awaits an explanation. Last night at 9:30 o'clock, Patrolman Messler heard the shot of a revolver in the vicinity of East Ninth street. He promptly investigated but was unable to discover whence it came. Inquiry at the houses along the street, some of whose occupants had heard the shot themselves, elicited no explanation. It was perhaps someone who "didn't know it was loaded" examining a weapon and fortunate enough not to do serious damage to himself or others.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

As usual, the bathing privileges at the Back Pond are being abused. A number of those who enjoy a cooling dip during the summer months are not satisfied to take their plunge from the shady nooks removed from the roadway, but must disrobe on the dam within 15 feet of the public highway. This has led to complaints being made and unless the nuisance is abated some one will be arrested.

A large delegation from the Epworth League of the Methodist Church, attended the prayer and praise service at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home last night. Rev. Mr. Shaw, pastor of the church, had charge of the services.

The members of the Amity Club met and enjoyed one of their weekly readings Tuesday afternoon. The club is contemplating a number of pleasant outings during August. Last week a trolley trip to Midland Beach was enjoyed.

Williams' one error at third base in Saturday's game was an excusable one, as the runner in sliding into the bag, spiked "Billy," cutting him from the knee to the ankle, but he never complained but kept right on in the game.

The members of Fanwood Council, R. A., enjoyed one of their semi-monthly meeting in the Library rooms last night. One candidate was initiated into the mysteries of the order and one application was received.

Flannery, who was one of the weakest batters on the ball team last season, is fast coming to the front this season. Hardly a game passes that "Patsy" doesn't get in a two bagger and a single or two.

The residents of the 'Plains are beginning to get tired of hearing about the automobile case of the Township against Unger. Every little while it is called before Judge Clark, only to be adjourned again.

George Baldwin, who recently discarded a Scotch Plains uniform for the "Hope" colors, is finding the ball. Three nice hits against Warry MacLaughlin was his record for Saturday.

Saturday's game with the Aeolians will be one of the best Manager Johnston has offered the baseball public this season and a large crowd will no doubt be present.

Harry Pangborn has the contract for the carpenter work on a new dwelling to be erected by Fred Endress, at Clinton avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George MacCauley have rented the Buckley cottage on Park avenue and will take possession next week.

The trustees of the Methodist Church held a business meeting in the church Monday night.

Miss Lottie Lyons, of Plainfield, was the guest Tuesday evening of Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Jr.

Mrs. John Doull Miller, who has been spending some time abroad, sailed for home Saturday.

William Borkowsky, of Brooklyn, is visiting his uncle, Henry Cook, of Westfield avenue.

Miss Blanche Mercein is spending a few days with relatives at Elizabeth.

Charles and George Ball spent last Sunday at Midland Beach.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Lewis Campbell has so far improved from his recent long illness as to be about the house, but is not entirely well.

Thieves carried off about twenty spring chickens belonging to Mrs. Thomas Vannest last night.

Raymond Payne will go with the Plainfield excursion to Asbury Park tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Bethune Dunham entertained relatives from Passaic yesterday.

Miss Nellie Vannest has recovered from an injury caused by a fall.

William Drake, of Stelton, was in town on business this morning.

Philip Smith has resigned from his position in New York.

Miss Mabel Talmadge is spending the day in New York.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mifford R. Giles is building a stable on his estate, East Seventh street.

—Edgar C. Schenck, of Jackson avenue, has received a permit from Building Inspector T. O. Doane to erect a frame dwelling on West Fourth street.

—Patrolman Messler discovered the rear door of the Woman's Exchange on Watchung avenue wide open last night. There was no evidence of any midnight prowlers about and the officer made everything secure against possible invaders.

Julius Williams, of Plainfield avenue, and a party of friends enjoyed deep-sea fishing yesterday. The brought home a long string of fish.

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Justice V. W. Nash was in Camden yesterday on business for the A. O. U. W.

The monthly meeting of the German Benevolent Association will be held this evening.

The members of the Retail Clerks' Mutual Aid Association are planning for an outing to Boynton Beach about the middle of August.

Officers and members of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., intending to be present at the corner-stone laying ceremonies in Elizabeth are requested to assemble at the lodge room, West Front street, tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, sharp.

WASTE OF WATER.

Hydrants Leaking—Water Wagon Drivers Negligent—Many Complaints.

The waste of water from leaking hydrants about town has been considerable of late. Some people have blamed it to the drivers of the sprinkling carts but all the members of that force have been told to be especially careful in shutting the water off so far as possible. Two hydrants were reported badly leaking last evening by a patrolman, one on Central avenue and the other on Franklin place. And these are but a sample of the many that are in need of a plumber's attention.

It is also said that the stream from some of the hydrants is feeble in the force and that others do not work at all. If this be so, the matter should be remedied at once to provide against accidents in case of fire. Complaints have also been heard that the drivers of sprinkling carts have left the taps off from the hydrants and that small boys have taken advantage of the fact to drop stones in. To have the hose of the fire department clogged by stones at a time of danger might mean serious results.

Reception to Foster.

J. Hegeman Foster, well known in this city, whose thrilling pursuit of the Twentieth Century flyer out of Chicago gave his hasty return to Wall street a melodramatic touch, was boisterously received on the floor yesterday morning. A toy train was brought in later and dragged around in his footsteps. It was the first diversion there had been on the floor since the middle of last week.

Property Transfer.

Wm. Jeffery, real estate broker, has sold No. 969 West Fourth street, for James E. Totten to the Investors' Realty Company. The title to this property and the lots which Mr. Totten purchased from this company was closed late last evening at the office of City Judge Runyon. Mr. Totten will build ten houses on Elk street, which has just been opened.

The Misses Genevieve and Dorcas Hazard, of Mountain avenue, are spending a month with friends in Brooklyn.

Miss Adele Patterson and Charles Patterson, of Fanwood, are among the large number of people sojourning at Asbury Park.

LEO'S REQUIEM MASS

Celebrated In Sistine Chapel by Cardinal Vannutelli.

MUSIC BEAUTIFUL AND SUBLIME.

There Is a Conviction That the Vatican Conclave For New Pope's Election Will Be of Short Duration.

ROME, July 29.—The first of the three great requiem masses, under the auspices of the sacred college, for the repose of the soul of Pope Leo, has been celebrated in the Sistine chapel. All the cardinals now in Rome, the diplomatic corps, the Roman nobility and many other distinguished persons were present. No such mass had been seen in Rome since the death of Pius IX.

In the Sistine chapel stood a huge white catafalque, thirty feet high, and on it, upon two scarlet cushions, rested a triple crown of gold, shining brightly in the light of a hundred candles. The catafalque completely hid the altar.

As the fifty cardinals and fifty conclavists gathered around the catafalque and alternately knelt and rose their movements resembled an amazing kaleidoscope of crimson and violet, with colors so bright as to be almost trying to the eyes.

The Abbe Perosi, Italy's famous oratorio composer, waved his baton and the silence was broken with the notes of the "Dies Iræ." Those who know the Vatican well say the matchless Sistine choir never sang so well before. Through the historic chapel the voices of boys and men rose and fell and swelled triumphantly as if with songs of paradise, the voices dying away almost to a whisper at the mention of death. Even the cardinals sat spellbound at this perfection of the Gregorian chant. Not a note of instrumental music was heard throughout the mass.

Then came the singing of the "Sanctus," modulated almost into a whisper.

Clouds of incense rose from the censers until Michael Angelo's famous "Last Judgment" was almost hidden from view.

The subsequent meeting of the congregation of cardinals was very short. After an exchange of views on current affairs Mgr. Merry del Val, secretary of the consistorial congregation, gave each cardinal a diagram showing where his apartments in the Vatican will be located during the conclave.

The fisherman's ring, which could not be found after the death of the pope, may be discovered in some drawer which was sealed up and cannot be opened until after the election of the new pope. The camelingo, Cardinal Oreglia, has ordered a new one for use in the symbolic ceremony which occurs immediately after the successor to Leo is chosen.

The member of the noble guard who was overcome during the requiem mass in the Sistine chapel while on duty beside the catafalque was Count Stampa, who a few days ago was placed under arrest for feigning illness.

It is officially announced that in addition to the will of the late pope and separate from it Leo XIII. left a trifling present to each of a long list of relatives, members of the papal household, prelates, doctors, cardinals, etc. As many formalities have to be observed, it will probably be some time before these gifts are delivered.

That there is a conviction at the Vatican that the conclave will be of short duration is proved by the fact that all those who are to enter the conclave to minister to the wants of the cardinals have been engaged for only three days. The two camps into which the sacred college is divided appear to be becoming daily more irreconcilable, and it is said that the anti-Rampolla faction has declared that if necessary to defeat the opposition they will even go to the length of supporting a foreign cardinal. The name of Cardinal Kopp, bishop of Breslau, was mentioned in this connection, but was hardly considered seriously owing to the belief that under present conditions the elevation of a German to the papacy might mean the irreparable loss of France to the holy see.

Panama Is Now Quiet.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The temporary ebullition on the isthmus has subsided, according to a cablegram from United States Consul General Gudger, at Panama. He says that everything is perfectly quiet, and he anticipates no more trouble. Mr. Gudger would like to come home on leave of absence, but Acting Secretary Loomis has been obliged to deny his request until conditions on the isthmus are more settled.

Tutuila's Progress.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—Lieutenant Commander Minett, United States navy, who has been on the gunboat Wheeling for the past two years, has arrived here from Pango-Pango. He reports that the American government is giving unusual attention at present to road building in the island of Tutuila and a practical road maker is now engaged there at work.

Ramos Surrenders With 400 Men.

CARACAS, Venezuela, July 29.—General Antonio Ramos, one of the last of the chiefs of the revolution to remain in the field, who had a camp near Santa Lucia, has surrendered to the government, together with 400 men, their arms and ammunition.

Boiling Macaroni Caused Death.

TORONTO, July 29.—The six-year-old daughter of Michael Salerico, an Italian fruit dealer, fell into a boiler of macaroni which was being prepared for the family dinner and was scalded to death.

WITHIN WALLS OF DERRY.

Edward Was the First English King to Visit the City.

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, July 29.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra were accorded a great reception on their arrival here. Large crowds from the surrounding districts assembled to greet the first English sovereign who had ever visited Londonderry. Their majesties were met at the railroad station by the mayor and corporation.

The usual number of addresses were presented, in reply to which the king expressed his pleasure at the references to the spirit of good feeling and harmony pervading all classes in Ireland, adding that if his visit helped to extend and consolidate this feeling he would be richly rewarded.

Their majesties lunched at the Guildhall and attended a variety of functions. Among the pleasant incidents was the presentation of a special address to the queen from the women of Londonderry drawing attention to the fact that Londonderry is an important center of industrial work for women and of the higher education of women. The king, replying in behalf of Queen Alexandra, expressed the opinion that the "higher education of women is one of the happiest features of our time."

After the king had laid the foundation of Brooke park their majesties, who received an enthusiastic send off, left Londonderry for Buncrana, where they embarked on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert for a cruise along the coast.

TROOPS IN PURSUIT.

Escaped Convicts of Folsom Prison Closely Pressed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—At latest accounts the troops and the posses organized by the sheriffs of the different counties are keeping in close touch with the convicts who broke out of state prison at Folsom, taking along guards and other jail officials in self protection. The convicts are moving toward Coloma, where the citizens have armed themselves and are preparing to resist an attack. They have been warned of the advance of the convicts and will unite with the authorities.

It is reported by the driver of a stage which passed between Pilot Hill and Coloma that he saw the convicts walking close together. They were accompanied by men who were evidently residents of the vicinity, whom they had apparently forced to go with them as guides. A posse from Placerville, under Sheriff Bostwick, was reported not far behind them, following the trail.

The fight between the convicts and the officers near Pilot Hill, in El Dorado county, resulted in the death of Fred Howard, a convict, who was killed outright, and the wounding of another convict, a negro named Seavis.

Montclair Man's Sudden Death.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., July 29.—William Walker, a New York lawyer, who resided on Valley road, Montclair, has died suddenly of typhoid fever at a London hospital. Mr. Walker sailed for Europe about two weeks ago. Mr. Walker was a graduate of Yale university. He was an athlete and played on the football team of the Montclair Athletic club. His mother, hearing of his illness, sailed to nurse him and is now on the sea.

Daniel Webster Beat May Queen.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 29.—The meeting of the New England half mile circuit began here with three events. The 2:18 pace was the best race of the day, and the favorite, May Queen, was defeated in straight heats by Daniel Webster. The Colonel, the favorite in the 2:32 pace, took the event without difficulty. Wilton S. took the 2:35 trot from the favorite, Fuego, after the second heat.

Miss Roosevelt at York Harbor.

YORK HARBOR, Me., July 29.—Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the president, is the guest for at least a week of residents of York Harbor. For the present she is being entertained at Rock Ledge, the summer cottage of Mr. Thomas Nelson Page, by her friend Miss Field. She will be the guest of Justice McKenna of the United States supreme court and daughter during her visit.

Governor Testifies of Riots.

RICHMOND, Va., July 29.—Governor Montague was a witness in the proceedings in the Henrico county court for the removal of Simon Solomon, sheriff of the county, for having failed to do his duty in the street car strike. The governor testified that the sheriff had declined to ask for the troops and that he "was compelled by duty to act on his own account."

Jett-White Trial.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., July 29.—When the work of securing a jury to try Curtis Jett and Thomas White was finished the defendants waived formal arraignment and pleaded not guilty. The defense filed a demurrer to the indictment, but it was overruled. Captain Ewen, chief witness for the state, remains under the protection of troops.

Feared Three Are Drowned.

BEAUMORRIS, Ont., July 29.—Joseph Hosack of Carnegie, Pa., a Princeton student; Walter Mehard of Mercer, Pa., a student of Johns Hopkins, with a cousin to Hosack, set out from Gravenhurst in a canoe on Sunday. The paddles and Mehard's coat were picked up on the lake. It is feared all three have been drowned.

Red Cross Convention Postponed.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The American delegates to the convention called to meet at Geneva Sept. 15 next to revise the rules of the Red Cross relative to warfare have been notified by the Swiss minister here of an indefinite postponement of the convention. No reason is assigned.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THE NEW WOMAN

Her Fads and Foibles

A MAN fell into ill health and could no longer attend to his manufacturing enterprises. His lady wife resolved to do it for him. Looking at herself admiringly in the mirror she said to herself, "I'll be a business woman." Then she proceeded to "play smash," so to speak. She hired a set of offices, furnished them like a lady's pink tea boudoir and put her office boys into livery. She imported from England a lady for manager of the office, there being apparently no young woman in America sufficiently up in the etiquette of the situation to undertake the task. The English young woman took charge. Her idea and that of the lady who employed her were evidently to run an ironworkers' shop on the æsthetic social basis. An important customer was desirous of getting a large order filled immediately. It was necessary for him to see the manager. That lady, with the intention of showing him how things were done over the water, consequently in exactly the right way, made an appointment with him to meet her in her æsthetic office at a certain date. To keep it he had to travel a considerable distance, but his business was important, so he made the engagement. He appeared at the æsthetic office at the hour appointed. Menials ushered him through several rooms into the æsthetically draped pink tea sanctum of the lady manager. He waited half an hour. Nobody came. He waited a while longer, then sent one of the liveried pages in quest of the manager. After considerably more time she came in, impatience and annoyance written upon her high toned brow. She did not ask her customer to sit down. He reminded her that she herself had made the appointment and requested him to meet her at that hour. "Oh, I can't see you. I can't stop to talk to you at all!" said this business woman. "We are to have company at the house and I must go home and make the salad." Was this like a woman, or was it not?

All the human race is yet in the rudimentary stage of moral and intellectual development, but sometimes woman appears to be particularly so. A lady, a club woman who wears beautiful clothes, was called as witness in a lawsuit which, let us say, Mr. White brought against Mr. Black. The club lady who wears beautiful clothes and believes in the superior elevating moral tone of womanhood gave evidence on the side of Black. She declared under her solemn oath that certain statements she made were facts. After the trial was ended this club lady, talking over the case with White's lawyer, said, "But why didn't Mr. White make me an offer before I testified?"

* *

Isn't it about time for preachers and other men to stop howling at women concerning the enormity of divorces and begin to instruct men on the importance of behaving themselves in such a way that women will not need to get divorces? Man's misdeeds, in nine cases out of ten, force women to sue for divorce; then male moralists turn and berate women for it. Queer world this.

* *

Women are showing themselves useful and uncommonly capable in the advertising field. Many are now advertisement solicitors, others are writers of advertisements, while quite a number are accomplished press agents. Some of these travel in advance of theatrical and entertainment companies.

* *

So many inventions have been made and patented in the departments of the household and of women's apparel, so many inventions have been made by ladies themselves, that a promising field is now open for the woman patent attorney and expert. Think of a man expert giving his solemn opinion on the subject of a baby's clothing!

* *

There has been established by some philanthropic folk an asylum for feebleminded women. Would that it could hold them all!

* *

Mrs. Alice Moore McComas, the newspaper woman, has two brilliant and gifted daughters in professional life. One, Miss Alice, is a concert pianist; the other, Carroll, has whistled herself at once into a good living and the public eye. Miss Carroll also sings, and she has recently closed an advantageous five years' contract with one of the leading American firms of theatrical managers. All this is what one might expect from the daughters of a new woman.

* *

Not long ago, when it was proposed in the Illinois legislature to erect a statue to Miss Frances Willard, one of the wise superior sex that governs women rose to speak in opposition to the bill. He said he was emphatically against the proposition because Frances Willard was "no more deserving of honor than a thousand other mothers." How much some lawmakers do know!

* *

All over the Union the story has been spread how an American girl has refused to marry the Servian heir, Peter Karageorgevitch. Well, what of it?

* *

It gives me pleasure to call attention to the fact that Lydia Carpenter, a fifteen-year-old schoolgirl of Plattsburg, N. Y., has made a running high jump of 4 feet 3½ inches, thus making a new record for the feminine sex.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

That night the major, calling at Capt. Dade's, was concerned to hear that Mrs. Dade was not at home. "Gone over to the hospital with Mrs. Blake and the doctor," was the explanation, and these gentle-hearted women, it seems, were striving to do something to rouse the lad from the slough of despond which had engulfed him. That night "Pink" Marble, Hay's faithful bookkeeper and clerk for many a year, a one-armed veteran of the civil war, calling, as was his invariable custom when the trader was absent, to leave the keys of the safe and desks with Mrs. Hay, was surprised to find her in a flood of tears, for which she declined all explanation; yet the sight of Pete, the half-breed, slouching away toward the stables as Marble closed the gate, more than suggested cause, for "Pink" had long disapproved of that young man. That night Crapaud, the other stableman, had scandalized Jerry Sullivan, the barkeeper, and old McGann, Webb's Hibernian major domo, by interrupting their game of Old Sledge with a demand for a quart of whisky on top of all that he had obviously and surreptitiously been drinking, and by further indulging in furious threats, in a sputtering mixture of Dakota French and French Dakota, when summarily kicked out. That night, late as 12 o'clock, Mrs. Ray, aroused by the infantile demands of the fourth of the olive branches, and further disturbed by the suspicious growlings and challenge of old Tonto, Blake's veteran mastiff, peeped from the second story window and plainly saw two forms in soldier overcoats at the back fence, and wondered what the sentries found about Blake's quarters to require so much attention. Then she became aware of a third form, rifle-bearing, and slowly pacing the curving line of the bluff—the sentry, beyond doubt. Who, then, were these others who had now totally disappeared? She thought to speak of it to Nannie in the morning, and then thought not. There were reasons why nervous alarm of any kind were best averted then from Mrs. Blake. But there came reason speedily why Mrs. Ray could not forget it.

And that night, later still, along toward four o'clock, the persistent clicking of the telegraph instrument at the adjutant's office caught the ear of the sentry, who in time stirred up the operator, and a "rush" message was later thrust into the hand of Maj. Flint, demolishing a day-old castle in the air.

"From Rock Creek, Wyoming.
October 13, 18—. 9:15 p. m.
Commanding Officer, Fort Frayne: Via Fort Laramie.

Stage capsized Crook Canon. Gen. Field seriously injured. Have wired Omaha.

(Signed) WARNER,
Commanding Camp."

CHAPTER XVII.

Events moved swiftly in the week that followed. Particulars of the accident to Gen. Field, however, were slow in reaching Fort Frayne; and, to the feverish unrest and mental trouble of the son, was now added a feverish anxiety on the father's account that so complicated the situation as to give Dr. Waller grave cause for alarm. Then it was that, ignoring every thought of behavior on the part of the young officer toward the gentle girl so dear to them, not only Mrs. Blake and Mrs. Ray, but Mrs. Dade herself insisted on being made use of—insisted on being permitted to go to his bedside and there to minister as only women can, to the suffering and distressed. Waller thought it over and succumbed. The lad was no longer delirious, at least, and if he revealed anything of what was uppermost in his mind it would be a conscious and voluntary revelation. There were some things he had said and that Waller alone had heard, the good old doctor wished were known to certain others of the garrison, and to no one more than Mrs. Dade; and so the prohibition against their visiting the wounded lad was withdrawn, and not only these, but other women, sympathetically attracted, were given the necessary authority.

There was other reason for this. From the commanding officer of the supply camp at Rock Springs had come, finally a letter that was full of foreboding. Gen. Field, it said, was sorely injured and might not survive. If the department commander had only been at Omaha or Cheyenne, as the anxious father hastened to reach his son, the mishap would never have occurred. The general would gladly have seen to it that suitable transportation from the railway to Frayne was afforded his old-time comrade. But, in his absence, Field shrank from appealing to anyone else, and, through the train conductor, wired ahead to Rock Creek for a stout, four-mule team and wagon, with a capable driver. The conductor assured him that such things were to be in readiness on his arrival. Team, wagon and driver certainly were on hand, but the team looked rickety, so did the wagon, so did the driver, who had obviously been priming for the occasion. It was this rig or nothing, however, and in spite of a courteous remonstrance from the two officers at the supply camp, who saw and condemned the "outfit," Gen. Field started on time and returned on an improvised trestle three hours later. The "outfit" had been tumbled over a ledge into a rocky bottom and with disastrous results to all concerned except the one who deserved it most—the driver. The ways of Providence are indeed inscrutable.

A surgeon had been sent from Fort Russell and his report was such that Waller would not let it go in full to his patient. They had carried the old soldier back to camp and such aid as could be given by the rude hands of untaught men was all he had for nearly 24 hours and his suffering had been great. Internal injuries, it was feared, had been sustained, and at his advanced age that was something almost fatal. No wonder Waller was worried. Then Flint took alarm at other troubles closer at hand. Up to this year he had been mercifully spared all personal conduct with our Indian wards, and when he was told by his sentries that twice in succession night riders had been heard on the westward "bench," and pony tracks in abundance had been found at the upper ford—the site of Stabber's village—and that others still were to be seen in the soft ground not far from Hay's corral, the major was more than startled. At this stage of the proceedings, Sergt. Crabb, of the cavalry, was the most experienced Indian fighter left at the post. Crabb was sent for, and unflinchingly gave his views. The Sioux had probably scattered before the squadrons sent after them from the north; had fled into the hills, and, in small bands, probably, were now raiding down toward the Platte, well knowing there were few soldiers left to defend Fort Frayne, and no cavalry were there to chase them.

"What brings them here? What do they hope to get or gain?" asked Flint.

"I do not know, sir," answered Crabb. "But this I do know, they are after something and expect to get it. If I might make so bold, sir, I think the major ought to keep an eye on them blasted halfbreeds at Hay's."

It set Flint to serious thinking. Pete and Crapaud, paid henchmen of the trader, had been taking advantage of their employer's absence and celebrating after the manner of their kind. One of his officers, new like himself to the neighborhood and to the Indians, had had encounter with the two that rubbed his commissioned fur the wrong way. A sentry, in discharge of his duty, had warned them one evening away from the rear gate of a bachelor den, along officers' row, and had been told to go to sheol, or words to that effect. They had more business there than he had, said they, and, under the potent sway of "inspiring bold John Barleycorn" had not even abated their position when the officer-of-the-day happened along. They virtually damned and defied him, too.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, best payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

INGOMAR WON.

Ocean Course of 290 Miles Was Sailed Under 33 Hours.

HIGHLANDS OF NAVESINK, N. J., July 29.—In the Atlantic Yacht club's ocean race from Brenton's Reef lightship, off Newport, R. I., to the Scotland lightship, off New York harbor, M. F. Plant's schooner yacht Ingomar finished first.

The vessel's time over the course, which is a distance of 290 miles, was approximately 32 hours and 28 minutes, making an hourly average speed of almost nine knots.

The two other vessels which started in the race, the Thistle and the Lasca, were not in sight when the Ingomar finished. One of the vessels, the name of which could not be distinguished, passed Fire island two hours and five minutes after the Ingomar passed that point.

Racing at Glenville Track.

CLEVELAND, O., July 29.—In spite of the vigilance of the officers placed at the Glenville track by Mayor Goff handbooks have been operated and many wagers were made, the bookmakers passing out to their patrons small blue tickets. No arrests were made, as the work was done very quietly and without the sanction of the association. The sport was of the best despite the practical absence of betting, fast time being made in all of the events. The first race, the 2:14 trot, went to Billy Buck without much effort, the gelding apparently outclassing his field. In the 2:23 race Elastic Pointer won without difficulty, although he was forced to reduce his record from 2:10 to 2:06½. Fanforan proved the best of a field of twelve in the 2:17 trot, taking the second and third heats, the first being won by Bernald.

Ishlana Won Greenfield Stakes.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Ishlana, heavily played at 8 to 1, won the Greenfield stakes for two-year-olds at Jamaica. The St. Gatien filly, after being back in the bunch, closed with a great burst of speed in the stretch and won driving by one length. Nameoki, the favorite, ran below his form and finished a poor fourth. Ishlana, the winner, was bid up to $3,800, an advance of $2,300 over her entered selling price. A. Simons was the bidder. The stable bid the customary $5 and retained its filly. Divination in the first race broke the track record for five and a half furlongs by covering the distance in 1:07 4-5. The best previous time was 1:08 1-5.

Brulare Won at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Two heads, a nose and a neck were all that separated five of the field of six in the mile handicap at Hawthorne. It was a desperate struggle from the head of the stretch home, and not until the judges hung out the numbers was it known how the horses finished. The decision of the officials gave the race to Brulare, an 8 to 1 shot. The winner was next to the extreme outsider in the betting. Aloha at 7 to 2 was second. The Giver was third, a nose in front of Haviland. Bragg, the favorite, was last.

Senator Null Got Clay Stakes.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 29.—The winning of the three harness races at Island park, even including the Clay stakes, was entirely devoid of interest. In each event the winner took the heats straight and easily. In the Clay stakes Senator Null walked off with the honors easily, simply taking his own time in the second heat. In the pacing class only two heats had to be run because Peeler Patron won both.

Forehand Won at Delmar.

ST. LOUIS, July 29.—Forehand beat a good field in the feature at Delmar park. It was a six furlong dash for two-year-olds. Forehand went to the front at the quarter and held the lead to the wire. Rainland made a strong bid down the stretch, but fell short and finished second.

FIRM'S STATEMENT.

J. D. Loizeaux & Co. to Open Well-Stocked Yard in the West End.

Had we seen fit to take over the stock of D. C. Ivins & Co., we would not have kept the yard open for this business but a few weeks as we are prepared to open our West End yard, corner Rock avenue and Second street, where the expenses are only one-tenth of what they would be to continue it in the old stand. Like our present East End yard, the location and facilities are such that a casual observer will readily see why it is that we can sell goods so much lower than others. We don't have to "reduce" prices to meet competition. We could well afford to raise them but we don't. Our stock consists of lumber in all its branches, lime of four varieties, cements, imported and domestic, nine of the choicest brands, King's Windsor asbestos wall plaster, recognized the best made, for which we are sole agents. Beautiful five cross panel red cedar doors and rim. Paints, varnishes and oil. We give our business personal attention early and late. Call 'phone 218 or better come and see us.

Excursion to Shore.

The beautiful weather of the past few days has put everyone in the notion of going to Asbury Park, tomorrow, with Trinity Reformed Church Sunday-school and Marconnier Chapel. The excursionists will not leave for home until 7 o'clock. If it should rain, the excursion will go just the same.

—A case on contract is to be heard this afternoon in Justice Mattison's court. James Craig has brought suit against Augusta Dodge.

DR. VAN DE WATER MUST WAIT

NO BILL OF PARTICULARS FOR CLERGYMAN NAMED IN THE PROCEEDINGS.

Mrs. Watt, of North Plainfield, Denies Charges Which Reflect on Her Rector's Character.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 29—For the present the Rev. Dr. George R. Van De-Water, of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, who is in Europe, will have to do without a bill of particulars from former Commodore Archibald Watt. who has named him in the counter suit for divorce brought against Mrs. Adele F. Watt, of North Plainfield.

The case was argued before Judge Dugro in the Supreme Court on Monday, and at the conclusion of the discussion he decided that the clergyman should be served simply with the order to frame the issues which are to be tried by the jury, These issues will embody questions relative to the conduct of Dr. VanDeWater and Mrs. Watt for the jury to pass upon, and Judge Dugro said if they do not disclose all the particulars desired by the clergyman to prepare himself for defence the motion for the bill of particulars may be renewed.

It was Mrs. Watt who first sued her husband for a separation, and he in turn asked for an absolute divorce on account of her alleged conduct with the clergyman and another person. Mrs. Watt says these charges are groundless, and Dr. VanDeWater has also put in a sworn answer denying them.

TWO LOCAL CASES DECIDED

VICE CHANCELLOR'S OPINION IN THE SUITS INSTITUTED BY MRS. M'VEY.

Overrules a Demurrer — Grants Leave to Apply to File Amendment.

Vice Chancellor Stevens has just given important decisions in two cases of interest to many Plainfielders, one being that of Mrs. Lucy C. Mc Vey against Mrs. Julia Peck and the Plainfield Cab Company. This was an injunction proceeding preventing the defendants from obstructing the right of way between the cab company's place and that of Mrs. Mc Vey's property. The defendant had filed a demurrer alleging that there was no reason why an injunction should be granted. The matter was argued in February. Vice Chancellor Stevens now decides that the bills shows a continuing injury and in such cases the remedy sought is proper, bill showing such injury. He therefore overrules the demurrer.

In the second case Mrs. Julia Peck brought an action against Mrs. Mc Vey, D. S. Roberts and others to change the description in the deed giving a right of way, claiming that there was an error made when the instrument was drawn. In behalf of the defendant, W. S. Angleman made a motion to strike this out of the bill, on the ground that the plaintiff was not entitled to relief on the facts set forth in the bill.

Vice Chancellor Stevens grants the application to strike out and gives Mrs. Peck the right leave to apply to the Court to file an amended bill if she can overcome the objections presented. In these cases Mrs. McVey is represented by Counsellor W. S. Angleman and Mrs. Peck by Lawyer Isaac P. Runyon.

Mrs. Quaas' Will Filed.

The will of Mrs. Ellen Quaas, of West Second street, who died several weeks ago, was filed for probate at the office of Surrogate Parrot, at Elizabeth, yesterday. The estate is represented by Wm. G. DeMeza.

DUNELLEN MAN'S CASH TO GO TO GERMANY

No Heirs in This Country to Estate Left by Xavaier Stehlin ?

CLAIMED BY A NIECE

CASE IN ORPHANS' COURT AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

Caveat Filed Against Granting Letters of Administration to Walter G. Runyon, of Dunellen.

Xavier Stehlin, of Dunellen, who died on February 23, left an estate of about $5,000 and no one near at hand to look after it for him. Now there is a fight on in the Orphans' Court at New Brunswick as to who shall be the administrator of the estate and it is said that there are some heirs in Germany, who are coming here to claim it.

Walter G. Runyon, the undertaker of Dunellen, who buried the man and thus became a creditor of the estate, made application for letters of administration to Surrogate Daly, of Middlesex County, on April 11. Catherine Dallmer, of Philadelphia, who claims to be a niece of the dead man, filed a caveat against the granting of the letters.

On account of a claim of other heirs the Court decided to let the matter stand over until Tuesday, September 15, in order to allow the serving of citations and the bringing into court of all the people interested in the estate. Mr. Stehlin had lived with a Mrs. Helen Koldushes, at Dunellen, who died recently. Lawyer Runyon, who represents the executors of Mrs. Koldushes, claims to be a creditor of the estate. E. W. Hicks, of New Brunswick, is the counsel for Undertaker Runyon

TROLLEY ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Sue Mundy Injured by Fall From a Trolley Car—Stepped From Moving Car.

Mrs. Sue Mundy, a rather aged woman residing in East Third street, stepped off of a West Front street trolley car last evening in front of the First M. E. Church, while it was in motion, and suffered a slight concussion of the head. The car was brought to a standstill and the motorman and conductor carried the woman into C. M. Nagle's drug store at the corner of West Front and Grove streets.

Dr. C. B. Lufburrow, the city physician, and Dr. J. T. Fritts, of the trolley company, attended her. It is reported today that she is doing well.

CORNERSTONE CEREMONIES

Great Crowd Witnesses the Exercises at New Union County Court House.

ORATION BY VOORHEES

Parade and Masonic Service Followed by Banquet—United States Senator Kean a Speaker—Many Distinguished Men Present.

Representative men of Union County and the State at large mingled in the immense crowds which attended the cornerstone laying ceremony at Elizabeth this morning. For the proper celebration of the event, the Board of Freeholders have spared no necessary expense and the ceremonies themselves conducted in due Masonic form by the Grand Lodge of Free and

J. Frank Hubbard.

Accepted Masons of the State of New Jersey, were most elaborate and impressive.

The official programme of this morning was carried out without a hitch. Promptly at 10:45, Datters' band headed the procession of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey Masons from the Masonic Hall on Broad street to the new court house. An overture by the band was followed by the address of welcome spoken by Captain J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, who has been directer of the Board of Freeholders for sixteen years and a member for thirty-six. Capt. Hubbard spoke of the importance of the occasion, its meaning to the county, congratulating the county and its representatives upon the notable addition to its buildings and welcoming all to a participation in the ceremonies to follow.

Prayers by the grand chaplain of the State Lodge and the singing of odes by the Cathedral quartette were followed by the ceremony of laying the cornerstone performed by Grand Master W. Holt Apgar, of Trenton, who used an exceeedingly handsome silver trowel, with a handle of polished oak taken from the interior of the old court house previous to its demolition. Grand Master Apgar was assisted in laying the mortar on the cornerstone by Director Hubbard. The blade of the trowel was inscribed as follows: "This trowel was used by Captain J. Frank Hubbard to lay the cornerstone of the Union County Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., July 30, 1903." An inscription on the handle read: "This handle was made from wood taken from the Union County Court House. Erected 1811. Demolished 1902." The trowel was presented to Director Hubbard with the understanding that at his death it is to revert to the county.

Grand Master Apgar and Director Hubbard were assisted in the rite by the other grand officers. The implements used in the laying of the stone were presented to the architects, Messrs. Ackerman and Ross. The oration by Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees and the "Star Spangled Banner," by the band, concluded the festivities.

In the cornerstone were placed the minutes of the Board of Freeholders of the dates relating to the court house and a full account of all proceedings connected with the erection of the new building. Also included were newspapers giving a cut of the new court house, a number of United States coins of the present day, copies of the invitations to the ceremony and banquet and other interesting papers.

The most active of those who have arranged for the laying of the cornerstone at the new court house has been County Collector Edward M. Wood, who projected the new building and worked for its erection from the first. The rest of the committee has been composed of members of the Board of Freeholders. They are Freeholder Jacob Brucklacher, of Elizabeth; Freeholder John Farrell, of Rahway, and Director J. Frank Hubbard, who have been particularly active and with County Collector Wood, compose the building committee specially appointed for the erection of the new court house.

There was a large delegation from this city. Worshipful Master James A. Stafford, accompanied by members of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., and Worshipful Master Louis I. VanAlstyne with members of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, of the same order, participated in the parade. Local officeholders and members of the bar mingled in the throng. Conspicuous in the crowds at the exercises and at the banquet was James E. Martine, the farmer-orator of Cedar Brook.

The committee appointed to take charge of the laying of the cornerstone consisted of Director J. Frank Hubbard, of Plainfield; Freeholders Farrell, Brucklacher, Adams, King, McCandless, County Collector Wood and S. Rusling Ryno, clerk of the board.

The contractors are the J. H. Parker Company, of New York. The architects are Messrs. Ackerman and Ross, also of New York.

The site for the new court house was purchased about six years ago by the Board of Freeholders. The land is located at Rahway avenue and Broad street, and on it stood for many years the noted Sheridan House, which was a famous resort for leading politicians of both parties, but chiefly Democrats. The old hotel got dilapidated and on the death of its owner, the late Postmaster Patrick Sheridan, the property was sold by the executors of his estate to the county of Union for the purpose to which it now is being converted.

Five sets of plans for the new court house were submitted and passed upon by Prof. Partridge, of Columbia University, who decided in favor of Ackerman & Ross.

The new building will be of granite and marble, three stories high, with an attic and a basement. In the latter will be located the District Court, which will have an area of 1,075 square feet.

There will be a clerk's office attached, which will be 200 square feet.

George T. Parrot.

The record storage room, which is also to be in the basement, will be 1,600 square feet, and will be fireproof and protected with barred windows and iron shutters.

There will be two large courtrooms on the first floor, with complete equipment for heating, lighting and ventilation. One room will be 2,000 square feet in size and the other 2,100 feet.

There will also be rooms for the judges, consulting rooms, library and stenographers' departments.

On the second story will be the Freeholders' room, 1,125 square feet in size, a vault 140 square feet, sheriff's office, 600 feet; sheriff's private office, 275 feet; assistant's office and a vault.

On the third floor will be the grand jury room, 1,200 square feet; two large waiting rooms for witnesses and a public hall for county societies.

PLAINFIELD BABIES CARED FOR AT CAMP

Praiseworthy Work Being Conducted at Fresh Air Institution on Mountain.

OBJECT OF THE CAMP

PLACE IS IN CHARGE OF THE LOCAL KING'S DAUGHTERS.

The Resources Sorely Taxed—Many Applications Received—A New Dormitory Being Built.

Every Monday morning, a load of pale, big-eyed, sickly youngsters from five months to nine years old is taken up the mountain by Henry DeMott, the borough undertaker, and landed at the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountain. And every Saturday night another load of children goes back to the homes in Plainfield, the same youngsters transformed, eyes bright, cheeks aglow, and crowing with the joy of a healthy childhood. That in a word is the work of the Baby Camp on the mountain.

Totally different from the Netherwood Home whose object is to reach the poor of New York, the King's Daughters camp is quite as worthy of praise and encouragement. Its work lies in Plainfield itself. It benefits the poor children who are sick.

Children go there some of them barely able to crawl. A few days of the outdoor treatment and lost appetites are recovered—Oliver Twist asking for more isn't in the same class for appetite. Cheeks grow rosy and the youngsters are soon out on the lawns playing games and enjoying themselves generally with all the vigor of health.

The resources of the camp have been taxed throughout the season to the utmost. The managers are unable to keep up with the number of applications received. Fourteen children have been cared for this week by the matron, Mrs. Delaney, and the nurse, Miss Olive Delaney.

A new dormitory is being built, which will be ready for occupancy by the end of next week, and which, it is expected, will accommodate twelve more children.

WILDCAT MOUNTED.

Stuffed Animal Owned by A. I. Smalley Now on Exhibition in a Window.

A large wildcat, properly mounted in the Somerset street pharmacy is a trophy of a hunting trip taken by A. I. Smalley early in the spring in North Carolina. It was captured after it had killed several valuable hunting dogs belonging to J. C. Stanley at East Arcadia, N. C.

The cat, when killed weighs 45 pounds. With Mr. Smalley was Augustus Trust, formerly a resident of North Plainfield. They were hunting on Mr. Stanley's reserves when it was decided to ascertain what was killing off all the sheep. They soon came across the cat, caught by its hind legs in a steel trap. Before it could be subdued three dogs met their death.

COLORED FOLKS AT SHORE

EXCURSION OF TWO LOCAL CONGREGATIONS TO NORTH BEACH.

Eight Carloads of Pleasure Seekers Leave This City for Day's Outing.

Filled with the joy of anticipation, eight carloads of colored people, representing the Calvary Baptist and Fillmore Avenue Baptist Churches of this city, left town this morning for a salt water day at North Beach, Long Island. The two churches, in conjunction with churches from Roselle, Cranford, Westfield and two from Elizabeth, will embark on barges at Elizabethport and will spend the day at North Beach, returning to this city at about 8:30 this evening.

A goodly representation from the two churches was with the excursion and all left in a high state of hilarity at the prospect of the day's pleasure. The following committees served from the churches: Calvary Baptist, Rev. Scott Wallace, James Brooks, Mansfield Robinson, Richard Firman, Miles Taylor, Silas Jackson and Peter Crosby, and from the Fillmore Avenue Church, Rev. E. J. Crudup, William R. Connett, Robert Randolph and Peter P. Robinson.

TRINITY REFORMED'S OUTING

FOURTEEN COACHES FILLED WITH HAPPY EXCURSIONISTS.

Marconnier Chapel People Accompany Trinity's Flock to the Park.

The annual excursion of Trinity Reformed Church and Marconnier Chapel Sunday-schools to Asbury Park, today was started under very favorable auspices. Contrary to general expectations, the weather was ideal, and this induced a large number of people to avail themselves of the opportunity of spending the day at the popular Jersey resort.

There was one section, but this was made up of fourteen coaches, including a baggage car. Every coach was filled with happy excursionists, yet there was sufficient room for the comfort and convenience of all. The train was in charge of Conductor Flanagan, one of the most popular employes of the road. The start was made soon after 8 o'clock and everyone intending to go had plenty of time to get aboard. On the return this evening the train will leave Asbury Park at 7 o'clock, arriving home about 9 o'clock.

P. S. C. GRANTS TRANSFERS

TROLLEY COMPANY MAKES AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Change Goes Into Effect Saturday—Transfers, a Liberal Concession.

The Public Service Corporation announces changes in the transfer system at Newark and other points, taking in some of the intersecting points not now affected. The changes go into effect on Saturday. A majority of the points affected are in Hudson and Essex counties. The management reminds its patrons that transfers will be good only when offered by the person to whom issued, and that "they are intended to afford a continuous passage by connecting lines at junction points, and are not good for stop over." Passengers are requested to take note of the time punched by the conductor when the transfer is received, in order that unpleasant disputes may be avoided.

Pulpit Supplies.

The pulpit supplies at the Grace M. E. Church during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp, have been announced. Rev. Dr. Thomas G. Spencer, of East Orange, will preach, Sunday, August 9; Rev. Dr. Mitchel, of Cleveland, will preach on the evenings of the two last Sundays of the month. An effort is being made to secure Rev. Francis Whiteside to preach here on August 16.

Do You Know.

If we did not advertise you would not know that Kirby's cigar store is located at 106 Park avenue, where you can obtain a cool glass of Watchung Spring ice water, (free) and buy a 5, 10, 15, 25 cent cigar that will give you pleasure to smoke. Cigars at wholesale and retail. 7 27 5

Official Board Meeting.

The official board meeting of Grace M. E. Church was not held last evening on account of the storm. It will be held Sunday morning after the church service.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT TALKS ON HOLY LAND

Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Gardiner Delivers An Illustrated Lecture of Much Interest.

SOME BIBLE HISTORY

AFFAIR HELD UNDER AUSPICES OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY.

Collection Taken to Purchase An Organ for Salem College—Miss Mabel Maxson Renders a Piano Solo.

An excellent stereoptican lecture on the Holy Land was the worthy reward for those who braved the threatening condition of the clouds to assemble in the Seventh-Day Baptist Church. The lecturer, Dr. Theodore L. Gardiner, is president of Salem College, West Virginia, and is spending the summer in this city, taking the place of Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis on the Sabbath Recorder. One hundred views were shown, reproduced from photographs taken by Dr. Gardiner and the party, which with him, made a tour of the Holy Land last year.

The views were a complete picture history of the sixteen thousand mile trip through Palestine where the prominent events in the life of our Saviour were enacted, Cana of Galilee, Nazareth, Samaria, and the ancient city of Jerusalem. Throughout this part of the talk, Dr. Gardiner associated the points of interest with the corresponding portions of Bible history and made the lecture of far more interest by telling of the events in the life of our Saviour directly connected with the cities and towns where views were shown. From these scenes of Bible life, the talk turned to an explanation of excellent views of Egypt, Cairo, the pyramids, and the Sahara desert.

The affair was under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church, and a collection was taken for a piano to be used in Salem College. Miss Mabel Maxson gave a pleasing piano solo in an intermission of the views.

More Printing Press Machinists.

Local mechanics circles are being reinforced by hands from factories in the New England States. Three big printing press manufacturies, the largest of which is the Babcock Printing Press Manufacturing Co., of New London, Conn., have shut their doors on account of the marked lack of business. The workers are scattering over the country in search of employment and five of them have found work at the Walter Scott Company here.

Poisoning Dogs.

H. S. Taylor, of 12 Westervelt avenue, lost a valuable French Collie dog, yesterday, by arsenic poisoning. This makes the sixth canine that has died from poisoning in six weeks in that neighborhood. The last death was that of a dog belonging to John Rafferty who lives on Sandford avenue.

Street Work.

The North Plainfield Street Department is busy at present repairing and repaving some of the streets. The upper end of Duer street is almost completed and yesterday work was started on the macadamizing of Walnut street. Norwood avenue is the next street that will receive the attention of Chairman James K. Arnold.

Donations to Charity.

William Warnock, of West Front street, yesterday donated cake for three hundred children at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. Today he gave a large number of cakes and a quantity of ice cream to the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain.

Abused Better-half.

Joseph Smith, of West Fourth street, was hailed before the local tribunal this morning accused of having beaten his wife while garrulously inclined from the effects of too much hot stuff. The offender seemed penitent this moning and was allowed to depart unmolested.

Mrs. Knowlton Dead.

Mrs. Ellen L. Knowlton died at her home in West Fifth street, yesterday. She was the wife of James Russell Knowlton. Mass will be said in St. Mary's Church tomorrow morning at 9:30.

Miss Schaefer.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Schaefer, in Orchard place, has been brightened by the arrival of a young daughter.

MUCH BUILDING IN PRIDEVILLE

THE ONLY SECTION OF THE BOROUGH WHERE THERE IS A BOOM.

Small Houses in Great Demand—Some Recent Sales—Reason of Inactivity.

Notwithstanding repeated statements that the real estate values in North Plainfield are falling behind those of this city unusual building activity is noticed in the western end of North Plainfield, commonly known as Prideville or Bull Frog City. Houses are being built on several lots and considerable property is changing hands preparatory to erecting more buildings.

George F. Brown, the borough tax collector and real estate dealer, in speaking of the real estate conditions in the borough, attributes the present inactivity in North Plainfield building circles to the high prices of lots. He is authority for the statement that there are many wealthy men in North Plainfield and this city who are willing to invest money in erecting houses which would rent between $15 and $25 a month, but who will not pay the exhorbitant prices now asked for real estate.

In Prideville, lots are still cheap and it is there that new houses are going up rapidly. Several of the Plainfield real estate dealers have recently sold lots, Elston M. French among others. Several weeks ago Mr. French sold property at the corner of Duer and Walnut streets to Frank Schaefer, of Vine street, and already a house is well underway.

Fritz Dean, a well known resident of that part of the borough is erecting two houses on Cedar street. These are almost completed and will be ready for occupancy on or about the first of September. The houses are comfortable dwellings designed for small families.

Charles Greader last week purchased a lot on Jefferson avenue from Mayor Smalley and on it he expects to erect a residence. The property on Stony Brook place was transferred last week to George N. VanArden by D. B. VanArden. The former will shortly erect a comfortable dwelling house of two stories on the site.

JOHN INGRAM DEAD.

Westfield Merchant Dies at His Summer Home at Bradley Beach.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 30—John Ingram, a well-known retired hardware merchant, died at his summer home at Bradley Beach yesterday afternoon after a short illness. He had been in business in this town for many years. About eighteen months ago when he retired and went to live in California. He is survived by a wife and child.

The funeral services will be held at Bradely Beach at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening and at the Episcopal Church at Westfield Saturday, afternoon at 1 o'clock. The interment will be in Staten Island.

Boehm's New Front.

Plans were filed this morning for a new front to be built to Boehm's dry goods store on West Front street. The entire front of the building on the ground floor will be reconstructed and an elaborate vestibule and entrance and two twelve by thirteen plate glass show windows will make an imposing front to the store. Work will be immediately commenced and will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The Park avenue entrance to the store will be used exclusively, while changes are being made. Chas. H. Smith, of Grove street, is the architect.

Elks on Jaunt.

Wearing spotless white felt hats, many local members of the Elks started this morning for an excursion up Long Island Sound. The men will proceed as far as Elizabethport by train and will there embark on a steamer for the breezy trip up along the Long Island shores. Lunch and dinner will be served on the boat and the excursionists will return to this city late this evening.

Auto Kills Dog.

A small though corpulent pug dog was dashed into eternity late yesterday afternoon by a massive Winton touring car racing through the West End. The dog and the machine met at the corner of Munroe avenue and Fourth street and the machine went on.

Picnic on Mountain.

Sixty members of St. John's Church, of Seawaren, passed through this city at noon today on their annual excursion. The picnickers were bound for the Watchung mountains where they will spend the day.

TRAMP STABS 3 MEN AND THEN ESCAPES

Hunger-Crazed Hobo's Acts Cause Much Excitement in Westfield.

NONE SERIOUSLY HURT

JOHN LONG, ANDREW M'MURRAY AND GEORGE BOYNTON, THE VICTIMS.

Police Searching for the Tramp—Used Long Knife—Injured Men Have Wounds Dressed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 30—Three men were stabbed yesterday by a hunger-crazed hobo who tried to steal a loaf of bread and the police of this city are scouring the woods round the Baltusrol golf grounds for the fellow.

The hobo has been making his headquarters in the Watchung mountains for some time. He gained admittance to the house of John Long on the mountainside yesterday afternoon and was making away with a loaf of bread when he was seen. Long gave chase and cornered his man. He felled him with a blow. The tramp threw the bread in his face, whipped out a long knife and stabbed him, making a dash for the woods. Andrew McMurray, who was passing near by, heard the shouts. He gave chase and caught up with the man. The hobo met McMurray's attacks with several slashes with his knife and again made his escape.

George Boynton, the constable, was coming down the mountain and seeing the trouble rushed to McMurray's assistance. The fellow got away. Boynton gave chase and was putting the handcuffs on him when the tramp cut him in the face and chest with his knife. He also cut his own face. All three men came to town to have their wounds dressed by Dr. Sinclaire. The tramp is still at large.

O. F. C. PLANS.

Athletic Club Arranges to Commence Football Practice—Meeting at Kensington.

Matters pertaining to the coming football season were talked over at the meeting of the Orange Field Club at the Hotel Kensington, last evening. The practice will begin Saturday, September 9, at the home of the president, H. C. Smith, Westervelt avenue. Harry Hook, Henry C. Brose, Raymond M. Guinn, John Colleen and Harry Squires were appointed a committee on the sale of stock. Raymond Guinn was appointed treasurer.

Those present were H. C. Smith, William McCullough, Frank Mean, Harry Hook, Clarence Swalm, George McVoy, Everett Sherwin, Walter Ulrich, Walter Hamilton, Robert Crane, Henry C. Brose, Raymond Guinn, Harry Brokaw, Charles Hilyer and Peter Emmons.

HOOLEY HOLDINGS SOLD.

Half Million in Cash Paid for Railroad Holdings of the Boroughite.

According to the plans of the 'Frisco management for its most recent acquisition, the Evansville and Terre Haute Railroad, the identity of the road, which was potent in bringing about the financial collapse of Edwin S. Hooley & Co., will not be lost, at least for the present. The Evansville and Terre Haute, contrary to the general opinion in railroad circles, will not be merged with the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, but will be operated separately.

Cash was paid for the Hooley holdings. The amount involved was comparatively small — between $400,000 and $500,000.

Charity Euchre.

A charity euchre will be held next Thursday evening at the Netherwood Hotel for the benefit of Miss Curry's Baby Camp. Mrs. Irving Currier is in charge of the arrangements for the evening's entertainment and is being assisted by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Croff, guests at the hotel. Tickets may be secured of any of these women or at the hotel.

Kean's Denial.

The truth of a dispatch from Washington to the effect that United States Senator John Kean is to be a tri-state leader, under appointment from the National Republican Committee, has been denied by him.

Miss Laura J. Runyon and the Misses Elliott, of Madison avenue, will sojourn at Stroudsburg, Pa., during the month of August.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

It is the wise man that scans The Daily Press advertisement columns for bargains. The thrifty housekeeper always does. She looks for L. H. Boehm's ad the first thing because she knows that the best bargains are to be secured there. Next week the Front street entrance will be closed but the place will be open. Use the side entrance.

"Get the habit" and go to F. W. VanWinkle, North avenue, for the summer photographic supplies. He has in stock kodaks and cameras. See some of his plates for amateur work. They are the greatest thing that has introduced to amateur photographers.

If your wiring gets out of order, whether it be electric light of battery bells do not try to repair it yourself but call in William H. Pope, of North avenue. Prices low; workmanship superior to all others.

Winter is coming, although the weather at present might lead you to forget that fact. Have your fireplace prepared when it does come. R. B. VanArsdale will put it in the best possible condition for the lowest possible price. Store on Central avenue.

The best clothing values ever offered are to be found at Werner's clothing store on West Front street. Men's and boy's suits and negligee shirts at prices that will make you think you are dreaming. Good material for summer wear, and leaves you something in your pocket book.

All you need to know about summer furniture is that it comes from Powlison & Jones, of East Front street. Durability and beauty are characteristic of every piece of furniture that leaves their store.

The old Greek gods would have discarded their nectar if they could ever have tasted of the soda and ice cream that Fowler, of East Front street, sells. Fowler makes all his candies himself and uses nothing but the purest materials in their composition.

Weinberger's mid-summer sale of men and boys' clothing is attracting considerable attention. If you are looking for genuine bargains this is the store in which to get them.

The H. E. Gayle Hardware Company's store is headquarters for all kinds of hardware and builders' materials, also everything needed about the household such as refrigerators, lawn mowers, kitchen utensils, etc., and you will find the prices right.

Notwithstanding that business in general is quiet at this season of the year, Charles Conover & Company, painters and decorators of Elmwood place, have been kept very busy in their line of work. The firm is always glad to furnish estimates for work and entire satisfacton is guaranteed.

J. Hervey Doane, of Park avenue, is one of the best known jewelers in this part of the State. He has been in business for many years and his experience is of value to intending purchasers of all kinds of jewelry, silverware, watches or clocks. He also does first class repair work.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Scott, of Central avenue, will spend the month of August with relatives in the Berkshire Hills.

Miss Anna Murphy, of Central avenue, will spend the early part of August at Summit and the latter part at Spring Lake, where she will stop at the Wilmerding-by-the-Sea.

William R. Codington, of the firm of Codington & Swackhamer, is with his family at Willon, Maine.

Mrs. Frank Underwood and son, and Miss Alberta Libsey, of Philadelphia, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Martin.

William Chamberlain and family, of East Third street, have returned from a camping trip to Boynton Beach.

Mrs. J. P. Humble and daughter, Martha, of Somerset street, are visiting friends in New Brunswick today.

Mrs. Charles Staff and daughter, of Manning avenue, are visiting friends at Budd's Lake.

Elisha Price, of Westfield, is visiting friends in this city.

Adolphus Emery, of Watchung avenue, is at Lake Hopatcong where he will remain until Monday.

The Misses Ethel and Gertrude Gabriel, of Perth Amboy, are the guests of their sister, Mrs. William McComb, of West Front street.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, August 2, 1903. Round trip $1.50, children, 75c. from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switch-back you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful little cascades, caverns and like attractions. 7 27 td

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Fred G. Woodard, of Westerly, R. I., has taken a position at the Potter Press Company's plant.

Marcus Beekman, of South avenue, has taken a position at the Potter Press Company's plant.

William McComb, of West Front street, was sent to New York yesterday, by the Manganese Steel Safe Company, to repair a safe. Mr. McComb just returned from Yonkstown, Ohio, where he has been on business for the Safe Company for the last six weeks.

William Gallegar, of Dunellen, a molder at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, is detained at home by illness.

Niles Husk, of the Edison plant, formerly of the Pond Machine Tool Company's Works, is visiting "Ted" Shortman, of West Sixth street.

John Rick, a crane hand in the foundry of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, is detained at home as the result of an accident, which happened to him at the works yesterday. He was hoisting a bucket of hot metal, when the handle slipped, hitting him on the forehead with much force, rendering him unconscious. He was taken to a nearby doctor and the wound was dressed. The injured man will be unable to return to work for some time.

One of the non-union men working at the Crescent Shipbuilding yards in Elizabethport, narrowly escaped being thrown overboard while going to his home on Staten Island, a few evenings ago. Two fishermmen, who were feeling "quite happy," learned of his identity and rushed him to the rail of the ferryboat, intending to throw him overboard. They were prevented by two pickets of the Machinists Union, who had followed the man to talk him into going away.

Chance for Swackhamer.

Senator Robert S. Hudspeth has finally declared that he is not a candidate for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination. This announcement is given added significance because it made its appearance a day or two after the decision of Robert Davis that the nomination cannot go to Hudson County.—Newark Evening News.

Protecting Beach.

At Asbury Park plans for the protection of the beach front have been adopted by the Beach Commissioners, it being decided to building at once jetties along the shore front. There are to be eleven big jetties and nineteen small ones, the latter better known as bach formers.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Litttle Men and Women of Plainfield Receive a Cordial Invitation to Read.

HOLIDAY ENJOYMENT

LIBRARIAN ADDRESSES YOUNG FOLKS IN THIS CITY.

Books of Adventure, Travels, Fairy Tales and Jungle Stories—Art Gallery and Museum Attractions.

To the Children of Plainfield:—

I want to tell all the children of Plainfield, all at least who have not found out for themselves about something of which they will be glad to know especially in vacation time. And what I want to tell you about is this, a children's library, all your own, not books for grown up people, but ever so many of the very nicest book for children. There are fairy tales galore (you know what that means I am sure), and easy books that tell you how to make all kinds of things, books of exciting adventures, and books about girls away at school, and books with lots of pictures that tell how people in far off countries live, and then there are true stories, some about men and women who started out with nearly everything against them and yet who lived to do something which made people better or wiser or happier. Lots of boys like this kind. There are animal stories too, like the Jungle books.

Where are they? In the Public Library, on the corner of Park avenue and Eighth street you know, and there is a children's corner where we keep all the books that boys and girls like best to read. And you can come whenever you like and stay as long as you like. You can read the books there, or, if your mother and father will let you, you can take them home to read. Of course in vacation one likes to be playing out of doors a great deal, but when one grows tired of this, it is very nice to have a good book to read.

Don't you love fairy tales? Some of the nicest ones I know are in the "Red fairy book." You ought to read it. I know the names of ever so many others, but I can't tell you here, because the editor will think I am taking up too much space, but come to the Library and then I will tell you. Only you must promise not to write in them, "This is a bully book" or "I think this story is perfectly lovely." Tell the children's librarian instead, for she always likes to know, so as to tell other boys and girls.

If you want to, you can bring your little brothers and sisters, for we have picture books for them, with colored pictures in. Only you will have to see that they don't tear them and that their hands are clean. We depend on you to help us to keep the books clean, so that after you have finished them other boys and girls may enjoy them too.

I mustn't close without saying that if you come on Tuesday or Saturday afternoons you can go up stairs and see the butterflies and the birds and the pictures.

Sincerely your friend,
The Librarian.

SKIN GRAFTING.

French Method Used at the Hospital in the Case of Wilson Frederick.

Much interest is being taking in the skin grafting operations, which have been resorted to in order to save the life of Wilson Frederick, who is confined to Muhlenberg Hospiatal, where he has been for the last six months. There are several methods in vogue, being used according to the judgment of the physician.

The method used by Dr. Pittis in this instance is the French, Thiersch. It consists in making anteseptic the arms of those from whom grafts are to be taken. This is done by sterilizing and shaving the forearm. The skin is held up upon the stretcher by one hand while with the other a long wide razor is applied flat wise. The two upper layers, the derm and the epiderm, are removed by a to and fro movement of the razor which is kept flooded with a salt solution.

Each graft is about half as long and about twice as broad as a match. It is immediately laid on the prepared surface upon which it is floated from the razor by the salt solution drawing the edge of the graft on to the wound surface while slipping the razor away. Each graft is then gently pressed into place and the wound surface dressed with a lattice work of protecting strips of rubber tissue which is in turn covered by a compressed kept moistened with salt solution.

POWDER EXPLODED.

Disaster at Lowell Causes Twenty Deaths.

MANY WERE BLOWN TO PIECES.

Seventy Pieces of Property Were Destroyed by Concussion—Windows Six Miles Away Demolished.

LOWELL, Mass., July 30.—Two small gunpowder magazines situated in the very midst of the humble residences of fifty mill operatives, mostly of French extraction, exploded with a frightful concussion. The resultant wave of death cut off the lives of more than a score of human beings and injured nearly fifty others. Half a dozen men who were loading kegs of powder from one of the magazines were blown to pieces, four boys 200 yards away were killed by the force of the explosion and fourteen frame houses within a radius of 400 yards went down as if they had been built of cards. Seven of these houses immediately caught fire, probably from the kitchen stoves, and were completely consumed. At least three persons were caught in the ruins and burned to death, while seven or eight others who were rescued died subsequently of their injuries.

It is estimated that seventy separate pieces of property, including those already mentioned, were destroyed, while the force of the explosion wrecked windows for five or six miles around, and its thunder could be heard distinctly more than fifty miles away.

The magazines were the property of the United States Cartridge company of this city, but fortunately were situated more than a mile away from the factory itself. They were built of brick, about ten feet high, with a rounded roof of corrugated iron.

One of the magazines was just within the roadside fence, while the other was about a hundred feet behind it, near the banks of the river. Both magazines ordinarily contained two or three tons of gunpowder in tin kegs, each keg being about eighteen inches high and a foot in diameter. The company has for some time been desirous of strengthening the floor of the magazine nearest the street, and eight men, three of them employees of the company, three expressmen and two carpenters, were sent there with three large express teams to take out the powder and mend the floor. Two of the teams had been loaded and the other was almost full when at six minutes past 9 o'clock the explosion occurred.

It was a long time before the actual cause of the explosion could be ascertained. It was thought at first that every one within a radius of fifty feet of the magazines had been killed, but later it was found that Mr. Clarendon Goodwin, the foreman of the men who were loading the powder on the teams, had survived, together with one of his assistants, Amadee Boulanger, and the latter was later seen in the hospital.

He said that the men went down to the magazine nearest the street to fix the floor, and after the teams had been loaded with the powder which was in the magazine it was discovered that a can of nitroglycerin which was stored in the magazine was leaking. Mr. Goodwin picked up what he thought was a jug of water and began pouring it on the nitroglycerin with the idea of diluting and washing it up. As soon as the fluid from the jug struck the floor he found that it was nitric acid. The floor at once began to smoke, and when the men saw it they rushed from the building, but had not gone ten feet when the explosion occurred. This magazine was therefore the first to go up, followed immediately by the gunpowder in the three teams and several seconds later by the second magazine.

To those who heard the crash it seemed as if there were two distinct explosions, with a continuous roar between them. There are, however, five holes in the ground, which seems to clearly indicate five explosions.

The entire catastrophe, however, occupied the space of scarcely five seconds, but in that time the surrounding property was swept as if a small volcano had broken forth in its midst. Every house within 200 yards collapsed. Trees were blown down, the grass within a hundred yards mowed as if by a lawn mower, while bricks from the two magazines were hurled far across the river and all over the neighborhood.

The district about the cartridge company's plant is known on the Boston and Maine railroad as South Lowell, but it is locally often called "Wigginsville." At one time no buildings stood near the cartridge company's property, but of late years the section in the vicinity, especially Acton street, has been taken up by persons working in Lowell, who built wooden cottages over several acres of ground. Many of these stood in close proximity to the magazine.

The thunderous roar, which shook the city and surrounding country, was taken by many as indicating an earthquake.

Practically the entire populace of South Lowell and Wigginsville was panic stricken for a time after it dawned upon the people that a terrible disaster had occurred. Within the stricken territory those who had escaped serious injury fled in a panic from their homes. Many living at a safe distance joined the crowds who had fled from the burning section, contributing to the disorder.

Several of the injured were terribly maimed and burned. One man was suffering such intense agony that upon his arrival at the hospital he begged the surgeons to shoot him and end his misery.

A large number, however, who were treated at the hospital and by outside physicians sustained only cut hands and faces, caused by glass.

Another Great Sale of

WOMEN'S HOUSE DRESSES

At One-Third and One-Half Regular Prices.

Last week we announced a sale of these famous "Reliance" House Dresses, and several hundreds were disposed of in a few hours. This time our offer represents an end-of-the-season "clean up" from the manufacturer (who will not make any more till next year), and closed this lot out at practically our own terms. The "Reliance" is not an ordinary house dress—the makers, realizing that a woman wished to look neat and dainty while doing the housework as at other times, have created a garment as pretty, equally stylish and much more comfortable than many of the summer dresses, and the fact that you can get two, yes, three in some cases, for the price of one, should more than double your interest. They are made of pretty striped and figured lawns and percales in every size from 34 to 46, and each one is fitted with a light corset lining to support the form; all are carefully cut and made, some plain others trimmed with ruffles and braid, skirts are very full with deep flounces. The regular prices are 1.50, 1.98 and a few of them 2.98. Your choice tomorrow only..... 79c

Women's Waists—About 75 dozen fine white Lawn Waists, trimmed with four rows of embroidery, Valenciennes or cluny laces, tucking, hemstitching, etc., others made with fronts of embroidery, buttoned on the side, tucked backs, fancy collars, sizes 32 to 44, regular 1.50 to 1.98, for..... 1.00

MASS AT PANTHEON

King Victor Emmanuel and Queon Margaret Attend.

ANNIVERSARY OF HUMBERT'S DEATH.

All Members of College of Cardinals Now In Rome For the Conclave, Which Will Hold Its First Meeting Tomorrow.

ROME, July 30.—Rome was again the scene of one of those dramatic contrasts so characteristic of the Eternal City. While at the Vatican, in the Sistine chapel, a solemn requiem mass was being intoned for the repose of the soul of Leo XIII., the spiritual monarch who claimed Rome as his capital, another requiem mass was being celebrated in the Pantheon for the repose of the soul of King Humbert, temporal monarch, the capital of whose kingdom was Rome.

The second requiem mass in the Sistine chapel was termed the foreign mass. It was celebrated by Cardinal Kopp, bishop of Breslau, a German.

With the arrival here of Cardinal Prisco, archbishop of Naples, the number of cardinals who will participate in the conclave is complete and totals sixty-two.

It is now an open secret that the supporters of Cardinals Rampolla and Gotti will vote for their respective candidates on the first ballot, after which the one who leads in the vote will receive the united support of both parties.

During the meeting of the congregation the forms to be used in voting at the conclave were distributed among the cardinals in order that each might be able to learn how to employ his ballot. After the meeting Cardinal Oreglia requested the cardinals to visit their cells and present any complaint which they might have.

Superstitious people here find an omen in the fact that Cardinal Rampolla drew apartment No. 58, which in the book of the lottery stands for pope, and consequently they come to the conclusion that fate has marked him to be the next pope. Cardinal Agliardi has relinquished his cell, near the Sistine chapel, to Cardinal Cretoni on account of the latter's illness. Over the door of each of the cells has been placed the coat of arms of the cardinal who is to occupy it.

Should all the sixty-two cardinals now in Rome enter the conclave it will be the most numerously attended in history. The conclave which elected Leo was attended by sixty-one cardinals. In the past popes have been elected by as low as nine.

The ecclesiastics who are to watch the sliding doors which will be the only means of communication between the conclave and the outside world have been requested to be present at the Vatican at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to assume their duties. The sliding doors will only be opened between 9 and half past 11 o'clock in the morning and between 5 and 7 in the evening. At all other times they will be locked.

A public procession through the streets of Rome to the tombs of King Humbert and King Victor Emmanuel passed off quietly, though thousands of persons witnessed the demonstration, and the procession itself was over a mile in length. Throughout the route the piazzas and streets were thronged with orderly spectators, who heartily cheered the red shirted Garibaldian veterans and other representatives of Italian liberty. All the shops were shut, and there were more outward signs of mourning than have been seen in Rome during recent years. The procession, which was mostly composed of local patriotic societies and bands, was very picturesque. The Veterans' corps carried many banners and Italian flags draped with crape, besides hundreds of wreaths which they laid on the tombs of King Humbert and Victor Emmanuel at the Pantheon.

The general opinion was expressed that the Anticlericals succeeded in making a successful counter demonstration against the recent activity of the Clericals, but that they did so without any breach of propriety.

Religious Riot at St. Pierre.

ST. PIERRE-MIQUELON, July 30.—When the Christian brothers left under the ban of expulsion last week 2,000 people gathered at the quay and shouted, "Vive les freres!" "Vive la liberte!" and "A bas la canaille!" Then the crowd became excited and rushed on the gendarmes, but serious trouble was averted. Forty of the rioters have been summoned for being rebellious against the police.

Female Moonshiner Pardoned.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—President Roosevelt has commuted the sentence of Lucy Smith, convicted in the western district of Virginia last May of retailing moonshine whisky without a license, sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and to serve six months in prison, on the ground of her ignorance of the crime committed.

Has Dewey Government Lands?

TOPEKA, Kan., July 30. — United States Attorney Dean has directed C. P. Dewey, the ranchman of Cheyenne county war fame, to tear down eleven miles of fence which partially incloses government land. Dewey is one of fifteen or more ranchmen who are said to have government land inclosed.

City Purchases Jumel House.

NEW YORK, July 30.—At the meeting of the board of estimate and apportionment it was decided to purchase the historic Jumel mansion at Washington Heights. For some time the project of purchasing the property has been agitated by members of historical societies.

Plainfield, N. J., July 30, 1903.

An exchange declares that certain colors will unbalance the mind. No mention is made of the "long green."

Man arrested the other day for working too hard. This is sad. Why should employers not allow their men to work at least twenty-four hours in the day during the hot season?

Advertisers "point with pride" to the publication whose circulation statement is beyond doubt or question. The Daily Press supplies sworn statements concerning its circulation.

Including the Plainfield Trust Company there are fifty-seven trust concerns in New Jersey and they are all in a sound condition according to State Banking Commissioner Watkins.

Don't forget that work of charity which is being conducted on the mountain. The King's Daughters' Baby Camp deserves the public's support. Talk's cheap and it won't pay the bills. When about to take a vacation, just slip a small bill in an envelope addressed to the camp or any of its officers. You'll feel better.

Young women at Lodi, N. J., have had a grievance against the young men at that place for some time and have persistently refused to tolerate their company. A circus landed in that town the other night and a truce was struck. The girls allowed the swains "to escort them to the performance." Been much cheaper for the fellows if the truce had been made when the circus was out.

Rich material for a comic opera, though it resembles the "plot" in the "Sultan of Sulu?" General Vasquez Cobos mustered up his courage last Saturday and sent the Governor of Panama "back to the woods." His excellency was gowned in pajamas and it is reported that the attacking army consisted of ten men. This mighty force overthrew the government in a day. "Sunday morning just at nine" the lord protector was found rubbing his eyes in an effort to clear a gray and gloomy vision. The same military power of ten men placed him under arrest. The general blames his downfall on the Scotch "high ball."

The Asbury Park Morning Press has this to say: "One of the most annoying things about the newspaper business is to have people howling to have their names kept out of court or similar reports. In moments of weakness we have occasionally consented, only to find that the innocent parties whose names have not been mentioned, or even thought of in the affairs, are thus made to suffer equally with the accused or guilty ones. A newspaper's only business is to be fair and give the news. It is not the newspaper's fault if your neighbors accuses you falsely, but it is news, and it is up to the newspaper to print the news. For instance, if a half dozen milkmen are arrested for selling milk containing an injurious preservative, why should those milkmen against whom no evidences was found by the State inspectors, be made to suffer as much as the others?"

This is the case in a nutshell. What the Morning Press says applies to The Daily Press and to the newspapers all over the country.

Prize Choristers.

The prize choristers at Grace P. E. Church for July are Harold Miller, Alfred Manley, Miss Margaret Yaeger, Miss Ethel Weseman and Miss May Smith.

This will be 575 square feet.

The surrogate's office, register's private office, together with offices for assistants, record room, recording room, county clerk's office and superintendent's office will all be on the first floor.

The jail warden's office will also be on this floor. Connected with this department will be a jail for females, which will consist of ten cells in two tiers, and the juvenile jail, also of ten cells. There will also be a cook room, 550 square feet in size.

The front entrance to the building will be through a Corinthian colonade and loggia and vestibule. The rear entrance will also be provided with a vestibule. To the left of the rotunda will be placed the various rooms for the register department. To the right of the front entrance will be the surrogate's department offices. To the right of the rotunda will be the county clerk's department. The superintendent's office will be in the rear.

The engine room, boiler room, coal room and engineer's office will be in the front part of the basement. They will all be lower than the level of the basement floor.

The exterior of the building to the level of the front floor will be of light colored granite and the remaining portion over the rotunda of white marble.

The roof will be of dark green copper or tile. The floors will be of marble in the public corridors. In the offices the floors will be of oak and the trimmings and wainscoting of the same material. The stairway, pilasters, and the like, in the rotunda, will be of marble, while the stairway balustrades will be of cast and wrought iron.

An Umbrella Factory

In our West Show Windows may be seen an Umbrella Factory, fully equipped, with skilled operators at work making new umbrellas and repairing old ones. This is one of the most interesting window displays yet thought of. It was originated by the Worcester Mass. Umbrella Company, makers of the Celebrated "Heart Brand" Umbrellas, and has proved a stupendous drawing card wherever exhibited.

Special Values in Umbrellas will be offered all this week during the exhibition. An unusual large assortment will be displayed.

If your umbrella needs a little cobbling such as a new rib, a new cover or a new handle, bring it in and have it made as good as new at trifling cost. If you have a valuable handle which you would like remounted it will be done in a most satisfactory manner and at reasonable cost. At any rate do not fail to see this most unique and interesting exhibition of Modern Umbrella Building.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Rival Aspirants.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer is not to have it all his own way at the Sussex County formers' picnic next month. Congressman William Hughes is going to be on hand and make a speech, and it might be remarked that he has not yet reached the height of his ambition politically.—Newark Evening News.

Bad System.

The negro desperado who attempted to assault a young woman at Red Bank was at the time under parole granted by the Court of Pardons. Had he remained behind prison bars for the offense he had previously committed he would have been prevented from a second and more heinous crime. The board must be proud of its over-strained quality of mercy in his case at least.—Hoboken Observer.

Tax Exemption.

There is a good deal of grumbling among taxpayers over the $500 tax exemption allowed to firemen, National Guardsmen, etc., as the number of persons thus exempted keeps growing larger year by year. This exemption wouldn't stand much show if properly tested before a competent tribunal, but nobody seems to have nerve enough to invite the unpopularity of raising the question.—Newark Truth.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Roberts, stated clerk of the general assembly, has issued the figures of the Presbyterian Church for 1903. A striking thing about them is the falling off in number of ordinations. The number was 290 in 1898, but there were only 184 last year, which number is 52 fewer than the ordinations for 1902. The number of ministers increased slightly, being now 7,704. Candidates for the ministry, however, decline steadily, and Presbyterian and other religious papers are trying to account for the same. The number of candidates in the Presbyterian church was 1,161 in 1898, but the number reported this year, after steady decline, is only 770. There is also a decrease in evangelists to 119, the fewest for many years. The total membership shows steady growth even if small. It is 975,877 in 1898, and at present it is 1,067,477. A campaign was begun five years ago to add 500,000 Sunday-school scholars to the 1,000,000 Presbyterians already had. During that time the total gain has been 42,000. For two years an evangelistic campaign has been waged, at a cost of $50,000 a year. This net increase in membership this last year was less than that in 1900, before the campaign was started. In finances Presbyterians shows a steady growth. For home missions the amount given last year was $1,293,321, the largest in the history of the denomination. The amount for foreign missions nearly equaled the records and was $905,089. There was given to colleges $405,000, and the Los Angeles general assembly cost $94,400, a larger sum by $10,000 than any general assembly that ever met. To maintain all Presbyterian churches this year took $12,909,338, an increase of 700,000 within the last five years, and the total gifts to all purposes was $17,561,277, an amount $500,000 larger than during any year in the history of the denomination.—Paterson Daily Press.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

A meeting of the German Beneficial Society will be held this evening at the home of Charles Schanz, of Park avenue.

John Manley will lead the meeting at the Rescue Mission this evening at 8 o'clock. Light refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

William Jeffery will sing as a tenor solo, "Dream of Paradise," at the Presbyterian Church, Dunellen, next Sunday morning.

The Stokes monument project has been brought to the front again in Dr. O'Hanlon's Ocean Grove Bible class. The idea was first suggested last summer and a subscription list has been gradually growing since. Dr. A. F. Ballard, chairman of the monument fund committee, reports that a trifle over $3,000 in cash has been paid in and that there were pledges for $300 more. He states the committee had decided to reduce the cost from $10,000 to $6,000.

Formal notice announcing the election of Rev. Dr. Albert Stevens Lines, of New Haven, as bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the diocese of Newark, and requesting consent to his consecration, has been sent out to the standing committees of the various dioceses in the United States. The official report of the election is attested by Rev. John Keller, secretary of the diocese, and is signed by Rev. Dr. William Welles Holley, president of the standing committee. The testimonial is signed by fifty-four of the clerical deputies and eighty-one of the lay deputies at the special convention last month, at which Dr. Lines was chosen. The New Haven clergyman, who is now in Europe, sent his letter of acceptance from Antwerp, it being received here July 15.

BOROUGH CONCERTS.

Mayor Smalley Promoting a Scheme to Give Open Air Entertainments.

As a result of a movement to secure band concerts in the borough, which has been on foot for several days, it is said that an open air concert will be given on Somerset street in a fortnight. The date has not been set but Benjamin LaVere's band will be secured. If it is generously patronized and the people enthuse enough over the scheme the concert will probably be repeated. Mayor Newton B. Smalley is the originator of the scheme for borough public concerts. He has been at work quietly for the past two weeks and has secured the support of a number of merchants in the borough.

BLATZ NOW TRUSTEE.

Young Lawyer Appointed to Take Charge of the Affairs of John S. Dahl, a Bankrupt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth July 30—Francis J. Blatz, of Plainfield, was appointed trustee at a hearing this morning before Referee Albert DeCosta in the bankruptcy case of John S. Dahl, of Plainfield. D. C. Ivins, one of the creditors, was represented by Charles A. Reed, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, while the bankrupt was represented by Wm. Newcorn. Tuesday, September 1, was the time set for the examination of the bankrupt.

Finds Lost Son.

Considerable excitement was caused this morning in the neighborhood of Heddeu's stables on Fourth street when pedestrians were moved by the paternal love of a farmer from Three Bridges. The visitor's small son had strayed away while his father was talking and the discovery of the loss caused wild excitement on the part of the parent. Search parties were organized and after about twenty minutes of anxiety, the lad was found at the corner of Central avenue and Fourth street.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 2—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Lessons from Paul: How we may overcome our hindrances.—II Cor. xii, 7-10; x. 10.

Paul's life is well worth prayerful and thoughtful study on the part of all Christians, and especially so to young Christians, who need the inspiration of noble lives and the lessons that come from those who have had a broad and deep religious experience. Such a man was the great apostle of the gentiles. He was a great leader, well calculated to inspire the young with enthusiasm for noble deeds; but, more than that, he was a sincere, devout follower of the Master and had a Christian experience that for richness and depth has scarcely ever been equaled.

Paul particularly was not without hindrances in his life. As a missionary his way was beset with trials and difficulties. He was "in journeyings often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils by mine own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren." Then, too, he had his personal deficiencies and afflictions. He himself tells us that it was said of him that his "bodily presence is weak and his speech contemptible." He had, too, what he called "a thorn in the flesh," some physical defect which some have supposed was some kind of weakness of the eyes. These deficiencies must have been serious afflictions to the great apostle, who must have desired to possess all advantages, physical, mental and moral, that he might the more powerfully preach the gospel of Christ.

In these hindrances and afflictions the great apostle was not unlike all disciples of Christ. All have their share of difficulties to overcome. We are not "carried to the skies on flowery beds of ease." "Man is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward." Nor is the Christian exempt. Christ definitely declared, "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow Me." Since hindrances and afflictions beset our way in the Christian life, how are we to overcome them? That they must be overcome goes without saying. It is to those that overcome that Christ offers the crown of eternal life.

Paul teaches us that prayer and faith are the means of overcoming our hindrances and afflictions. "There was given to me a thorn in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, lest I should be exalted above measure. For this thing I besought the Lord thrice that it might depart from me." First of all Paul brought his affliction unto God in prayer, and God answered his prayer, although not in the way he desired. "And He said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee." Paul believed that and became resigned to the will of God and was so gloriously sustained by God's grace that he could say, "I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses, for Christ's sake, for when I am weak then am I strong." Realizing his own weakness, he trusted in God, and God became strength to him, and he thereby overcame. And God "is our refuge and strength, a present help in time of trouble." Therefore in prayer and in faith we should come to Him, and His grace will be sufficient for us, and by His strength we will be enabled to overcome.

BIBLE READINGS.

II Kings xix, 14-20, 37; Ps. xlvi, 1-3; cxxi, 1-8; Matt. xi, 28-30; Luke xii, 22-32; II Cor. xi, 24-33; Phil. iv, 4-7; Eph. vi, 10-18; II Tim. ii, 1-10; I Pet. v, 7.

A Christian Endeavor Sign.

A little grocery store in the suburbs of Washington, D. C., has a sign which unwittingly advertises Christian Endeavor. It appears that in painting the word "Groceries" the first "e" was omitted and the mistake subsequently corrected by inserting this letter inside the "c." However this may be, the sign bears the C. E. monogram in its midst and looks like this:

GROCERIES

Pen Points.

The dead line in Christian Endeavor is reached when we cease to grow.

The training school idea should never be lost sight of in Christian Endeavor.

Every convention ought to aim at some definite accomplishment—and hit it.

The Endeavor society that is not moving forward is surely slipping backward.

Any Endeavorer is made more loyal to his own church by reason of his loyalty to Christian Endeavor.

Our motto is "For Christ and the Church," which can in nowise be construed as "putting the society first."

The workman lays down his labors. They may be seemingly unfinished, but God has another in reserve. His great training school never closes.

It is remarkable how quickly duty will change into desire when God's purposes are behind it. The secret of the success of the Christian Endeavor pledge finds emphasis here.—John R. Clements.

Quiz Box.

No. 85.—S. M. V., Lakewood, N. J.—The relation between the young people's society and the junior society ought to be the very closest. The younger is really a part of the older, and the juniors should have assistance from the young people's society in every way possible.

No. 86. I. O. M., Cairo, N. Y.—The pastor's wishes in every instance should be regarded by the Christian Endeavor society.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 2. "Remember Jesus Christ."
Text, II Tim., ii, 8, R. V.

"Remember Jesus Christ, risen from the dead, of the seed of David."

The general topic this month is, "Paul's advice to a young Christian." The texts are all selected from his letters to his young traveling companion Timothy.

This letter to Timothy is probably the last he ever wrote to any one, and was written from Rome, where Paul was a prisoner and under sentence of death. For many years he had traveled extensively by sea and land throughout the empire of Rome, preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ and establishing churches, often at the risk of his life from mobs, from robbers and in perils of travel. He labored daily to support himself at his trade and shrank from no toil or privation if he might by any means advance the cause of Christ. He was wholly given to this one work and lived for no other purpose. He was absorbed in the enthusiasm for Jesus Christ. To live was to push into new regions that he might make known his Saviour to those who had never heard of Him. When death should come it would be the welcome ending of a long race by gaining the prize of eternal life in the presence and by the power of his glorified Redeemer.

Believing in Jesus as humanly descended from David, he believed He was the first to rise from the dead to a deathless life. This was the fulfillment of all the Old Testament types and prophecies and the full explanation of the mystery of human existence and divine revelation. Of the reality of the resurrection of Jesus he had no more doubt than of his own existence since the experience on the way to Damascus. The resurrection of Jesus Christ was the central truth around which all other truth of religion and salvation gathered. Because Christ was alive there was eternal hope for all who believed in Him. He would come again according to His promise to take His loved ones to a prepared land with bodies like His own most glorious one. This belief and expectation kept the apostle patient under all trials and eagerly anticipating the day of meeting the Master whom he served. It kept him buoyant and cheerful under all depressions and persecutions. This same hope he commends to Timothy. "Remember Jesus Christ." Let His promises, His presence, His power, be ever realized as a living, vital experience. Let His mind, His love, His work, animate all the life and fill the heart.

Out of the Deep.

When thou hast suffered long enough He will establish, strengthen, settle thee. He will bind up thy wounds and pour in the oil and the wine of His spirit, the Holy Ghost, the Comforter, and will carry thee to His own inn, whereof it is written: "He will hide thee secretly in His own presence from the provoking of men. He will keep thee in His tabernacle from the strife of tongues." He will give His angels charge over thee to keep thee in all thy ways, and He will give thee rest at last in the bosom of the Father, from which thou, like all human souls, comest forth at first, and to which thou shalt at last return with all human souls who have in them the Spirit of God and of Christ and of eternal life.—Charles Kingsley.

The Blessings of Today.

In our anxious care for the morrow we fail to enjoy the blessings of today. We spend our lives anticipating, but not realizing, for as soon as we have reached a desired point we see beyond us something to reach after which we believe to be necessary to our happiness. If we have not the spirit of contentment today we are never likely to have it. If we pass by unused the resources of today we are likely to do the same tomorrow, thus making all our days barren of the joy and satisfaction which come from having made the most of the day's gifts.—Louise Heywood.

No Substitute For the Gospel.

The world is making progress. Truth is advancing. Superstition is dying out. Knowledge is increasing. Society is on the up grade. We will and do believe it. Nevertheless, the world has yet discovered no substitute for the gospel of Jesus Christ, nor has it forsaken sin nor learned how to avert its dreadful effects except through repentance, faith and forgiveness. There is no such thing as improvement by mere human effort of sin into holiness.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

Prayers by the Way.

The claims of piety differ from those of temporal concerns. These latter require stated clear seasons which allow of a connected, continued application, but religion is not dependent upon such consecutive pursuit. One moment will suffice to place yourself in God's presence, to love and worship Him, to offer all you are doing or bearing and to still all your heart's emotions at His feet.—Archbishop Fenelon.

The Grace of Grace.

Had I the grace to win the grace
Of ancient man in lore complete
My face would worship at his face,
I sitting lowly at his feet.

Had I the grace to win the grace
Of childhood, loving, shy, apart,
The child should find a nearer place
And teach me resting on my heart.

Had I the grace to win the grace
Of maiden living all above,
My soul would trample down the base
That she might have a man to love.

A grace I had no grace to win
Knocks now at my half open door.
Ah, Lord of Glory, come Thou in!
Thy grace divine is all and more!

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth. 7 Miles from Newark.
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.
FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

LATE SUMMER DRESSES.

Designs That Will Be Popular—Some Bathing Suit Materials.

Things are rather quiet in the stores just now, because the stock which was meant to be offered for sale as soon as the first of the warm weather gowns had lost their novelty has not been disposed of, owing to the belated opening of the heated season. As a result nothing of startling originality may be shown for some little time. Still the eyes do not weary altogether of the dainty creations offered to saintly woman—for dollars and cents.

From two private letters from the very hatching place of new styles in Paris I learn that forms and shapes and general outlines for fall will differ but slightly from those of today, the novelties being more in the finish and trimming than in the design. This is because women have found themselves so very charming in the present styles and fashions. If any marked difference will be made it will be in the way of wearing the hair and in bonnets, both so fashioned as to give a quaint and old time air in keeping with the old English lettering now so fashionable in newspapers.

The coiffure shows a leaning toward the plain bandelettes, with side puffs and high coil at the back with a tortoise shell comb of astonishing dimensions. That is to say, the assertion made above must be taken with the proviso that that special kind of hairdressing is becoming to the individuals.

UP TO DATE SILK PETTICOATS.

Otherwise there will be modifications, just as the flounced dresses with their wide bertha capes will be modified to suit the wearer. The flounced skirt is shown in one imported model, a suit of fine broadcloth in a bluish gray, the flounces being four in number, stitched twice around the edge and cut on the bias. Indeed, I think they must have been slightly shaped, they hung so perfectly. The bodice was an innovation, being a basque in shape, with two of the ruffles around the bottom, one a little longer than the other. The shoulders were long and drooping, with what in the time of the Empress Eugenie were called bretelles. These are wider at the point of the shoulder than at the bottom, back or front, and in that way add to the apparent width of the drooping shoulders. The finish of this suit was exquisite, and it is expected that it will be a leader in tailored gowns.

The blouse form in fall gowns will not be forgotten, and many of the most elegant of those very useful costumes will have the blouse, a short and natty jacket, with a vest of the same material with the edges neatly embroidered, or a shirt waist of glossy taffeta to match or else contrast vividly with the suit. Voile mesh suits with funny little Monte Carlo coats and folded boleros are among the things certain to enjoy a run of popularity during the fall as well as the late summer. This voile is strong and yet flexible, and it drapes beautifully. The recognized way of making the voile is to have tucks to shape it to the figure and have a drop skirt of silk or of the beautiful mercerized cotton sateens or of one of the mercerized imitation silks, made also of cotton. Blessings on the man that invented this treatment of inexpensive goods, which has the property of making them handsome as silk and more durable! Let us hope that he has lived to reap some advantages of his invention. Few inventors do.

In some of the best stores we find that there has been an unusually intelligent movement in the way of getting underskirts so that they are adapted to show up the form of the outer dress and to give just the right amount of flare, for all the dress skirts of this and the coming season have the flared edges. These skirts are made of moreen, which is an old friend of satin, of silk, and of the many mercerized cotton goods. They are cut on the same model as the outer skirt and close in front or at the side. The necessary shape is given by having the first flounce set on high, with another gathered to this and still another added below. Sometimes two or three additional ones are set around the bottom. All these ruffles are tucked, and many have featherbone piping run in, which sets them out better, without hindering the laundering if occasion requires.

This moreen stuff is a material well known to our great-grandmothers and is rather harsh to the touch, but is so made that it looks like the best velours. It is quite extensively employed this season to make bathing dresses, as it is comparatively cheap and stands out well from the body. True, all the moire effect dissolves in the waves, but the stiff, wiry weave makes it good for this purpose. There is some diversity of opinion regarding bathing dresses, some liking wool and some preferring silk, but the very best are of a material which is a mixture of silk and wool, woven very closely. Melrose and silk warp henrietta are the next best after eudora, but as this last is so expensive few would care to buy it for this purpose. However, little is required for a bathing suit.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

The officer-of-the-day reported to the commanding officer, and that officer called on Mrs. Hay to tell her he should order the culprits off the reservation if they were not better behaved. Mrs. Hay, so said the servant, was feeling far from well and had to ask to be excused, when who should appear but the ministering angel Mrs. Dade herself, and Mrs. Dade undertook to tell Mrs. Hay of the misconduct of the men, even when assuring Major Flint she feared it was a matter in which Mrs. Hay was powerless. They were afraid of Hay, but not of her. Hearing of Mrs. Hay's illness, Mrs. Dade and other women had come to visit and console her, but there were very few she would now consent to see. Even though confident no bodily harm would befall her husband or her niece, Mrs. Hay was evidenlty sore disturbed about something. Failing to see her, Maj. Flint sent for the bartender and clerk, and bade them say where these truculent, semi-savage bacchanals got their whisky, and both men promptly and confidently declared it wasn't at the store. Neither of them would give or sell to either halfbreed a drop, and old Wilkins stood sponsor for the integrity of the affiants, both of whom life had known for years and both of whom intimated that the two specimens had no need to be begging, buying or stealing whisky, when Bill Hay's private cellar held more than enough to fill the whole Sioux nation. "Moreover," said Pink Marble, 'they've got the run of the stables now the old man's away, and there isn't a night some of those horses ain't out." When Flint said that was something Mrs. Hay ought to know, Pink Marble replied that was something Mrs. Hay did know, unless she refused to believe the evidence of her own senses as well as his, and Pink thought it high time our fellows in the field had recaptured Hay and fetched him home. If it wasn't done mighty soon he, Pink, wouldn't be answerable for what might happen at the post.

All the more anxious did this make Flint. He decided that the exigencies of the case warranted his putting a sentry over Hay's stable, with orders to permit no horse to be taken out except by an order from him, and Crabb took him and showed him, two days later, the tracks of two horses going and coming in the soft earth in front of a narrow side door that led to the corral. Flint had this door padlocked at once and Wilkins took the key, and that night was surprised by a note from Mrs. Hay.

"The stablemen complain that the sentries will not let them take the horses out even for water and exercise, which has never been the case before," and Mrs. Hay begged that the restriction might be removed. Indeed, if Maj. Flint would remove the sentry, she would assume all responsibility for loss or damage. The men had been with Mr. Hay, she said, for six years and never had been interfered with before, and they were sensitive and hurt and would quit work, they said, if further molested. Then there would be nobody to take their place and the stock would suffer.

In point of fact, Mrs. Hay was pleading for the very men against whom the other employes claimed to have warned her—these two halfbreeds who had defied his sentries—and Flint's anxieties materially increased. It taxed all his stock of personal piety, and strengthened the belief he was beginning to harbor, that Mrs. Hay had some use for the horses at night—some sojourners in the neighborhood with whom she must communicate, and who could they be but Sioux?

Then Mistress McGann, sound sleeper that she used to be, declared to the temporary post commander, as he was, and temporary lodger as she considered him, that things "was goin' on about the post she'd never heard the likes of before, and that the meejor would never put up with a minute." When Mrs. McGann said "the meejor" she meant not Flint, but his predecessor. There was but one major in her world—the one she treated like a minor. Being a soldier's wife, however, she knew the deference due to the commanding officer, even though she did not choose to show it, and when bidden to say her say, and tell what things "was goin' on," Mistress McGann asserated, with the asperity of a woman who has had to put her husband to bed two nights running, that the time had never been before that he was so drunk that he didn't know his way home, and got into the back of the bachelor quarters instead of his own. "And to think ov his bein' propped up at his own gate by a lousy, frog-eatin' half Frinchman, haf salvage!" Yet, when investigated, this proved to be the case, and the further question arose.

Where did McGann get his whisky? A faithful, loyal, devoted old servitor was McGann, yet Webb, as we have seen, had ever to watch his whisky carefully, lest the Irishman should see it, and seeing taste, and tasting fall. The store had orders from Mrs. McGann, countersigned by Webb, to the effect that her husband was never to have a drop. Flint was a teetotaler himself, and noted without a shadow of disapprobation that the decanters on the sideboard were both empty the very day he took possession, also that the cupboard was securely locked. Mrs. McGann was sure her liege got no liquor there nor at the store, and his confused statement that it was given him by "fellers at the stables," was treated with scorn. McGann then was still under martial surveillance and official displeasure the day after Mrs. McGann's revelations, with unexplained iniquities to answer for when his head had cleared and his legs resumed their functions. But by that time other matters were brought to light that laid still further accusation at his door. With the consent of Dr. Waller, Lieut. Field had been allowed to send an attendant for his desk. There were letters, he said, he greatly wished to see and answer, and Mrs. Ray had been so kind as to offer to act as his amanuensis. The attendant went with the key and came back with a scared face. Somebody, he said, had been there before him.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for six years, I doctored and used various kinds of medicine with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp darting pain across my back, and if I ever exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and my son bought me a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back and relieved my other difficulties. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make an application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Racing at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., July 30.—In consequence of a heavy rain which made the track slow Lou Dillon was not driven to break her record. The first event, the 2:23 trot, was won by a Cleveland horse, Caspian, in straight heats from such favorites as Kinney Lou, Patchen Maid, Cole Direct and Guy Fortune. This race was characterized by the reappearance of Bud Doble in the sulky after an absence of nine years. In the 2:15 pace Dr. Madar won as he pleased. Guy Red was picked to win the 2:15 pace, but was outclassed, Illinois winning the event. The 2:08 trot brought out a strong field. The race went to Rhythmic in straight heats. The concluding event, the 2:20 pace, was won by Tom Keene. Geary won the first heat, but acted badly in the second and was outpaced in the third.

Rosetint Got the Dunton Stakes.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Rosetint, with Cochran in the saddle, won the Dunton stakes for three-year-olds at Jamaica. The Hastings filly was strongly supported, her price dropping from 4 to 1 to 5 to 2. At the lifting of the barrier Cochran sent her into the lead and, holding her advantage to the end, won easily by four lengths. Duke of Kendal, the favorite, was second and Sheriff Bell third. Silent Water, backed down from 15 to 1 to 3 to 1 to win the fifth race, finished fourth. The favorite, Sailor Knot, won easily by four lengths. It was announced at the track that Ooom Paul, who ran such a miserable race on Monday, had died of acute gastritis.

Kindred Won at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—Eight sprinters went to the post for the handicap at six furlongs. Bas d'Or, although giving weight to every horse in the race, was made favorite at 9 to 5. Kindred beat the barrier and maintained the advantage to the wire. Bas d'Or got off in the second division and was running over horses at the end, only being beaten half a length for first money.

Oronto at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, July 30.—The feature at Hawthorne, a six furlong handicap, was won by Oronto, coupled with John Peters, at the prohibitive odds of 2 to 5. Brulare finished second a length and a half in front of John Peters. The other races, with the exception of the fourth, which went to Sidney C. Love, the odds on favorite, were won by long shots and second choices.

Autolight Beats Favorite.

BUFFALO, July 30.—Autolight won the feature event at Fort Erie from a smart field. Wire In, the favorite, was outrun all the way.

Unknown Man's Headless Body.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., July 30.—The headless body of a well dressed unknown man has been found in the Boston and Maine yards at Rotterdam Junction. The body, which was not bruised, was being dragged by a moving freight train, while the head was found twenty-five feet away. No one knows how the fatality occurred.

Eleven Arrests For Danville Riot.

DANVILLE, Ill., July 30.—Eleven arrests were made here for participation in the lawless outbreak of Saturday night, when the jail was attacked in an effort to lynch James Wilson, a negro who, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Burgess at Alvin.

A Franco-Turkish Duel.

PARIS, July 30.—A quarrel between Viscount Antoine de Contades and Tueni Bey, second secretary of the Turkish embassy, has resulted in a duel with swords, in which Tueni Bey was wounded in the arm.

Killed by Falling Pole.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 30.—Frank Miller, an electrician employed by the Consumers' Light and Power company, was crushed to death by the fall of a pole which he was cutting down.

SPORTING NEWS.

TENNIS.

The final match for the consolation prize in the handicap tennis tournament of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, last Saturday, was won by G. H. Taylor, scratch, who defeated J. P. Murray, 4-6 of 15, 6-3, 6-1.

The results of the invitation tennis tournement for mixed doubles at the Westfield Club, Saturday, were omitted from Monday's Daily Press owing to lack of space. The finals were won by Miss Sarah F. Schuyler and T. M. Day, Jr. The summaries: First round—E. S. Prendergast and Miss Lehman defeated Charles Wrenn and Miss Maconnell, 6-0, 6-0; F. G. Smith and Miss F. E. Bradley defeated H. Brainard and Miss Emma Stain, 6-1, 6-3; J. H. Craig and Miss Plummer defeated L. A. Clark and Miss E. M. Clark, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3; T. M. Day, Jr., and Miss Schuyler defeated E. Alpers and Miss Schrain, 6-0, 6-0. Second round—Smith and Miss Bradley defeated Prendergast and Miss Lehman, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1; Day and Miss Schuyler defeated Craig and Miss Plummer, 6-0, 6-3. Finals — Day and Miss Schuyler, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, defeated Smith and Miss Bradley, of the Westfield Club, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4. The entries included players from Bayonne, Elizabeth, Westfield, Cranford and Plainfield. Tea was served on the lawn and a hop followed in the evening.

WILLOW & HORSEHIDE.

The Somerset Athletic Club will play a game of baseball, Saturday, with the St. Mary's Junior team.

The first of the return games between Westfield and Alis will be played on Crescent Oval on Saturday, August 8.

Manager "Teddy" Howes, of the Hope Juniors, stated yesterday that the team will disband for the balance of the season.

The St. Mary Juniors will play the Somerset A. C., Saturday afternoon, on the latter's grounds, Mountain avenue.

Burke, who pitched for Hope Y. M. A., last Saturday against Alis, has been signed by Manager Cose for the rest of the season.

It is expected that Ghormally, who caught for Alis last Saturday, will continue in that position. He formerly played with the Pearsalls, of Jersey City, and he not only plays a fine game behind the bat, but is an almost sure hitter.

Alis will play ball, Saturday, with Westfield at Westfield. Manager MacLaughlin is getting up a strong team for the day and has secured Castmeyer as third baseman. Ghormley will catch at that game and will hold down the box for the rest of the season. This promises to be a star game.

Unless Manager Denman, of the Westfield team, should "pad up" for Saturday's game against Alis, there is every reason to believe that the Plainfield boys will win the game. It has always been the policy of the Westfield manager to strengthen up under certain circumstances, but if he plays his regular team no doubt there will be a surprise at the close of the game.

A Surgical Operation

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. CHARLES TALLMAN INJURED

FELL FROM BICYCLE AND RECEIVED A DEEP GASH.

Unconscious for An Hour—Accident on Somerset Street—Not Serious.

Thrown from his wheel to the ground, striking on his forehead, rendered Charles Tallman, the grocer, of Somerset street and Manning avenue unconscious for over an hour last evening at 8 o'clock. A deep gash in his forehead and a copious flowing of blood from his nostrils and mouth at first led to the report being circulated that the man had been fatally injured. After an hour's work by Dr. Pittis he was brought back to consciousness.

The accident happened in front of the Somerset street school. Tallman was riding a drop frame wheel with a small gear. He started to cross the trolley tracks and the streets, being wet from the rain, allowed the front wheel to slip, throwing the rider to the ground. J. J. Stahl and William G. Debele ran to his assistance and carried the unconscious man into his grocery store and the physician was summoned. Several stitches were taken in the gash on his forehead.

THE FORUM.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

Editor, The Daily Press:—

I was very pleased to read in The Daily Press of Saturday that a woman, notwitstanding the feebleness of her sex, had dared to express to the Chief of Police of Plainfield, her horror at the wholesale murder of valuable dogs in this fair city of ours.

There is a powerful feeling of horror and indignation arising here among the better classes about this unpunishable crime, which it would be wise for our city officials not to ignore. The dastardly outrages have become noised abroad, and in many cities of New Jersey and even in New York, wonder is expressed at the indifferent attitude of those in power in Plainfield. One well-to-do family in New York, who thought of buying a home here, expressed their determination not to own property in a city where one cannot keep a pet dog!

The numerous uncovered garbage cans in our city are unsightly; a menace to health, and an overpowering temptation to a neighboring dog, however well-fed and well-trained he may be. Even where a dog is never allowed to run at large in the streets, he can easily escape from his home and run into a neighbor's garden in search of some canine tid-bit which he knows he will find there. There are no barriers between most of the properties in Plainfield, and for that reason, how does a dog know that he is trespassing? Just here will probably be found the secret of where the dogs get poison.

There are, in all towns, many unfortunate mongrels who ought to be put painlessly out of the way. There are also dogs who are tied up all day and night, who often annoy a whole neighborhood, simply from hunger and thirst. Such nuisances can be complained of in proper quarters. But in consequence of such cases, ought innocent, inoffensive, loving dogs be murdered by the cruel death of poisoning?

Have we no law in this city which forbids the wholesale distribution of deadly poisons at our very back doors? If so, why is it not enforced?

If the actual murderers can not be found at once, why are not sufficiently tempting rewards offered in the name of the city, for the apprehension of the criminals?

Must the law-abiding part of our community suffer, and are murderers and poisoners to be shielded?

It is openly hinted that we have a monomaniac in our midst. Possibly so, and if so, how soon will the victims of his disordered brain become our little children instead of our pets?

AYERS, A LIFE SAVER.

Exciting Experience at Cartaret in Which Richard Ayers Plays Prominent Part.

While fishing at Cartaret yesterday afternoon, Richard Ayers, of East Second street, made a name for himself as life saver. A heavy squall came up at about 4 o'clock and the small boat in which he and his friends were rowing, was overturned. Luckily the water was shallow and the briny waves came just below the mouth of the valiant Richard. By his strong arms and encouraging voice the young women, who could not swim, were enabled to reimbark. Their entire catch, consisting of thirty-five weakfish and about sixty hardshell crabs were again returned to the deep.

CHINESE STUPIDITY.

Enlightened Celestials Advocating Reforms Arrested.

TO SUPPRESS FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Residents of Peking Accused of Liberal Tendencies Are to Be Severely Punished — Editors Imprisoned May Be Decapitated.

PEKING, July 30.—The Chinese who are advocating government reforms have been terrorized by the readoption of the old policy of repression, as instanced by the recent arrest at Shanghai of Chinese editors on charges of sedition.

These arrests are interpreted here as indicating that the extreme conservatives are in the ascendency and that the government has determined to suppress the comparative freedom of speech which has prevailed since the upheaval of 1900.

The names of forty residents of Peking who are accused of liberal tendencies were presented to the dowager empress by the reactionary officials, who recommended that they be severely punished. Those accused are considered guilty of only what in enlightened countries would be termed legitimate criticism of the government. This is said also to be true of the native journalists imprisoned at Shanghai, except in the case of two of them who suggested the assassination of the Mantchoo rulers as a remedy for China's troubles.

All foreigners and progressive Chinese are deeply interested in the decision which the ministers will make on the question of turning over the native editors arrested at Shanghai to Chinese jurisdiction, and they express the hope that technicalities concerning the jurisdiction of the mixed court will be ignored if necessary and that the ministers will refuse on the ground of humanity to deliver prisoners to the Chinese for probable torture and execution, as happened in the case of the Chinese spies who were turned over to the Chinese officials at Shanghai during the Japanese war.

Chang Chi Tung, viceroy of Nanking, is credited with the leadership of the reactionary policy, advising such a course to the empress dowager, who willingly acquiesced. Prince Ching is reported to favor leniency.

At the examinations recently held at Peking for the selection of officials many of the candidates departed from the usual custom of writing merely scholarly essays and submitted papers favoring improvements in the government. All who pursued this course were refused offices on the advice of Chang Chi Tung.

The dowager empress is said to blame the reformers and the increasing freedom of speech for the disorders in the south, hence the repressive measures.

Chang Chi Tung has heretofore been considered one of the progressive viceroys.

Spanish Called "Pillagers."

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, July 30.—A report from La Guayra says that the Spanish consul at La Guayra has been deprived of his exequatur as a result of friction with the local authorities over the Spanish claims in his district against Venezuela. It seems that the local authorities established a commission to revise the claims presented by Spaniards and other foreigners to the mixed tribunals under the terms of the Bowen protocols. This commission was composed of military officers who were said to have been appointed for the purpose of intimidating witnesses. The Spanish consul requested the authorities at La Guayra to give him an authorization to attend the meetings of the commission. The prefect of the commission, a former actor, replied in a letter in which he spoke of the consul "as the representative of pillagers" and subsequently distributed printed copies of the letter in the streets of La Guayra.

Detroit Trolleys Tied Up.

DETROIT, Mich., July 30. — An agreement has been reached between the trolley strikers and Superintendent Stanley of the Detroit United railway, the men agreeing to resume work under the old conditions. Negotiations, however, will be resumed where they were broken off by the strike, and a conference seeking an adjustment of all differences will be held. The street car lines in the city were tied up for more than two hours at the time when travel is usually the heaviest by a strike. The men struck to enforce a demand for an eight hour day made some time ago.

Actress a Suicide.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Miss Anna Poston, an actress, twenty-four years of age, shot and killed herself at the Inter Ocean hotel. Miss Sally Price, her roommate, stated that she had been grieving over something for the past two weeks and had made frequent references to suicide, asking what would become of her soul if she destroyed herself. When the door of Miss Poston's room was broken open her body was found lying across the bed with blood flowing from a bullet wound above the heart. A sister, Mrs. Hattie Weinns, lives in Binghamton, N. Y.

El Valle Broke the Record.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The steamer El Valle, which arrived from New Orleans, made the run to quarantine in 4 days and 6 hours. The best previous record from dock to dock is 4 days and 11 hours. Allowing the El Valle forty-five minutes from quarantine to her dock would make her time 4 days and 7 hours, which is the record.

NONUNION MINE WRECKED.

Man Who Set Off Dynamite Shot by Watchman.

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo., July 30.—An explosion at the Sun and Moon mine wrecked the transformer house, set fire to the oil in the transformers and threatened the destruction of the main shaft.

The watchman at the mine, aroused by the explosion, rushed out in time to see two men running away from the transformer building. He fired at them several times, and later a wounded man was found lying near by.

The Sun and Moon was the first mine affected by the strike which was declared last February. After four months of idleness the mine resumed operations in June with nonunion men.

Manager Sims declares that no explosive of any kind was kept in or near the transformer building, which, apparently, was wrecked by a heavy charge of dynamite.

Twenty-two members of the miners' union, including President Howard Tresize and the other officials, have been arrested charged with conspiracy to blow up the mine. They protest ignorance of a conspiracy and declare that they at all times advised the men to obey the law. They intimate that the destruction of the property was part of a scheme to cast discredit upon the Western Federation of Miners. Twenty-two nonunion men were working on the eighth level of the mine at the time of the explosion, but escaped injury. The damage caused by the explosion amounts to several thousand dollars.

HIGH HONOR FOR LIPTON.

Sir Thomas Says There Will Be No Exchange of Captains.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 30.—Shamrock III. had only a sail stretching trial of another new mainsail, the fourth that she has worn since coming across the Atlantic. Captain Wringe wanted to get it "ironed out" before resuming racing.

On his way up New York harbor later Sir Thomas was for the first time officially recognized as equal in rank to an admiral. As the Erin was passing Hoffman island she was met by the New York city police boat Patrol, which ran the shamrock, Sir Thomas' private flag, to her fore and saluted Sir Thomas with thirteen guns, an admiral's salute.

Sir Thomas Lipton said that there was no truth whatever in the report that an exchange of captains of the two Shamrocks to place Captain Bevis of Shamrock I. in command of the challenger was contemplated. "I have in Captain Wringe," said Sir Thomas, "the best racing skipper in Great Britain." Next Saturday he will start on a two days' sightseeing trip to Niagara falls and possibly into Canada.

PRESIDENT IN CAMP.

With His Sons and Nephews He Sleeps In the Woods.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 30.—Lying on the bare ground, wrapped in blankets, President Roosevelt and his sons and nephews passed the night on the sandy shores of Huntington bay. The president makes an annual custom of camping out with his boys.

The meeting of the societies of the Holy Name of Brooklyn and Long Island, which was postponed on account of the death of Pope Leo, will be held here on Sunday, Aug. 9. President Roosevelt will deliver the principal address. Postmaster General and Mrs. Payne will come to Sagamore Hill on a visit to the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Work Stopped on Cuban Road.

HAVANA, July 30.—Information in the possession of Minister Squiers to the effect that the Cuba and Eastern railroad, which is being constructed from Guantanamo bay northward, had broken ground within the aren covered by the coaling stations treaty caused the issuance of a peremptory order by the secretary of public works to stop the encroachment. The company's attorney says that the report is untrue and that the terminus of the road will be constructed outside of the area to be used by the United States.

Convicts Help Themselves.

AUBURN, Cal., July 30.—Word has just been received that the escaped convicts from Folsom prison, or at least some of them, are in the vicinity of Butcher ranch, nine miles from Auburn. The convicts took forcible possession of a Chinese store near the Mammoth Bar mine and helped themselves to a quantity of provisions. Miners along the river are gathering up their little bags and cans of gold dust and are hurrying to Auburn. The militia is pursuing eight of the convicts near Greenwood creek.

Commander Not to Blame.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The naval board which investigated the recent collision in Newport harbor between the torpedo boat Winslow and the yacht Clytie has reported that the commander of the torpedo boat was obliged to choose between grounding his vessel or striking the Clytie.

Phenix, Ariz., Has a Big Fire.

PHENIX, Ariz., July 30.—Fire has destroyed the dry goods store of the Alkire company and the plumbing establishment of D. H. Burts; loss $100,000.

William C. Shedd Dead.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., July 30.—William C. Shedd, well known throughout Rensselaer county, is dead of paralysis at his home at Buskirks.

Captain Goodrich Made Commandant.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Captain Casper F. Goodrich has been selected as commandant of the Portsmouth (N. H.) navy yard.

FOSTER M. VOORHEES' CORNERSTONE SPEECH

Oration By Former Governor Delivered at County Court House Ceremony.

HISTORICAL ADDRESS

"ALL GOVERNMENTS TO ENDURE MUST BE FOUNDED ON PRINCIPLES"

Description of First Court House—Destroyed by Invading Army—A Monument to Law's Supremacy.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees' oration at the cornerstone laying exercises yesterday has attracted favorable comment.

Mr. Voorhees said in part:

"That which we enjoy as a people we owe in large measure to the past.

Courtesy of Elizabeth Daily Journal.

THE OLD COURT HOUSE.

Closely linked to that past are the buildings which, from time to time, have stood in the place and served the purpose for which we erect the building whose cornerstone has just been laid with impressive rite.

"We build not for ourselves alone. Within these walls generations yet to come will find a place wherein they may transact their common business, maintain their rights and redress their wrongs.

"The spot is well chosen. Around it cluster memories that may well cause pride. For more than two centuries it has been the centre of a people's life. From it have emanated influences which have moulded and guided the fortunes of the country. And we can, with profit to ourselves, turn aside for the moment from the pursuits and activities which engross us to trace the events with which it has been associated. * * *

"They tell us that one of the first events was 'a meeting court held at Elizabeth Town, in the Province of New Jersey, the 19th day of February 1665-6'—only a little more than a year after the arrival of the first comers. Then sixty-five of the brave freeholders took the oath of allegiance and fidelity. Surely in the discharge of a duty of such solemn and formal import they must have gathered in some house of a public character. The Puritans and their descendants believed not in consecrated places. Records undisputable show that they were accustomed to transact in their 'meeting-house' the business of government, or that which pertained to the common welfare. We can assume, from evidence that we have, that the erection of such a house was among the first concerns of the founders of the county. We know beyond dispute that such a house was in existence prior to the month of June, 1671, for we are told by one that on the nineteenth day of that month 'he was at a meeting of several inhabitants of this town, when we met together at the town house.' And we know that the first General Assembly of the province met here on the twenty-sixth day of May, 1668, and it was in all probability in the town house, and in 1682 the laws of the province provided that the 'County of Essex Sessions should be held in the public meeting-house of Elizabeth Town.' However involved in obscurity may be the exact date when first the house was built, we are warranted in saying that here in this community for more than 200 years there has stood some building wherein public business has been transacted and where justice has been administered in due and orderly fashion.

"A natural curiosity prompts us to inquire about the appearance and the location of the first building. Tradition is silent as to this. Time has obliterated all records of the size, the cost, the arrangements and general appearance of the one first built. We do know, however, that in 1669 provision was made for a meeting-house at Newark, which was 'thirty-six feet square, with the doors, and Windows, and Five Boards at the Gable Ends.' In early days Elizabeth Town was the site of government of the province, which came to be known as the county of Essex, and embraced within its bounds the present counties of Essex and Union and portions of the counties of Middlesex and Somerset.

* * * "In the course of time the 'meeting-house" and the 'courthouse' were no longer one. Nearly a century after the founding of the province one who visited the town in 1748 tells us that 'the meeting-house of the Presbyterians was built of wood, but had both a steeple and bells, and was, like the other houses, covered with shingles.' And what is of more particular interest to us on this occasion, he adds that 'the townhouse made likewise a good appearance and had a spire with a bell.' The meeting-house was no longer the townhouse. A new building had been built on or near the spot where now we stand, for it is well authenticated that here, for more than a century and a half, has stood the building used for court and public purposes. Here in 1776 it stood, and Captain DeHart described it 'as the courthouse, a small frame, shingle-covered building, which has never been adorned with paint.' And he tells us that in 'the same condition and style of architecture was the adjacent building, the Presbyterian meeting-house, both of which, respectively, occupied the ground whereon now (1846, when he wrote) stands the structures devoted to the same objects.'

"An invading army burned this building in 1780, and in 1797 a new one was erected, which in turn was burned in 1808. Not until three years later was that one built which served the public needs until the creation of the present county of Union in 1857. Then the citizens of a new county enlarged and reconstructed it, and, with its additions from time to time, it assumed the form which to us of the present day has been familiar. And now that, too, has gone, as have all they that preceded it. It, too, has made way for the new in the onward march of events. * * *

"We would erect a courthouse. It symbolizes the majesty of law. It stands for its enforcement and for the due and orderly administration of justice. It signifies that they who rear it have respect for law and yield to it obedience. But of what avail its significance, if certain tendencies of modern times shall ultimately prevail? All governments to endure must be founded on certain principles. They must demand and enforce obedience to law. They must show favor to none. They must recognize the right of the individual to do as he would within the law. They must permit him to so deal with his own as others are permitted to deal with their own, whatever such may be, whether property, time or labor. A government that does not protect one in this right is a mockery. If through fear it fails to safeguard the individual, it has weakly surrendered its functions and deserves not the name. Where a self-constituted body of irresponsible citizens, crazed with excitement and lost to all reason, are per-

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN'S SERVICE IN BOROUGH

Work Performed by Laddies in North Plainfield During the Past Year.

VERY SLIGHT LOSSES

DETAILED ACCOUNT OF ALL FIRES AND DAMAGE DONE.

Most Disastrous Blaze the Destruction of a Dwelling—Causes of Fires—Records Kept By the Chief.

Although the fire department of North Plainfield is a volunteer one the services performed by the members and the dispatch with which they get to the scene of a conflagration is best shown by the facts and figures appearing on Chief J. J. Stahl's records. Since the beginning of the year North Plainfield had but eight fires and in each case not one of them were allowed to spread to adoining buildings so as to result in a total loss.

The first call of the year was from box 135 on March 10, at the corner of Watchung and Fairview avenues. It proved to be a false alarm.

Box 152 at the corner of Linden avenue and Grove street was pulled at midnight, March 21. It was for a fire in the Grove street dumps. No damage. The alarm was out of order that night and confusion prevailed in answering the call. The department was called to the home of Frank Berry at the corner of Craig place and Grove street, at 10 o'clock April 17, to extinguish a blaze in a pile of rubbish in the cellar. No damage.

A blaze caused by spontaneous combustion occupied the attention of North Plainfield's fire department at 11:20 April 22. The call was sent in from Box 143. The damage in this case was $100; insured. From the same box on the 26th a call was received for a blaze at the barns belonging to William B. Emmons at the corner of Codington avenue and Watchung. The blaze was well underway before it was discovered and it was with difficulty that a team of horses were rescued. The damage amounted to $500. Insured. A small fire in a house owned by Mrs. Hoerster and occupied by James Currin, on Somerset street occupied the attention of the firemen on May 5. No damage was done. A still alarm was received from Duer street on May 29 for a chimney fire at Frank Webster's house on Duer street. No damage.

The last fire in North Plainfield was on July 3 when the house of John Carey on Westervelt avenue, was struck by lightning. The damage amounted to $25.

The most disastrous fire with which the borough fire department had to fight was the blaze at the home of Mrs. Mulholland which was wiped out entirely. A confusion in the alarm boxes in the dead of night and the start obtained by the blaze before the firemen arrived was responsible for the total loss of the building. The loss was estimated at $8,500, with insurance of $3,000. That fire occurred on the night of November 11, 1902.

The scarcity of fires in the borough is remarkable. For a city of six thousand inhabitants there were only seven fires last year, six before that and nine in 1900.

D. C. Ivins & Co., End Negotiations and Will Continue Business.

Plainfield, N. J., July 27th, 1903.
Editor, The Daily Press:

There seems to be a report around town that we have sold our lumber and masons' material business to J. D. Loizeaux & Co. While we had some negotiations looking to that end, the deal was not consumated, and we are now in the lumber business on a more extensive scale than ever.

We have made a general reduction in prices on lumber of all kinds, cement, lime, and wall plaster cement. We take this opportunity to state also that we are well supplied with hickory wood, Lehigh and Cannel coals, and we are in a position to supply the public with the best of goods at the lowest prices. SCHORB OUTWITTED HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW

North Plainfield Lad Successfully Kidnapped (?) His Own Wife.

CHAPTER IN ROMANCE

MRS. CLIFFORD SCHORB NOW AT HER HUSBAND'S HOME IN BOROUGH.

Suit for $10,000 Still Pending—Tale Told by the Young Man's Friends—The Couple Eloped on June 9.

Love has again proven victor over paternal strategy and Clifford Schorb, son of John Schorb, of the borough, once more has his wife safe at his home, he being the principal actor through a clever plot in which he is alleged to have kidnapped his better-half yesterday from her parents' relatives at Saratoga, N. Y.

Although Mrs. Schorb is again at her husband's home the suit instituted against his wife's parents and grandmother will be fought to a finish.

The story reads like a thrilling love tale in a twentieth century novel and shows how true is the adage "Love will find a Way." Some time ago Mrs. Schorb was domiciled at her parents' house in Scotch Plains. It was alleged at the time that she was enticed away. Several weeks ago she went to the home of friends at Wilton, near Saratoga. From there, it is said that her mother intended taking her to Canada. Kept in suspense young Schorb determined to find his wife and he secured a clue to her whereabouts. He received a letter yesterday morning from his wife saying that her mother was going to return to Scotch Plains.

The young husband at once started off for Saratoga. He followed the instructions contained in the letter. He found a friend who had promised to assist the captive wife to escape and he immediately secured her trunk as planned. The meeting with his wife, it is said, was an affectionate one and the couple hastened to get out of town.

Schorb's friends allege that before her marriage with young Schorb, after a drive to Metuchen on June 9, Miss Marsh was loved and wooed by a friend of the family who has a fortune. It is claimed by them that the parents wished their daughter to marry the man of their choice and she refused.

EXPERIMENTING WITH NOZZLE

NEW APPLIANCE AT THE FIRE HEADQUARTERS.

Nozzle to Be Tested in a Few Days—Its Qualities and Its Purpose.

Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, will experiment with a new nozzle in some conspicuous place in this city in a few days. The new appliance is said to be a distinct departure from the ordinary nozzle now in use in that it is composed of aluminum, making it much lighter. It has an appliance attached on making it possible for a child to operate a stream of water coming through a six-inch pipe attached to three hydrants at the same time and being sent a distance of 250 feet.

The apparatus is now at the fire headquarters. It is intended for use at a fire in the top floor of a tall building. If the nozzle is satisfactory, it is probable that one will be purchased for this city.

Gift of Swift.

"Rob," the valuable Scotch collie, owned by H. S. Taylor, of Westervelt avenue and Front street, which was poisoned Wednesday morning, was a present to Mrs. Taylor from Mr. Swift, the beef merchant. The animal was unusually intelligent and highly prized by the owner.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Florence Beekman, of Johnston avenue, and Frank W. Cleaves, of Codington avenue. Miss Beekman has resigned her position in Woodhull & Martin's.

—Neuman Brothers' store on Watchung avenue is the headquarters for fruits and vegetables. Tomorrow they will have a large stock of fancy tomatoes, fancy Jersey corn, green and wax beans, lima beans, Boston lettuce, sweet potatoes, fancy peas and Georgia peaches. Prices right; stock right; customers treated right.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY AT THE COURT HOUSE

MASONS IN A PARADE

COMPLETE LIST OF ARTICLES PLACED IN THE CORNERSTONE.

Full Text of Service of Ancient Society, Conducting the Exercises—Those Participating in the Affair.

The great crowd witnessing the laying of the cornerstone of the new court house at Elizabeth yesterday was particulary interested in the Masonic ceremony, but only those near the Grand Lodge officers could hear distinctly the words of the service. Owing to lack of space yesterday The Daily Press was unable to publish the form used, which was this:

The Principal Architect presented the working tools to the Grand Master, who handed the square to the Deputy Grand Master, the Level to the Senior Grand Warden and the Plumb to the Junior Grand Warden, and then said:

"Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, apply the square to that portion of the foundation stone that needs to be proved, and make report."

The Deputy applied the square to the stone and said:

"Most Worshipful Grand Master, I find the stone to be square."

Grand Master—"Right Worsbipful Senior Grand Warden, apply the level to that portion of the foundation stone that needs to be proved, and make report."

The order was complied with and the Senior Grand Warden said:

"Most Worshipful Grand Master, I find the stone to be level."

Grand Master—"Right Worshipful Junior Grand Warden, apply the plumb to the portion of the foundation stone that needs to be proved, and make report."

The order was obeyed and the Junior Grand Warden replied:

"Most Worshipful Grand Master, I find the stone to be plumb."

The Senior and Junior Grand Wardens then went to the cornerstone, the former carrying the gavel and the latter the trowel.

The Grand Master, preceded by the Grand Marshal and the Grand Sword Bearer, then proceeded to the cornerstone, took the trowel from the Junior Grand Deacon, and having spread the cement, the covering stone, was fixed in its place by the workmen. He then took the gavel from the Senior Grand Deacon, struck the cornerstone three times therewith and returned to his station; the other Grand officers then returned to their places. The Grand Master said:

"This cornerstone has been tested by the square, the level and the plumb, and it is found that the craftsmen have skilfully and faithfully performed their duty. I, therefore, declare the stone to be well formed, true and trusty, and correctly laid, according to the rules of our ancient craft."

The Deputy Grand Master then presented the vessel of corn to the Grand Master, who said, as he poured it: "This corn is an emblem of plenty, may the blessings of bounteous Heaven be showered upon us, and upon all benevolent undertakings, and may our hearts overflow with gratitude to the Giver of every good and perfect gift, for the manifold blessings and comforts which we enjoy."

Response—"So mote it be."

The Junior Grand Warden then presented the vessel of wine to the Grand Master, who said as he poured it:

"This wine is an emblem of prosperity and gladness. May the Great Ruler of the Universe bless and prosper our National, State and City governments; direct, strengthen, and cheer our rulers in the discharge of their duties, and may all nations be united in a bond of friendship and brotherly love that shall endure through all time."

Response—"So mote it be."

The Junior Grand Warden then presented the vessel of oil to the Grand Master, who poured it out, saying:

"This oil is an emblem of joy and peace. May its blessings abide with us continually. May the Grand Master of Heaven and earth shelter and protect the widow and orphan, shield and defend them from the vicissitudes of the world, and so bestow His mercy upon the bereaved, the afflicted and the sorrowing, that they may know sorrowing and trouble no more."

Response—"So mote it be."

The Grand Master, standing in front of all and extending his hands, made the following invocation:

"May the All-Bounteous Author of nature bless the inhabitants of this place with an abundance of the necessaries, conveniences and comforts of life; prosper the erection and completion of this building; protect the workmen against every accident; long preserve this structure from decay; and grant to us all a supply of the corn of nourishment, and the oil of joy. Amen."

Response—"So mote it be."

After the public grand honors were given, under the direction of the Grand Marshal, the Grand Master delivered to the Architect the implements of architecture, saying:

"Worthy sir, having thus as Grand Master of Masons, laid the foundation of this structure, I now deliver these implements of your profession into your hands, intrusting you with the superintendence and direction of the work, having full confidence in your skill and capacity to conduct and complete the same."

The Grand Master resumed his place on the platform and made the following declaration:

"Men and brethren here assembled, be it known unto you that we are lawful Masons, true and faithful to the laws of our country, solemnly engaged to erect magnificent buildings, to render service to the craft and to humanity, and above all to fear God, the Supreme Architect of the Universe, the great builder of worlds and creator of men.

"We have among us secrets of our art, which may not be divulged, but which are reputable and proper and not repugnant to the laws of God or man. These have been committed in faith to our keeping, and it is our duty to transmit them in our turn unchanged to those who are to succeed us, so that they may remain unimpaired to the remotest generation.

"Unless our Craft were good and its calling honorable, it could not, by human providence, have existed for so many centuries, nor would it have been favored with the patronage and care of so many virtuous and illustrious men.

"In the character of Masons we are gathered here today before you all to establish the foundation of a house which, we pray God, may become and continue a place for the concourse of the wise and the good; wherein justice and love may rule the actions of men, and where shall be demonstrated the beauty of harmony in all the transactions of daily life."

Preceding the cornerstone ceremony, a parade took place the route extending from the Kean building to the site of the new courthouse. This was the line of march:

Datter's Band.

Delegations of Nevister Masons from Overlook Lodge, No. 163, Summit; Anchor Lodge, No. 149, Plainfield; Tyrian Lodge, No. 134, Elizabeth; Azure Lodge, No. 129, Cranford; Orient Lodge, No. 126, Elizabeth; Atlas Lodge, No. 125, Westfield; Herman Lodge, No. 81, Elizabeth; Essex Lodge, No. 49, Elizabeth; Washington Lodge, No. 33, Elizabeth; Lafayette Lodge, No. 27, Rahway; Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, Plainfield.

STATE MONUMENT SHAFT DEFECTIVE

Granite Memorial to Jersey Soldiers for Battlefield at Antietam.

PLANS NOT DELAYED

NEW SHAFT ORDERED AT ONCE TO REPLACE THE ORIGINAL ONE.

The Arrangement of Markers on the Battlefield—The Position of Various State Troops.

The Secretary of State's office at Trenton has been informed that the granite shafts for the New Jersey monument to soldiers who fought and died on the field of Antietam in the Civil War has been found defective, and in consequence a new shaft must be quarried by the Barre Granite Company. This will necessitate a delay of three weeks, so that it will be the middle of August before the new shaft can be shipped to Sharpsburg, Md. This will give but little time to get the monument ready for the dedicatory exercises to be held on Antietam field September 17.

Governor Murphy, on hearing this news, urged the Antietam Battlefield Commission to more speed, so that the anniversary exercises may not be delayed.

It had been arranged that all the granite and bronze work for the several monuments and markers that are to be placed on this historic battlefield by New Jersey to mark the positions held at the varying stages of the great one-day battle by New Jersey's volunteer soldiers should be shipped to Sharpsburg, Md., by June 15, and the entire work completed by July 25, ready for inspection by the commission.

The main monument, to be built at the junction of Cornfield avenue and the Hagerstown pike, will have a hexagonal die, on the six faces of which will be placed bronze tablets for each of the six New Jersey organizations represented in the battle. These organizations were the First, Second, Third and Fourth New Jersey Infantry, and Battery A, better known as Hexamer's Battery.

There will also be built a small monument at Crampton's Gap, where on September 14, 1862, just three days before the Antietam battle, the First New Jersey Brigade, under command of Colonel A. T. A. Forbert, made the brilliant charge that opened the way over South Mountains for the Potomac army.

Another monument of like character will point where the First Brigade came on to the Antietam battlefield and awaited orders.

Smaller markers will be reared to designate the positions held at the different stages of the battle by the several organizations. One will mark positions in the Eastwood, where the Thirteenth New Jersey lay under artillery fire during the early hours of September 17.

Another marker will be placed at the centre of this regiment, when on the firing line, on the Hagerstown pike, and still another beyond the Dunkard Church, the most advanced position held by the Thirteenth Regiment later in the action.

Two markers will designate the position held by Hexamer's Battery during the day and where it did execution in silencing the Confederate batteries around the Dunkard Church, and repelling an attack of Confederate infantry with shrapnel fired at short range.

Still another marker will show the position of the First Brigade when late in the day it was formed to charge the woods around the Dunkard Church and break the Confederate centre. This order, however, was countermanded.

All of these positions have been determined by General Ezra A. Carman, who represented the Federal Government on the battlefield for years and who was colonel in command of the Thirteenth New Jersey in this battle.

For the building of these monuments and markers New Jersey has appropriated $17,500. Out of this amount transportation to and from Antietam battlefield for 350 veterans will be paid.

Governor Murphy and his staff will attend. All arrangements have been made and the success of this coming dedication of the monuments and markers on Antietam field depends on the success of the Governor's hurry orders given last week to the commission having this work in charge.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

A. M. Harper, of Park avenue, is headquarters for toys of all kinds and dolls of every prescription. He also keeps a complete line of fine stationery, pens, pencils and ink.

For fine summer dry goods you can do not better than trade with Putnam & DeGraw. The firm also handles a desirable line of men's furnishings at prices below those to be found elsewhere.

The Boston Fur and Cloak Store in West Front street is showing an exceptional fine line of women's suitings of light material for summer wear, also plain and fancy shirt waists.

L. Moraller & Son, of Park avenue, are one of the most reliable watch repairers in this city. They are dealers in all kinds of watches, diamonds and jewelry ware which they sell at prices defying competition.

Every man should be a judge of a good smoke. The delicate aroma from an unflavored cigar, made by hand by experienced workmen, drives dull care away and maketh the heart light. For sale only at M. C. Dobbins, Park avenue, near North.

When you need pure drugs or prescriptions compounded accurately go to L. W. Randolph's drug store in West Front street. He carries a very large stock of drugs and medicines of all kinds, while you will find his soda water most refreshing these warm days.

AMUSEMENTS.

The version of "The Pit" in which Wilton Lackaye is to star under the direction of William A. Brady, will have several big ensemble scenes, notably the gathering in the lobby of the Auditorium Theatre, the rehearsal of private theatricals at the home of the Cresslers, and the panic episode in "The Pit."

Directors General Thompson and Dundy, of the New York World's Fair, which is being held at Luna Park this year, are the two men who handled the Midway Day at the Pan-American in Buffalo, and successful as was that most successful of all days at Buffalo, and successful as was that most successful of all days at Buffalo, the promise a more magnificent series of spectables at Luna Park on this August 5.

The mecca of the music lovers of New York and vicinity these summer evenings is the Madison Square Garden, where Duss, with the superb Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra, is the central figure of the magnificent Venetian setting. During the current week "Venive in New York" has partaken more than ever of the nature of society entertainment, as the soloist is Miss Blanche Towle, a member of the exclusive Back Bay circles of Boston society, and a friend of Mrs. "Jack" Gardner, the Boston society leader.

With practically a clear field as far as theatricals on Broadway go this summer, "The Runaways" is making things hum at the Casino. The versatile entertainers in the Sam. S. Shubert and Nixon & Zimmerman Company, headed by Miss Fay Templeton, keep the fun and tunefulness of the magnificent production at concert pitch all the time. It is never uncomfortable in the Casino, where the thermometer invariably shows the handsome auditorium to be twenty degrees cooler than it is outdoors in the summer months.

The Scarecrow in "The Wizard of Oz," the principal comedy role in the extravaganza which has been crowding the Majestic Theatre in New York for over two hundred performances, is a remarkable example of clever make-up. Indeed, the costume and make-up are so marvelously realistic that when Fred Stone, who plays the part, is first lifted on the stage and leaned against the stile very few people in the audience believe that the figure is that of a real man. He not only looks like a rag dummy — a veritable man of straw—but he so closely counterfeits the rigidity of one that nearly all the spectators in the audience are convinced that this manikin will presently be replaced, to the accompaniment of some hocus-pocus, by the real live comedian so essential to the play.

Maze Green, of Somerset street, is confined to his home by illness.

Thomas McCormack and wife, of West Sixth street, are making preparations for their summer vacation to be spent next week at Atlantic City.

Just About Bedtime

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, billiousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowls, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

The factory inspector visited the Perrin Feres glove factory yesterday.

William Walker, of Dunellen, has resigned his position at the Potter Press Company's plant.

Hugh Gray, of the Pond Machine Tool Company's works, has returned to work in the pattern shop, after two months' illness.

Jack McGinnis has returned to work at the Aluminum Press Company's works, after spending his vacation at Richmond City, Long Island.

George Sheing and Tom Strapp, of this city, are setting up a two color press at the Sackett & Wilhelm Publishing House, in Brooklyn, N. Y. The machine was built by the Aluminum Press Company and is the only one of its kind in this part of the country.

During the thunder storm yesterday afternoon, the lightning played havoc at the Crescent Embossing Company's plant. Every machine in the place was charged with electricity, and it was unsafe to touch them until the storm subsided. The lightning danced about the machines and executed many freaks, giving the employes a bad fright.

"Joe" Muzic, of Bound Brook, met with a painful accident while at work at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant yesterday morning. Muzic was driving a large shaft with a Babbit hammer; holding the shaft with his left hand he swung the hammer with full force, missed the object aimed at and struck his hand, nearly severing the thumb. While Robert Gow was dressing the wound the young man fainted. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. It will be several weeks before the lad will be able to use the hand.

G. A. R. Encampment.

On account of the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at San Francisco, Cal., August 17 to 22, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company offers a personally-conducted tour to the Pacific Coast at remarkably low rates. CUBANS IN REVOLT

Uprising In Santiago Causes Excitement.

LEADER OF MOVEMENT NAMED PUPO

Popular Sentiment Is With President Palma—Rebels Belong to the Wanton, Lazy Class of Puerto Principe.

HAVANA, July 31.—In spite of the assertion made by Senor Yero, secretary of the interior, that the killing of three men and the capture of a fourth man, their leader, who had attempted to cause an uprising in the vicinity of Bayamo, province of Santiago, effectually ended the only semblance of an uprising in Cuba, the rumors of uprisings in eastern Cuba have been fully confirmed in the government's reports received from the governor and other officials of Santiago province.

These are to the effect that sixty armed and mounted men have appeared outside villages in the Cauto river district, proclaiming a revolution and demanding the payment of the former members of the revolutionary army. No acts of violence have been reported, but the inhabitants of the Cauto region are excited. The leader of the revolutionary party is named Pupo. He is a brother of one of the bandits killed by the rural guard.

General Rodriguez, commander in chief of the rural guard, has ordered the mobilization of all the rural guards in eastern Cuba, and the governor of Santiago province has been instructed to enlist as many volunteers as may be deemed necessary to co-operate with the mounted troops.

Secretary of the Interior Yero says there is no doubt that the authorities will be able to cope successfully with the situation, as all reports, he adds, agree that popular sentiment is with the government of President Palma and that those who have risen in rebellion mostly belong to the wanton, lazy class of Puerto Principe.

It is reported that many volunteers are offering their services to the government.

RUSSIAN STRIKES.

Ten Rioters Killed—Commerce Hampered at Odessa.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 31.—Ten striking workmen were killed and eighteen were wounded as the result of a volley fired by troops at Mikhailovo, on the Tiflis-Batum railway. The strikers attempted to stop trains, and a detachment of forty soldiers was summoned. The soldiers were greeted with a shower of stones and some revolver shots. After repeated warnings the troops were ordered to fire.

The fires in the extensive petroleum works at Balakhamy, which are believed to have been of incendiary origin, are still raging. The military, it is reported, are unable to cope with the strikers. Matters are so threatening in Balakhamy district that foreigners are fleeing to the coast for safety.

The commerce of Odessa is seriously hampered by the strike of dock laborers and sailors belonging to mercantile vessels. The movement is extending to other Russian ports of the Black sea, and it is expected to extend to the whole Russian shore, where numbers of vessels are already idle owing to lack of cargoes. The big steamship companies are continuing their services with the help of the government, which is providing them temporarily with sailors from the navy.

EDWARD AT GALWAY.

Queen Remitted Sentence of Prisoner on the Spot.

GALWAY, Ireland, July 31. — The king was presented with addresses by the district council and other bodies, to which he replied briefly. Their majesties then boarded the royal yacht, which was lying in Galway bay. They will take a train for Kenmare, near which place they will be the guests of Lord Lansdowne, secretary of state for foreign affairs, at his country seat, Derreen, county of Kerry.

At Recess, where their majesties stopped for luncheon, an extraordinary incident occurred. A poor old woman approached the queen with a petition for the remission of the remainder of a sentence of six months passed upon her husband. Inquiries proved that the man's character justified clemency, and the queen, with the king's permission, remitted the sentence on the spot. The surrounding crowd, learning what had occurred, cheered wildly.

Car Dynamited.

RICHMOND, Va., July 31.—A Broad street electric car was dynamited near the western limits of the city. It ran over the explosive, and the latter went off, tore a big hole in the ground and damaged the car to a considerable extent, lifting the front part of the car from the trucks and shattering the glass in the windows and doors. There is no clew to the perpetrators of the outrage.

Chicago From Lisbon to Pacific.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—An order was cabled from the navy department to Admiral Cotton at Lisbon detaching the Chicago from the European squadron and directing her to sail for New York. The vessel will be extensively repaired and then will replace the New York as flagship on the Pacific station.

Lightning Stripped Him Naked.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 31.—Charles Frink, a well known farmer of the town of Knox, lies at the point of death probably fatally injured by a stroke of lightning while haying. The lightning tore every article of clothing from his body. His team of horses was killed and the load of hay was burned.

COTTON AT LISBON

Admiral Presented to Portuguese Royalty.

KING TO VISIT AMERICAN FLEET

His Majesty Expressed Great Feeling of Friendship For President Roosevelt and the United States.

LISBON, Portugal, July 31.—Rear Admiral Cotton, commanding the United States European squadron, now in these waters, was presented to the crown prince, Louis Philippe, and to the Infante Manuel, second son of King Charles, who will accompany his majesty when he vists the American war ships.

The Portuguese newspapers are referring approvingly to the speech made by King Charles when he received Admiral Cotton and the other American officers and entertained them with exquisite taste at the royal castle at Cintra. His majesty expressed himself in such sympathetic terms in regard to President Roosevelt and the people of the United States that Minister Bryan, Admiral Cotton and the other Americans present were really affected by the king's remarks.

Favored by superb weather, the American officers made many excursions into the country.

The band of the cruiser Brooklyn played on the public square here and was loudly applauded by an enormous crowd of people.

Admiral Cotton and several officers of the squadron, accompanied by United States Minister Bryan, paid a visit to the royal palace at Cintra, which is fourteen miles from Lisbon. They were received by Prince Alfonso Henriques, the Duke of Oporto and brother of the king, who presented them to Queen Marie Amelie and the queen mother, Maria Pia. They received a very cordial reception.

On Saturday afternoon, when King Charles and the royal princes will visit the American war ships, Admiral Cotton will entertain the king and his party at luncheon on board the Brooklyn. High court, military, naval and civil officials and the foreign naval attaches will be present.

Jett-White Trial.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., July 31.—At the trial of Curtis Jett and Thomas White for the murder of Colonel Marcum S. S. Taulbee, clerk of Breathitt county, testified to standing at Hargis Bros.' store, across the street from the Jackson courthouse, and seeing Marcum fall and Ewen running away. He did not see Jett in the street, where the prisoner claims to have been at the time of the shooting. Hezekiah Combs, a new witness, testified to seeing John Noble, Curtis Jett and Thomas White together just before the shooting. White beckoned Jett to the side door of the courthouse, where both entered. He talked with Noble then, and soon he heard shooting and saw Ewen running away. Barney Schiff testified that he had seen Curtis Jett go into the courthouse a few minutes before the killing of Marcum and come out immediately at the firing of the two shots.

THE LAST TRIBUTE

Third Great Requiem Mass In Sistine Chapel.

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR'S SYMPATHY.

All Nations Will Be Asked to Join In Erecting a Monument to Leo XIII. at His Birthplace on the Lepini Mountain.

ROME, July 31.—The last tribute was paid to the late Pope Leo with the third great requiem mass celebrated in the Sistine chapel of the Vatican. The function was no less ceremonious and imposing than the two others. While there was, perhaps, a lesser concourse of people present, there was a greater display of gorgeous uniforms. There were sixty-one cardinals present, only Cardinal Cretoni, prefect of the congregation of sacred relics, being absent owing to ill health.

The picture presented by the procession of cardinals in violet robes and red capes bordered with ermine, escorted by noble guards in scarlet uniforms and with drawn swords, the scene being softened by the clouds of incense and the chapel resounding with the strains of the incomparable Sistine choir singing "Libera Me Domine," made those present feel as though lifted into another world.

In the churches of Rome began the offering of prayers to the Holy Ghost to assist and enlighten the cardinals to choose the right man to sit in the chair of St. Peter.

During the conclave the blessed sacrament will be exposed in several churches for the special prayers of the faithful with the same object in view.

During the meeting of the congregation of the cardinals the camerlingo read an autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria which added renewed condolences on the death of Leo and expressed the hope that the sacred college would be inspired by the great interests of the church in choosing his successor.

The letter produced a strong impression, and it was decided to answer it with a special message. Subsequently Cardinal Oreglia explained how the work of the conclave was to be carried on, recalling the principal rules which were to govern the body and recommending their strict observance. He outlined a programme for today which will consist of the mass to the Holy Ghost in the morning, together with the delivery of the oration pro pontifice eligendo.

The cardinals will enter the conclave at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Each of the cardinals received a medal struck by the camerlingo to maintain the tradition of his sovereignty during the interregnum. It is intended to strike coins also for all the conclavists and servants who are to be present. Cardinals Sanminiatelli, Macchi and Della Volpe were charged with the duty of visiting the apartments of the conclave and Cardinals Tripeti and Boschi with visiting the precincts of the conclave for the purpose of making sure that there will be no possibility of communication with the outside world.

The mayor of Carpineto, the birthplace of Pope Leo, proposes to erect a monument to Leo XIII. on top of one of the Lepini mountains surrounding the village of Carpineto. He intends to make it an international tribute to the late pontiff and will ask all countries to join in the movement.

WAR POLICY BOARD.

Conference of Naval and Army Officers at Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The first meeting of the general policy board has been held. There were present Admiral Dewey, Rear Admiral Taylor, Captain Pillsbury, Commander Barnett, Major General Corbin, Brigadier General Randolph and Brigadier General Bliss. Major General Young, the other member of the board, was not in town.

Admiral Dewey was elected president and Commander Barnett secretary. There was a general discussion of the subject of coaling and naval stations in Cuba, with a view to determining whether they should be garrisoned by the army or by marines.

Secretary Root already has taken steps to place troops at Guantanamo and Bahia Honda, and some of the naval officers are not well pleased at his action. Secretary Root by invitation briefly addressed the board, saying that he believed that the questions to be brought before the board and considered in time of peace would result in a better understanding and more effective co-operation and defense of the country in time of war.

Every Wheel Was Stopped.

ROANOKE, Va., July 31. — Every wheel on the Norfolk and Western railway system stood still for ten minutes from 10:45 to 10:55 o'clock during the funeral hour at Philadelphia of F. J. Kimball, late president of the Norfolk and Western railroad. All departments of the road ceased work, and in Roanoke all the city offices and most of the business houses were closed from 10:30 until 11:30. Similar marks of respect were shown the deceased throughout this section of Virginia.

Clubbed Wife and Killed Himself.

LITTLE VALLEY, N. Y., July 31.—Jacob Fedie sought out his wife at the home of her father, Chauncey Fields, on the Whig road about five miles from here. He found her alone and pounded her on the head with a club and then cut his throat. The woman has not regained consciousness and will probably die. It is said he was angered by the woman's refusal to have anything more to do with him, so he assaulted her and killed himself.

Plainfield, N. J., July 31, 1903.

"Running a business without advertising is like running a steam engine without steam."

There's a flock of featherless chicks on exhibition at Burlington. Dr. Comstock has done nothing.

Schwab has broken an automobile record. This is less harmless as a diversion than breaking shipbuilding concerns.

So Addicks says he is going to get out of politics. Sounds like the announcements of farewell appearances advertised by showmen.

The Somerset Messenger assures us that water is used in Somerville. It says: "Eight sprinkling carts keep the Plainfield streets free from dust. We manage to keep one on the move here."

Jerome says that graft is "found on every hand." There is no record of the district attorney's reach and taking him at his word we do hope he will not attempt to establish one under the present conditions.

The Public Service Corporation has adopted a liberal policy in granting transfers along its many lines. If it wishes to receive the blessing of an afflicted public it should give its attention to the poor rolling stock in this city.

Advertising brings results when judiciously conducted. Once there was an inspiring politician. His aims were lofty, but unfortunately he offended the newspapers. He got a lot of advertising. The result is that he no longer aspires

Now a physician comes to the front with the statement that you should let the baby cry for as he claims "it doesn't hurt the infant." The doctor makes no mention of what effect it has on a fond parent who is compelled to walk the floor at night.

Granting for sake of argument that Elizabeth does pay a greater proportion of the taxes than any other municipality in this county, we may very properly ask why shouldn't she. Does not Elizabeth get the greater proportion of fat political offices?

—We shall never be rid of "Mother" Jones until the newspapers quit recounting her mad antics. She belongs to that type of human being that seeks notoriety and in that capacity is a huge success. Labor will never gain anything by such tactics and we do not for a moment suppose that she represents the true American workingman. There is a way to rectify the industrial condition and we submit that it is through the ballot box and press.

We do not believe that the officials of the Central Railroad are aware of the inconveniences suffered by passengers on its excursions to Asbury Park. In the past there has been an inadequacy in the supply of ice water in the coaches. Naturally during the warm season there is constant "run" on the ice water tank. There is also much dissatisfaction expressed as to the condtion of the cars brought into service for the church excursions. People in Plainfield cannot accustom themselves to riding in second class vehicles.

Frank and Arthur Greenwood, of this city, are enjoying their vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smith, of Raritan.

HER LOSS.
Many a woman with real possibilities of "Style" sacrifices those possibilities on the altar of a bargain counter when she buys cheap shoes.

For just a few cents more she might have had the "Style of a 'Dorothy Dodd'" Shoe.

But to save these few cents she pinches her feet, crowds them, risks corns, endures discomfort, and loses the whole element of style at a most important point in her costume. Sincerely yours, DOROTHY DODD.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The Watchung baseball team will journey to Piscataway tomorrow afternoon and line up against the Silver Leaves in a return game. The game last Saturday was very close and it is reported that both teams have secured some crack players for the occasion.

Colin Campbell, a former resident of the borough, who has been touring in the South during the winter, is visiting friends in town.

A party of young folks from the borough, enjoyed an outing to Manhattan Beach last evening and report a very pleasant time.

Rev. N. J. Sproul has returned after a two weeks' vacation with friends in Massachusetts.

Miss Emma Craig left yesterday morning for Belmar, where she will spend her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton have returned home after a week's visit at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross are entertaining relatives from Brooklyn.

Mrs. Bernard Siriski visited relatives in Raritan yesterday.

Mrs. C. D. Taylor is entertaining relatives from Paterson.

Miss Mary Shepherd is entertaining out-of-town friends.

Miss Elsie Peters is visiting relatives in New York.

Conductor Rarrick has purchased a handsome carriage.

Joseph Thomas, of Princeton, was in town Wednesday.

The band will meet this evening for weekly rehearsal.

William Dealaman is the owner of a new road wagon.

Miss Nellie Brown is visiting friends in Elizabeth.

Miss Edna Coriell is on the sick list.

NEW MARKET.

The Y. M. A. baseball team will cross bats with the Metuchen team tomorrow afternoon. The boys feel quite elated over their victory of last Saturday and expect to give a good account of themselves.

Miss Florence Stevens, of Newark, has returned home after visiting relatives in town.

John Peters, Jr., of Dunellen, will open a barber shop in town in the near future.

Mrs. R. L. Pierce is entertaining friends from Piscataway.

Miss Maud Gaskill is entertaining out-of-town friends.

Miss Pauline Ward is visiting relatives in Newark.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

One of the hardest games of the season will be the game tomorrow afternoon against the Aeolians, of Garwood. Manager Johnston will have the regular team out, the lineup being: McManus, lf; Brogan, c; Kavanagh, rf; Allen, 1b; Davis, p; Bosterli, 2b; Williams, 3b; Cruzius, ss; Flannery, rf. The Aeolian lineup will be: Lance, rf; Kane, 2b; Hoffman, ss; Alberts, lf; D. Poole, 1b; Gray, 3b; W. Poole, c; Heggaman or Mauer, p; Cushin, cf.

Several changes are to be made in the electric lights along Bartle avenue. As they are now placed the pedestrians using the sidewalks get no benefit from them as the low hanging branches of the shade trees obscure the light. A new light will be placed in front of Bucket and Engine Company headquarters also.

The attendance at tomorrow's ball game should be large. Manager Johnston is sparing no expense to give the lovers of the game a fast article of ball. To do this he has to depend upon the ball loving public to support the games, as guarantees and salaries have to be paid. Game will be called promptly at 3:45.

One week from Saturday the Westfield team will make their initial bow upon the local diamond. This will be one of the hardest fought games of the season, as the locals are far from satisfied with the result of the first game, which was played at Westfield several weeks ago.

Mrs. Samuel Parsells and daughter, of New Brunswick, are making their home with Mrs. Parsell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bartle, of Glenside.

Toney Martin will begin the erection of a new house on Hunter avenue within a few days. Horace Pangborn has the contract.

The Juvenile ball team defeated the Netherwood Terrors yesterday afternoon on the Netherwood diamond by a score of 9 to 3.

Louis Morel sailed Thursday afternoon for France, where he will spend several weeks visiting the scenes of his childhood.

The weekly prayer and teachers meeting of the Baptist Church will be held in the parlors of the church tonight.

A business meeting will be held at the Methodist Church tonight, at the close of the hour's prayer service.

George W. Randolph's home on Grand street, has been improved very much by a new coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Warren, of the borough, are spending the summer among the Connecticut Hills.

The members of Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met and transacted routine business last night.

Mrs. Hezekiah Hand, of Plainfield, has been visiting her sister, Miss Hattie Coles, of Front street.

Miss Blanche Mercein has returned from a visit of several days with relatives at Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Sternheim, of the borough, are enjoying the cooling breezes at Atlantic City.

Postmaster Norman Dunn is enjoying a much-needed vacation at Peapack, this State.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Camp No. 1, P. O. of A., of South Plainfield, is going to Snoth Beach on an excursion Wednesday, August 5, by way of trolley from Plainfield to Elizabpethport, then by way of the (trolley) shore line on the Island side. They anticipate a large crowd of friends and neighbors. All are welcome. Will leave Plainfield about 8:30 a. m.

Mrs. William H. Hamilton is spending the day with friends in Plainfield.

Rufus Delafield went to New York on a business trip today.

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church is planning to hold a fair early in September.

Rev. I. W. L. Roundtree, presiding elder of the First district of New Jersey, will preach in Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, Sunday evening, and administer the Sacrament.

Prof. George William Knox, of Union Theological Seminary, will occupy the pulpit at the Crescent Avenue Church during August, and he will also conduct the mid-week prayer meetings, Wednesday evening, during the month.

Tomorrow evening the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist Church will entertain the guests at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. Music, recitations and games will be some of the features of the evening. A very enjoyable time is looked for.

RAILROAD MERGER.

Consolidation of Lehigh Valley Railroad Company's Subsidiary Lines in This State.

Articles were filed with the Secretary of State at Trenton yesterday, merging a number of subsidiary companies of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company in New Jersey under the title of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley Terminal Railway Company, the Greenville and Hudson Railway Company, the Perth Amboy and Raritan Railway Company, the Middlesex Railway Company and the Easton and Amboy Railroad Company. The new company is capitalized at $16,554,000.

mitted to assume to themselves the administration of so-called justice, there have been sown the seeds of dissolution. We cannot be blind to the alarming tendency to disregard the law and do away with the appointed methods of government. If not speedily checked foundations will be undermined and anarchy and chaos surely follow. May it never happen in our own county of Union that a senseless and insensate mob shall arrogate to itself rights but to misuse. May this courthouse, while it endures, serve as a perpetual warning to those who would be unmindful of their obligations. May it ever indicate that a people who has builded it, and who will use it, are, above all things else, justice-loving and law-abiding. May it in time to come remain a monument to law's supremacy. May it be, at once, the citadel of justice and an abiding inspiration to good citizenship."

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will not meet again until Thursday evening, August 13.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., has "called off" its meetings until September on account of the warm weather.

One new member was received into membership at the Wednesday night meeting of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. A smoker and social time followed.

The annual session of the State Convention of the New Jersey Patriotic Order Sons of America will be held in Somerville, August 18 and 19. The local camp will have a large representation.

The next stated conclave of Trinity Commandery will be held at the Asylum Monday evening at 8 o'clock at which time the illustrious Order of the Red Cross will be conferred. Eminent Sir A. W. Merrill, prelate of Clinton Commandery, No. 14, K. T., of Brooklyn, will act as High Priest.

The member of the local Jr. O. U. A. M. lodges have received invitations to attend the big meeting of Fairview Council at Mt. Bethel, Tuesday evening. An ice cream festival is to be held under the auspices of that lodge and representatives of councils from all parts of Somerset and Union counties will be present.

Inspected State Institution.

The Somerset County District Medical Society visited the New Jersey State Village for Epileptics, yesterday. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan and Dr. Arthur H. Dundon were among the visitors.

—Neuman Brothers have received twenty-five crates of fancy Maryland Rockyford melons which they are selling at the lowest rates possible. The quality of these melons is well known but this year they are even more delicious than before.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secret mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. Rhea, Coppell Tex. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

STATE TROOPS PAID.

Payroll for Sea Girt Service This Season Amounts to $25,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 31—All State troops who participated in the encampment at Sea Girt have been paid. The Third Regiment turned out more men than any other regiment ever at Sea Girt. The payroll amounted to $8,206, which is $3 more than was paid to the Second Regiment last year, when that regiment held the record.

This year the First Regiment carried 830 officers and men on the payrolls. To the Fourth Regiment, with 711 men, $7,005 was distributed, and the Fifth Regiment, with 679 men, received $6,622.

The aggregate amount of the payrolls is about $25,000. This includes pay for men of regiments enumerated as well as for men of the cavalry, artillery and signal corps.

WORTHY TO RACE.

Shamrock III. Spreads Her Wings as Becomes a Challenger.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., July 31.—In a sea rougher than any she had ever raced in before and with a wind which at times blew more than twelve knots an hour Shamrock III. experienced her most severe racing trial and acquitted herself as became a candidate for the America's cup. Her performance in eight miles of windward work, in which it was estimated that she beat her elder sister by six minutes, was a surprise even to some who have watched her for weeks. Hitherto Shamrock I. has always given the challenger a rather close rub whenever the wind has been high, but she could not do it this time.

For an hour and seven minutes they worked to windward, the sea becoming smoother as they got in the lee of the land. At 1 o'clock p. m. when off Seabright, eight miles from Sandy Hook lightship, the challenger was six minutes ahead of the old boat and straight to windward of her. In a puff a split about two feet long occurred near the peak of the mainsail of Shamrock I., and the trial was abandoned.

Former Lieutenant Governor Timothy Woodruff sailed on Shamrock I.

Sir Thomas received a dispatch from Commodore Jarvis of the Royal Canadian Yacht club saying the club would take a cruise to Niagara to welcome Sir Thomas when he takes luncheon at the Queen's hotel at Niagara on Sunday.

SUMMER HOTEL BURNED.

Two Sisters Burned to Death at Sea View House.

OLD ORCHARD, Me., July 31.—Mrs. Helen L. Martin and Mrs. E. A. Stevens, sisters, who resided at East Grafton, N. H., were suffocated and their bodies burned to a crisp in the fire which destroyed the Sea View House, a small summer hotel where there were twelve guests. Their room was in the third story. Mrs. E. D. Hooper of Paris, Me., who occupied a room on the same floor, barely escaped suffocation after making her way to the second story, where she was found by firemen. Several other inmates just escaped in their night clothing, a Boston young lady jumping from a third story window to a veranda and thence to the ground.

The fire caught about the kitchen range.

The dead women were elderly ladies of considerable wealth who for several summers had passed their time at the Sea View.

TWENTY DEATHS.

Some of Lowell's Explosion Victims Blown to Atoms.

LOWELL, Mass., July 31.—It is certain that at least nineteen persons are dead as the result of the explosion at the United States Cartridge company's plant. The police are inclined to think that the number will be increased by two or three. It was reported that Zephraim Perusse, husband of one of the dead and father of another in the list of fatalities, had himself died, but the report was incorrect. Mr. Perusse, who was one of the many French Canadians residing in the vicinity of the magazine, is in a serious condition, suffering from internal injuries and cuts, but it is believed his chances for recovering are favorable.

Of the list of dead the bodies of George Flynn, Louis E. Richard and James Grady, all employees of the United States Cartridge company, have not been recovered. The belief of the police and militia is that they never will be found, as they were undoubtedly blown to atoms.

SEAWANHAKA CUP.

Canadian Boat Thorella Wins First Race.

MONTREAL, July 31.—The first race of the series for the Seawanhaka challenge cup was sailed on Lake St. Louis, and the Thorella, defending for the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht club, defeated the challenger, the Kolutoo, representing the Manchester (Mass.) Yacht club.

On the third leg of the second round the rudder of the Kolutoo was carried away, leaving her helpless. At that time the Canadian boat was nine minutes and forty-two seconds ahead. It is probable the American would have been decisively beaten in any event, for the Canadian boat drew steadily away from her on every leg.

The Kolutoo was towed to the finish line and there awaited the Thorella's last round. As the Canadian boat crossed the line the Americans cheered her heartily. After the race one of the owners of the Kolutoo said he was satisfied the Thorella was the better boat in the conditions that prevailed in this race. There was a brisk breeze blowing. The Americans hope for a light wind for the second race.

Racing at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., July 31.—Much to the disappointment of a large crowd there was too much wind for Lou Dillon to attempt to break her record of 2:03, and the trial was postponed. In consequence of the wind the track was fully two seconds slow, and it would have been useless to have made the effort. John A. McKerron was sent a mile in 2:07, while Harry McKerron, the two-year-old son of the thrice winner of the Boston Challenge cup, trotted half a mile in 1:09¼. Handbooks were run much more boldly than on the previous days. The day's racing witnessed the defeat of three favorites. In the first race, the 2:11 pace, Pauline G., who won so easily at Detroit, was beaten out by Miss Willamont. In the free for all pace Knox's Gelatine King, formerly Anaconda, was thought to have a sure thing, but Dan R. won both heats. The fourth race also went to an outsider, Dan T. being forced to finish second to The Roman, driven by Bud Doble. Both horse and driver received a great ovation.

Clarendon Went to Astarita.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Clarendon handicap for all ages at six furlongs, the feature of the card at Jamaica, was won by the favorite, Astarita. Only four out of the seven carded faced the starter, with Astarita an odds on favorite and the Farrell entry, King Pepper and The Guardsman, second choice. Hicks, on Astarita, at once sent her to the front and, making all the pace, won driving by half a length from Illyria, who ran a very good race. King Pepper, after being almost left at the post, gradually made up his ground and finished third. With an even break he would have been fighting it out at the finish with the winner.

Mildred L. Got Missouri Stake.

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—Mildred L. won the Missouri stake for two-year-olds at six furlongs by two lengths at Delmar. Wreath of Ivy beat the favorite, Orient, for second place by half a length. Mildred L. got away fourth, fell to sixth place at the quarter and stayed there till the stretch was reached, where she got her speed, passing the horses in front and winning easily. In the third race Ancke was winning easily twenty yards from the wire when E. Austin gave her a cut with the whip which caused her to stop and kick. She finished second.

Racing at Boston.

BOSTON, July 31. — Carl Wilkes broke Saugus Competition pacing record of 2:09¼, made by Connor in 1900, and equaled the exhibition mark of 2:08¾, established by Mascot in 1896. Carl Wilkes and Terrell S. each had two heats to their credit in the 2:05 pace, and the former's win gave him first money. Favorites were beaten in both the 2:10 class pacing and the 2:14 trotting. In the 2:25 class pacing Bessie Drake, the favorite, divided honors with King, each having two heats to its credit.

Major Delmar Won at Island Park.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 31.—The much advertised trotting race between Major Delmar and The Abbot at Island park for a purse of $2,500 was in all respects disappointing. It was about the slowest race of the day, and the result was a foregone conclusion. Major Delmar won two straight heats and the race. The race of the day was the 2:20 class pace, Dobler Brewing company's purse of $1,000, in which both favorites lost to the field. Knox's Gelatine Baby was the winner.

Proceeds Won Competition Stakes.

CHICAGO, July 31.—Proceeds, carrying 125 pounds, won the Competition stakes as he pleased at Hawthorne. Elwood, at 40 to 1, was second, with Father Talent, an added starter, third. The winner was a 9 to 10 favorite, backed from 6 to 5. The stake was worth $2,240 to the winner.

Favorite Ada D. Beaten.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 31.—The feature of the third day of the July meet of the Woonsocket Driving park was the 2:20 pace, in which the favorite, Ada D., was defeated by Brookdale Girl. In the other events the favorites won easily.

New York Lady Robbed.

NYACK, N. Y., July 31.—Mrs. Hollender of New York, a guest at the Fair View House, Spring Valley, left her room for a few minutes and on returning found the room had been entered and cash and jewelry amounting to $3,000 stolen. A rigid investigation failed to give any clew to the thief.

An Ideal Location:
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SELF CONSCIOUS

Sad Lot of the Girl Who Always Thinks of Herself

"I PITY her and yet I wouldn't have her around for anything—not at any merrymaking of my giving certainly," said the society woman.

"What is she like?"

"Why, don't you know? She is the girl who is always thinking of herself."

"The selfish girl, you mean?"

"Not at all. She may be the most generous hearted girl alive, but she is always, even unconsciously, painfully conscious of herself."

"But how does she show it?"

"Oh, when you tell her incidents from your life she is always mentally comparing them with her own. And when you show her your new gowns she compares them inch by inch with hers. When she goes out into society—which isn't often after people find out about her—unless she is the center of everything she sits and mopes. She calls it 'not feeling well,' and then retires early with a headache."

"Is she good at sports?"

"Not at all. She is too self conscious to do anything with grace. She is always thinking, 'What will people say?' The result is she foozles at golf, dances stiffly, makes mistakes, is absent minded at cards and bungles at the piano. In a word, she is never spontaneous, free and natural, as a girl should be."

"She can talk about herself, I suppose?"

"Yes, but not in a conceited way. She is always excusing herself and blaming her timidity, her hard life, etc. Her life becomes one perpetual apology and one long succession of failures."

"Is she vain?"

"No, but she gets the credit of being so. There isn't a mirror she passes that she doesn't glance into on the sly—not to admire herself, but to be sure she isn't coming to pieces. If she isn't quizzing her clothes she is busy with a hand mirror seeing if her teeth are not loose or assuring herself that a mole is not coming on the end of her nose."

"But is it always the poor girl's fault?"

"No; it is primarily that of her parents. Of a naturally timid disposition, she probably had either a very accomplished and brilliant or a very timid mother. Both would be equally exacting and both would keep nagging her—one timidly, the other severely. 'Mary don't attempt to drive if you can't turn that corner properly.' 'Mary, you can't play well enough on the piano to do so before all these people.' 'Mary, don't get up and dance in the hotel ball room before all these people. I noticed a woman smiling because you jerk so.' And so forth and so on until little by little Mary develops into that most piteous object—the self conscious girl."

SHE LOOKS INTO EVERY MIRROR.

MAUD ROBINSON.

Wedding Etiquette.

A bride should either thank personally or write notes to all people who send wedding presents.

At present it is considered in better taste to have brown or bay horses for the bride's carriage than gray ones.

The custom of having groomsmen in equal numbers with the bridesmaids has been revived of late.

If there are any pages the bride usually gives them presents, while the bridegroom presents each bridesmaid with a present and bouquet and also gives a bouquet to the bride's mother.

Bridesmaids pay for their own dresses unless the bride's mother offers to do so. This is not usual, however, and there is not the least necessity for her to do so.

The bridegroom's mother is led down the church after the ceremony by the bride's father or whoever gave her away. The bride's mother and the bridegroom's father follow.

The bridegroom provides house and table linen as well as furniture. Years ago the linen was the bride's care, but all this is changed.

A bridegroom usually wears a very dark blue or black frock coat, light trousers, generally gray, a light or white tie, patent leather shoes and a high hat.

Keep always in mind what John Wesley said: "All generous souls count the absent with the dead in their defenselessness."

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

They did not tell Field this at the time: The doctor went at once with the messenger, and in five minutes had taken in the situation. Field's rooms had been entered and probably robbed. There was only one other occupant of the desolate set that so recently had rung to the music of so many glad young voices. Of the garrison proper at Frayne all the cavalry officers except Wilkins were away at the front; all the infantry officers, five in number, were also up along the Big Horn. The four who had come with Flint were strangers to the post, but Herron, who had been a classmate of Ross at the Point, moved into his room and took the responsibility of introducing the contract doctor, who had come with them, into the quarters at the front of the house on the second floor. These rooms had been left open and unlocked. There was nothing, said the lawful occupant, worth stealing, which was probably true; but Field had bolted, inside, the door of his sleeping room; locked the hall door of his living room and taken the key with him when he rode with Ray. The doctor looked over the rooms a moment; then sent for Wilkins, the post quartermaster, who came in a huff at being disturbed at lunch. Field had been rather peculiar about his belongings. His uniforms always hung on certain pegs in the plain wooden wardrobe. The drawers of his bureau were generally arranged like the clothes press of cadet days, as though for inspection, but now coats, blouses, dressingsack and smoking jacket hung with pockets turned inside out or flung about the bed and floor. Trousers had been treated with like contempt. The bureau looked like what sailors used to call a "hurrah's nest," and a writing desk, brass-bound and of solid make, that stood on a table by a front window, had been forcibly wrenched open and its contents were tossed about the floor. A larger desk—a wooden field desk—stood upon a trestle across the room, and this, too, had been ransacked. Just what was missing only one man could tell. Just how they entered was patent to all—through a glazed window between the bedroom and the now unused dining-room beyond. Just who were the housebreakers no man present could say; but Mistress McGann that afternoon communicated her suspicion to her sore-headed spouse, and did it boldly and with the aid of a broomstick. "It's all along," she said, "av your shtoopin' to dhrink wid them low-lived salvages at Hay's. Now, what d'ye know about this?"

But McGann swore piously he knew nothing, barrin' that Pete and Crapaud had some good liquor one night—dear knows when it was, an' he'd helped 'em dhrink her health—"an' when 'twas gone, and more was wanted, sure Pete said he'd taken a demijohn to the lieutenant's, with Mr. Hay's compliments, the day before he left for the front, and sure he couldn't have drunk all av it, and if the back dure was open Pete would inquire anyhow."

That was all Michael remembered or felt warranted in revealing, for stoutly he declared his and their innocence of having burglariously entered any premises, let alone the lieutenant's. "Sure they'd bite their own noses off fur him," said Mike, which impossible feat attested the full measure of half-breed devotion. Mistress McGann decided to make further investigation before saying anything to anybody; but before the dawn of another day, matters took such shape that fear of sorrowful consequences, involving even Michael, set a ban on her impulse to speak. Field, it seems, had been at last induced to sleep some hours that evening, and it was nearly twelve when he awoke and saw his desk on a table near the window. The attendant was nodding in an easy chair; and, just as the young officer determind to rouse him, Mrs. Dade, with the doctor, appeared on tiptoe at the doorway. For a few minutes they kept him interested in letters and reports concerning his father's condition, the gravity of which, however, was still withheld from him. Then there were reports from Tongue River, brought in by courier, that had to be told him. But after a while he would no longer be denied. He had demanded to see his desk and his letters.

At a sign from the doctor, the attendant raised it from the table and bore it to the bed. "I found things in some confusion in your quarters, Field," said Waller, by way of preparation, "and I probably haven't arranged the letters as you would if you had had time. They were lying about loosely——"

But he got no further. Field had started up and was leaning on one elbow. The other arm was outstretched. "What do you mean?" he cried. "The desk hasn't been opened?"

Too evidently, however, it had been, and in an instant Field had pulled a brass pin that held in place a little drawer. It popped part way out, and with trembling hands he drew it forth—empty.

Before he could speak Mrs. Dade suddenly held up her hand in signal for silence, her face paling at the instant. There was a rush of slippered feet through the corridor, a num ⁊ excited voices, and both Dr. Waller and the attendant darted for the door.

Outside, in the faint starlight, sound of commotion came from the direction of the guard house—of swift footfalls from far across the parade, of the vitreous jar of windows hastily raised. Two or three lights popped suddenly into view along the dark line of officers' quarters, and Waller's voice, with a ring of authority unusual to him, halted a running corporal of the guard.

"What is it?" demanded he.

"I don't know, sir" was the soldier's answer. "There was an awful scream from the end of the quarters—Capt. Ray's, sir." Then on he went again.

And then came the crack, crack of a pistol.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The doctor started at the heels of the corporal, but was distanced long before he reached the scene. The sergeant of the guard was hammering on the front door of Blake's quarters; but, before the summons was answered from within, Mrs. Ray, in long, loose wrapper, came hurrying forth from her own—the adjoining—hallway. Her face was white with dread. "It is I, Nannie. Let us in," she cried, and the door was opened by a terrified servant, as the doctor came panting up the steps. Together he and Mrs. Ray hurried in. "Robbers!" gasped the servant girl—"Gone—the back way!" and collapsed on the stairs. Sergeant and corporal both tore around to the west side and out of the rear gate. Not a sign of fugitives could they see, and, what was worse, not a sign of sentry. Number 5, of the third relief, should at that moment have been pacing the edge of the bluff in rear of the northernmost quarters, and yet might be around toward the flagstaff. "Find Number 5," were the sergeant's orders, and back he hurried to the house, not knowing what to expect. By that time others of the guard had got there and the officer-of-the-day was coming—the clink of his sword could be heard down the road, and more windows were uplifted and more voices were begging for information, and then came Mrs. Dade, breathless but calm

Native Justice.

A comical vindication of the rights of property among the savages of New Guinea was witnessed by a missionary, the Rev. James Chalmers. Service was just beginning in the little church when a native boy came in, dressed, with what he considered great magnificence, in a shirt. As the savages were accustomed to go nearly naked, this garment made the boy very conspicuous.

The shirt had once belonged to some white man, and the importance it gave the present wearer was tremendous. But when his glory was at its height, a bigger boy appeared, hot with rage and carrying a jacket. He fell upon the first lad, and began stripping off the shirt. The rest of the congregation, understanding at once that the rightful owner had arrived, gave him not only sympathy but practical aid. They rose to their feet, and those who were near by took part in the stripping process. Presently the true owner was invested in shirt and jacket, the congregation cooled, and the service went on.—Youth's Companion.

Swan a Royal Fowl.

In England, under an old law still in force, the swan is a royal fowl, as whales and sturgeons are royal fish. All swans the property whereof is not otherwise definable, when within the British dominions, belong to the king by virtue of this prerogative. When swans are lawfully taken into the possession of a private person such person may be said to have a property in them; but if they be at liberty they belong to the crown. Formerly it was necessary for persons who wished to keep these "royal fowls" to obtain a swan mark, which was granted by the crown, and which could not be legally impressed without grant or prescription. The marked swan law still holds good, and it is a felony to take swans which are lawfully marked, even though they be at large, as it is a felony to take unmarked swans which are kept near a dwelling house.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

BANK CLOSES DOWN.

Doylestown (Pa.) National Bank Suspends Payment.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., July 31.—Intense excitement was caused here by the closing of the Doylestown National bank by order of the comptroller of the currency, who placed Bank Examiner J. W. Schofield in charge as receiver.

The statement issued by the comptroller says that the failure of the bank was brought about by speculation in stocks on the part of the officers and a number of customers of the bank.

The capital of the bank was $105,000, and the last report to the comptroller showed: Surplus and profits, $131,780; deposits, more than $1,000,000; loans and discounts and stock and securities, $1,051,360.

The bank is one of the oldest in Pennsylvania. Its Philadelphia correspondents are the Philadelphia National bank and the First National bank.

The former has been its agent for fifty years and the latter for thirty years.

The president of the bank is Henry Leer, a prominent lawyer and candidate for judge on the Republican ticket.

"The losses," said Deputy Comptroller Kane, "will absorb the entire surplus and capital stock of the bank. In other words, the total loss will amount to $215,000, and it devolves upon the directors and stockholders to make up this deficiency."

Francis L. Worthington, a director, said:

"The president and cashier ran things to suit themselves. They had no right to do so. They ought to have consulted the board of directors, and this trouble would have been avoided. No one suspected anything wrong.

"Our stock has been increasing in value, advancing from $35 a share to $153. I suppose I will lose all through the mismanagement of the officers. I understand there was some speculation—Consolidated Lake Superior, I believe, and in that stock most of the money may have been sunk."

Ed P. Brock, cashier, declined to reply to the accusations of Mr. Worthington, saying:

"Our investments did not turn out as well as we expected."

CONVICTS GET AWAY.

Militia Has Lost Scent of California Fugitives.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 31.—A special to the Bee from the Folsom state prison says that the latest reports received show that the militia has had absolutely no trace of the escaped convicts since Monday night.

The fugitives are thought to be doubling back from the vicinity of Lotus to the neighborhood of Rattlesnake Bar and the Zentgraff mine. The country in which the fugitives are supposed to be has a number of deserted cabins and several orchards, which will afford them shelter and food.

Guard Cochrane, who was stabbed in the prison fight, is slightly worse, and his recovery is still doubtful.

J. L. Woods, the leader of the escaped convicts, is said by the prisoners here to have been a soldier with the United States regulars in the Philippines. According to their story, he deserted from the federal troops and joined the Filipinos. He was regarded as a hero among the convicts, who say he was once surrounded by a detachment of troops and managed to break through their lines at night, and, gathering a force of Filipinos, captured the United States soldiers and had them shot to death. Later Woods was captured and tried by a mixed court martial on a charge of desertion and aiding the enemy. He was convicted, but the secretary of war disapproved of the finding for the reason that Woods, being a regular, could not be held by the decision of a mixed court.

A FLAMING OIL SHIP.

Italian Bark Burned In Staten Island Sound.

NEW YORK, July 31.—After having been afire for four hours, the hull of the Italian bark Angeli Maria, laden with case oil, slowly burned to the water's edge as she lay with her nose pushed ashore near Mariner's Harbor, Staten Island sound. Three men are said to have been burned fatally when the fire began with an explosion.

Ten tugboats fought the blaze, one of them a boat sent by the New York harbor police, to whom a request for aid was made. As the cases that had contained the oil were destroyed by the heat the burning fluid began to spread over the water, and the tugs had to fight this floating fire to save themselves.

Dense clouds of black smoke arose and nearly hid the blazing vessel from view, but as night came on the fire burned brilliantly and illuminated the scene so that it could be seen for miles around.

The ship had just finished loading at Communipaw and was about ready to set sail when the explosion occurred. She was cut loose at once and set adrift and later picked up by tugs and towed to the upper bay.

Car Men Arrested After Accident.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 31.—Leon B. Downs and Daniel F. Daley, motorman and conductor of the Boston and Worcester electric car that caused the fatal collision last Saturday, were arrested on the charge of manslaughter in causing the death of Miss Frances Greer of Chicago. They were arraigned in the district court and pleaded not guilty.

Rabies at Hamptonburg.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 31.—Rabies, which caused the death of many cattle in Monroe county, has now appeared among the cattle at Hamptonburg. The state authorities will adopt stringent measures to prevent the spread of the disease.

ROD AND REEL.

John H. Praed and John W. Dobb, of this city, took a fishing trip to Boynton Beach yesterday and had a fine catch of fifteen good-sized weakfish.

Edward Crosby, of West Third street, together with a party of three friends spent Wednesday fishing off Gifford's, Staten Island. The day was a successful one and when the party reeled in their fishing lines twenty weakfish, three fluke and a fourteen-pound bass lay in the bottom of the boat.

NEW SECURITY CO.

Papers Filed at Trenton for Concern With $100,000 Capitalization.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Lincoln, N. J., July 31 — Papers were filed with the Secretary of State at Trenton, today, incorporating the D. Drake Securities Company. The capital is $100,000, of which $1,000 has been paid in. The incorporators are Silas Dewey Drake, the father of Lincoln; George M. Keeney, of Jersey City, and M. A. Clay, of Newark. The concern will have its main office at Lincoln with branches in Plainfield, Trenton and other cities. All stock in other Drake enterprises will be redeemable in fifteen days.

Improvements in Property.

The Meeker residential property on East Front street, adjoining Windham's Hotel, is being remodelled and when the work is completed it will be occupied as a grocery store by George Cook. Roth & Company, of Elizabeth, will occupy the other new store, adjoining the alley, about September 1, as a meat market.

Working on Hospital.

That the new hospital will be ready for occupancy this fall is the hope of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital. It will no doubt be some time before the entire building, as planned, will be completed, but a sufficient part will be finished to make it possible to use it this fall.

Injured by Fall.

A little child fell out of a carriage, driven by a man, who refused to divulge his identity, on Ravine street, Netherwood, this morning. The child had a tooth knocked out and was otherwise injured.

Violation of Ordinance.

TRINITY'S ENJOYABLE OUTING

PLAINFIELD CHURCH PEOPLE HAVE JOLLY TIME AT SHORE.

Lack of Drinking Water in Coaches Causes Inconvenience — Excursionists Wear the Badge.

The annual excursion of Trinity Reformed Church and Marconnier Chapel Sunday-schools to Asbury Park, yesterday, was a successful affair and there were no accidents at the shore to mar the pleasures of the day. During a large portion of the day there was a land breeze, but later a strong and refreshing sea breeze was appreciated to the full extent. The fact that the excursionists remained at the shore until 7 o'clock gave everyone a full day's enjoyment.

Just as the start for home was made a heavy thunder storm visited the Park, and the rain fell in torrents. The supply of drinking water gave out in the several coaches and when the train reached Elizabethport a draw-head on one of the coaches pulled out and the car was detached and the passengers obliged to go into the other coaches. During this delay there was an opportunity to get off the train and purchase a supply of mineral water at the 'Port. The accident caused a delay of a half hour in reaching Plainfield.

The Plainfield excursionists were distinguished by a button worn. These buttons, bearing the symbol of the Dutch Reformed church, were worn by a majority of those in the party.

NEW CABLE.

Old Telephone Cable Replaced—Necessary for Improved and Increased Service.

Employes of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company were at work all night laying a large new telephone cable along East Fifth street from Watchung avenue to Washington street. The old cable, which, in telephone vernacular is known as a "200 pair" tube was replaced with a "300 pair" cable.

Will Filed.

DAMAGE WROUGHT BY STORM

BUILDINGS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING AND TREES DAMAGED.

Freaks of Lightning at Crescent Embossing Company's Plant—Water Washes Streets.

The storm of yesterday did considerable damage to trees in this city and to buildings in the country by lightning. A bright reflection in the sky back of Mountain Park Inn led many to believe that the resort had been set on fire by a bolt of lightning. Instead it was a small barn belonging to W. J. Jenkins, a farmer, living near Mt. Bethel. A cow was saved from being burned alive.

Several trees in this city were damaged to some extent by the heavy wind. On East Second street, near Richmond street, several large branches were blown off. The water washed some of the streets, but none of them was seriously damaged. Lightning played about the factory of the Crescent Embossing Company and for a time it was thought it might be necessary to stop the machinery as the electricity interfered with the motors operating the presses.

The thunder storm which passed over Scotch Plains at about 4:30 yesterday afternoon is acknowledged by some of the oldest inhabitants to have been accompanied by the sharpest lightning in many years. Aside from striking numerous trees about that place, telephone wires all around suffered from the falling branches. Two telephone poles were shattered and the repair gang was kept busy until late in the evening.

The lightning played havoc in the local telephone office. The telephones were heavily charged in one or two cases and the "heater" coils in the rear of the switchboard were charged with a high voltage. A large tree in the rear of Freeholder Mobus's yard was struck but not badly damaged.

Considerable damage was done at Stirling, N. J. A chimney on the house of Oatman Brothers was struck. The building caught fire but was saved by the work of a bucket brigade. Damage $250, insured.

Superintendent Pirigo, of the Stirling farm, was stunned by the force of a bolt striking a large tree beneath which he was standing. He was not seriously injured. A house occupied by John Johnson at 135 Duer street, was struck. Damage slight.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

"Did you ever notice how strong the inclination is to kick a fellow, who when he meets you on the street strikes you a resounding blow on the back," remarked a Plainfielder to a Bostonian yesterday. "Truth is, my desk is situated in a conspicuous place in the office," he continued, "and when a friend comes in the first thing he thinks of is my back. Many times I rise in my wrath only to find the fellow's hand extended and a smile on his face which takes all the anger out of you.

"But I have struck a remedy. It is either a flattened out punching bag placed between the shoulders or fly paper pinned on the suspenders or a big sign on which is printed, 'Don't.'"

Encore For Swackhamer.

Perish the thought that Somerset Democrats may push Assemblyman Swackhamer aside with his one term and nominate some other man. A throb goes out for Samuel the Tall Sycamore of Somerset! He is the Real Thing—a Democrat Imbued with Lofty Purposes; he is the Foe to Hypocrisy, the Wit of the Forum, the Hard-Headed Hercules of the Legislative Arena! There may be other honest Democrats in Somerset, but there is only one Swackhamer. Give him an encore.—New York Press.

Realty Deal.

J. D. Lozeaux, lumber dealer, who has purchased from Morgan Bird, the latter's property on West Fourth street, extending from that street to the railroad, is now preparing to refit and improve the same. The property includes the old police station.

Bail Forfeited.

Because of the non-appearance of Antonio Arientano when the case against him was called at police headquarters this morning, a bond of two hundred dollars given by John Paoli was forfeited. The charge against him was disorderly conduct.

Saloonkeepers' Dodge.

There is a movement on foot in Elizabeth to compel the saloon-keepers to raise their curtains on Sunday, so as to give a clear view of the interiors of the saloons. What's the use? The plan was tried in Trenton, but it did not work. According to report, some of the dealers merely moved the supplies into a back room.—Trenton Times.

OUTLOOK FOR COLORED RACE

REV. ALEX. GORDON SPEAKS AT MT. OLIVE CHURCH.

Affair Marked the Thirtieth Anniversary of That Baptist Church —Musical Programme.

The colored people of the West End flocked together last evening at the Mount Olive Baptist Church to hear an address delivered by the Rev. Alexander Gordon, pastor of the Monumental Baptist Church in West Philadelphia. Dr. Gordon is a great worker for the colored folk and spoke at considerable length on "The outlook of the colored people in America." He traced in his speech the course of advancement of the colored race from the time of their introduction into this country as slaves in 1619, through the two hundred and forty-six years of slavery and the gloomy period just after emancipation up to the present condition throughout the United States today.

In closing he urged the members of his race to hold some ideals of life, to get good educations, to broaden their field of labor into all the channels of the white, to organize new businesses, to save money and buy their own homes and to grow up good Christian men and women. The affair marked the thirtieth anniversary of the Mount Olive Baptist Church. At the close of Dr. Gordon's address, several musical selections were rendered by the church choir and a repast was served in the assembly hall.

MRS. KNOWLTON BURIED.

Monsignor O'Grady Acts As the Celebrant at the Requiem Mass.

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen L. Knowlton, of West Fifth street, took place this morning, interment being made in St. Mary's Cemetery. Special mass was held at St. Mary's R. C. Church for the soul of the departed at 9:30. Monsignor O'Grady, of New Brunswick, acted as celebrant, Father Egan acted as deacon, assisted by Father Fredrici, of Rahway, as sub-deacon. George J. Tobin, Charles J. Ward, M. J. Whalen, W. J. O'Keefe, Andrew Kenney and Morris J. Cashin served as pall bearers.
